Prosecuting authorities throughout the country are now awakening to the incalculable damage inflicted by this kind of crime, and there is an increasing number of prosecutions of fraudulent claimants. No longer do we regard the damages caused by fraud on the insurance companies. We know now that society pays for these funds in other ways. Because of the abnormal rate of loss, insurance costs to the policyholder go up. Our courts, a heavy item in the public budget, are full of trumped up suits adding greatly to their cost of operation. And when the demoralizing effect on the administration of law is also considered, we approach a better estimation of their actual cost to society. With law enforcement authorities now aroused to the real significance of fraudulent claims, control of the evil can soon be expected.

Ruinous Ends

It's time we looked at the railroad problem realistically. For there never was an industry which has suffered more manhandling under a system of regulation that is supposed to protect all interests concerned. Today a staggering percentage of railroad properties are in the hands of receivers because the Federal regulation has consistently denied the lines a "living wage." All manner of proposals, largely of the rackpot variety, are being presented as solutions to the problem—though no one in an official position has offered the obvious solution, which is to allow the lines to charge rates that will pay costs and produce a profit.

It is argued that higher rates would divert traffic from the rails to other agencies—the theory that guided the ICC's recent decision allowing the lines but a small part of the 15 percent increase requested, in spite of the fact that representatives of dozens of big industries supported the railroad's brief, and pointed out that the rate increase would be more than offset by stimulated railroad purchasing if the "living wage" were granted. But, it may be properly asked, what business is it of the ICC to theorize? Instead, why should it not allow the full increase asked and try it out—then if experience proved that shippers would not pay the new rates, it would be time to try something else? The small increase granted may be compared to giving a starving man a little more, yet not enough, food. It simply staves off the day of death a little longer—it doesn't cure the patient.

This isn't a railroad problem. It is everybody's problem. We can't have good times in this country when our biggest single industry is going broke. We can't have more employment when our biggest single industry has to cut its expenses to the bone. We can't have confidence and faith when railroad securities—of which hundreds of millions are held by banks, insurance companies, universities, etc.—are tumbling down.

No one wants the railroads to fail. Few want government ownership, with its inevitable corollary of a staggering increase in taxes and public debt. But our indefensible railroad policy is bringing us steadily closer to those ruinous ends.

Praise Where Due

There has been a remarkable unanimity the Womacks and their like, as a trifling of opinion among newspapers of the nation concerning the decisive action taken by the New York Stock Exchange in the case of Richard Whitney, the well known broker who has confessed to misappropriation of funds.

It was the Exchange which discovered his peulations—and it was the Exchange which gathered the conclusive evidence, promptly suspended him and turned the case over to the proper government and municipal authorities. The Pueblo, Colorado, Chieftain makes an observation which is similar in thought to that made by scores of other papers, large and small, when it says: "The New York Stock Exchange is a necessary institution in the business of the nation and of the entire world for that matter. It has shown that it wants to preserve the functions for which it is intended by purging it roster of men who will not respect its rules and regulations which are intended to give all persons who wish to buy and sell securities on its board a square deal." And in doing this, the paper might have added, the Exchange favors no one, no matter how prominent—Mr. Whitney was an ex-President of the Exchange, and one of the best known brokers on "the street," but the governors of the Exchange did not hesitate an instant when their painful duty became clear.

A new ruling recently put into effect by the Exchange, forces all brokers, on request of their customers, to submit complete statements as to their financial condition. This marks another step in the endless work of the Exchange to protect the public from any and all kinds of unfair dealings. It is a notable fact, testifying to the past success of this work, that failures of Exchange members for any reason have been extremely rare—and that when dishonesty appears, as it must periodically in any calling, the Exchange moves with lightning speed to punish the offender, whatever the position or prominence.

THE NEW BOSS—

The damage wrought by the recent high water in this community was great, but that was nothing compared to the damage done by Don Coates, our new boss recently. When Dan let get that arrow, it meant only one thing, and that thing happened last Saturday night just past twilight. Ye Olde Observer has finally deserted the ranks of bachelorhood, and is now a married man. Yes Sir, dear readers, as a large majority of you know and have experienced, that one word "married" means more than it really does. For instance, it can be made to suit furniture, light bill, water bill, grocery bill, rent—well, we'll stop there, as we must get a little something else into this column. But we feel sure that we must warn you about this column, if by chance you detect a note of censorship you can depend on that being done by the little lady who might turn out to be the boss over us, and that, my dear readers, means boss over this column. We will be lenient with our comments, and, of course, we think she is one grand person—no kidding. So we introduce to you this week, in case you don't already know—Mrs. Pearl Hughes Hand.

OUR TELEPHONE SERVICE—

Another big, healthy step in Clanton's progress is taking place, now that work is underway on the new telephone exchange building, located just south of The Taylor Wholesale Grocery Co. and at the same time Clanton will have the new police station just like the big cities. (This is a much needed service and the Telephone Company should have a vote of thanks for their co-operation with their subscribers, as they began making plans almost immediately to comply with the wishes of the people of Clanton, after they had voted unanimously for this improvement. This service will cost the Company a large sum of money, with only a small increase in the telephone service to subscribers. So there'll be no more telephone cranking in Clanton—we hope.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR—

Postmaster Hosea F. Downs is really enthused over the visit Postmaster General James A. Farley is going to make to Clanton, and rightly so. We're looking forward to seeing him, and if possible, meeting him here. Everybody knows of James A. Farley and his important position in the Democratic Administration. His personality and his ability to remember people by their first name is known far and wide. Mr. Downs says he would like for every citizen of Clanton to shake hands with Mr. Farley, as "he looks right through you." Today about three o'clock is the time set for his arrival and we know Clanton will give him a big welcome.

WE'LL BET—

Somebody's face was red when the found out they had written those two words on the wrong automobile Saturday night. The face of the owner of that wrong automobile was red as he drove through town that night. The face of the owner of the automobile intended as the victim was red when he had to pay fifty cents to get what was scrawled on his car washed off.

IT'S STILL TRUE—

It pays to advertise! How very true that statement is. Clyde Mims, our next door neighbor, who operates the new Clyde Mims Grocery and Market related to us the other day a story that offers more proof of the truth this statement bears. Mr. Mims says that a friends whom he hadn't seen for a good long while came to his store one day last week and stated that he had come all the way from his home up in the rural section near Thorsby just to trade with him after seeing his ad in the Chilton County News recently. This friend, according to Mr. Mims, stated he didn't even know he was in the grocery business, and after seeing his ad in the News, he just hitched up old Beck and drove all the way down to take advantage of the bargains he was offering, and to wish him success in his new business. Don't ever think the people of Chilton County fail to read the ads in the News, for they do.

Breaking a mirror brought bad luck to Albert Madej of New Britain, Conn. He broke one over Mrs. Madej's head, according to her testimony in court, and got ten days in jail.

Two operators of an apartment house at Phoenix, Ariz., are being sued for $51,078 by Emaline Hansen, a tenant, on grounds that a folding bed snapped, closed and collapsed, "squeezing, striking and battering" her.

MORALECHOS.

D. W. Haslow

I often wonder if the young people of today have as good time as they had forty years ago. I see them riding in their cars, I see them going to picture shows n drives. I see them at parties as they speak for thrills. I see them at church and at school and they seem tired and dissipated. To be sure, they have more to amuse them than the young life of forty years ago had, but it seems to me that they fail to get the real joy out of living that came to the youth of two score years ago. When I was a boy a half dozen lads could get together and disappear into the slide boards we could have more fun than the young people of today can have in cars. We could make whistles out of Chinquapin sprout and make more noise and enjoy it better than they do at parties today. We could cut a grape vine that went high into an Ash tree and we could spend a half day swinging in turns and be entertained until sunset drove us home. The young folks of forty years ago had a lot of real fun.

I walked into the room of a hospital and a man about thirty years of age. His left leg was in a cast and I made inquiry as to what had caused the accident. This is the simple story that he told me, "I took my truck and went to a distant community to buy some hogs. With our load we were riding along in a quiet, safe speed, when we looked ahead and saw a man coming toward us on our side of the road, driving at a terrific speed. We tried to ditch our truck to save an accident, but before we could make room the man was upon us. In the crash my leg was broken badly in the knee and in the ankle. The doctor tells me that I will get well, but that my leg will be stiff the rest of my life." Of course I expressed my sympathy, and then the man added this awful indictment, "The hardest part about this accident, Doctor, is that the man was drunk from drinking state sold whiskey." There you are, in my fair judgement do you not really think that if the State is going to sell whiskey that makes our highways unsafe, that the State should be sued for all damages done by such people drinking it? I tell you folks, I'm against this whiskey business in every form.

I see myself standing in the threshold of a door about to enter a roof. When we study what is about to take place we can see that it is a dangerous move that I am about to make, and yet I do not seem to know it. In the first place, I must shove my body through the atmosphere that is pressing down upon me with the force of fourteen lbs. per square inch. Then I must make sure of my landing on a plank that is going through space at the rate of twenty miles per second. I must do this with my head hanging out from a planet that is moving at an unknown speed through space. Then in the plank has no solidity of substance. To step on it is like stepping on a swarm of flies. Verily, I wonder how I shall find anything there when I make the step. It is very hard for a scientist man to pass through a door. We are in a strange world and there are many things that we must take by faith and move on. After all, nothing happens much as I step into the door. By faith we move on.

I knew a good woman who seemed to have an unlimited faith in her rebellious husband. Her friends advised her to quit him and let the devil and the hogs have him. Her reply was always the same, "Oh, John had a vein of gold in him and if I can ever find it, it will be my treasure." Year after year he would come home drunk and it seemed to him he was hopeless, but this good woman continued to hunt for the vein of gold. One day she found it. Her friends thought that it was just another case of blind love, but if it was this love was hunting for something that was worthless. I was talking to a good woman whose husband was addicted to drink. She felt that her loyalty was useless, but I said to her, "Your husband is too good to be thrown out. Stick to him and see if you cannot locate a vein of gold." The most of people are worth saving. Blessed is the one who seeks hopes for a vein of gold in the most unlikely soil, and who will keep hunting to find it.

One day I approached a man who had been living in our town for two years, and I urged him to allow me to send for his Church Certificate. At once he opened his mouth and orated much of his love for his old home church. He could not afford to leave that old home church because he was raised there and his father and mother were buried there. I knew more than the man thought I knew. I knew that he cared nothing about the church at home in reality. He never went back there. He never paid a penny there. So I said to these questions, "Do you go back home to buy any groceries? Do you send your children back to the old home school? Do you send for the family doctor when you are sick? Do you draw your salary from your home community?" I added, "It seems to me, brother, that this town is good enough for you in every respect, so for your church life." There are many alms that people use when they do move their church relations with them, but there are only two real reasons. One reason is because they are so indifferent toward the church and the other is that they are too stingy to support the church at home or anywhere. If you can buy your groceries and select your salary in a town, if you leave the church you can surely put membership there.

FORMER CLANTON ATTORNEY

ENDORSES TOM BURDETTE

Hon. Raymond Smith Says

Burdette Is The Man

For Sheriff

To the Voters of Chilton County:

"It is not often that I have the opportunity of making a public statement in behalf of a candidate for office. Many times such statements are made for no other than selfish reasons. No doubt each candidate has hundreds of friend who feel the urge unselfishly to tell the voters of the good qualities he has and that he would make the county and state a fine officer. But you will recall that four years ago, eight years ago, and during every election campaign, some of these friends who so assiduously asserted praises for their respective candidate were doing it for no other reason than that they had been PROMISED something, generally, a job. Of course after such candidate was elected the friendship for several of them faded, a few were appointed but more were disappointed. Each election campaign brings a contest apparently as to which of them can make the most promises—this is one crop that never fails.

"From my observation of good government in Chilton County, I am thoroughly convinced that the officer on whom the general public most often calls for special service or assistance is the Sheriff. I do not mean by this that he is the most important officer. But this office requires the leadership of a man who has strong will power, who will enforce all the laws fairly and fearlessly, who will not play petty politics, and best of all who has common sense. I want to recommend to you a man who has all these and even more that will enable him to make you a splendid sheriff. That man is T. R. BURDETTE.

"It is seldom that the best of men will offer himself for the office of sheriff because of one reason or another. But when the information came to me that Mr. Burdette had announced himself as a candidate or was going to announce I told him without solicitation that I would vote for him and ask my friends to do so. This is not that I am unfriendly with the other candidates for this office. I know them personally, knew them and their work during the time they served in law enforcing capacities, and I think that they are good men. But I have also known Mr. Burdette and have dealt with him at his place of business, and have observed his business relationships with others. I have never heard of even one transaction that could in any way cause doubt as to his ability, integrity, eagerness to make corrections in case of error, and willingness to accommodate people unselfishly.

"Perhaps most of you know me and know that I was born in Clanton, Alabama, and lived in or called Chilton County my home until a short time ago; that I practiced law there for nearly nine years. You perhaps also know that I have now moved to the State of Florida. But I still have many friends and relatives up there, and have an interest in a few pieces of real estate. For these and other reasons, I would not want to mislead the voters of Chilton County in the matter of electing an officer.

"It has been seldom if ever that I have actively supported a candidate who sought a profitable office. But what little I have done or said during election campaigns heretofore has been strictly from an unselfish standpoint. Never yet have I bargained with a candidate or the representative of a candidate for a favor, past, present, or prospective. I have never gone to an officer and sought a favor on the strength of the fact that I supported him. And now, since I do not even live there, certainly it will mean but little to me, personally, who is elected. I have no "ax to grind," political or otherwise. Mr. Burdette has paid me nothing for saying these things, and will owe me nothing whether he is elected or not. It is because I think you should avail yourselves of the opportunity of electing this good man, that I have written this mostly for your benefit.

"Let us be done with petty prejudices in politics and poor and extravagant government before it is too late! We now have in spite of its evils, the greatest government on earth. But who

TWO large, sour apples, pared and grated plus the juice and rind of 1 lemon and 1 cup of sugar cooked for five minutes with constant stirring makes a delicious filling for two layers of spice or ginger cake. Cool filling before spreading, dust top of cake with powdered sugar instead of frosting. Serve cake soon after filling is placed between layers.

Kumquats and apples—both in season now—make a delicious salad combination. Prepare the fruit this way: Wash and wipe 1 box of kumquats or enough to make ½ cup when sliced very thin, discarding the center seed part. Pare 2 large tart apples or enough to make 1 and ½ cup when cut in inch strips. If kumquats are sour sprinkle with a little powdered sugar. Make a salad dressing of ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 6 tablespoons olive oil. Pour over fruits which have been mixed together. Serve from a salad bowl with a few lettuce leaves or crisp tips for garnish.

Get All the Profit

TOP DRESS with

POTASH

WHEN cotton begins to rust, profits begin to go. Save those profits by using from 50-100 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre in a nitrogen-potash top-dresser applied immediately after chopping. Experiments have shown that where potash was applied in the top-dresser the value of the crop was increased $15 to $25 per acre by larger yields, better grade, and longer staple.

The use of potash to control rust and reduce yield also produces larger bolls that open normally and make the crop easier to pick, thus reducing harvesting costs and increasing profits.

Consult your county agent or experiment station about the fertility of your soil. If you did not apply enough potash at planting time to control rust and reduce yield, see your fertilizer dealer or manufacturer about adding the equivalent of 50-100 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre in a nitrogen-potash top-dresser.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL RULES ON ROAD EXPENDITURES

COMMISSIONERS NOT ALLOWED TO PAY OVERTAGE

Recent Ruling Gives More Information Regarding Hold-Up Of Pay

A recent ruling of the Attorney-General of Alabama on the local law creating the Road Supervisor of Chilton County, gives in detail what this official thinks is the proper interpretation of the law regarding the question as to whether the Commissioners Court is allowed to pay claims for any amount in excess of any quarterly appropriation made by the Court for the Road Department.

Following is a copy of the ruling from the Attorney-General which was sent to Judge J. Lee Smith:

April 11, 1938.

Hon. J. Lee Smith,
Judge of Probate,
Chilton County,
Clanton, Alabama.

1. Chilton County Road Supervisor—Local Act of 1936, page 4—Court of County Commissioners has no authority to make additional appropriations for roads after expiration of period for which appropriation is made.

2. Appropriations made by Court of County Commissioners for expenditure on roads and bridges pursuant to Local Act of 1936 (Local Acts 1936, page 4) include amounts to be expended both for material and labor.

Opinion by Assistant Attorney General

Receives Ruling Of Attorney - General

JUDGE J. LEE SMITH

eral Crenshaw.

Dear sir:

I have your letter of February 18th in which you request my opinion as follows:

"I would like to have your opinion, in regard to a question that has arisen relative to the Local Supervisor's Bill for Chilton County. Section 8 of said Supervisor law, which is found in Extra-session 1936, at page 4, provides that the Court of County Commissioners shall make appropriations for each quarter of funds which shall be available for the purpose of building, maintaining and constructing the public roads of the county for three months. In the quarter commencing

November and ending January, the Court of County Commissioners appropriated a certain amount of money which was expended on the roads and bridges of the county by the supervisor and the supervisor during this period of time spend some $3500.00 more than was appropriated. You will notice that in said Section that the Commissioners Court is authorized from time to time 'within this period' to increase the amount so allowed.

The question I would like to know is, the quarter having expired, whether or not the Court of County Commissioners can now make an additional appropriation to take care of this excess of 3500.00 expended for labor and materials during said quarter? In other words, whether or not the increased appropriations would have to be made during the quarter or whether the order can be made after the expiration of the quarter. I will appreciate your giving me your opinion on this at your earliest opportunity. I would like to refer you to your opinion constraining this same Act to J. Lee Smith, Judge of Probate of May 11, 1937, which is stated in your Quarterly Opinions Volume 7, for the period of April 1, 1937 through June 30, 1937.

"There is also another question on which I would like to have your opinion. The Court of County Commissioners has construed the law to mean that the appropriations so made by the Court for the quarter, included both material, supplies and labor, that is, the appropriations made by the Court has been construed by them to mean funds to be expended on the roads and bridges of the County whether for material or labor. However, I am informed that it is the Supervisor's contention that the appropriations include only labor under the terms of the Act, and I would like to have your opinion as to whether or not it is the intent of said Act that the appropriations include both material and labor or only labor."

It is my understanding from you that the quarter commencing November, 1937, and ending January 31, 1938, the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County appropriated the sum of $14,000. During this quarter this appropriation was increased by an additional amount of $4,000. After the expiration of the quarter additional claims were filed with the Court of Commissioners in excess of the total appropriation for road and bridge purposes during that quarter.

1. Your first question is whether under the bill regulating the road supervisor for Chilton County (Local Act of 1936, page 4) the Commissioners Court may again increase the appropriation by an additional appropriation after the expiration of the quarter. In my opinion the Commissioners Court does not have this authority.

Under the express terms of Section 8 of the Act referred to, the authority of the road supervisor is limited to the expenditure of such funds as may be set aside and appropriated by the Commissioners Court for each quarter. The Commissioners Court is required to determine the amount of funds available for the purpose of road work within one month preceding the first Monday of each quarter and make an appropriation for that amount, which amount must not be exceeded by the road supervisor during that quarter. The Commissioners Court is given the authority from time to time to increase the amount so allowed to be expended during any such period, but this authority is expressly limited to action "within any such period."

I realize, of course, that under certain circumstances the express letter of the law may be tempered by the spirit thereof. The basic rule of statutory construction is to reach the intention of the Legislature. However, although the strict letter of the law is not allowed to defeat an otherwise clear intention, to justify a departure from the plain language of the statute there must be a moral conviction that the Legislature could not have intended such a result. Board of Revenue v. McDaniel, 105 So. 191, 213 Ala. 349.

We may in construing the statute consider the evils intended to be remedied. Richardson Lumber Company v. Howell, 219 Ala. 328, 122 So. 343; Abramson v. Hard, 229 Ala. 2, 155 So. 590.

A consideration of the evils sought to be remedied and the effect or the result reached by such construction strengthen the conclusion reached from the literal meaning of the words "within any such period." The Legislature in this Act has evinced a purpose to regulate the amount expended for road and bridge purposes in Chilton County to such amount as the Commissioners Court determines in available for that purpose during the particular quarter. It is evident that this Act is another of a long series of acts designed to aid counties in living within their income. Under the express provisions of Section 9 of the Act no funds of the county shall be expended or liability created against the county for road purposes in any manner other than provided by the terms of the Act. If a construction were adopted which permitted the Court of Commissioners to appropriate funds after the end of a quarter to meet a expenditure of funds over and above the original appropriation for that quarter, the entire purpose and effect of the Act would be avoided. The limitation placed upon the expenditure of funds by Section 8 of the Act would be meaningless and without force if the Court of Commissioners could be faced with a so-called moral obligation to make further appropriation for claims in excess of the appropriation.

The Commissioners Court has no inherent or constitutional powers. Whatever power it has must be derived from statutory enactment. If there is no statute or construction of a statute authorizing the payment of a claim, it cannot be paid. Weakly, et al v. Henry, County Treasurer, 86 So. 46; Mobile County v. Williams, 180 Ala. 639. By the express terms of Section 9 of the statute those claims or obligations incurred by the road supervisor for Chilton County in excess of the amount appropriated for road purposes do not constitute a liability against the county. If the Court of County Commissioners made any appropriation to make an additional appropriation after the end of the quarter to take care of this deficit during the preceding quarter, we would permit the county to do by indirection what it could not do by direction that is, to pay a claim which is not a liability against the county. These considerations, as you see, are not in conflict with, but support the conclusion reached from the strict letter of the statute and it is, therefore, my conclusion that the Court of Commissioners of Chilton County has no authority to make any appropriation for road purposes to cover amounts expended during the preceding quarter.

2. Your second question is whether or not the appropriation made by the Court of County Commissioners includes amounts to be expended both for material and labor, or only for labor. It is my opinion that in providing for such appropriations as is done in Section 8 of the Act, the Legislature intended such appropriations to include appropriations both for labor and for materials. It is true that under Section 5 of the Act the materials, machinery,

To The Voters Of Chilton County A Statement from Dr. J. A. Hines

As a candidate for State Senator from the Fifteenth District, composed of the counties of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby, I ask your careful consideration of my personal qualifications and convictions on certain outstanding questions which will confront Alabama's law-making body during the next four years.

I am using this means of addressing you through your newspaper because I know it is physically impossible for me to see all of you in person before the primary.

I am being brought out by no pressure group or faction and am free to represent all the people and interests of the Fifteenth District.

1. Personal:

I am 42 years old, a World War Veteran, and a practicing physician. I have practiced medicine at Siluria in Shelby County for the past 15 years. I am a native Alabamian.

2. Public Service:

I have served as a member of the County Board of Education of Shelby County since 1935. For the past four years I have been a member of the Democratic Executive Committee of Shelby County. I am a life-long Democrat, having always believed in, practiced and supported those principles which are the foundation of our party and which are our party's contribution to good government.

3. Public Education:

As your State Senator I will stand for and work to guarantee in Alabama a free term of 8 months for the elementary schools and 9 months for the high schools, with continued appropriations for the causes of higher education. I endorse the A. E. A. and P.-T. A. program for education adequately financed. I will favor a comprehensive and adequate appropriation for education with full guarantee that school money shall be used for the schools. I believe education should be a primary function of government.

4. Taxation:

I will favor keeping the present exemption of homestead from State taxes, and also the extension of this exemption to apply to county and local taxes. I will favor a substantial reduction in the automobile tag tax. I will favor a reduction in the state gasoline tax. During the Miller administration this tax was increased two cents per gallon to meet the falling revenue of the State at that time. At the present time the proceeds of this tax after eliminating the two cents will produce more revenue than in the peak year 1929. Tourists are being advised to avoid Alabama as a result of our excessive gasoline tax. This should not be. I will be in favor of keeping the present State sales tax only if, after enforcing rigid economy, it is found that public education, farm extension work, and other important State agencies can not be adequately financed without the sales tax. I think I know it is a fact that Alabama's government can be efficiently and effectively operated cheaper than it is being done at present. Insofar as I may be able, in the Senate I shall seek to establish such measures of economy as will prevent useless expenditures of public funds, and at the same time safeguard the future success and proper function of the essential phases of our State government.

5. Reapportionment of Legislative Representation:

I will favor reapportionment of legislative representation in conformity with the state constitution.

6. Secret Ballot:

I will favor a modification of our ballot law to insure a strictly secret ballot. I respectfully solicit your vote and influence and assure you that if elected I will strive to represent all the people of this district conscientiously and impartially.

etc., are purchased by the Court of County Commissioners after requisition filed by the road supervisor. However, these provisions of Section 5 do not purport to affect the amounts to be appropriated or the purpose for which the appropriation may be spent. Under the provision of Section 8 the Commissioners Court of Chilton County must fix and determine the amount of funds available "for the purpose of building, maintaining, and constructing the public roads of Chilton County." The law expressly provides that the amount so appropriated shall not be exceeded by the road supervisor in constructing, maintaining or repairing the public roads. The clear purpose of these provisions, as set out above, is to prohibit the county or the road supervisor from expending on the public roads an amount more than that available for those purposes. If a construction was adopted that the appropriations referred to in Section 8 of the Act included only labor, then the county would be expending for labor on roads the entire amount available for road purposes and would have to pay for machinery, equipment and supplies to be used on the roads from other sources. This would materially affect the Court of County Commissioners in making the appropriations for road purposes, for in setting the amounts available for labor purposes, they would necessarily have to take into consideration the amounts to be expended for materials. Such irrational construction should not be adopted unless there is clear and unambiguous language requiring such a construction. I find no such language.

In my opinion, therefore, the appropriation of sums for the purposes named in Section 8 of the Act include all sums to be expended for those purposes, whether the same are expended for labor or for materials.

Yours very truly,

A. A. CARMICHAEL,

Attorney General.

W. A. Gulleddge Gives Views On Education In This County

Is Keenly Interested In Welfare Of Children And Our Schools

Verbera, Alabama, April 20, 1938.

"To the Voters of Chilton County:

"The proper physical, mental and moral development of the children of Chilton County is the most important problem we have. This is a problem that should command the interest of every citizen, and especially of the parents. While our schools have made wonderful progress in the past few years, there is much needed right now and a program of steady improvement and development is necessary if they attain the standard of efficiency we should require.

"Being deeply interested in children and their development and being desirous of having a part in this work and also to keep our county in the front rank in every way, I am asking the voters of Chilton County to elect me as a member of the County Board of Education. If elected my official acts shall be prompted by only one thing and that will be the best interests of the schools, both individually and collectively.

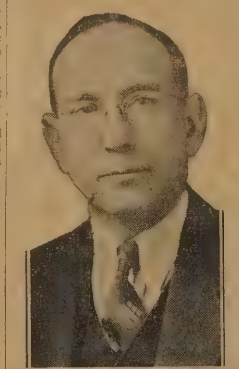

"If elected I promise to visit the schools of the county, consult with the teachers, trustees and citizens of each community, and do all that I can to establish a system of co-operation that will make school more attractive and beneficial to the pupils, the work easier and more effective for the teachers and by building up good schools, make the communities more progressive and better places in which to live.

"I will appreciate your vote.

Local Youth Is Enthusiast Of C.M.T.C. Vacation

"Hello, boy of Chilton County! Let's get out and enjoy the best of life. And how may we do this—that's it, how!" Last year I really enjoyed myself at least two months out of the year by going to the Citizens Military Training Camp at Fort McClellan, Ala. And any boy that is healthy and vigorous has a chance to do this. The C.M.T.C. officials want Chilton County boys to be present this year at the camps. You are not connected any longer than one month with the Military Government by going to the C.M.T.C. Camps.

"We have any and all kinds of athletics at camp, including are swimming, track, basketball, baseball, tennis, basketball, and the best of all a rifle team, which if you are a real good shot you have the privilege of going to Camp Perry, Ohio. To the national rifle matches of 1938, to be held in the fall. You will not have to pay any dues or anything to go to camp. This is free camp with your expenses paid.

"I, who has attended one of the C.M.T.C. Camps has really been well taken care of while at the camp. The camp is for boys who are in good health and want to enjoy a good outing.

"There are about 800 to 1000 boys at the camps so you will meet plenty of friends while at camp. You will drill a while in the morning and play all outdoor theater to go to in the night, the evening with an outdoor theater to go to in the night. We also have free pictures for the boys. You don't do anything on Saturday and Sunday except get up and make up your bed and enjoy the day with church on Sunday morning.

"This is just an encouragement for the boys of this county to meet June 16, at Fort McClellan, Ala. for a real good time and get some benefit from it."

"For application blanks and folders write a card to Leo Deason, Route 1, Clanton, Ala. This camp is for boys 17 years or older. Please state your age.

Pre-School Clinics Are Being Planned

Plans were being drawn up today for a program of pre-school clinics over the county by local P.-T.-A. and health officials, a health department report showed. This program known officially as the "Summer Round-up" is held annually, clinics being conducted at each of the larger school centers. It was said. Medical and dental examinations are made of children who attend such physical defects as are found are outlined to parents. Promotion of the corrections of these defects is engaged in jointly by the health department and the P.-T.-A. through educational measures.

"While the clinics are intended primarily for children who are to enter school next year, children from one to six years of age will be invited," said Dr. Sturkie, County health officer. "Diphtheria toxoid and the smallpox vaccination will be offered to all who attend."

An account of the incarceration of one negro man in the county jail for failing to attend the syphilis clinic regularly was received also from the health department. "We were forced to take this extreme measure," said the local health officer, "because all of our efforts to persuade this man were to no avail. This should serve as a warning to other syphilis clinic patients who are neglecting to obtain their treatments."

Notice to all School Teachers: Please return all Compilation Charts with corrective facts properly indicated and letters to parents which have been signed by physicians or dentists to the County Health Department after school has closed.

S. D. STURKIE, County Health Officer.

SPORTING WITH SPORTS

MARVIN W. MARCUS, Sports Editor

Congratulations to Ye Olde Observer and Editor; but from the experience of yours truly, he'll find out now that a married man does not live longer than a single man—it just seems that way. But who knows, maybe the longer the better.

The local fans had the opportunity last Wednesday of seeing those C.C.H.S. Tigers in real action against Columbiana, and only those who were at the game know just what a real League Ball Club those Tigers are. Wednesday's game made three wins in a row and also you'll find in the standing of the League that they are only club showing no loss. Let's keep up with these boys 'cause all indications point that they are going places.

Armstrong was, to the writer's mind, outstanding in only allowing one man reach third base, striking out 10 men in five innings he pitched. He allowed only three hits. Armstrong was relieved by Sides, who also showed great form, allowing the only run for the visitors, that being made by a wild pitch.

C.C.H.S. lost to Autaugaville. The Tigers had their claws somewhat dulled in Autaugaville Friday 15th by the score of 5 to 2, but this had no bearing on their league standing as Autaugaville is not in the league. However, a loss is a loss, even if it's lost by bad breaks because such things happen in any ole ball game and it's powerful good if you are on the winning side.

The New Ball Club has had somewhat of a tough time getting going due to bad weather, etc., but all plans have been completed to start in real earnest as soon as the ole Sol shows up for a spell. Several names have been sent in for the name of the Club. So, get busy, fans, and get that season ticket to see all games by naming the club composed of Lay Dam, Alabama Mills and Clanton. Send names to Sports Editor of this paper.

Quite a bit of mention has been made to this column about that Maplesville High School team. Seems they will be mentioned among the recognized boys of baseball if such brand of ball continues and it seems you'll find a right fiercer on that club that has already begun to make history, he being a first year man, at the age of 18 years, going to bat 13 times in three games and getting 8 hits, driving in 11 runs, among these being several extra base hits including a home run.

These are the kind the big boys like to hear about. Folks meet Mr. Douglas Cook, right fielder for Maplesville High.

LIBERTY HILL

Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days. Very few attended Saturday on account of the farmers being behind with their work. We had a large crowd Sunday and a fine sermon. There were 116 in Sunday School. Brother Lawrence is our Superintendent, and he is a good one. We have our Sunday School rooms finished and we are very proud of them.
Our singing also meets every third Sunday afternoon. Mr. E. P. Littlejohn is our chairman. We are expecting to have visiting singers from several different communities next third Sunday afternoon.
We are changing our Saturday preaching day to Saturday night at 7:00 o'clock for the next two months on account of the farmers cannot attend on Saturday.
Remember Sunday School every Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock and B.Y.P.U. at 7:00 o'clock. Preaching every third Saturday night and Sunday.
Mr. Flannagin from Pepperell was a visitor in our community this week end. May the Lord bless our pastor, Brother Holland, to regain his health and strength, is the prayer of us all.

Eye Rogers, a truck driver of Los Angeles, was hurled 60 feet when he was struck by an interurban train. Then he fell an additional 20 feet from a trestle, and escaped with a few slight scratches.

County Council Hears Specialist On Poultry At Meeting Held April 14th

The meeting of the County Council on Thursday, April 14, was to discuss poultry raising in the County. Mr. John Ivy, Poultry specialist from Auburn, gave a very interesting discussion on poultry raising as an industry, and some important facts to be remembered. He stated that a poultry Committee giving six or seven demonstrations a year throughout the county, could do more toward teaching the 3600 farm families in Chilton County the correct methods of poultry raising than the six teachers of Agriculture in the County could do by making personal calls on each farmer.

Mr. Ivy stated that high egg production is transmitted from a hen to her son, and visa versa, and if a high production cockerel, a high production hen will be produced.
"We need," said Mr. Ivy, "to fit poultry into the new farm program." Unless the farmers can do something to offset the reduced acreage in cotton they will be in a bad shape. As it has been proven that 100 hens will produce the equivalent of six bales of cotton. He recommends that we try poultry.

Experiments last year showed that every 100 hens brought a gross income of $56.00 a year. Mr. Ivy pointed out that a high production hen will produce 80 pounds of feed per year, of the 80 pounds, 40 should be grain—say corn—and 40 should be mash. The farmer can make his own mash by using 20 pounds of corn meal and 20 pounds of supplement. The farmer has thus reduced his feed cost. He also pointed out that it takes 64 pounds of feed to keep a hen alive for a year, 10 pounds to produce a dozen eggs, for the first 64 of feed there is no profit. If the feed is 3c a pound there is $192 spent and no eggs; if 14c a pound more is spent there will be a production of 200 eggs, and thus a good profit.

Mr. Ivy said that loose bowel movements in chickens is an indication of indigestion. For this he recommends giving 1 pound of baking soda to 5 gallons of water or 1 pound of salt to every 100 chickens or in the proportion of 1 pound of salts to every 400 pounds of chicken. The soda is preferable.

The so called white diarrhea in baby chicks is not diarrhea but constipation. Chilling, over heating and unclean conditions are causes of this. As a remedy Mr. Ivy suggests giving 1 teaspoon of baking soda to 1 quart of water for a period of 2 days. He said, "Chickens must have cleanliness internally, externally and internally."

Experiments show that chicks do better if feed is put before them immediately after taking them from the incubator and kept before them all the time. It is important too, that they be given plenty of fresh clean water or milk. The starter mash should be given for 4 to 6 weeks, then the growing mash may be given.

Scalleg legs in adult chickens is caused by a form of mite that burrows under the skin of the legs, the scale is a fluid that runs from under the skin and dries. To cure this use a solution of warm water and octogen soap, then rub the legs with a mixture of lard and kerosene.

The mites that suck the blood of the chicken lives in the cracks of the house. To get rid of them the roost poles should be painted twice a year with creosote, or kerosene can be bought for seventy cents a gallon.
Live on the chicken. Do not suck the blood but eat the feathers and cause an irritation, they are often the cause of nervous indigestion. To kill the lice put two drops of Black-Leaf-40 on each thigh under the wing, rather than painting the roost poles with it.

For fleas rub the head and comb of the chicken with mercurial ointment. Clean the house and spray the floor with a salt solution, or cresote.
So called sore head is chicken pox, and can be prevented only by vaccination. The vaccine can be bought from drug stores and should be given when the chicks are 12 weeks old.
Cod liver oil is recommended for hens as a means of furnishing and abundant supply of vitamin "A", which helps increase the egg production and thus the profits of the farmer. Cod liver oil can be bought for $1.25 a gallon.

It takes more than most people seem to possess to realize that the right to vote does not belong to the person, but to the general welfare. The franchise, our right to vote, is not personal property for sale for personal favor. It is public property, the use of which should be conscientiously governed by the highest moral and ethical principles. We need enthusiasm, courage, discipline and self-control to carry it through, these are things for which the world is not prepared. Of which the world thinks of as still civilized and democratic, can fall as surely before the power of the Roman as the ancient glory before the harsh, sure-minded, self-serving Vandals and Goths. The Romans had grown negative and soft with civilization; they could see two sides

SAVING in the first cost of a house can be made by using expensive materials in its construction and finish. Wood used in the framework and in the exterior finish of houses is the cheapest material available in the United States today, and is consequently the most common used. Houses built of wood require frequent repairs, however, and are subject to destruction by fire.

A house with stone, brick, tile or cement walls and a slate or tile roof will cost more than a house with wooden walls, but the repairs and upkeep will cost less. There will also be a saving in the cost of fire insurance.

Another method of economizing on the original cost of a house is to make it very simple in form. The distances between the supporting walls should not be too great, as the cost and expense of floor beams and rafters increase rapidly when they are longer than 14 feet. Partitions in upper stories should rest on partitions in the floors below whenever practicable. Flues and chimneys should be grouped so as to require as few chimneys as possible. These and similar considerations will result in savings in the lowest cost.

Every owner would prefer that his house be considered beautiful. He is interested not only in its external beauty, but desires that its furniture and decorations shall be selected with equally artistic taste. To assure artistic effects the design of the house and its surroundings as well as its furnishings, is best trusted to an architect whose good taste has been shown in completed work of a similar nature.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

INSTEAD of discontinuing the service of winter vegetables that have made their appearance too frequently at the table, dress them up in a style that will make them seem new to the eye as well as the palate. An intriguing new sauce prepared with Brazil nuts, for example, will do a great deal in bringing cauliflower back into favor. The tested recipe is easy to follow: Cauliflower With Brazil Nut Sauce

1 head cauliflower
4 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup chopped Brazil nuts
Remove leaves from cauliflower and soak in cold water thirty minutes. Cook in a very small amount of water with a dash of sugar and of salt in a heavy, covered utensil. When tender, drain. Melt one tablespoon of the butter, add nuts and when brown, add remaining butter. Pour this sauce over the cauliflower.

CARDUI

In this modern time something wonderfully worth while can be done for practically every woman who suffers from functional pains of menstruation. Certain cases can be relieved by taking Cardui. Others may need a physician's treatment.

Cardui has two widely demonstrated uses: (1) To ease the immediate pain and nervousness of the monthly period; and (2) to aid in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

Workers Need Not Retire At Age Of 65

Social Security Official Says Benefits Await Eligible Workers

It is not necessary to retire from work at the age of 65 in order to receive a lump-sum payment under the Federal Old-Age Insurance program, Martin C. Folmar, manager of the Social Security Board's Bureau of Old-Age Insurance Field Office in Birmingham, emphasizes.

"In my contacts with business and industrial workers in Birmingham and adjoining nine counties served by my office, I have found that there is a general belief among the majority of them that when they reach age 65 they will be compelled to retire from work to receive a lump-sum benefit payment," Mr. Folmar said.

"Under the present terms of the Social Security Act, a worker retires from covered employment in order to receive the monthly retirement benefits which will be paid beginning in 1942. However, the lump-sum cash payments are paid now to workers who reach age 65, and who have worked since 1937 in an employment covered by the Act."

The lump-sum payments amount to 3 1/2 per cent of wages the worker has received during the covered period.

Every assistance is being given claimants, without charge, at the Social Security Board Office which is located at 621 Chamber of Commerce Building, Birmingham, Alabama.

G. C. Walker Sends Message
To Voters Of Chilton County

Expresses Opinion On Recent Ruling Of The Attorney-General Relative To The Payment Of Road Work, Materials

Clanton, Alabama, April 19, 1938.

"To the Voters of Chilton County:

"As I have said to you many times over that if you elect me as your Representative in the Legislature, my first official act will be, to repeal the present Chilton County Road Laws. I will go no further with local legislation until you by majority of your votes, give me directions.

"It has come to my attention that during the month of January, 1938, certain of our citizens did work for the county and certain others sold the county supplies. The Attorney General of Alabama has ruled that this work and supplies can't be paid for, because the budget for the months of November and December, 1937, and January, 1938, had been exceeded. I want the voters to know that I have had nothing to do with the Commissioners Court; neither have I had anything to do with the work of our Road Supervisor and I am in no way responsible for this situation. I will, however, if it meets with your approval, introduce and pass a bill in the Legislature to pay these people for the work they did and for the supplies bought by the county during that quarter, with interest from the date that the claim was due.

"I want the voters to further know that I have no Steering Committee, except that the voters of Chilton County will be my Steering Committee and that in all of my official acts as their representative, I will be obedient to a majority of their votes.

"I do not believe that newspaper controversies do any good and this article is about all that I will have to say. You have tried others, now try me.

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives me to see the right, I will keep my promise to you on matters of local legislation for Chilton County. Thanking you.

"I am,

"Your Obedient Servant,"

"G. C. WALKER."

was incurred by the Supervisor more than $3,500.00 over the appropriation fixed by the Court. The Commissioners Court had no way of knowing and did not know that the appropriation was over spent until after the quarter had expired and then it developed that there was due to many road hands of the county money for road work which they had done in good faith, but which, under the local Supervisor's Bill, the Court was in doubt whether or not they could pay. This question was then submitted to the Attorney General on February 18th, 1938 and on April 12, 1938, the Attorney General gave an opinion answering our question and holding that after the expiration of the quarter the Court was without authority to make any further appropriations to the quarter passed and that the Court was without any legal authority to pay the road hands or any persons who might have sold the county material or supplies during said quarter. For the information of the public, we have asked both the county papers to publish this opinion in full, and the Attorney General to publish it. If the Court should pay of these road hands or any of the parties selling the county materials and supplies, then, of course, the claim would be illegal and the next state examiner would charge it back to the Commissioners. We presume that every fair minded citizen will agree that the Commissioners Court should have the right to limit the supervisor, whoever he might be, in expending money of the roads and bridges of the county, as the public knows there are other funds in the county that have to operate and the only way under the Local Bill whereby a person working for the county might positively know whether or not he can legally be paid would be to ascertain from the Supervisor whether or not the appropriations were overruled. We would likely be overrun. We submit that this is not practical or reasonable, however, it is the way this local bill is written, and it is the way it has been construed by the Attorney General.

"As members of the Commissioners Court and as citizens and taxpayers of your county, we do not feel that it is right for any person to give a day's service to the county with the expectation of pay and not be paid, and that, notwithstanding the Court has appropriated each month every penny for road work that we felt that the condition of our county would warrant. However, this road law was passed and became the law of our county and, of course, we, as officials, are bound by it and will be bound by it until it is repealed.

"Forgetting any feeling we may have had in the past or may have had between the present supervisor and the Commissioners Court we feel, along with the Grand Jury which reported sometime ago upon this bill, as well as practically all, if not all, candidates for the Legislature and as well as a great majority of the citizens of this county that this law is not workable, that it is not practical and regardless of who you might elect in November as your county commissioners, that this law should be repealed as soon as the Legislature meets in January. This is just one of the many instances which prove that this law is not workable and not practical and could never be made beneficial for the county and the Commissioners Court throughout the past two years have encountered many other instances under the law which has convinced us that the same should be repealed. We feel further that the working of the roads and bridges and the expenditures of your money should be placed back in the hands of the Commissioners Court, men whom you directly elect and who are directly responsible to you, and if this law is repealed and the matter placed back in the hands of the Commissioners Court, then whenever a man is employed to do a day's work on the roads of the county or whenever the county buys materials or supplies, the Commissioners will have a right to pay for the same and not be bound by the technical provisions of the supervisor's bill.

"We make this statement in view of the fact that some blame has been placed on the Commissioners Court for not paying these road hands, as we believe when you view the situation fairly in view of the local supervisor's gers, Mrs. C. R. Baker, of 104 First Avenue, Pratt City, and Miss Katherine Nabors, of Roberts Field were injured. Mrs. Sanford's condition was given as serious by Clanton hospital attaches where they were taken, after the accident.

The four Negroes occupying the other car were F. W. Taylor the driver; F. W. Taylor, Jr., his 8-year-old son; G. W. Lockhard, and Cohen Simpson, all of Montgomery, and paid by officers to be connected with the State Teachers College there.

Hospital attaches at Clanton said the driver's condition was serious. The other three were only slightly injured.

State Highway Patrolmen M. E. Jones, J. E. Smith, Earl Henley and Wallace Waites, who investigated, said the accident occurred when one of the cars attempted to pass a car in front and collided head-on with the other car coming in the opposite direction.

The Birmingham party, composed of about 15 persons, was made up of members of the Pratt City Methodist Church and Sunday School who were on their annual Easter visit to the Methodist Orphanage at Selma, carrying Easter eggs, toy rabbits and other gifts to one of the little girls there, which the Sunday School sponsors.

Sanford's car was said to be the car in the middle with the other cars in the party in front and behind him.

The bodies of Mr. Sanford and his daughter were brought to Bell's Funeral Home at Crumley's Chapel.

C.H. PIPES

Chilton County will offer to the voters of the Sixth Congressional District, Mr. C. H. Pipes, as its candidate for a place on the State Democratic Executive Committee. Mr. Pipes seeks to occupy the place now being held by Dr. N. S. Johnson, who is not a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Pipes is one of the outstanding Democrats of the County and a check-up of the District which is composed of eight counties, shows that he will receive a strong vote in all counties. There are twelve men in the race and only eight to be elected by the people.

In commenting on his candidacy for this position, Mr. Pipes said he wished it thoroughly understood he was opposed to any form of handpicking by the Committee in selecting delegates or candidates. Mr. Pipes is City Clerk of Clanton and one of the best known young men of the county.

Next Tuesday, May 3rd, brings to the people of Chilton County and the State of Alabama a most important election in which major state and county officers will be nominated or elected.

A specimen of the Democratic ballot to be used in this primary election will be found elsewhere in this issue. Study it carefully, clip it out and become familiar with the names of the candidates seeking these offices.

Sheriff's Amendment

Two amendments to the State Constitution are to be submitted to the voters also next Tuesday. One amendment affects the county of Limestone only.

Proposed Amendment Number 2 affects the state at large and is of importance to the people of Chilton County. The voters will vote Yes or No on these Proposed Amendment Number 2, which, if approved, will allow sheriffs to succeed themselves in office as follows:

Proposed Amendment No. 2

"Amendment to the Constitution by amending Section 139 of Article 5 so as to read as follows: Section 138 of Article 5.—A sheriff shall be elected in each County by the qualified electors thereof who shall hold office for a term of four years unless sooner removed, and he shall be eligible to such office as his own successor. Whenever any prisoner is taken from jail, or from the custody of any Sheriff or his deputy, and put to death, or suffers grievous bodily harm, owing to the neglect, connivance, cowardice, or other grave fault of the Sheriff such Sheriff may be impeached under Section 174 of this Constitution. CLANTON PLANS BIG RECEPTION FOR VISITORS

Many Notables To Make Up Party Of Officials On Visit To County

WILL STOP AT SEVERAL PLACES IN COUNTY

Chilton County is eagerly looking forward to the opportunity of seeing and greeting Postmaster General James A. Farley who will arrive in the county this afternoon and make several stops along the route from Birmingham to Montgomery.

This is a rare treat and honor for this county. Postmaster General Farley will be paid tribute in Clanton County line into this section and until he leaves on his motor trip to Montgomery.

Stopping first at the post office in Clanton, he will pay long enough to greet Postmaster Desair Littlejohn and her assistants and any others who are there. Then he will motor on to Thorsby where he will visit Postmaster Donald Merchant, his assistants and citizens of that town.

Clanton Plans Big Day

Stops at these two places will be for only a few minutes, then Mr. Farley, with his official party, will drive on to Clanton, arriving at approximately three o'clock this afternoon. He will be greeted here by a rousing welcome of citizens and school children.

A majority of the business establishments of Clanton will close their doors during the time Mr. Farley is in the city paying tribute to this outstanding Democrat and citizen, and to allow employees an opportunity to hear him speak at the post office where he will be the guest of Postmaster Hosea Down.

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton has arranged for a great part of the welcome of Mr. Farley this afternoon.

On To Verbena

After spending sometime in Clanton the party will motor on towards Montgomery, stopping at Cooper for a brief visit and then on to Verbena, stopping at the postoffice to greet Postmaster Gladys Derramus and other citizens of the town. From there he will go to Prattville to dedicate a new post office building. Then to Montgomery where an elaborate welcome and banquet will be staged in his honor.

In addition to Postmaster General Farley, the official party making this trip will include Hon. Pitt Tyson Manner, private secretary to Governor Graves and president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America; Charles M. Johnson, chairman of publicity of the Democratic National Committee; Chip Robert, committee secretary; Harry Branch, second assistant postmaster general; Ambrose O'Connell, executive assistant to Mr. Farley and Commissioner George E. Allen, of the District of Columbia.

Leeroy Did Not Take Place On School Board

Although Mr. T. L. Leroy, well known citizen of this county, was recommended by the County Board of Education to fill the unexpired term of Mr. J. P. Payne, of Maplesville, as a member of the Board, it was learned that he will not accept the place.

In a statement to the News, Mr. Leroy stated that since he was a candidate for membership on the Board in Tuesday's election, he did not feel it would be fair to accept the position if it should be offered to him. Mr. Leroy is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for a place on the Board of Education and is one of the county's prominent residents.

Baptists Have Special Meeting Next Sunday

The members of the Clanton Baptist Church are urged to attend services at the Church on next Sunday morning without fail as important business matters of the church are to be discussed.

Luther E. Little, chairman of the Pulpit Committee, also advised that there will be preaching at both the morning and evening services.

WHY VOTE?

(AN EDITORIAL)

There are approximately six thousand qualified voters in Chilton County. Six thousand persons who can enjoy a privilege afforded few citizens of any country other than these United States of America. Six thousand men and women who can go to the polls and through the medium of the ballot express their choice for the men who will handle the affairs of many important public offices for four years.

But, will these thousands of men and women take advantage of this opportunity and exercise their constitutional right on next Tuesday when many candidates for office will be elected and some nominated for run-offs?

Every one of them should. It is a duty they owe themselves and their government.

Some may ask, why vote? Some may vote in order to do a friend a favor, others may vote to be able to vote against a candidate they do not like, while some may vote with the idea in mind they will be compensated in monetary terms one way or another. But, there is only one, sound, sensible reason for casting your vote in an important election such as will face us on next Tuesday and that is for the sake of voting for the man you believe honest, trustworthy and best qualified to hold the office he seeks, without prejudice, hatred or any thought of personal gain other than the satisfaction of knowing you did the right thing for yourself, your country and the State of Alabama.

On the Democratic ballot, and that ballot alone, to be used in Chilton County on next Tuesday will appear the names of five candidates who seek to become Governor of YOUR state. Surely you, as a citizen, will want to have some part in the naming of the man to sit as the chief executive of your state for the coming four-year term.

On that same ballot, and that ballot alone, will appear the names of five men who are asking the voters for the office of Secretary of State. It is perfectly natural for you, as a voting citizen, to want to cast your vote for your favorite in that race.

And, only on the Democratic ballot of next Tuesday's election will appear the names of five candidates for the all-important office of Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries of Alabama. Remember, these men who are elected to these offices will hold in their hands the fate of many things that are most dear to you for the coming four years, and that nomination for these offices in Alabama is practically the same as election.

Then too, on the Democratic ballot of this county will appear the names of two men who ask you to help one of them become YOUR representative in the 76th Congress of the United States, and these are only a few of the important offices to be filled by the hands of the voters.

Does it make any difference to you whether you exercise your full right as a citizen of the State of Alabama, or are you content to just be a citizen of Chilton County and keep your vote confined within the boundary lines of the county?

It is not to be denied that politics plays a large part in the lives of every man and woman, and it would be wise on their part to place themselves in a position, through the ballot, in an emergency or in every-day life, to stand before any State or County officials with a record as a voter that is beyond question. Go to the polls next Tuesday, and vote.

How To Vote

At the risk of being criticized for repeating I am going to call attention to the necessity for care in selecting men for office, for the next four years. The people of Jefferson are immediately and directly interested in selecting about a dozen out of over one hundred men who have offered for public office. They have applied for a job, and we, the voters are going to engage them to assume certain duties, perform certain acts and handle in a great many instances, monies either directly or indirectly. For instance the man elected sheriff will have charge of approximately one-third of the Courthouse. He will employ and will have directly under his supervision well over one hundred people. He will supply food, clothing and lodging for thousands of prisoners and will spend for three purposes several hundred thousands of dollars of the people's money. His office will of course be an administrative office. Then there are three County Commissioners who will have complete charge of the Courthouse, roads, county buildings and equipment and charities, and will have a public expense account running into the millions. Legislators, seven in number, will be elected with their fractional right to say how the State's income of nearly a hundred million will be spent. Next a Congressman will be named who will have a finger in the spending of about five billions of the people's money. Other offices just as important will be filled but the above are Jefferson's own. How are you going to judge the value of a man you hire as your public servant?

You must proceed just as if you were employing someone to work in your office, your store, your factory or your home. Determine first if the applicant is honest. One of the best ways to determine his honesty is to examine his credit rating and if previously employed was there any suspicion of dishonesty. Where there is lots of smoke there is bound to be some fire. Where there is suspicion there is bound to be some cause for suspicion. Reject the dishonest for dishonesty has caused the tax payers the greatest financial loss—and employ the honest man. The man you could trust with your own money. Then determine by a study of his past record if he is the type that works—one that stays on the job. Try to employ a man that can be found when needed, not one that comes late and leaves early—not one that has a barrage of secretaries to protect him from his employers, the public. Moderate efficiency is necessary with the above but a man need not have three college degrees or even one to be efficient—efficiency is the result of intelligence and experience. There are lots of educated fools. Study your man—and remember good talkers are often poor doers—look into the record of the man you employ—be sure he is honest—Faithful to duty and moderately efficient—and you can't go wrong.—The Birmingham Weekly Call.

On Flying The Nazi Flag

The American Civil Liberties Union is vigorously opposed to virtually everything for which the swastika banner of Nazi Germany stands. Nevertheless, the organization is acting wholly in character when its St. Louis branch upholds the right of the German consul to fly the swastika flag with on this question of current importance.

Whether or not Americans like its policies, Germany, as the union points out, is a country with which our own government maintains diplomatic relations, and its representatives are entitled to display their flag, just as all other foreign envoys in this Country may do. That's all there is to it.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Labor And The Public

There is real significance in the facts recently revealed by a careful, dispassionate poll of a representative cross-section of Americans on the question of unrestrained activities of labor unions they rule so dictatorially.

The poll, conducted by Fortune Magazine, showed a 3-1 majority recommending legislation to curb union rule of American workers and their employers.

To qualify the poll, it may be pointed out that it was conducted by the same investigators and in the same manner as the poll which took two years ago was only 1 percent in error in forecasting the plurality of Mr. Roosevelt in the presidential election.

Every state in the Union, every race, religion, and "economic class," every classification of profession and labor and every political affiliation was included in the poll on this question of urgent importance.

It is not difficult to understand the sentiment expressed by those canvassed in the poll when one looks carefully at the record of labor unions in the last few years.

America is not designed to progress by such harsh methods. In fact, progress is reversed when violence is allowed to dictate our rights. That is why Americans overwhelmingly want it stopped.

The CCC Continues

Robert Fenchel, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps has announced that the CCC will continue to operate 1,501 camps over the country for another year. This is good news, for it had been feared that at least 300 camps would be abolished before the end of the year.

The CCC will keep occupied about 271,000 men and boys, who will be engaged in wholesome, health-giving work that is needed for the restoration of forests. About half of the $276,000,000 appropriation for the CCC will be used to purchase supplies for the camps. The rest will be used for salaries for the men and boys at camps.

It has been pointed out before in these columns that the CCC is one of the New Deal projects that has won the backing of many persons and factions that have severely criticized other New Deal projects—B'ham. Age-Herald.

Spend And Destroy

And now comes the proposal from an automobile manufacturer for the government to spend $100,000,000 buying up and scrapping 1,000,000 old automobiles, on the theory that the automobile industry employs one out of every seven persons, directly or indirectly.

The idea is no different than paying farmers for not raising crops, plowing under cotton, destroying young pigs, buying surplus farm crops, etc. But it's pretty hard for the older school who were taught to save and produce, to get used to the new idea of spend and destroy.

Fire Prevention Is Easy

Fire loss in the United States is disgracefully high. But it would be far higher were it not for the unending efforts of the stock fire insurance industry, carried on through the National Board of Fire Underwriters, in the interest of fire prevention and control.

Few of us realize what this work means to all business and to everyone with a home, a job, or an investment. According to the National Association of Credit Men, a saving of a quarter-billion dollars annually in fire waste, means a gain of close to a billion dollars for American business. In other words, the indirect cost of fire is much greater than the direct cost, so that when we prevent a dollar of direct loss we save several dollars of indirect loss.

The efforts of the fire insurance industry have thus saved untold billions that otherwise would have been destroyed. Yet this work cannot produce its maximum benefit without public understanding and cooperation. At the present time, direct fire waste runs to several hundred millions of dollars a year in this country—which means that total waste approaches two billion. Reliable estimates say that about 90 percent of fires are preventable, and are the result of carelessness or ignorance, individual or civic.

Fire prevention requires little time or money. Periodic inspection of homes and places of business, check-ups on heating and lighting systems, careful storage and disposal of inflammables and waste—it is little things like these that prevent fires. From the community standpoint, an adequate, modern building code, buttressed with good fire department and water facilities, are vital weapons in the war against fire.

A great industry is working day and night to protect you and yours against fire. It asks, needs, and deserves your help.

We Observe

By Bonnie Hand

BEG PARDON—

How we manufactured the idea that Jim Farley was going to be in Clanton last Thursday, we don't know, but that's just the way we put it in this column last week as you probably noticed. It's today the Clanton will be honored by a visit from this distinguished person, instead of last Thursday. We certainly regret this error, but you must remember we had quite a bit of excitement, anyway—things happening that would make any man nervous and subject to doing things right backwards. We sincerely apologize for misleading you, but under the circumstances, we're sure you'll understand.

FOR YEARS TO COME—

But what might turn out to be the biggest and most dangerous error to affect us made in this column was the statement last week about the new boss. This, we were told in no uncertain terms, was the inspiration of a resolution made by a certain member of the fairer sex to carry out to the letter our mention of "boss."

WORSE THAN WAR—

Comments have been made here and yon about the large number of serious accidents on our highways, but we think that more could still be said, in the hope that the motoring public will take heed and drive more carefully. The territory 10 miles north and 10 miles south of Clanton, inclusive, has been the scene of numerous serious accidents, resulting in the fatal injury of many persons, some who were citizens of Clanton. The motorist, Sunday, April 16, about three miles north of Jemison we looked at the lifeless body of an innocent 15-year-old girl, killed instantly. She lay by the roadside covered by a blanket—too late to carry her to a hospital. The driver of the car, we were told, then to get those injured, yet more fortunate, to the care of physicians. Then on Wednesday, April 20, right in the residential section of Clanton, a wreck that almost turned out disastrously, took place—pure negligence on the part of the driver of the car. We repeat: much can yet be said about the many, many wrecks happening on the highways near here and elsewhere.

A REAL SERVICE—

Speaking of wrecks in the paragraph above, we feel it fitting and proper that we say something about the splendid work of the State Highway Patrolmen. It's astounding how quick these boys manage to reach the scene of an accident sometimes. They are right on hand to aid in any way. Controlling traffic passing the scene is the big item of service these boys perform, preventing congestion on the road which might cause a second accident. Giving First Aid and assisting in transporting the injured to hospitals is an invaluable service they perform. We admire the work of the local Patrolmen—we've seen them in action and we know their one aim is to carry out their duty to the letter. More power and more cooperation on the part of the motorists, to the State Highway Patrolmen.

BEST WISHES—

We learn with regret that Miss Irene Smitherman, our popular County Health Nurse, is confined in the Highland Baptist Hospital in Birmingham due to serious illness. We join her many friends in wishing for her a most rapid recovery.

OBSERVATIONS—

These beautiful Spring mornings are causing some sleepy-looking heads to make their appearance on the streets of Clanton.

The remodeling of the building to be occupied by Miss Callie Watts' Hat Shoppe, has been going forward full speed. This is the building next door to the Esco Lunch Shoppe. When completed, we believe it will be one of the most beautiful stores in Clanton. We understand it will be ready for occupancy by May first.

The time is near!—May 3rd, to be exact, and it's rather amusing to watch some of these politicians, some trying to get elected for the time being, and some trying to get re-elected. But we really shouldn't laugh at, but listen to them, for it's a certainty we're going to shove a number of these public office aspirants right into the courthouse before many more weeks.

Don't get the idea we've gone politics in this column, but politics being the big talk right now we just had to say something along this line.

A plow which M. A. Bantz of Otterville, La., bought 40 years ago for $6 and which he has used ever since was sold recently at auction for its purchase price.

A thief who voiced his disappointment in a note left in a company office in Detroit is being sought by police. The note typewritten read: "Please have some money when I call next time."

MORALECHOS

D. W. Haslow

A negro was passing a cemetery at night when a white horse lifted his head from his grazing and snorted in an alarming way at the passer by. The man of the ebony skin glanced in the direction of the white horse, thought that he saw an angel among the white tombs and his heels began to fly. The next morning as he related his experience to his boss he said, "I ran so fast I did not know where I was going and I did not care." That negro was somewhat of an example of this age in which we are living. As we look at the world going by, we must confess that the most of folks are going with such speed that they do not know where they are going and the sad part of the race is that they do not seem to care.

We are running in all direction like a Texas Jack Rabbit and we do not know where we are going and why we are going to arrive. What is to become of this speeding world? The Lord only knows. The fool saith in his heart, "No man shall run faster than I shall," and off he goes.

A man came to a small village community and talked electricity for the people residing there. He assured them that the power line was on the way and in a very short time they could connect and light their humble homes. One good woman acted on the promise and had her home wired and then bought many electrical fixtures. She wanted to be ready when the power line came to town. Something went wrong with the plans of the Company and twenty-one years passed before the power line came. All during this time the woman kept her appliances and waited. When the line did really come she connected and her fixtures went to giving service. Often we do see men and women become interested in the religious life. They believe the preacher to the extent that they will join the church and enter by faith into some of the preparations for Christian service, but they fail to link up with God in a heart-warming attitude. They have the form of Godliness but they do not have the power. There is no delay in the coming of God's power line. It is at your door and all you have to do is to connect and the furnishings of your soul will begin to give service.

One clear afternoon I took my book and sat down by the doorway to read. The sun was sinking behind the Western hills and I decided that I would see how long I could read after sundown. The twilight came on and the shadows gathered. The farther over the hill the sun went, the darker it grew. Finally my eyes were tired and the strain was too much for the reading in my book. The sun was so far away that I could not read. When with the brightness of the noonday sun the sun was shining into my eyes, we have no difficulty in reading. The mind of God, but when we let the world come between us and the Sun, it is then that our vision of truth declines. The more of the world that comes between us and God, the less we are able to see. The farther away the Son goes, the darker becomes our vision. If we would be able to read clearly the mind of God, we must keep ourselves lifted high in the sky of the soul.

I saw a musician as he tuned the strings of his violin to the highest notes. When this was done he plunged into his song and those strings fairly screamed with music that was rare and sweet. When the song was over the musician hastily unstrung his instrument, giving slack to every wire, so that it was not good for his investment to remain on that high key. Sometimes think that God will keep us up to the very highest, that He may play upon us the rarest and sweetest, but He knows that it is not best for us to remain at high tension all the time. At times you may find yourself keyed up to the highest. Better not allow yourself to remain there. Slacken the keys of your soul that you may preserve your nerves and your enduring qualities.

While I was on my father's farm I was assigned the task of plowing the mule. When I had the mule hitched up and I stood between the plow handles, I had to repeat, "Get UP" as many as two or three times before the old plow would ease down the furrow. Every time he would step I would have to repeat my orders for him to move on before he would resume his snail pace. In all of my plowing of that old mule I never remember to have repeated the "Woe" to him. When I said that word he stopped and so intensely did he stop for it that he stopped many times when I did not say it. Since I have been in the ministry I have observed that many of my church members have had the disposition of that old mule. If I get them to move off at all to perform church duties, they move after much persuasion and after many urgent urges on the part of the pastor. Church members know the word "whoa" better than they know the word "get up." We can not plow much land when we have to spend the most of our time getting the mule to travel and neither can we do much for God when we have so much difficulty in getting church members to move on.

A man ran up to W. R. Graham at Port Arthur, Tex., stabbed him twice, looked in his face, and muttered: "Oh, pardon me, you're the wrong man," and then fled.

BALLOT FOR TUESDAY'S PRIMARY OFFERS VARIETY FOR VOTERS

Specimen Ballot Published For Voters To Be Able To Study It Before Going To The Polls In Tuesday's Election

To the right is shown a specimen of the Democratic ballot which will be used in the primary election to be held in the county on next Tuesday, May 2nd. The News is publishing this ballot so that the voters may become more familiar with the names that will appear on the official ballot. Voters should also keep in mind that the names on the ballots are placed in different positions at various times during the printing of the ballots so that no one candidate's name will appear at the top on all ballots.

UNWISE CUTTING OF TIMBERS IS AID TO FLOOD WATERS

Rushing waters from mountain streams resulting in flooded lowlands and deplorable losses in human lives and property brings home to our people the uncertainty of the future. It is a fact that in years past to say that forest prevent floods would be a misstatement, but proof that forests are an important factor in the reduction of flood waters has long been established.

Under natural forest conditions, rainfall is retarded by the trees and forest floor and the absorbent top soil which is just under the forest litter. In this manner the forest acts as a regulator permitting a controlled passage of water from the hillsides to the streams. Experiments conducted by scientists have proven in some instances as high as 75 per cent of the rainfall on heavy forested slopes is carried to the streams as springs as a result of underground seepage. This seepage is made possible through tree roots and the protected soil.

When or heavy cutting of forests removes the trees and destroys their valuable protective action. Forest fires and overgrazing destroy not only the trees but also the forest litter. With the litter burned, the top soil is left barren, the run-off of rainfall is so accelerated that soon the top soil is carried to the stream bed and erosion is started. Continued erosion means the filling of the stream bed and the forcing of the water from its regular course, thus causing floods.

Establishment by the U.S. Forest Service of National Forests in the mountainous areas of our southern states is part of a program of sound forestry development that will permit the forest to influence on the regulation of water flow by retention of the forest floor from fire, reforestation of denuded lands unsuitable for agriculture, regulation of grazing and selective cutting of timber for sale.

Public ownership of lands in critical watershed areas has proven the only practical method of providing "protection" as this enables such agencies as cutting and grazing to be subordinate to protection, while private owners in a majority of cases are primarily interested in revenues. It should be emphasized, however, that it is not proposed to supplant private ownership for engineering works in flood control, but that forests located in the watershed of large rivers be permitted to perform their important part by the retention of watersheds to their natural state for prevention of accelerated runoff and rainfall. Thus, with the engineering developments at the point of flood, the national catastrophe will be greatly reduced.

FAVORITE brand of grape jelly has recently made its appearance in an attractive tin clear tumbler with grape cluster design. The fact that the tumbler can be used for table and beverage after the jelly is eaten, gives it a double appeal to the housewife. The closure, which is easily released with hook or bottle opener, also proved a popular feature of the new package.

The freshness and flavor of the jelly are protected by the airtight sealing process, which hermetically seals out their worst enemy, air. This sealing process is known as vapor-vacuum sealing, is a nationally famous process and is being adopted by leading food manufacturers.

Brief Farm News

The last day for Alabama farmers to file work sheets in county AA offices so that the farm will be eligible to be covered by application for payment under the 1938 program in next Saturday, April 30.

The highest producing dairy herd in Alabama during March is owned by J.C. Beene of Huntsville. The cows were fed a grain mixture of 200 pounds of 24 per cent commercial dairy feed and 100 pounds of crushed corn. The roughage consisted of silage and soybean hay.

Present indications are that insects will be numerous throughout the country this year and will do considerable damage to crops and vegetables unless controlled by farmers.

More than one-fourth of the farm families in 12 southern cotton states do not have a single dairy cow, says Walter L. Randolph, in charge of AAA program in Alabama, in pointing out that this is responsible for the inadequate diet of many of the farm families in these states.

4-H Club News

B. N. IVEY, Assistant County Agent in Charge of 4-H Club Work

Below is an article written voluntarily by a 4-H Club member.

"How Will Twenty Find Us Fixed For Life?"

Will twenty find us a grouchy, go-lucky kind of person, or will it find us kind, pleasant, cheerful, cooperative persons?

If we expect to be respected in this world we must first respect other people. We should be willing to cooperate in everything that is brought up. As for club work, we should always try to find something to do for our club. When we respect our club we are respecting our government. Some may say how and why do we do that? Because our government spends thousands and thousands of dollars each year for the experiment station to study the things that are most needed on the farms and in the homes.

If a boy and girl get married and the boy can't plow and can't work for a living, then he can't expect his wife to cook very much food, even if she is a perfect cook, because the boy hasn't put anything at the home for the girl to cook. He change that around to save the boy the all kind of food at home but the girl can't cook well, a poor farmer's wife can't afford to have much. In order to learn the different methods of doing things, the 4-H club teaches us, we must take active parts in the clubs. We learn how to keep correct record on what we do so we can tell if we are making or losing money on our projects.

The girls are taught to sew, to cook, to arrange the dishes on the table so it will be neat and attractive, to have a well-set table adds twenty-five per cent to the appetite. So, girls and boys, let us learn the correct way to do things while we are yet young. Let's not wait until we are about thirty years old before we find our bank roll is becoming low because we have been losing money for about ten years. That is too late to do anything about it, so let's learn to keep an accurate record of what we do. Let us not fail to become 4-H Club members.

Now, being a member of any organization doesn't mean that we are going to get one thing out of it if we don't put something into it. If we attend every meeting and sit and talk to our desk partner we don't get anything out of it for let our desk partner get anything out of it. In that respect we would have been better off over in the corn field throwing rocks at toad-frogs in a well, because our desk partner might have gotten some good thoughts from the discussion.

I am sure the 4-H Club leaders with there were enough who wanted a club that they would have to hold four or five meetings a day, so let's become club members and learn to cooperate, to be good sports and to be attentive at every meeting. If you go to a meeting of any organization and do not pay close attention you never know what is sad or done. You are bound to lose some interesting point that would be of great value to you some day. If you fail to hear any part of a speech you will never hear that speech again, word for word, so attend every meeting, listen to every word that is said by the speaker.

4-H Club work furnishes plenty of sports and plenty of knowledge for every boy and girl over ten years old. We don't fail to become a member and do everything you can to help your club. Above all things, cooperate with the other club members in everything that is brought up.

Candidate For Commissioner From District No. 2
Points Out High Plane Of His Campaign
And Promises His Best Efforts

"To the Voters of Chilton County:
"Since the time is drawing near for the primary election in this county, I would like to take this opportunity to make a short statement to the voters regarding my candidacy for member of the Commissioners Court from District One.
"I believe that all those whom I have contacted with agree that I have conducted my campaign for this office in a clean manner, have made no attempt to take advantage of my opponent in any slanderous way, and that I have been fair in all my efforts to secure the nomination.
"As far as promises are concerned, I have made none with the exception of one I expect to do the right thing at all times, act for what I believe to be the best interests of the county, and if any bad laws are placed upon us, I will cooperate instead of agitate, until such undesirable legislation can be abolished by the Legislature. Then I will use my influence in having any laws, opposed by a majority of the people, repealed.

"If you see fit to cast your vote for me on May 3rd, I will assure you of my appreciation and my very best service.

C. B. COX SHOWN AS A MAN TO BE DEPENDENT UPON

Long-Time Citizen Of County
Urges Voters To Send
Cox Back In Office

"To The Citizens of Chilton County:
"There are several issues in the campaign that the good Democrats of this county should consider seriously before they cast their votes for candidates in the primary election on next Tuesday. I have made considerable study of local affairs and have reached the conclusion that the office of Representative of this county will be of major importance to the voters in the coming years.
"I have listened very carefully to statements made by the various candidates for the office of Representative in the legislature, considered the record of them all and feel perfectly safe in expressing my belief that Mr. C. B. Cox is the man who should represent this county for the next four-year term.
"For instance, if you want the services of our county farm agent, our health department, the fine boys and girls club work in the county to be cut short, then don't vote for Charlie Cox for Representative. But, if you favor these fine, progressive and worthwhile departments and wish them to continue and help our county, then by all means vote for Mr. Cox who has no selfish interest for himself nor anyone in his heart, but is at all times working for those things he believes will be of the greatest benefit to the people of his county.
"I have had the pleasure of living as almost a neighbor to Mr. Cox for a long time, and I believe I know whereof I speak and it is a privilege to be able at this time to say something in his behalf. Mr. Cox is a man who has always wanted to help everybody he could without any thought or hope of receiving any kind of compensation for his aid.
"I understand that some of the boys in the county have depended on Mr. Cox for work all during his present term of Representative, and that some of these same fellows have now been bought over by parties opposing Mr. Cox in their efforts to defeat him. I did not know what to call that and if I did I fear it could not be printed in my opinion, the main reason these parties want to defeat Mr. Cox is simply because they can not dictate to him because he is not to be bought off.
"When a candidate for Representative in the Legislature promises to place all questions of Legislation before his county people, it is a childish idea and nothing more than an attempt to fool the people. It is known that it takes only five days to introduce a Bill and get it passed into a law if anyone wished to do so, which would not give any Representative time to allow his own people to vote on the matter. That is one thing I have heard a candidate is telling.
"Mr. Cox is experienced in these matters. He is fair, honest and conscientious. I say these things without any fear of contradiction because I know them to be true. Mr. Cox has meant more to Chilton County as a Representative than he has been given credit for by those who know to be a fact, that he has aided the county as a whole and hundreds of people here as individuals in his unselfish and untiring efforts.
"I will close again by asking and urging the voters of the county to give their full support to a man for Representative who is a friend of every man, woman and child in his county; a man whose friendship and friendly connections will mean much to our county in the years to come. His ideas are plain, straightforward and worthwhile. Give him a chance to continue his good work for our county by sending him back to the Legislature. That man is C. B. Cox.

"JIM PARRISH"

His allegiance with Graves has seeped through and his supporters are now flocking to the Sparks column. Good reports are coming from every county South Alabama will give Sparks a nice majority. J. R. Hardy Asks Voters For Office Of Tax-Collector

Expresses Thanks To Voters For Their Splendid Vote Of Confidence Given Him In First Victory; Promises Same Service

Clanton, Alabama
April 27, 1938.

"To The Voters Of Chilton County:
"As I will come before you on next Tuesday seeking the office of Tax Collector of your county, I wish to make this final appeal through the newspaper, for your vote and support in my behalf.

"I have been favored and honored by the voters of Chilton County by having been placed in the office of Sheriff of the county. For that I have ever been grateful to the voters and I shall always remember the splendid vote you gave me in 1934 when I was a candidate for sheriff.

"During my term as your sheriff, I have endeavored to give to you the best that a man possibly could and to live up to those standards I have always had in mind that the people wished in an officer. I was under obligation to the people of Chilton County to make them the best sheriff possible and I say here that I truthfully believe I have accomplished that desire. I do not want a cent of the dollars and cents to be derived from the office that interested me, but the fact that I could be of service to my county and the desire to conduct my office in such a manner that would warrant a continuation of the confidence you have expressed in me.

"I also want to state here and confirm a statement I have made before, that if the voters will elect me as their Tax Collector this year, I promise I will not ask for that office again. I believe you will agree that I am justified in asking for the office this year after you have carefully studied my record as sheriff of your county, and due to the fact that according to our State laws, I cannot succeed myself in the office of sheriff."

"When you go to the polls on next Tuesday to express your choice in your state and county officers, I hope you will see fit to cast your vote for me for Tax Collector and aid me in being placed in that office. I assure you a continuation of service, fair and impartial treatment at all times and an of-

George Willis Says H. R. Oden Is Man To Serve County

"To the Citizens of Chilton County:
The Voters of Chilton County will have a large variety of candidates to select from when they go to the polls on next Tuesday and vote the Democratic ticket. There are many good men on that ticket who are asking the voters for different offices of the State and the County.

"Naturally, I have my particular choice of these men and this letter is intended to say a few kind words in behalf of one candidate in particular who is asking to be re-elected to serve the County and its people as a Commissioner.

"I refer to Mr. H. R. Oden who has been serving as a member of the County Commissioners Court for the past three years and who has made us a good man in my opinion. I have been a citizen of Chilton County all my life. I have watched the actions and work of the County Commissioners for a great many years and during that time have had the opportunity of seeing men come and go, some good ones and some not so good, and it is a very seldom that I have taken the opportunity of endorsing any of them.

"But, this time, I believe the County has one of the best men for Commissioner who has ever had in Mr. Oden, who represents District Number Two. I have studied the actions of Mr. Oden and have studied his reasons for taking actions in matters that were of much importance to the people of the County. In every instance I believe I have found him to be at all times working for the better interests of the people all the time. I am convinced of this to such an extent that I want to make an appeal to you Voters to do all you can to place him back as one of your Commissioners.

"In making note of the actions of the Commissioners Court as a whole during the past term I have noticed that Mr. Oden has at all times been fair and just in his actions and decisions on matters that dealt with people in every walk of life in this county. I have noticed also that Mr. Oden tries to steer clear of anything that looks like he was trying to play politics in order to further personal gains. It just seems to me that he is always thinking of those things that his people would like and not so much of the things he could have made something for himself.

"I do not live in Mr. Oden's district but I believe he not only represents his own District in an economical way but conducts his part of the affairs of the county in such a way that the best possible results are had by the whole county.

"I have been convinced sometime ago that it is useless to attempt to get Mr. Oden to go against the wishes of a majority of the people of the county on any matter that is submitted to him or to them. He believes in letting the people be his guide in conducting the business that has been entrusted to him and knows that it is the office of the people that he is filling.

"I will close by again urging the voters to help place Mr. Oden back in the Commissioners Court for another term and let's have some more good, sound, honest administration of our county government.

Very truly yours,
G. W. WILLIS.
Uncle George.

CONTOUR FURROWS

Putting contour furrows in pastures may be a new "wrinkle" in farming operations, but it is serving to rejuvenate pastures in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, Ala., according to Mr. Wood Superintendent.

Contour furrows help to control erosion in two ways, Mr. Wood said. First, they reduce run-off and increase absorption of rain water. Secondly, the increased moisture promotes better growth of pasture grasses, which in turn provide a more erosion-resisting soil.

On moderate slopes, small, relatively flat furrows at close intervals, are recommended, Mr. Wood said. They can be constructed by two back furrows with a turn plow, leaving a balk 8 to 12 inches wide to be broken out with a light disc harrow or other suitable implement that will leave some loose soil in the bottom of the furrow and spread soil on the sloping sides.

These furrows should be constructed over the entire surface of the pasture area that a series of low ridges and broad furrows, over which a mowing machine can be operated, will result. The plowing necessary for furrow construction will prepare the land for seeding, Mr. Wood explained.

MARVIN W. MARCUS, Sports Editor

Clanton won their fourth straight game in the High School League from West Blocton at Clanton last Monday by the score of 10 to 6. Four of the six runs were made in the first frame caused by the wildness of Armstrong. But even in his wildness he struck out 12 men and allowed only three hits. There was quite an exhibition of fielding around the first base pulled off by that wrong armed first baseman McKee. We think Guy has a swell chance of getting into the money if he keeps it up.

Some are asking if their plans have fallen through on the Town Team. By all means, no. But it will probably be after school is out before any outstanding baseball is played.

MAPLESVILLE BEATS JEMISON LAST FRIDAY

Maplesville won from Jemison last Friday by the score of 13 to 5 with the good battery work of Tucker catching and Latham pitching and the stick work by Douglas Cook, that big man from the mountains, getting a homer and a triple accounting for several runs. It seems from reports that Coach Parich has gotten together quite a scrappy Ball Club that is going to make it tough on any team they might entangle with.

Boy! Watch that Alex go. Here's a clipping from the daily and what they say about Red over at the University:

"Alex Hayes, brother of Jack Hayes of the Chicago White Sox, is the leading hitter of the Bama team. Hayes hit for a single in the ninth of the recent L.S.U. game and later scored the winning run on shoemaker's hit.

"Alex is the handy man of the Bama infield as he can play almost any position. He went in at first base in the L.S.U. Series and played sparkling ball infield as well as hitting."

Clyde Sims Writes To Voters In Behalf Of His Candidacy

Candidate For Commissioner District One Sends An Appeal To Voters

"Owing to the rumors that have reached me for the past few days, I feel that it is only fair to myself and my friends, to make myself clear as to where I stand in regard to being affiliated with other candidates or individuals.

"I am running for the office of County Commissioner strictly on my own accord and if I am elected in November, I can assure you that I will not be obligated to any person or persons. I will be free to serve the people with the best of my ability and without any interference or having to consult anyone.

"I also wish to say to my friends that I will not be able to see as many of you as I had hoped to. I have been very busy repairing damage to bridges and roads, caused by the heavy rains.

"I sincerely hope, if I don't get to see you, you will not forget me on May 3rd.

"Sincerely yours,

Tom Burdette Asks For Office of Sheriff

T. R. BURDETTE
H. R. Oden Given Praise By Citizen

"The Editor,
Chilton County News,
"Dear Sir:
"I would like to secure enough space in your good newspaper this week to say a few words in behalf of one of the best county Commissioners I believe the county has ever had. This is our good friend, Mr. Howard R. Oden who is a candidate for re-election for Commissioner from District Number 2.

"In my opinion Mr. Oden has made Chilton County a most successful and valuable Commissioner. This is due to his ability to be able to plan his work ahead, organize his workmen and to be able to secure the greatest amount of work for his county at the smallest cost. That, in my mind, is one of the most valuable assets a public officer of this kind could have.

"The people of the county possibly hear very little from Mr. Oden. I don't doubt that being true because he is too busy looking after the affairs of the people entrusted to him, to be making a great deal of fuss over nothing.

"I live in the district which Mr. Oden represents—a member of the Commissioners Court and I believe I speak for the majority of the other people who live in that District when I make these statements.

"Back before the road law of the county took away the control of the road program from the Commissioners, I personally know that Mr. Oden had a splendid program for road building and maintenance in his mind and which he was well on the way to carry out. I would like to take this opportunity to urge the voters of Chilton County to go to the polls on next Tuesday and cast their vote for Mr. H. R. Oden for Commissioner from District No. 2. He has been satisfactorily serving us in this District since he was elected four years ago and we would like to have him continue serving us.

"Very truly yours,
"J. M. NIX."

Says His Deputies Will Be Of Highest Character If He Is Elected

In making this final appeal to the voters of Chilton County for their support and vote in my behalf as a candidate for Sheriff of your county, I do so with a feeling that during my campaign I have made many friends, have had the pleasure of meeting and knowing many persons I had not met before. That, in itself is worth a great deal to me.

As a business man and having to conduct my own company business, I have been able to see the value of a good Sheriff. I have seen the value of a good Sheriff in my own business and I shall do my best to see that the people of Chilton County know that my record is free from any political affiliations with cliques and that my campaign has been conducted on the highest type of plane.

The people of this county know that if I am elected to the office of Sheriff, one of the first things I shall do is to try to exterminate all appreciation for clique and to have my deputies selected on the basis of merit. I shall do my best to see that the people of this county know that my record is free from any political affiliations with cliques and that my campaign has been conducted on the highest type of plane.

The people of this county know that if I am elected to the office of Sheriff, one of the first things I shall do is to try to exterminate all appreciation for clique and to have my deputies selected on the basis of merit. I shall do my best to see that the people of this county know that my record is free from any political affiliations with cliques and that my campaign has been conducted on the highest type of plane.

A Sheriff of any county has a great deal of responsibility placed upon him. His office is the clearing house of many kinds of disputes. He must be able to use common sense as well as be able to follow the letter of the law, showing mercy where mercy is due and strength where the strong arm of the law must act. These things go to aid in making a progressive, happy people. In my heart I feel these things and the people of Chilton County will see them put into practice if they see fit to elect me to the office of Sheriff.

With a high standard of character in the men associated with me I shall give the people of Chilton County the very best official in this capacity that is possible for me to give. I have never asked for a public office before and I firmly believe I am fully qualified to hold this responsible position as your servant.

There is only a short time before the primary election and if I have failed to see you, I hope you will accept this message as my personal appeal for your vote and your influence in aiding me to secure the office I seek. I invite a thorough check of my record as I believe those who know me will agree that I am not unsupported.

Respectfully submitted,
T. R. (TOM) BURDETTE.

W. Z. Hodges Presents Record For Consideration of Voters

Candidate For Tax Assessor Points Out Record As A Citizen; Shows Experience Received During His Life Will Be Helpful

In a letter to the voters of Chilton County, W. Z. Hodges, candidate for the office of Tax Assessor on the Democratic ticket, points out some of the highlights of his life and record as a citizen. The letter from Mr. Hodges follows:

Clanton, Alabama,
April 25, 1938.

"To the Voters of Chilton County:
"I was born on a farm in Randolph County May 9th, 1881, near the little town of Wadley, Alabama.

"I went to the public school at Lever Road until I was eighteen years old, then my father sent me to Roanoke Normal College. I completed the course in four years and got a diploma in May, 1907, with highest honors.

"I came to Clanton in September, 1907, to be first assistant in Chilton High School. Two years later I was married and went back to my native town and taught school for several years.

"In 1907 I came to Clanton and began my present Probate Judge's office. I began the grocery business in 1910. I have since then owned and operated a general supply store. I remained in it, however, until business for several years.

"During the depression I went back to teaching and taught for five years. I have served two people in a public way ever since I came to Chilton County, and have found the people very loyal in every capacity, and I have never asked for a public office before.

"I have been a Democrat all my life. I feel the people of Chilton County are fit to give me the Tax Assessor's office. I shall do everything in my power to serve the people and carry on the business in the way it should be.

"At any time I will render any service or give anybody any information to the best of my knowledge and ability. The Tax Assessor does not have the right to raise or lower your assessments. It is your right to say what your property is worth and the duty of the Board of Revenue to make any adjustments. It is important to you that the man you select be thoroughly capable of doing his job after the intricate details of the work.

"I will meet the obligations and responsibilities of this office, and always be alert to the best interest of the people of Chilton County.

"Your vote and influence will mean a great deal to me, and I shall appreciate them more than I can say.

Sincerely yours,
W. Z. HODGES.

Air Mail Stamps To Be Issued

A distinctive, two color air mail stamp will be issued by the United States Post Office Department as a special recognition of National Air Mail Week, May 15 to 21, which will be the first time in the history of this country that a special stamp is issued for the occasion.

Air Mail Week, which is a National Air Mail Week, is being celebrated in all parts of the country. Mr. Postmaster General E. A. Tamm, said this stamp is a tribute to the Air Mail and is a highly desirable for the thousands of collectors who will send up their letters on the special "fast" week.

Mr. Younts said he has been informed by Postmaster-General Farley that this stamp will be of six-cent denomination, the same size as the commemorative issues. The border of distinctive Air Mail design, will be printed in blue and the central design will be in red. This design will depict an eagle with outstretched wings, bearing in its talons a shield, olive wreath and a bundle of arrows. Numerous ornamental details have been included in the overall design.

This stamp first will be placed on sale May 14, at Dayton, Ohio, which is the home of the Wright brothers, who built the first successful airplane, and at St. Petersburg, Florida, where the passenger flight was made. On the following days of Air Mail Week, this stamp will be on sale at many thousands of Post Offices throughout the United States.

"The National Air Mail Week Committee regards as particularly thoughtful the co-operation that the Postmaster General and the Department are giving by the issue of this new stamp," Major Younts. "While the Air Mail Service is essentially a practical activity for the benefit of our Nation's business and society, there remains a certain romance and sentiment in this service, just as there is at once sentiment and practical purpose in our National defense activities. Of course, the realization is general throughout the Country that aviation is essential to our national defense, but it is also true that the still further development of the peace-time Air Mail Service will increase our national solidarity and safety."

The National Air Mail Week Chairman pointed out that hundreds of privately owned airplanes will take to the air, piloted by their owners, on May 19 to provide a special pick-up Air Mail Service which will extend into a great number of communities which are new remote from the regular trans-continental mail lines. He reported that the private fliers are co-operating with enthusiasm in the preparations for these special flights. "This will be a contribution of their time and service to the Air Mail Week program and by this co-operation, which will provide one of the outstanding features of the week, the aviators are showing an admirable spirit of loyalty not only to the Post Office Department but also the great cause of aviation progress," said Major Younts.

He explained that these special flights, over routes that are being mapped by the State Chairman in each of the 48 states, will demonstrate the speed and efficiency of the Air Mail Week in "a most impressive manner to communities far distant from the regular routes." Also, the National Chairman said these special routes for the "pick-up service" that day will present a great objective for the further expansion of the network of regular lines. "It is not unreasonable to expect that in the course of a relatively few years regular flights will be made over many of these "pick-up" routes, thus giving to a much greater part of Nation's population the numerous benefits of the Air Mail," he said.

Well Known Citizen Writes To Voters Concerning Election

"Editor, Chilton County News:
"Please allow me space in your paper to make a statement to voters and taxpayers of our County. The County Government has been a success for more than 150 years, taking root in the beginning of our Colonial State and Federal Government in America.
"Some of our Legislators believe that the County should no longer be the unit that the State should take over the function of County Government. Our State Government in Alabama is made up of 67 County units. These units must be preserved. They are Democracies, every one, these local units should be protected as the political sub-division of the Great State. They are needed to make a great nation.
"On next Tuesday May 3rd, we vote for a Representative to represent us in the Legislature in Alabama. We should be very careful as this is a very important office. In casting our ballot, we should vote for the best interest of Chilton County, who should be guided by the people and not by hand-picked steering Committees and who we can depend upon whenever a referendum is submitted to the voters of Chilton County and they vote over our heads in a N.I.A. We should be guided by the people and not by hand-picked steering Committees and who we can depend upon whenever a referendum is submitted to the voters of Chilton County and they vote over our heads in a N.I.A. Statement From Luther E. Little To Citizens

Although He Has No Opposition, Present Superintendent Continues Interest In Behalf Of His Candidacy For Nomination

Chilton's Next Superintendent Of Education

LUTHER E. LITTLE

The following is a statement from Hon. Luther E. Little, superintendent of Education of Chilton County, who comes before the voters on next Tuesday as a candidate for re-election to this office:
"The Voters of Chilton County:
"I wish to take this opportunity to express to you my sincere appreciation for the many kind remarks brought to me regarding my candidacy for the office of Superintendent of Education. I have not made a statement of the voters in my opinion, but would have been glad to have done so.
"In asking the voters of the county to elect me to this office again, I do so realizing the many perplexing problems connected with operation of a school system. The greatest problem connected with the operation of any business is the financing of the business. In this respect I wish to state that your county educational system does not have a debt burden as most other counties have. We have met all payrolls as they come due.
"I am though I do not have an opponent in the primary next Tuesday, I shall appreciate your support, your interest and your vote. I shall continue to strive for a better opportunity for the children of the county in order that they may be better prepared to take their respective places as leaders for the future.

John Thompson Says Cox Is Man For Legislative Job

Clanton, Alabama
April 25, 1938

"Editor, Chilton County News.
"Dear Sir:
"I would like to secure enough space in your paper this week for the purpose of saying a few things about Mr. C.B. Cox, who is a candidate for the office of Representative from this county.
"I have known Mr. Cox all his life and while he is like other humans, may have made some mistakes in his efforts to do what he believed the best thing. But, knowing him as I do, I can say that if he has made mistakes and has realized he made them, I have found him at all times ready and willing to correct them.
"Mr. Cox is a most conscientious man and I believe his experience and ability qualifies him to again represent the people of Chilton County in the State Legislature, and I want to ask my friends over the county to give him their support in the coming election if they see fit to do so.
"Respectfully,
"J. T. THOMPSON."

USE OF FISH BASKETS

Requests for information about the use of fish baskets in Alabama waters have been received by the Conservation Department. It is a violation of the law to place any fishing device, including nets or traps, in any artificially impounded waters for the purpose of taking fish of any description. Where waters are not thus impounded by dams, locks, or dikes or otherwise, a person may use a basket or hoopnet in the run of a stream to take non-game fish, only after securing the written permission from the landowner through whose land the stream passes. If the stream is a boundary line of one or more landowners, it is then necessary to get written permits from each one owning land abutting the stream at the point where the basket is placed. Such a basket may be used for taking non-game fish only, including catfish, drum, buffalo, and suckers. It is a violation to use any trammel net, gill net or similar device at any time.

Do You Take The "News"? Why Not?

To The Voters OF Chilton County

A Statement from H. R. Oden Candidate for Re-election As Commissioner, District 2

Please permit me through the columns of the County paper to make this appeal to you for your support as a candidate for member of the Commissioners Court in the Primary Election next Tuesday. I would like to have seen each voter personally and talked with you, but we all know that this is impossible and I am sure most of you will be busy with your work this week and probably had rather not be bothered in your fields.
I want to take this opportunity of thanking each of my friends for the loyal support you have given me as one of your officials and your cooperation in our fight to retain local self government in our county.
I have held the office of County Commissioner for one term, having assumed the duties of this office in January, 1935. I promised you an economical administration and in December of 1935 the Commissioners Court, after defraying and paying for all the expenses of operating the County, including maintaining the roads and bridges, set aside $10,000.00 to be applied toward the bonded indebtedness, the bonded indebtedness being $83,000.00, and being due in 1947. I believe further the people of my district, over which I had immediate supervision, will state that during this year several miles of the roads were rebuilt, bridges were improved, roads were graveled and yet, notwithstanding the creation of this surplus of $10,000.00, had the roads improved. Of course, we all know that in the first part of the year 1936 the road supervisor law was passed by the Legislature and the supervisor on May 1st, 1936, took charge of the roads of Chilton County under that law and since that time, of course, no member of the Commissioners Court has had any voice or control over the roads and bridges of the County.
It seems to be a foregone conclusion that the supervisor law will be repealed and the duties as to roads and bridges will be placed back in the hands of the commissioners, and I feel like that I am entitled to a term in office with the opportunity to have some voice in the construction and maintenance of the roads and bridges of the County. The term of four years I will have completed, almost three of these I had no voice whatever in this work. If this law is repealed in January when the Legislature meets, then the next Commissioners Court you elect will have four years voice in spending your money and working and improving our roads and I believe when you consider this situation fairly that you will be convinced that I am entitled to at least one term without being hindered and hampered as we have been with the supervisor law. The Court started out in the first year with a surplus of $10,000.00 and some effort should be made to lay aside a surplus with which to meet our bonds which are due in 1947, and I, along with the other members of the Court and the Probate Judge, set aside $10,000.00 the first year as a sinking fund to pay these bonds and if this law is repealed and the spending of your money is placed back with the Court, I promise you that I will use my best effort and experience to improve your roads and bridges in order that they might be kept abreast with the progress of our County and also to support the other worthy agencies of our County and at the same time each year to set aside a surplus to take care of our bonded indebtedness.

I, along with many of you, fought throughout my term of office to retain local self government, as I believed then and do now, that you will receive the best services from your officers who are most directly responsible to you. It seems now that we have won this fight, or will when the next legislature meets, and I believe the fight has been so well won that not again soon will the attempt be made to deprive us of local self government.
For thirty years I have given of my best for the cause of the Democratic party and have put forth my best effort to further each progressive movement for the development of our County, and I believe the term of office that I have had qualifies me to give you better service for the next term as your Commissioner and I am asking you to nominate me for this office next Tuesday and to give me an opportunity to serve you as your Commissioner with some voice in the affairs of the office which I, with other members of the Court have been denied during this last term, and I ask you to give my candidacy your careful consideration and your choice next Tuesday will be mine next November.
Respectfully submitted,
H. R. ODEN.

APPEALS TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

Not to Be Misled By Deceit, or Misrepresentation

COMPARE THE RECORD!

DISTINGUISHED EDUCATOR SUPPORTS GOODE AS BEST CHAMPION OF EDUCATION AND AGRICULTURE

To The People Of Alabama--In The Interest Of Good Government

To The People Of Alabama--In The Interest Of Good Government:

"Of all things we ought to be the most concerned, who and what sort of men they are, that hold the trust of everything that is dear to us."

These words were praised to me by Woodrow Wilson himself as "the authentic voice of the best political thought of the English race." I am writing to commend them to the people of Alabama.

Good men, wise men, make good government--and not fulsome oratory or political platforms. It is supremely important for a free people to select with great care the men "that hold the trust of everything that is dear to us."

The selection of a Governor, therefore, is now the supreme duty of the people of Alabama. Also, as Mr. Robert J. Goode has wisely said, The Legislature is of equal importance in our Democracy. In this selection, the people should consider the qualifications of the candidate--not personal friendship or hope of reward. The qualifications of ancestry, education, environment, experience, practical wisdom, moral character and moral courage.

All these essential qualifications for a good governor are embodied to an extraordinary degree in Mr. Robert J. Goode of Wilcox County.

His ancestry is that of the best of Alabama Pioneers and patriots. For generation after generation, his people have lived and labored in Alabama to build better homes, better schools, better farms, and Christian churches of faith and freedom. I have known in person Mr. Goode's ancestors. They have few peers and no superiors for liberal culture, pure patriotism, and Christian Character. They are of Alabama's best.

His education has been equally well known to me. At the Marion Institute, he graduated with highest honors and won the University of Pennsylvania Honor Scholarship. At the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Goode also acquitted himself with great distinction--being a leader in athletics, scholarship, and in student life. Among the many young men of exceptional talent whom it has been my duty to teach at the University of Virginia, the University of Chicago, and the Marion Institute, Mr. Robert J. Goode is among the most talented who have finely fulfilled in public life the fairest promise of talented youth. Mr. Goode, in the fine phrase of English praise, is a Scholar and a Gentleman.

His environment has been that of a cultured Christian Alabama home of a prosperous Alabama farm, and of a life-long association and service among the plain people of Alabama--the people who have by their own labors builded our Alabama schools, our Alabama homes and farms, our Alabama industry and government. During the twenty years of his public life, Mr. Goode has associated himself with true friends of education, health, agriculture, and industry. A man is ever known by the company he keeps. Mr. Goode has always kept himself in good company. He has been the tool of no clique; he has been the rubber-stamp of no Governor. He has been the agent of no secret cabal. He has always been "the Captain of his fate, the Master of his soul." He has been the servant of all but the henchmen of none. His splendid record in public office--16 years in the Legislature and four years as Commissioner of Agriculture--is a fine example. Let us honor him who has won honor by public service.

Added to his excellent ancestry, his excellent education, and his good sense and associates, Mr. Goode possesses the wisdom of experience and judgment and in the management of finances. For 16 years he has been a member of the Alabama Legislature with great distinction as a member of the House of Representatives. Should not a Governor know something about the making of laws? Throughout his service in the Legislature, Mr. Goode has been a champion of public education, public health, profitable agriculture, and industry upon which our civilization depends. It is not surprising that he has always been a champion for justice and wisdom in legislation for home and industry as well as for education and agriculture. His four years of distinguished service as Commissioner of Agriculture has won nation-wide praise. The leading national Agricultural Journal of the United States has justly praised Mr. Goode as one of the three truly great Agricultural Statesmen of America. The farmers of Alabama, and indeed of the entire South, have found in Mr. Robert J. Goode the wisest and best of leaders. Let us honor him who is worthy of all honor. Those who are faithful over a few things may well be entrusted with greater things.

Added to his long and successful political experience with great practical wisdom, Mr. Goode possesses moral character and moral courage of the highest order. He has consistently opposed the force of evil throughout his exemplary life of public service and private rectitude. In public office as well as in private life, he has displayed superior wisdom and courage as champion of temperance, truth, and righteousness as the foundation of all government. He has always successfully withstood and defeated the forces of intrigue and evil which ever seek to deceive, delude, bluff, bully or bribe men in public office. Mr. Goode possesses in the highest degree that courage and character which is the chief ornament of a statesman of wisdom and experience.

To the People of Alabama who desire to vote for good government but who do not know personally the present candidates for the office of Governor, I desire to state that I regard Mr. Robert J. Goode as incomparably the best qualified for this high office, who will most certainly advance the best interests of public education, public health, agriculture

1. BOB GOODE has worked for Alabama and now seeks to HELP the people of Alabama. Alabama taxpayers have worked for Dixon to the extent of $36,162.41 in pie since his migration to our State and now he seeks to RULE Alabama's people.

2. BOB GOODE, a successful farmer and business man, has given many years of unselfish public service in the building of our State and worthwhile service to its people.

DIXON --- Like his 1934 platform, his public record is lost and cannot be found.

3. BOB GOODE'S Campaign statements are positive, clear, unwavering and backed by a past record. Dixon's campaign promises are framed to get votes, backed by no public record, and born of political trades. His 1934 ideals have been traded for political support. Can the rural people of Alabama depend upon a Corporation lawyer of Birmingham?

WHO

WHO CAN BEST SERVE THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA

DIXON --- born in California, educated in New Hampshire --- migrated to Alabama in 1919 --- fed upon the taxpayers' pie from 1920; at present a Corporation lawyer of Birmingham. The candidate without a past public record for Governor.

BOB GOODE --- born in Alabama, educated in Alabama --- spent his life working among our people --- at present a dirt farmer and Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries. The candidate of outstanding and successful help to farmers, such as the 9 cent loan and 3 cent subsidy payment on the 1937 cotton crop. The man with a record deserving of making him Governor.

Economical --- Experienced --- Progressive --- BOB GOODE for Governor --- The Farmer's Friend

and industry "with charity for all, with malice towards none." In my mature judgment, from long study of men and government and with intimate knowledge, Mr. Robert J. Goode is incomparably the best qualified of the present candidates for the office of Governor. I write of what I know. I know four of the five present candidates--the exception being Mr. Arnold. In 1934 I supported Major Frank Dixon. However, in 1938 I am of opinion that Mr. Goode is incomparably the wisest, the safest, and the best qualified man for this high office. He is a man above all other men worthy to "hold the trust of everything that is dear to us."

The other candidates I hold in good esteem. For personal regard, I could well vote for another or another; but for public duty and for the welfare of State and County, I consider it my duty to vote for Mr. Robert J. Goode--Scholar, Statesman, and Gentleman.

HOPSON OWEN MURFEE.

Prattville, Alabama, April 2, 1938.

(N. B. I may add, that I have neither been requested nor paid to write. I write as a duty to my State in hope of serving our people and our children's children.)

FEWER PRACTICING PHYSICIANS IN CHILTON COUNTY NOW

Chilton County has five per cent fewer practicing physicians than it had a quarter of a century ago, Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, pointed out in an address delivered during the annual meeting of the Medical Association of the State of Alabama, which was held in Mobile Tuesday through Thursday of last week, (April 19-21).

"The medical profession, which has been making such great progress in the conquest of disease during the past 25 years, has nevertheless lost ground numerically," he said. "In spite of an increase of approximately half a million, or about 21 per cent, in the State's population, accompanied by higher living standards, and a greater appreciation of the importance of proper medical care as a factor in the general well-being of the community, there has been a decrease of nearly 16 per cent in the number of physicians providing this care. Alabama now has only 1,887 physicians, as compared with 2,245 in 1912. The present total includes 67 full-time county health officers, doing no general practice, of which there were none in 1912. Thus there are 425 fewer physicians engaged in private practice than a quarter of a century ago."

Dr. Baker pointed out that Coosa County suffered the greatest percentage loss of physicians during the 25-year period, with 20 doctors in 1912 and only four at present. Only nine counties have more doctors now than 25 years ago, he said, these nine being Jefferson, Chambers, Colbert, Etowah, Lee, Macon, Mobile, Montgomery and Tuscaloosa. Most of these nine, he added, are largely urban.

Gowan Gives Voters His Views Of Local Office

Candidate For Representative
Asks Voters For Support
In Tuesday's Primary

Clanton, Alabama
April 27, 1938.
"To The Citizens And Voters Of
Chilton County:

"As a candidate for the office of Representative from Chilton County, in the Legislature of Alabama, I ask your careful consideration of some of the major items which I have in mind and which I feel quite sure you will agree with me on.

"I believe there is considerable room for improvement in many of our state laws. In fact, so many I would not dare bother you with them all in this letter. The law that created the office of the Road Supervisor of this county seems to have a unanimous support for its repeal at the first opportunity. I, too, shall take that step if elected to serve the people as Representative and shall do so at the first convening of the legislature.

For Self-Government
"I am in favor of any legislation that gives the people a strictly local self-government and I elected I hope to be able to place this county in that position.

"After carefully considering the matter of having members of the Commission Court elected by the Districts which they represent instead of by the county at large, and having discussed the matter with many persons, receiving widespread approval, I intend to take steps to bring about this, provided, however, it means with the approval of the people whom I am to represent if such action is found to be to the Legislature.

No Appointive Offices
"I am in favor of the wishes of the people concerning the appointment of many of the offices which are appointive and not elective in our state. I favor the election of all judges, judges of the county, the single rather than the appointive of most of the offices, since I believe the voters should have a voice in selecting their officials.

"Not only that, but I am positively opposed to any laws intended to legislate any individual out of office, after he had been elected to serve in that office by the people of the county. I favor the recall and referendum and believe a majority of the citizens of the county are of the same opinion.

"I believe that education should receive appropriations from the general fund of the State treasury on a parity with all other departments of our state government. It is obvious that education cannot be treated as a secondary function of government any longer.

"Already education is recognized by popular opinion as the most important function of government. It must, in the future, enjoy the same favored position when the monies we pay as taxes are appropriated.

"I am opposed to an increase in taxes of any kind and shall do all in my power if elected your Representative to reduce as many of our taxes as possible and practical.

"I earnestly solicit your vote and support in my behalf in next Tuesday's election.

"Respectfully,
DR. J. E. GOWAN."

Chilton County Club members have definitely decided to enter the statewide public speaking contest. The purpose of which is to train women in public speaking. Clubs entering will speak on "Better Schools For Rural America." The contestants may receive advantage and materials wherever possible. They may read or give their speeches which must not be over seven minutes in length.

It is hoped that at least six women will enter club contest and select their winner to compete against other club winners at the county rally to be held May 29. One month left in which to prepare for this lovely occasion. Each club winner speaking at the county contest will be given a lovely prize and the county winner will be given a free trip to Auburn to speak in the district finals. Get busy Club women at once! J. A. Nivens Points Out His Record As Citizen, Officer

Candidate For Sheriff On Democratic Ticket
Points Out His Experience As Officer
And Promises Office Of Merits

"To The Citizens of Chilton County:

"Next Tuesday the voters will go to the polls to select many of their state and county officials, among which will be their county Sheriff for the coming four-year term.

"As a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Chilton County I am taking this opportunity to present an appeal to the voters for their vote and influence in my behalf in the coming primary election.

"I cannot say that this is the first time I have asked for a public office, as I was among those Democrats who, in years past, stood up for my party and the principles for which I believed right and at one time offered my services to the people of the county on that record.

"My record as a deputy sheriff in

Oden Is Endorsed By Well Known Citizen Of County

"The Editor,
Chilton County News,
Clanton, Alabama.

"Dear sir:

"With the primary election coming off in this county on next Tuesday and with a choice in members of the Commissioners Court to be made, I would like space enough to say something to the voters of the county in favor of Mr. H. R. Oden, our candidate for Commissioner from District Number Two.

"I would like to say to you voters of the county that I have known Mr. Oden from his boyhood and that I find trouble right now in using words that would do justice to the man in order to say enough in his behalf.

"I do not intend this letter to be purely political, but I do intend it to carry a message to the people of this county in behalf of a man whom I know to be worthy of the office he seeks. I wish we had more men of his kind who would seek such responsible offices as that of Commissioner.

As far as the character of Mr. Oden is concerned, I can truthfully say that his is the highest. His interest in our churches and our schools could only be equalled by one whose duties are to look after these institutions alone.

Having lived in the same community with Mr. Oden has given me an opportunity to know this man who is asking the voters of the county to re-elect him to one of the important offices of the county.

I firmly believe that if Mr. Oden had been allowed the privilege and opportunity of carrying out the program for roads in his District as he intended to before the passing of the Road Law, the results of his work would have been more noticeable and more satisfactory. I believe too, that since I understand the Road Law will be abolished, that Mr. Oden will again take up his fine program and carry it on to the benefit and best interests of the county if he is re-elected. I believe these things because I have known him about as long as any other citizen in the county and know him to be honest and conscientious in his work.

Chilton County for more than three years is well known to almost every citizen of the county. I believe they will all agree that in this capacity I have conducted myself in such a manner that will warrant each of you voting for me next Tuesday.

"As an officer of the law I have at all times endeavored to carry out my duties as I believe the citizens of my county would approve of and at the same time being fair to all who may have had business through the office of the sheriff.

"As far as being qualified for the office of sheriff, I believe you will agree with me that four years as a deputy sheriff and several years experience as a city officer would mean a great deal to any man's experience and experience is worth a great deal to a man who serves as a Sheriff of any county. I am familiar with the office throughout. That alone will enable me to step right in and carry out the duties of the office without the loss of time in becoming acquainted with the office.

"If I am elected your Sheriff I shall use every precaution to employ men as my deputies who are of excellent character, good morals and dependable in every way. I realize that these men who serve as deputies mean a great deal more to the public than is usually believed, since I have served as a deputy sheriff for some time.

"Remember, I have been on the job during this entire campaign and that I have not shirked my duties in order to further my interest in seeking to become your sheriff. That may have prevented my seeing all of the voters personally and I hope you who I have not seen will accept this letter as a personal visit from a candidate who promises and will do all he can to carry out these promises to give the people the kind of sheriff they deserve and want. I will greatly appreciate your vote on next Tuesday.

"Respectfully,
J. A. Nivens

"May I ask you citizens of Chilton County to help us re-elect this fine gentleman to serve us again on our Commissioners Court. His District wants him and the county needs him.

FRANK DIXON

HONEST

GOVERNOR

OF ALABAMA

(Subject to Action of Democratic Primary, May 3, 1938)

Alabama's greatest need today is full restoration of public confidence in its state government. Alabama is willing to pay for a modern government. Our people are unwilling to have their money diverted from its proper use and squandered.

I ADVOCATE:

As to Economy and Efficiency—

Our people have a right to demand that their tax money be properly used, not devoured by political time-servers. Every state department must be rid of its deadwood, all useless state jobs must be abolished, the state run on a business basis. Administrative efficiency must be installed. Where like conditions prevail in our city and county governments, they will be urged and helped to do likewise in every way consistent with local self government.

Every third politician on the payrolls can be plowed under and the state still function efficiently.

Those who remain, and who do an honest days work, should be adequately paid.

Understandable financial reports should be made at frequent intervals so that our people may know how their government is operating.

As to Essential Services—

The schools, the highway development, including farm to market roads, the public health, conservation, vocational education, farm improvement, social security, old age pensions, unemployment assistance, care for wards of the state, public libraries, law enforcement agencies, including the highway patrol; and other essential services of a modern state must be continued and adequately supported. In the process business methods must be applied and waste eliminated.

As to The Schools—

Alabama is one of three states having less than an eight months school term. We should have a minimum eight months school term for elementary grades and nine months for high schools.

The equalization principle for school funds is sound and has my support. The child in rural Alabama is as much entitled to an education as the child in the cities.

The minimum program is sound in principle. It should be strengthened by necessary amendments. More care should be taken of the rights of the class-room teacher and a system of teacher retirement installed. I favor continuing free text books for the first three grades, and as money becomes available they will be furnished for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Adequate support will be given to our institutions of higher learning, teacher training, and to vocational education.

Taxes voted for the schools should go to the schools, not to the pockets of employees in other departments. Our schools should no longer be the football of Alabama politics.

As to Taxation—

Not one dollar more than enough to run a modern state on business principles should be collected. We are not a welfare state. Our past policy of meeting every so called emergency with new taxation rather than economy must be abandoned. But no platform is an honest platform which promises government services without revenues, and no one can force conditions years ahead.

Our tax system must be simplified, avoidable nuisances eliminated.

Reasonable economies must be practiced. When this is done the sales tax should not be re-enacted unless necessary to prevent the destruction of our schools, extension, health and welfare services. If necessary to re-enact the tax, the nuisance features should be eliminated, the merchants paid a reasonable percentage for collection. It shall be my fixed policy to affect the improvements needed in our state by thrift and economy, rather than by the imposition of new levies as has been the policy under some administrations.

The present division of the gasoline tax revenues should be continued, present Homestead exemptions should be continued, and extended when revenues permit.

With the upbuilding of the state and the increase in tax values, our load can be made lighter without injuring the essential services.

As to Temperance through Liquor Control—

The present law is not one I advocated in my last campaign. It has failed in many ways. Counties voting dry shall be made dry. Teeth should be put into the enforcement provisions. The power of the state should be used to protect dry counties. The right of the people in each county to decide whether their county should be wet or dry must be maintained.

Lack of law enforcement has brought a vicious system of roadhouses and gambling houses throughout the state which are an affront to the God-fearing people of Alabama and a menace to our youth. These must be stamped out with adequate law enforcement.

In order to promote true temperance in Alabama, I ask an opportunity to try out an adequate control system, with teeth in it. It is my firm belief that this is far better than a return to the former bootleg system.

For the protection of our people and the safeguarding of our highways no license should be issued in areas not having adequate law enforcement.

As to Agriculture—

Agriculture is the great basis industry of Alabama. A prosperous rural citizenship is essential to the general welfare of the state. The majority of Alabamians derive their income directly or indirectly from farming. The welfare of all depends on the purchasing power of farm people.

To increase the cash income and improve the social and educational opportunities of those who live on Alabama farms will be of first concern during my administration.

The work being done in Alabama by the College of Agriculture, Experiment Stations, and Extension Service, including the County and Home Demonstration Agents of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, the teachers of Vocational Agriculture, and other agricultural agencies is outstanding in the nation and will be encouraged during my stewardship as your Governor.

Alabama's Future Lies in the Land

Farmers are entitled to and should receive a fairer share of the national income. Agriculture is an interstate industry. If farmers in Alabama are to prosper American agriculture as a whole must prosper. As your Chief Executive I will promote, foster, encourage, support, and seek expansion of those agencies working towards parity of income and a happier and more prosperous life for all farm people. Non-political long term financing for our farmers is a present necessity.

Alabama should feed itself. This can be done by close cooperation between agriculture, industry and labor. My administration will bring together representative leaders of these groups in order that they may cooperate in developing home markets and producing home-grown products to supply such markets.

Alabama farmers need additional sources of cash income. The necessity of curtailing cotton acreage increases the importance of balancing our system of farming with more and better livestock.

Stop State Farm Competition

During my administration the pure-bred sires produced on the State Prison Farms will be distributed to Alabama farmers at fair prices.

Alabama farmers need better planting seed. During my administration the State Prison Farms will multiply and distribute at market prices to Alabama farmers the improved varieties of seed developed by our Experiment Stations.

The State Prison Farms should not and WILL NOT, while I am Governor, take markets for dairy products and truck crops which rightfully belong to tax-paying farmers of Alabama.

Alabama soils and forests must be protected and improved. Depleted soils mean a depleted people. Soil erosion is one of our greatest enemies. Destruction of our forests by burning, negligence, and unwise management is a public calamity. My administration will aid farmers and their service agencies in expanding the work in progress to protect our land and our timber.

As to Industry—

A balanced Alabama requires industrial enterprises in

I CONDEMN:

The use of pardons and paroles for political purposes. Packing the state payrolls with useless employees, maintained in idleness at public expense.

Hiring members of the legislature for the purpose of dictating legislation.

Building a political machine with state jobs to perpetuate officials in office.

Paying large fees and retainers to political favorites.

Selection of state employees on a basis purely of patronage rather than merit.

Secret political campaign promises and trades to secure election.

And I ask the people of Alabama to help me rid the state of these practices.

each community, so that farmers will have a market for their produce and there will be work at reasonable wages for our people. Especial encouragement should be given to industries which consume the products of our farmers. Our state must be kept attractive to industry, so that those already here may expand and those which wish to come will feel welcome. My best efforts will be directed to this end, and to removing discriminations against us now preventing our expansion, and to cooperating with agencies now working to this end.

As to Labor—

I will be fair to labor and uphold the right of Collective Bargaining. Child labor in industry must be prevented.

I advocate continuing and strengthening the State Labor Department, proper inspection laws for safety. Our state must be kept in the forefront of states comparable to ours as regards its care for injured protected by the Workmen's Compensation Law.

The Social Security Unemployment legislation should be strengthened.

Laws should be passed for the protection of women in industries and of employees against financially irresponsible employers.

The governor's office can and must be used to mediate in industrial disputes. Labor should be represented on such boards and committees as are appointed in matters in which they are concerned. The great humanitarian principles of recent national legislation have become a part and parcel of the new day in economic relationship. Our state must give to such principles its support and harmonize local laws with them.

As to The National Government—

The fullest cooperation with our National Government and its agencies will be given, and our full share of Federal appropriations and public projects sought. Our Congressional delegation should be assisted in their fight to remove the headquarters of the T. V. A. to Alabama.

The Social Security legislation, with its broad humanitarian aspects, must receive our cooperation and support. Rural Electrification should be extended until the benefits of cheap power are brought to every farm home.

As to Poll Tax—

Since any change in the cumulative poll tax provisions requires a constitutional amendment, I will recommend that the people be given an opportunity to vote upon it. Laws should be passed to assure the secrecy of the ballot.

As to Reapportionment—

The constitution requires reapportionment every ten years. This is a duty of the Legislature. I will urge that this duty be performed.

As to The State Docks—

The State Docks should be used to cooperate with, not to destroy, private business.

As to Favoring Alabama and its People—

Where private and public equality are equal, in public purchases value is made, grown or produced in Alabama or handled by Alabama tax-payers should be preferred.

As to The Automobile Tag Tax—

I favor the $5.00 Automobile tag. Unless less contracts presently made make this impossible, the tag tax will be reduced to this figure.

As to The Legislature—

A legislative reference bureau should be established, aid in the study and preparation of legislation. Cooperation with the Legislature is important, and will be my aim.

As to The Executive Office—

I will oppose increase in the power of the executive office. Recent experience has convinced me that the concentration of too much power in the office of the Governor is dangerous, and affords too great an opportunity for the building of political machines. For this reason, I do not advocate certain planks contained in my 1934 platform, such as the so called short ballot.

There are other important matters which will be discussed during the campaign.

Malaria Discussed By County Health Officer

With the advent of the mosquito breeding season rapidly approaching, Dr. S. D. Sturkie, local county health officer, today sought to inform Chilton County of its Malaria problem and means to combat it. "Compared with other Alabama counties," said the officer, "Chilton has very little malaria. During 1937 only 23 cases and no deaths from Malaria were reported to the Department. These, however, represent only a fraction of the actual incidence of the disease as many persons with Malaria wisely take chill tonics and do not consult physicians."

"Despite its low prevalence here," he continued, "we need to be equipped with knowledge concerning Malaria. A most important fact is that it can be transmitted only by the bite of an infected female anopheline mosquito. While there are so many species of anophelines, the quadrimaculatus is the principal vector of Malaria in the United States. She is not born with Malaria but acquires the infection by biting a Malarious person; she parasites out of the mosquito and can be found in that organ and the salivary gland by dissection and examination under a microscope. Contrary to popular opinion Malaria is not spread through drinking water."

"The Malaria mosquito," he pointed out further, "is not to be confused with the common culex or pest mosquito. The anophelines usually have spotted wing and rests on a wall in perpendicular position as compared with the horizontal position of the culex. The 'wiggle-tails' of the pest mosquito have long breathing tubes, occupy a vertical position in water and do not feed on the surface of the water as does the Malaria mosquito 'wiggle-tails'. The anophelines usually breeds in quiet, clean water, usually wants some shade and some sunshine and breeds well where there is some aquatic plant growth, such as cattails."

"Malaria control therefore resolves itself into mosquito control. Among the measures used in breaking the chain between man and the anophelines are drainage, application of larvicides, screening of houses and increasing the mosquito's natural enemies. The first of these is

Cox Makes Final Appeal To Voters In Plain, Frank Letter

Urges Support of Democratic Principles In Coming Primary

Condemns Old Political Machines Under Which County Has Been Laboring And Gives Views On Major Questions Of County

Clanton, Ala.
April 26, 1938

"To the Voters of Chilton County:

"You will go to the polls in your respective voting places on next Tuesday, May 3, for the purpose of expressing your choice in the selection of the men whom you wish to fill all of the important offices in your county and state. I am thinking at this time if you realize the great importance attached to this primary election on next Tuesday. "At this time too, I want to warn the people of Chilton county of the crisis they are now facing in their county government. Do you want the same political machine to continue controlling your county government as you have had for the past thirty or forty years, or do you want this old system of government changed to conform with present day needs and give you and your children a county government that is clean and above board, is the question you are to settle on next Tuesday by nominating men for office who will give you just this.

Machine Still Here

"The old political machine which Chilton county has been laboring under for the past thirty or forty years is undoubtedly still with us in this county. There may be a slight difference, but that is in name and membership only. This letter is not intended to insist that the Voters cast their votes for me for their Representative, in the Legislature unless they believe me to be the best qualified candidate for the place and that my experience will enable me to be of better service to their county. I believe that the best qualified men of the county who they can count all the men on the fingers of one hand who have grown rich by the activities of this old political machine at the expense of the taxpayers of this county. "My feeling of sincerity for Democracy has never been questioned as every life-long Democrat knows. I pride myself in being one of those natives of Chilton County who labored for the existence of Democracy and the Democratic party in this county for many years. I think the citizens of the county know they can count all the men on the fingers of one hand who have grown rich by the activities of this old political machine at the expense of the taxpayers of this county. "I am proud of the fact that when our Party was struggling and fighting for its existence and rightful place in the government of our county I was on the front firing line at all times. "But, the question in my mind regarding this is, where were those would be present rulers of the Democratic Party when our Party was fighting for its place? Where was the man who now is trying to straddle the neck of both parties when those former campaigns were being fought in this county? We remember back when we needed these men so badly in the holding together of the Democratic Party in the county. But, where were they at that time and why are they trying so hard now to ride with one foot in one party and the other foot in the other party? "If you will pardon me for a moment right here I will answer those questions by saying this: were they not by every means they could command, the political machine included, doing everything in their power to destroy the name and even the principles of Democracy, merely to further their own petty selfish interests? "However, that is neither here nor there at this time. The major question facing the people now is whether they desire a continuation of a county government operated wholly for selfish purposes, or do they wish a county government operated for the people, of the people and by the people. "If I am elected your Representative in the State Legislature, I shall favor some permanent law or some permanent arrangement for the operation of the schools of our state for full terms as I have in the past. I do not believe in allowing our schools, our school children and our school teachers to suffer while other less important departments of the State wax fat on the tax-payers money.

The Sales Tax

"In regard to the sales tax of Alabama I feel that the present system of collecting this tax, by means of the tokens, is a nuisance and should be and must be changed if it is found necessary to continue this tax. Some seem to believe that it will be possible to do without this tax. That question will necessarily have to be settled when our next Governor goes into office and the Legislature convenes and makes appropriations to take care of the various departments of the State government.

Has Friendship Contacts

"My friendship, of which I am proud, with members of the present Legislature, and I believe seventy-five percent of them will be re-elected by their respective counties, will enable me to be in a better position to serve my county in matters pertaining to the making of laws, etc. My past friendship and contact with those officials who are clothed with the power to place federal and state financial aid on roads, agriculture, health, education and welfare, I believe will enable me to give my county the best of service if and when more funds are available for these purposes mentioned above.

Homestead Exemptions

"I advocate and will work for a total homestead exemption of tax up to $2,000. This will be of the greatest benefit to the small home owner and Chilton county will find that its taxpayers will be benefited in no small amount if this total homestead exemption is carried out which will put an end to tax sales affecting the small home and farm owners in Alabama.

Old-Age Pensions

Regarding the old-age pension law of Alabama, I believe this law could be and should be changed to improve it. At the time the present law was enacted, it was written to conform with the present Federal law on the pension and I believe everyone, even those responsible for the law, agree that it contains too much red tape and should be simplified. I shall, if re-elected, make every effort toward this end so that the aged citizens of our state will not be delayed too long in receiving what their government intended them to receive in this matter.

The Liquor Law

The present law on the control of liquor traffic in Alabama is not what the people would like to have in my opinion. We have admitted that the liquor law has been with us for ages and that it is an evil that is still with us. We have also agreed and admitted that the best method of coping with this evil is to try to place it under some state or national governmental control. Some people have misunderstood the vote of the Legislature on the liquor question in Alabama. The Legislature did not legalize liquor in Alabama. The Legislature merely passed a law allowing the voters of the various counties of the state to voice their wish as to whether they favored the legal sale of alcoholic beverages in their respective counties. Some counties, including Chilton, voted against the legal sales, and I am elected your Representative in again I shall favor law, or laws, in Alabama whereby those counties that voted dry shall be made dry by the officers clothed with the authority to do so.

The Highway Patrol

I believe the Alabama Highway Patrol has won the admiration and approval of every law-abiding citizen of the state and I favor the strengthening of this body of law-enforcing men to further protect the lives and property of our citizens.

The Absentee Ballot

The absentee ballot in Alabama has long been more or less a nuisance as well as a direct means of some corruption in elections not only in Chilton County but over the entire state. In my past term as your Representative I made an effort to do away with the absentee ballot and I shall make another stronger effort to abolish this if I am re-elected to serve you. I also favor a law to bring about a strictly secret ballot in Alabama.

I believe, with the aid of Senators and Representatives with whom I have talked recently regarding this, it will be possible to carry out this plan and save the people of Chilton County and Alabama a large sum of money as well as give them some degree of protection against fraud and corruption in their elections.

Automobile Tags

The car owners of Alabama have been under something of a burden on the costs of automobile license tags. I have always favored a reduction in this matter. It is my intention, if re-elected, to make every effort possible to bring about a reduction in the cost of the car tags as much as is consistent

I will positively oppose any diversion of gasoline tax money or any increase of effort to increase any taxes, whether they be gasoline, property, or personal taxes. On the other hand, I shall favor a reduction in the tax set-up of Alabama.

Local Laws

In regard to local laws of this county, I shall, if elected, abolish the present Road Law as stated in a previous letter to the people.

I sincerely hope the voters will investigate any rumors they may hear and that are intended to reflect injuriously upon my candidacy for Representative. I have endeavored in this statement and in statements heretofore published to show my stand and beliefs on matters of importance to every citizen, and I believe my position is well founded and well understood by those who have the whole county interest in their hearts and not the interest of a chosen few.

I earnestly ask for your vote and help in re-electing me as your Representative. I am confident that I should be and must be served by a member of the State Legislature.

Respectfully,

C. B. COX

To The Voters Of Chilton County A Statement from Dr. J. A. Hines

As a candidate for State Senator from the Fifteenth District, composed of the counties of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby, I ask your careful consideration of my personal qualifications and convictions on certain outstanding questions which will confront Alabama's law-making body during the next four years.

I am using this means of addressing you through your newspaper because I know it is physically impossible for me to see all of you in person before the primary.

I am being brought out by no pressure group or faction and am free to represent all the people and interests of the Fifteenth District.

1. Personal:

I am 42 years old, a World War Veteran, and a practicing physician. I have practiced medicine at Siluria in Shelby County for the past 15 years. I am a native Alabamian.

2. Public Service:

I have served as a member of the County Board of Education of Shelby County since 1935. For the past four years I have been a member of the Democratic Executive Committee of Shelby County. I am a life-long Democrat, having always believed in, practiced and supported those principles which are the foundation of our party and which are our party's contribution to good government.

3. Public Education:

As your State Senator I will stand for and work to guarantee in Alabama a free term of 8 months for the elementary schools and 9 months for the high schools, with continued appropriations for the causes of higher education. I endorse the A. E. A. and P.-T. A. program for education adequately financed. I will favor a comprehensive and adequate appropriation for education with full guarantee that school money shall be used for the schools. I believe education should be a primary function of government.

4. Taxation:

I will favor keeping the present exemption of homestead from State taxes, and also the extension of this exemption to apply to county and local taxes. I will favor a substantial reduction in the automobile tag tax. I will favor a reduction in the state gasoline tax. During the Miller administration this tax was increased two cents per gallon to meet the falling revenue of the State at that time. At the present time the proceeds of this tax after eliminating the two cents will produce more revenue than in the peak year 1929. Tourists are being advised to avoid Alabama on account of our excessive gasoline tax. This should not be. I will be in favor of keeping the present State sales tax only if, after enforcing rigid economy, it is found that public education, farm extension work, and other important State agencies can not be adequately financed without the sales tax. I think I know it is a fact that Alabama's government can be efficiently and effectively operated cheaper than it is being done at present. Insofar as I may be able, in the Senate I shall seek to establish such measures of economy as will prevent useless expenditures of public funds, and at the same time safeguard the future success and proper function of the essential phases of our state government.

5. Reapportionment of Legislative Representation.

I will favor reapportionment of legislative representation in conformity with the state constitution.

6. Secret Ballot:

I will favor a modification of our ballot law to insure a strictly secret ballot. I respectfully solicit your vote and influence and assure you that if elected I will strive to represent all the people of this district conscientiously and impartially.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

Arthur Martin Asks Voters For Nomination On Tuesday

Points Out His Record During Past Term, Shows Saving Affected By Careful Study Of Official Duties

Clanton, Alabama, April 25, 1938.

To The Voters of Chilton County:

"It is to be my privilege to come before you on next Tuesday in the primary election to ask for re-election to the office of Tax Assessor of your county, which place I have filled for one term through your vote and consideration in 1934.

"I have taken no part in any political machinations of your county during my term of office since I felt it my duty to hold strictly to my belief that I should attend to the business affairs of my office and conduct that office in such a manner that those of you who voted for me would have every reason to be satisfied.

"The people will know that the Tax Assessor does not assess the taxes on real property. It is his duty to receive your assessments at our own figure and then place the taxes as are required by law on your property. During my previous term of office I firmly believe I have met with the approval of the taxpayers and others who have had business with the Tax Assessor and that their dealings in this office have been most satisfactory.

"Also during my term as your Assessor I have studied the office and made every attempt to cut down the costs of operating the office just as I would have if the office was my own business establishment. Among the many items I have found could be reduced in costs to the taxpayers, I will mention one particularly which has saved the county several hundred dollars. That is in the binding of some of the records the law requires the Tax Assessor to keep. Heretofore, I learned that it has been customary to do this work in a manner which was good, yet was rather expensive to the county. I merely mention that so that the people may have some idea of how I have tried to conduct the business of the Tax Assessor's office, which is your office.

"If you voters believe that you should re-elect an office-holder to a second term if his first term had been satisfactory and has met with your approval, then I believe you will go to the polls on next Tuesday and cast your vote for me. I believe it would be difficult to find a man, or woman, who has any just criticism of the manner in which my office of Tax Assessor has been handled during my term of office.

"During the past three years I believe I have gained sufficient experience as to be of much more service for the next four years to the people of Chilton County than I have during the preceding years. A man's ability is only improved through actual experience in the line of work to which he has been selected for.

"I want to take this opportunity to urge the voters of this county to vote the Democratic ticket where you have a large number of candidates to select from, both for state and county offices. The election on next Tuesday is a most important one, since you will elect, or nominate, men to hold the most important offices of your state and county. You should also bear in mind that nomination for a state office in Alabama is tantamount to election.

"Again respectfully asking for your vote and support in behalf of my candidacy for Tax Assessor on the Democratic ticket, and assuring you of my appreciation of same and a continuation of the same efficient service if I am re-elected, I remain,

"Respectfully,
Arthur D. Martin"

"Big Bud" McGraw Addresses Appeal to Chilton Co. Voters

Candidate For State Senator Gives Qualifications And Platform For Voters Consideration

"To the Voters of Chilton County:

"I'll appreciate your support of me as your Senator from the Fifteenth District, counties of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby.

"I am a native of Shelby County, born and reared in the same community as I am now living in. I am a merchant and farmer, member of the Baptist Church, a Mason, Odd Fellow, Knights of Pythias and Woodman of the World.

"I was the first president of the Board of Revenue of Shelby County, elected by the Democratic Party. I represented Shelby County in the Legislature under the Miller administration in 1932 and 1933.

"I am under no obligations to any man or men, and will promise you to look after the affairs of your county with fairness to you and equity to all.

"Being a farmer, I know the problems of the farmer, and will lend my help to any measure for advancement.

"Being a merchant, I know the problems that confront them, and will promise my very best for their aid.

"I have always been a friend to education. I stand for and will work for, a full term school, both in Elementary and High. It shall be my purpose to use my efforts to the end that all secondary schools and colleges shall be amply provided for.

"I was one of the original organizers of Child Welfare in Shelby County, and am now a member of the Board.

"Believing in this I will work for advancement along this line.

"Realizing that Old Age Pension is not receiving its proper share of funds, I shall use my efforts for increased appropriations for this work.

"I am in favor of the payment of two years of back poll tax, reinstating those voters who are in arrears. I am in favor of the Homestead Exemptions and hope it can be had both for state and county.

"I was Chairman of the Committee in Shelby County that wrote prohibition in the Constitution.

"I am opposed to the liquor traffic as it now exists in Alabama.

"I am opposed to the two percent sales tax. This was put on as an emergency for the schools. The only emergency it has cared for is to provide funds for the hosts of State agents who have flooded Alabama.

"The purpose of this tax was the proponents of the bill said, was to take care of the school needs. As it now stands, the records show that the schools have gotten less than one-fourth of the amount collected.

"We have the gasoline tax that is used for roads and I believe is used wisely. I shall oppose any additional tax and will oppose any change in the division of same. Each county getting its share as it is now divided.

"I will favor an automobile tax from five to ten dollars with drivers license as it now stands.

"I am opposed to the waste and extravagance that has been practiced during this administration, and will do my best to aid in giving Alabama an economical, fair and intelligent government.

"It was my intentions to visit as many of you as possible so that we might know each other, but unfortunately for me, I was taken with flu, Monday, the 21st, and am not now able to leave my room. Hope that I may be able to see as many of you as possible during the week if the weather permits.

"Believing from my experience in the House of Representatives in Montgomery and my fifty years of active business life, I am qualified to represent you as your Senator.

"I am asking your support and influence, and if I am your choice, it will be my pleasure to have you come to me with any questions confronting your county.

"Sincerely yours,
"J. F. (Big Bud) McGraw."

Asks Voters For Post As Secretary Of State

DAVE BIRMINGHAM

Dave Birmingham, now chief clerk in the Convict Department of the State of Alabama, is asking the voters of Alabama for the place of Secretary of State in the May 3rd primary election. Mr. Birmingham attended Mississippi State College and in 1912 moved his residence to this State.

He was engaged in the insurance business in Alabama for a number of years. In 1935 he was appointed chief clerk in the Convict Department and in that capacity has served with credit. Those who have come in contact with Mr. Birmingham have become his friends through his courtesy and efficiency and it is said that this department has become one of the best managed departments of the State government.

It is of interest to know that Mr. Birmingham, through his spirit of fairness and wish for good government, assisted greatly in breaking up the parole racket in Alabama. He states that if elected, he will sponsor a Bill in the Legislature to create a permanent Parole Board so that members of this board may act honestly and fearlessly on applications for paroles coming before them without fear of endangering their political future.

If elected Secretary of State it will be one of the duties of Mr. Birmingham to sit on the Pardon Board. Mr. Birmingham believes, through his experience that he is fully qualified to hold this office which he seeks at the hands of the voters on May 3rd.

BERRY CROP TO SHOW UP A BIT SHORT REPORT

Local Shipments, However Are Netting Growers A Fair Profit This Year

Although the county's crop of strawberries this year will show up as rather short, the berries that are being shipped by rail and by truck are of good quality, according to those handling the shipments.

During the past two weeks, or more, approximately six thousand crates have been trucked into Birmingham markets from Clanton and ten cars have been sent by rail to Detroit and Cincinnati.

The local shipments by truck are believed to be netting the growers a better profit than other shipments, but the market in the state is very limited and all berries cannot be handled in that manner—it was stated. The recent weather has aided the growers in great deal in the picking of the berries.

The small dogs had sighted the snakes and were holding them at bay before Mr. Burke arrived on the scene. He stated that some of the snakes put up a fight as he began his attack.

McKee Leads Ticket In Race For Tax Collector; Hardy Next

Nivens Wins Over Burdette; Martin Leads With Big Margin For Tax Assessor; Roper And Sims Slated For Run-Off; Oden Wins

The Democrats of Chilton County piled up another huge vote Tuesday when they went to the polls to cast their ballots for their choice of nominees in this county in one of the most interest-creating elections held in this county in several years, and showed a much larger vote than was cast by the Republican party in its primary held on the same day in the county.

Unofficial returns gathered by the News, show that the Democratic Party of the county held its strength gained during the past few years and gained the most interesting races were for Representative in the Legislature in which C. E. Walker, C. Walker and Dr. J. E. Hardy were the contestants. This race attracted wide attention and the unofficial returns, with no boxes not heard from, gave Walker a safe lead over both opponents and placed him as the nominee for the place of the ticket. The vote gave Walker 1,360; Cox 944 and Gowan 333.

Hardy, McKee In Run-Off

In the race for Tax Collector, T. L. McKee, the present officeholder received 1,087; J. R. Hardy received 914; and Roy M. Roper 699. This will call for a run-off between McKee and Hardy in the June 14 Primary.

W. A. Gulleuge, of Verbena, and T. L. Lecroy are apparent winners in the two places for membership on the County Board of Education. The unofficial count was Gulleuge 1,597; Lecroy 1,403; W. Y. Keel 906; Cox 944 and Gowan 333.

Watts Hat Shoppe Plans To Move About May 15th Into New Home

The new home of this well known ladies ready-to-wear store is located on the Birmingham highway behind the A & P Store and workmen have been busy there for some time giving the building a complete remodeling.

It was not learned this week just what type of business will occupy the building to be vacated by the hat shop.

The unofficial count would tend to indicate that in the race for nominee as Commissioner from District Number One that there will be a run-off between Howard Roper who received 1,204 votes and T. C. Sims who received 772. Will R. Clements, the other contender for the place received 554 votes.

Howard Oden Wins

Howard Oden, candidate for reelection, as Commissioner from District No. Two, was apparently the winner with an unofficial count of 1,356 and Arthur J. Lecroy 1,235.

In The State Senatorial race, unofficial returns as received by the News indicate that there will be a run-off between Harrison, of Columbiana, and Dr. J. A. Hines, of Stirling, with J. F. McGraw running in third place. However, it was impossible for the News to receive the vote from Autauga and Shelby Counties before going to press. In Chilton County, McGraw led the ticket with 879 votes; Hines 770; and Harrison, 804.

Committee Will Meet To Canvass Returns

W. M. Polk, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of the county, advises the members of the committee that any who wish to be present at the canvassing of the returns of Tuesday's primary election are requested to meet at the court house today at twelve o'clock noon.

The new models are just out. Mr. Billingsley stated, and according to an advertisement in this issue, they will be glad to demonstrate these machines to anyone. The exceptional low down payment and easy terms are among the attractive features of the machine.

The Republican Ticket

Unofficial returns given the News from the Republican ticket show that Percy Pitts was their nominee for Representative, defeating both Paul C. Mims and W. L. Sanders.

W. G. Culp who had no opposition, was nominated for Sheriff. J. Devey Rockett received a large vote which placed him in nomination on that ticket for Tax Assessor.

Tom Taylor received the nomination for Tax Collector over his opponent, J. E. Easterling.

Rascoe Maddox was nominated for Superintendent of Education over Ralph D. Grant by a small margin.

It is almost impossible for the News to take care of the returns in detail this week but will publish the official report in next week's issue.

At Last--The TVA Investigation

The joint House-Senate investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority, will be a real job.

Growing public interest in the tangled affairs of the Authority made this investigation inescapable. Charges and counter-charges, plots and counterplots, seemingly unbridgeable differences between the directors, accusations of waste and irregularity—such things as these have characterized the TVA's stormy history. Matters finally reached the point where an investigation was essential not only to protect the vast public interest in the TVA, but in justice to its directors and sponsors. If the TVA has been managed honestly and efficiently, that should be proven beyond question—if the opposite is the case, quick and drastic remedial action should be taken by Congress.

Above all, this should be a non-political, non-partisan investigation. It should be neither a whitewash nor a muckraking expedition. It should favor neither the proponents nor the opponents of the TVA. It should be thorough, sweeping and dispassionate.

It is true or is it not true that the TVA has pursued ruthless and rapacious tactics in dealing with private businesses in the Southeast? Is it true or is it not true that millions in tax money have been spent for useless purposes? Is it true or is it not true that TVA management has at times been swayed by purely political considerations? Is it true or not true that personal enmities and jealousies among TVA directors have made efficient, business-like operation impossible? It is such questions as these that the public wants answered—completely, fairly and finally.

Senatorial Symphomy

We notice in the public prints recently that a member of the Senate has become more or less disturbed over the numerous blood and thunder skits that are being presented in large doses over the radio. We pause. We consider.

Picture this domestic scene—Father with his newspaper—Mother all intent upon her knitting—Junior's ear glued to the loud speaker. From the wireless rolls forth these awe-inspiring words—"Krakula and Horrible Dwarf." Screams rend the air and waves burst loudly upon the rocky shore.

But to be serious, for a moment at least. Personally, we wish to give thanks that we the wrist we can exclude from our lives such trash. It is a fact that in another section of this vale of tears, coercion of the most compelling sort is used to force one to listen to the nationalistic or political blabber some so-called or self-called leader is wont to spout forth the ether waves.

We started out to be humorous about this but we became sore of wrought up about the whole thing. Any abridgement of our freedom of speech—guaranteed us by the Constitution—is to be decried. Censorship is the right can spread like the plague if given a helping wedge. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and in this day of a very topsy-turvy world, in which the forces of suppression run rampant, it is more vigilant than ever.

Americanism—and by that we mean free speech, free press, and free worship—is our greatest heritage, and the tiniest mark must not be allowed to imprint itself in that armor.

We strongly oppose the agitated Senator in his attempt to legislate against the Karloff-like dramas.

Advocates of all sorts of radical theories are allowed to speak from the public platforms. Why then, we ask piping, deny the Bela Lugosi of this democracy their day?

Shame upon thee, Senator! Apply thyself more to thy flood control and business recession and such-like. Wherefore the $10,000 per annum?

Railroads Boost Alabama Business

Alabama benefitted substantially from the expenditures of the railroads in 1937 for materials, supplies, fuel, new equipment and payrolls. It is revealed in a special study which has just been completed by the Bureau of Railway Economics of the Association of American Railroads.

Railway purchases in Alabama last year totaled $31,207,957, the report shows. Of this sum, $23,439,404 was spent for materials, supplies and fuel, while $7,768,553 went for new equipment (not including that built in company shops). These purchases were made in 342 towns and cities located in 64 of the 67 counties of the state.

Wages paid to railway employees in Alabama during 1937 amounted to $22,743,352.

The review discloses that, for the nation as a whole, the railroads last year paid $1,133,361,468 for the more than 70,000 different items which they use. Materials, supplies and fuel cost $966,383,000, and expenditures for all new equipment (except that constructed in railway shops) totaled $166,987,468. More than 12,000 towns and cities located in 2,638 of the 3,072 counties of the United States derived direct benefits from this large volume of railroad buying.

In 1937, the country's rail carriers also distributed $1,983,990,485 in wages to their employees, the report says.

Fighting Accident Racketeers

The war on "accident racketeers" is going steadily forward with commendable vigor.

Reports from many areas show that the courts and prosecuting authorities are sparing no effort to apprehend these criminals—and that their work is meeting with success. The accident racketeers operate in many fields. Some of them fake automobile accidents. Others fake falls in department stores and other public places, and claim compensation for injuries. Groups of racketeers form rings, complete with shyster lawyers and crooked doctors. In the bulk of cases, the money fraudulently gained by the racketeers may seem only a petty chisel, hardly worth bothering about. But small sums, collected over and over again, run up to great totals. And all of this money eventually comes out of the pockets of the public. In most instances, a successful claim fraud is eventually paid for by an insurance company—which means that the cost of insurance to the honest policyholder is higher than it would be otherwise. And the activities of the racketeers constitute an expensive drain on the facilities of courts, police and prosecutors.

The casualty insurance industry, through the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Executives, is a leader in the determined fight against the claim racketeers. This bureau maintains an index system, where suspicious claims are listed and record is kept of accident "repeaters." Trained operatives are employed by the Bureau to work with public officials in ferreting out and gathering evidence against these criminals. This worthwhile endeavor has been the means of laying many a claim fraud artist by the heels.

Every community should be on the watch for the appearance of claim frauds—and should take quick, aggressive steps to show the offender that crime doesn't pay. In the past, claim frauds have stolen untold millions of dollars from the public. Present experience is demonstrating that this loss can be largely prevented.

The Youth Problem

From the earliest times it appears that the problem of directing young folks in the proper way has engaged the serious attention of reformers and uplifters—and busybodies.

A book on etiquette published in 1850 gravely warns young women of the perils of the waltz and declares that "unmarried ladies should refrain from the waltz altogether, in public and in private." It is assumed that married ladies were supposed to be immune to its demoralizing effects.

Every once in a while someone digs up an old newspaper or magazine containing an article which throws light on this tendency to worry about the young people of the past. The boys and girls of the present generation are causing consternation among the self-appointed guardians of morality.

There is little reason, however, for believing that the young folks of 1937 are any worse, morally or otherwise, than those of former times. Like others before them, they will probably grow up to worry about their own children and grandchildren.

At the age of twenty-one every able-bodied Swiss must enroll in his country's national militia.

WE WERE HONORED--

Well, the boys here at the News-office are in the market for hats—large hats, and when we say large we mean just that. We are all in the market for hats? Well, we'll tell you. Last Thursday the Chilton County News received a visit from a group of men who, more or less, control the destiny of our State and somewhat of the Nation. Fulfilling his scheduled visit to Clanton, Hon. James A. Farley took the News-office by storm when he and his party composed of Congressmen Jarman, Hobbs, Sparkman, Senator Lister Hill, Leon McCord, Pitt Tyson, Maner, Private Secretary to Gov. Graves and other notables arrived in front of the office amidst a flock of State Highway Patrol cars and motorcycles, alighted and came in to shake hands with the boys here and look over the plant. We'll wager this was the biggest party of notables ever to be in Chilton County at one time. We were honored to have these distinguished persons visit us and that is why the force of the News is in the market for new hats—our old ones just won't fit any more.

HONEST--

It is a known fact that a newspaper always tends to reflect the type of community and citizens thereof that it serves. If the merchants and residents of Clanton support the Chilton County News by advertising in its columns and by reading its contents then the Chilton County News will, as a natural consequence, become increasingly valuable to those merchants as an advertising medium and to those residents as a source of all the news that is fit to print. We believe this fact to be based upon premises of the simplest sort. We urge you to consider it seriously.

THINNING OUT--

The first lap of this political campaign has been made by this time. Just who was elected and who was disappointed we don't know yet, as this part of the paper is put to bed a little early each week, but it's all over but the shouting—and some crying—by this time. As Charlie McCaskey says: "So help me, I'll be 'em day." That's what the voters had to do with some of the many candidates in this primary.

INTERESTING--

A friend handed us this clipping this week which we think will be of interest to you. Here it is:

Legend Of The Dogwood
At the time of the Crucifixion the dogwood had the size of the oak and other forest trees. So firm and strong was the tree that it was chosen as the timber for the cross. To be used thus for such a cruel purpose greatly distressed the tree, and Jesus, nailed upon it, sensed this, and in His gentle pity for all sorrow and suffering said to it: "Because of your regret and pity for my suffering, never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough to be used as a cross. Henceforth it shall be slender and bent and twisted and its blossoms shall be in the form of a cross—two long and two short petals. And in the center of the outer edge of each petal there will be nails, brown with rust and stained with red, and in the center of the flower will be a crown of thorns. And—all who see it will remember—Coped."

BACK IN TOWN--

We were certainly glad to see our good friend D. H. Wilder, in Clanton the other day. D. H. resided here a few years ago, and attended the local high school, and graduated with honors. He was for several months connected with a well known clothing store in Birmingham. He is now representative of the New York Life Insurance Company and his friends in Clanton are glad to see this young man getting off to a good start in the business world.

JUST IMAGINE--

... Sol Levine in a serious mood.
... Yourself winning one thousand dollars in a contest like one Clanton lady did.
... Imagine twice on the above imagine.
... How independent a fellow could afford to be like that.
... J. L. Ruffin without chickens.

The largest vote ever cast in Alabama for a Democrat for President of the United States in 1936 when Franklin D. Roosevelt received 238,196 votes and his Republican opponent received 153,358. The largest vote cast for a Republican in this State for President was in 1928 when Hoover received 120,725 votes and Smith, the Democratic nominee, received 127,797 votes.

MORALECHOES
D. W. Haskew

A colored girl came to the parsonage and applied for the position of housemaid in our home. We were in need of such help and with but few questions we gave her the place. On entering the house she inquired, "Now please tell me just what you will require of me." In a few words she was told that she would be required to do everything in the house required of a maid. Immediately she donned her apron, rolled up her sleeves and went to work. We saw at once she was willing to meet all requirements. When you joined the church you applied for a place in the Kingdom of God. God wanted you and needed you and you were given a place of service. You wanted to know what God required of you and you were told that you should live the standard and do the work of a Christian. That is what God requires of each of us. Did you don the character of a child of God, roll up your sleeves and go to work? Has God yet discovered that you are anxious to meet all the requirements of a loyal church member?

We were in need of a sexton in our church and a bright, amiable dapper man took him over and to all appearances he seemed to be just the man needed. I carried him through the church and showed him all that he must do and charged him that he must be punctual as the rising of the sun. I never heard a man talk better and make more promises of loyalty. With his hat in his hand he said, "Boss, if you will just give me the job I will meet every requirement." The job was his and he started to work in the finest spirit and for two months he was almost perfect as janitor. Then he began to neglect his duties. He started to come late and showing signs that he did not intend to meet requirements. In a few months we had to let him go. That is almost a perfect picture of nearly fifty percent of the people who join the church. With a glad heart they apply for membership and with a song they start out in church life. They run well for a short time and then they begin to slow down. It is true of most any church that about fifty percent of its membership is not meeting requirements. Ask yourself a question, "What doth the Lord require of thee?"

One summer day I went into a cave with a Sunday School party. We followed our guide until we were far under the ground. Then as we stood near each other in one of the rooms, our guide asked that we stand in silence, be heard.

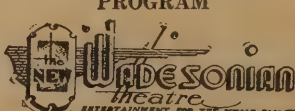

He ordered that we blow out every light. When this was done not a sound could be heard other than the dripping of an occasional drop of water. In my position I could see a speck of light in the far distance. All about me was darkness of the blackest kind and that tiny spot of light had an appeal such as I have never felt before. I craved to leave my surroundings in the darkness and press with speed toward that one speck of light. As I stood there in the darkness of the air that I was made to realize the value of light. Not many of us ever know the value of the common blessings of life until we are deprived of them. We accept the sunshine without appreciation. We rarely ever thank God for the air that we breathe. We are literally flustered with the blessings of God and we should ever be filled with gratitude.

There is an old story of a millionaire who had a poor friend who was an architect. The rich man wanted to do something nice for his friend of his own one day he asked him to build a house for him. He said to him, "Don't bother me about the plans, you build it as you want it, draw your own plans and build the material and when it is complete give me the bill and I will settle for it." The contractor yielded to the temptation of fattening his own nest and he bought the cheapest material and hired unskilled labor, and yet he charged up the millionaire first class material and the most skilled labor. When he completed the house he went to a rich man and presented the bill. Immediately the millionaire became indignant and said to him, "I have always wanted to do something for you. I deem you to be my friend and now I have my opportunity; the house is yours." As that man had cheated himself by building a shoddy house, so we cheat ourselves when we fail to build our characters on the truth of Christ. All shoddy material placed into our lives is the way to defeat. The way to victory is the way of honesty and truth.

For years I have been reading the Bible. I never fail to find new things to read in it. Today I was reading in the book of Nehemiah and I came across this amazing thing to me. A statement that is true to human life. Nehemiah had been riding up and down the broken walls of Jerusalem and he seemed to have been in a state of confusion. He said he hardly knew what to do and so, "I went into his own chamber to consult himself." I wondered why he did not consult God, or someone else beside himself. He was just a human like the rest of us. How often do you find yourself in the midst of a confusing situation and you proceed to consult yourself. It may be that you want something and you consult yourself and not other folks. It may be that you desire certain changes in your life, and you consult yourself. This self consultation has become quite a fad in these modern times.

ARCADIAN NITRATE THE AMERICAN SODA

We're Home-bodies, too, NEIGHBOR

ing home at night, you've probably heard the neighborly note of our locomotives.

At times you hear that sound, hope it will be a reminder we are home-folks, too... living in community responsibilities... making a definite contribution to the comfort and safety you enjoy when you inside your own front door.

Wherever they are provided, we help bring your home-building materials to you—lumber, stone, cement, brick, etc. Chances are, we brought you the things you use inside your home as well... furniture, fixtures, heating equipment, even your foodstuffs. Last year we hauled around six million tons of material largely used in construction and home furnishing.

Thus we have been a helpful partner in developing the communities we serve... carrying nearly fifty million tons of freight last year at an average cost of less than a cent per ton for each mile hauled. That's why we're home-folks, too... why we hope to deserve your continued friendship and patronage.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR PRESS ASSOCIATION TRIP

Washington, "The World's Most Interesting City" and other cities nearby, will be the scene of the Alabama Press Association's 1938 Convention Tour. Arrangements are now complete and the tour will be held at this time.

Never before have so many delightful things been planned for a week-long tour of the full of sight-seeing in Washington, Mt. Vernon, Williamsburg, Norfolk, Annapolis, York, and Baltimore, with a special train of the Maine and New Brunswick Railway.

Willard Hotel when the banquet speakers will include national and international figures, gay night clubs, an overnight trip down Chesapeake Bay and other interesting things.

Seven always-to-be-remembered days, starting Sunday morning, June 19th, with all transportation hotels, sightseeing and some of the meals as well as pullman accommodations, for only $94.80.

Many Will Take Sea Trip Home

Many of the party will want to go on to New York and take the trip down the Atlantic seaboard to Jacksonville and then home by train so arrangements have been made for the whole party to spend three days together in Washington, then for those who want the New York part of the trip to go there and spend Thursday and Friday and Saturday morning in America's great metropolis. Long sightseeing trips to interesting places, conducted tours through Radio City and other points, night clubs and gay night amusements will fill this time to the brim, and then for days and nights aboard a great ocean liner to Jacksonville, and so on to the starting point. Transportation pullman, hotels, sightseeing, night life, and many meals are included in this and for only $117.60.

These two trips, which are parts of one, have been planned by experts, to give the greatest values in every way for the smallest possible sums.

Everything of these trips is of the very best, yet the Press Association is able to get and share rates that the ordinary visitor could not get. And, too, many courtesies will be shown to the party that would not ordinarily be possible to the average group.

This newspaper has the complete folders and will gladly make reservations for those who want to accompany the Press Association, for an invitation is being extended to those not connected with newspapers to go with the Association if they so desire, and at these prices.

Gasoline Tax Department, State Tax Commission

The Chief Clerk of the Gasoline Tax Department, working under the supervision of the State Tax Commission, is charged with the duty of administering the Gasoline Tax Laws and the Lubricating Oil Tax Laws.

It is his duty to see to the collection of the excise tax imposed on gasoline and lubricating oil dealers in the State, and he is also charged with the duty of collecting the Wholesale Oil Dealers License Tax.

The Gasoline Tax Fund is earmarked for Highway purposes exclusively.

One-half of the net collections of this tax is allocated to the sixty-seven counties in equal parts and must be expended by the county governing boards for the exclusive purpose of maintaining public highways and bridges. The other half of the revenue derived from this tax is covered into the State Treasury to the credit of the State Highway Department. Two-thirds of said fund is primarily charged with financing the Twenty-Five Million dollar bond issue authorized in 1927, the residue to be used exclusively for building, improving and maintaining public highways and bridges. The tax on gasoline sales and withdrawals is six cents a gallon.

The tax collected on the sale or withdrawal from storage of lubricating oils is covered into the State Treasury to the credit of the General Fund. This tax is two cents a gallon on all sales and withdrawals.

Wholesale oil dealers, as defined by Acts of the Legislature, must pay an annual license fee of one-half of one percent on gross receipts on the sale of illuminating, heating, or fuel oils. The funds derived from this source are covered into the State Treasury to the credit of the General Fund.

Collections on the sale of gasoline for the calendar year ending September 30, 1937, amounted to $13,327,345.46. Four years previous the collections amounted to $8,033,140.73. The collections on lubricating oil during the same period increased from $128,955.29 to $198,824.60. Wholesale oil collections increased from $12,546.24 to $27,839.38.

During this four-year period the total collections on gasoline, lubricating oils, and wholesale oil increased 65 percent.

A Timely Poem For Mother's Day

Dear Editor:

I wonder if you would run the following poem, written by Jane Taylor, in your paper, in honor to my mother, Mrs. J.C. Calloway, on Mother's Day.

I am a former resident of your county and would appreciate it very much as I am so far away and will not be able to see my mother on Mother's Day. Carry it in your paper and dedicate it to Mrs. J.C. Calloway, by her two daughters, Mrs. J.P. Underbark and Mrs. Arrie Jones.

Who fed me from her gentle breast,
And hushed me in her arms to rest,
And on my cheek sweet kisses pressed?

My Mother,
When sleep forsook my open eye,
Who was it sang a sweet lullaby
And rocked me that I should not cry?

My Mother,
Who sat and watched my infant head,
When sleeping in my cradle bed,
And tears of sweet affection shed?

My Mother,
When pain and sickness made me cry,
Who gazed upon my heavy eye,
And wept for fear that I should die?

My Mother,
Who dressed my doll in clothes so gay,
And taught me pretty how to play,
And mended as I had to say?

My Mother,
Who ran to help me when I fell,
And would some pretty story tell,
Or kiss the place to make it well?

My Mother,
Who taught my infant lips to pray,
And love God's Holy Book and Day
And walk in Wisdom's pleasant way?

My Mother,

And can I ever cease to be
Affectionate and kind to thee,
Who was so very kind to me,
My Mother.

Ah, no! The thought I cannot bear,
And if God please my life to spare,
I hope I shall reward thy car,
My Mother.

Why thy art feeble old and gray,
My healthy arms shall be thy stay,
And I will soothe thy pains away
My Mother.

And when I see thee hang thy head,
Twill be my turn to watch thy bed.

And tears of affection shed,
My Mother,
For God, who lives above the show,
Would look with vengeance in his eye
If I should ever dare disappoint
My Mother.

According to friends who have been in close touch with her progress, Miss Irene Smitherman continues to remain in a very critical condition. Friends and relatives have gathered at the Highland Baptist Hospital in Birmingham where a desperate battle is being waged to save her life.

Nothing takes the place of a good side dressing with Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda—"Natchel Sody", as Uncle Natchel calls it.

Like children, crops need lots of food when they really start to grow. That's why it is so important to side dress your crop with Natural Chilean Soda—to supply quick acting nitrogen just when it is needed.

Chilean Nitrate is valuable not only as a source of nitrogen, but also to furnish or build up a reserve of small amounts of other plant food elements naturally blended with it.

Childbirth Diseases
Show High Mortality

Calling attention to the fact that diseases associated with childbirth were responsible for 421 deaths in Alabama in 1936, Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, today urged people in all parts of the State to consider the problem of maternal mortality on Mother's Day which will be observed in all parts of the country on Sunday May 8.
"Alabama mothers who sacrificed their lives in giving birth to children outnumbered all those in this State who died from typhoid fever by more than five to one," he said. "Nearly one-tenth as many Alabamians lost their lives in that way as succumbed to heart disease, the largest single cause of death."
Dr. Baker estimated that, in the United States as a whole, approximately 15,000 women die every year from causes associated with childbirth and referred to a widely held belief among medical men that two-thirds of these deaths could be prevented by proper medical care before during and after the birth of the child.

Mattress Making Is Popular In Alabama
By making their own mattresses, hundreds of Alabama farm women are adding to the comfort of their homes and at the same time are helping use the surplus cotton produced on their farms. During 1937 a total of 1,909 mattresses was made in the State.
"This work is being encouraged by county home agents throughout Alabama," says P. O. Davis director, Alabama Extension Service, in expressing hopes that more rural women will join in the movement to make mattresses at home.
If each of the 275,000 cotton farmers in Alabama were to use 45 pounds of cotton in making a mattress they would use about 25,000 bales of cotton. Should this be extended to the 2,000,000 cotton farms in the South, about 90,000,000 pounds or 180,000,000 cotton bales in the South, about 90,000,000 pounds or 180,000,000 cotton bales would be consumed," he says.
"Three or four women can make a mattress in three or four hours," she says. "Women interested in making mattresses may obtain full information from home agents."

Farley Visits Chilton

ing the postmaster general's party. Approximately 700 persons awaited arrival at the postoffice building. He was met by Postmaster Hester F. Down and other outstanding citizens of the city. The entire party went inside the building and later greeted the large crowd who awaited their appearance. The Alabama Mills Band of Clanton, made the welcome here more impressive, while photographs were being taken of the visiting notables and while Mr. Farley and Congressman Jarman made short talks.

Leaving Clanton, the party went directly to Cooper where it stopped at Cooper at the mercantile store of H. J. Taylor where the post office is located. Mr. Taylor greeted the party and presented Mr. Farley to several of the citizens there.

Verbera was the next stop in this county and large crowd awaited the arrival of the group. Mrs. Gladys Deamus, postmaster at Verbera, received the visitors there and later joined the group in her capacity as national committeewoman of the Young Democrats of America and vice-chairman of the ladies division of the county.

After leaving Verbera the group was rushed on to Prattville where Mr. Farley was joined by Governor Graves and other state officials and a program dedicating the Prattville Post Office was carried out.

Mr. Farley, and other members of the official party, paid-Chilton County many compliments following their stops at the various places here.

Phone Lineman Fatally Shocked

Two Others Burned Atop Poles Near Deatsville

Robert D. Martin was electrocuted and two other Southern Bell Telephone linemen were burned Monday afternoon as they repaired some lines about eight miles from Deatsville.

The two injured were W.C. Arnold, six burns about the body; J.B. Sprablin, burns about the side and arm. Both were treated in Clanton and later removed to their respective boarding houses. Their physician said their burns were dangerous.

Last night Sprablin was able to converse over the telephone and told The Advertiser:

"I don't know what caused the accident. Some think a transmission line sagged, touched a telephone line and formed an arc. Seems like a fair guess to me."

"However, I didn't notice any wires falling. I didn't notice anything. It just happened. I was on one pole, Arnold was on another and Martin was on a third."

"I think Martin died instantly. We were all fastened to our poles with safety belts and so none of us fell. I don't know exactly what happened after the juice got us. Later they lowered Martin away. But by that time they were taking us on to Clanton to be treated."

The body of Martin, who, was about 38, was turned over to T.F. Leak and Son; funeral plans will be announced. The dead man was formerly of Lincoln, in Calhoun County, near which his parents reside.

New Miracles Of The Photoelectric Cell

By James D. Purdy
Director, Schools of Electrical Engineering, International Correspondence Schools

To combat the blinding change in light often encountered by motorists when they drive into a long highway tunnel, intense sodium vapor lamps have been installed in the 900-foot Tooth Rock bore on the Columbia River Highway near Bonneville Dam. The lights burn continuously, but as daylight fades with the approach of night a photoelectric cell device automatically reduces their intensity to the degree necessary to prevent a sharp contrast between the light within the tunnel and on the highway outside.

At the Lick Observatory in California photoelectric cells are being employed to measure star brightness, used by astronomers in calculating stellar distances. The light of the star under observation falls upon the light-sensitive cell, setting up an electric current which is amplified two million times. A meter registers the strength of the current, thus providing an accurate measure of the brilliance of the star.

To prevent damage to the large centrifugal pumps that might result if the flow were interrupted, photoelectric cells are installed at pumping stations on a new 235-mile pipe line built to carry gasoline and other petroleum products of The Atlantic Refining Company. If pressure on the line drops below a certain point a beam of light focused upon the cell is interrupted, causing the light-sensitive cell to set in motion mechanism that shuts down the pumps.

During the past three years Alabama has received over twenty-two million dollars from the Federal government to use for highway building. Some of this had to be matched by State and County funds and some of it did not. Some of it was used on three-way projects. During the Miller administration seventeen million of Federal funds were used on Alabama roads.

Mr. Ed Edwards was a caller at the News last week. While he mentioned the fact that he would like the people of Clanton to notice the chair he built for Mrs. Clara Mollins. It is of unique design and construction, and suitable for lawns, cemeteries or porches. These chairs seem to be a new thing but elsewhere they are fairly common.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think
—BILLY SMITH

"You Have Heard Of The Motion Picture, 'One Hundred Men And A Girl' But, When It Comes To One Man And Thirty-Five Women, It Puts A Man's Head In A Whirl."

Which expresses in excellent style, a part of the experience we had Tuesday night. But the experience more delightful as we became the only man as a guest of the Music Appreciation Club of Clanton at its brilliant banquet Tuesday night. To Clanton's Mrs. L. C. Ross goes credit for the above quoted jingle.

To Judge Chauncey Sparks, runner-up in Alabama's gubernatorial race we extend our congratulations for a display of his usual good judgement by withdrawing from the runoff with Major Frank Dixon, who will become the next Governor in January, 1939. Major Dixon will make Alabama a good Governor. Having had the pleasure of the friendship of this gentleman and distinguished citizens of Alabama and living visited in his charming and average-American home we feel in a position to make this statement as a fact rather than the usual flowery remarks to a winner.

Chilton County will join Autauga and Shelby in sharing another well qualified state Senator as the result of the recent primary election. Karl Harrison, young, brilliant and amiable attorney of Columbiana, has made history in this election by his excellent campaign for this office leading the race by a good margin in his home county and over the district. Dr. J. A. Hines, well known and outstanding physician of Siluria, will go into a runoff with Karl Harrison. Regardless of the outcome of this race, we feel that in the next month we feel now that Chilton County will have a capable Senator.

Apparently John Brandon will become Alabama's next Secretary of State. However, he will enter a runoff for the place with Dave Birmingham. We do not believe Mr. Birmingham will be able to overcome the large vote which was received by Mr. Brandon.

In Chilton County, the results of the primaries of the two political parties in the total number of votes cast for each should bring to the minds of the voters that the Democrats are not slipping in the least in their program to hold the county in the hands of men whose democratic principles have been serving the people well for several years. There can be no sound argument presented to attempt to show that the Democrats of the county should not continue to hold each of the county offices. Within a short time we believe every possible chance of an attempt at such an argument will vanish. We believe, too, that the second primary of June 14th will find numerous voters of former Republican faith casting their ballots on the Democratic ticket.

The line spirit that is noted among those candidates who not so fortunate as their opponents in being nominated or elected in the primary is to be commended. We have talked with almost all those in Chilton County and many of the candidates for state offices. We have a good fight in politics but that fight must be clean and free from remarks intended to reflect on anyone's character. We are proud that the columns of this newspaper did not carry any statements either from editor or candidate that would be regretted. That is a policy this newspaper has adhered to for several years.

We are looking forward to Sunday when the first mail to be flown from Clanton will be off to the States at Gragg Field amidst appropriate ceremonies in observance of National Air Mail Week. There will be many copies of the Chilton County News in special Air Mail Wrappers to take to the air during this event.

CLANTON LAUNDRY INSTALLS NEW DRY CLEANING SYSTEM

The Clanton Laundry & Teaming Company announces this week the installation of a new system of dry cleaning which deodorizes, sterilizes and revitalizes clothes.

The new system, called "Tru-Sheen" will add to the already modern equipment of this well known laundry. An advertisement about this new plan appears in this issue of the News.

Democrats Will Have One County Runoff

FRANK DIXON WILL BECOME NEXT GOVERNOR

Clyde Sims Will Not Go Into Runoff Against Howard Roper Here

The official count of the results of the Democratic primary of this county held last Tuesday, May 3, made only slight changes in the number of votes of local candidates as was reported in the unofficial results and showed clearly that the Democrats of Chilton County were holding their strength over the Republicans by a large margin.

Sims Withdraws
T. C. (Clyde) Sims, who landed in a runoff with Howard Roper in seeking a place in the Commissioners Court from District One, withdrew from the race Tuesday afternoon in favor of Mr. Roper who led by a good vote.

Chauncey Sparks Quit
The daily newspapers of Tuesday afternoon carried the announcement that Chauncey Sparks, runner-up in Alabama's gubernatorial race, withdrew and pledged his support to Major Frank Dixon who led the ticket by a record making vote in Alabama. Political observers over the State predicted this action on the part of the Eufaula candidate.

The official canvass of Chilton County's primary which was made by the Democratic Executive Committee last Thursday, gave the nomination for Representative to Hon. Grover C. Walker. (Continued to Back Page)

ARTHUR MARTIN EXPRESSES THANKS TO VOTERS OF COUNTY

"To The People of Chilton County:
"I am taking this means as a part of the manner in which I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to you for the splendid vote I received in the Democratic primary in my race for tax assessor. I hope I get to see you personally and say this again."

"Since you saw fit to give me the nomination for this office I also take this opportunity to urge you to go into the primary election next month and continue your right to vote as there will be run-offs in the state election and one in your county. Again I say I thank you for your vote."

"ARTHUR D. MARTIN."

PETE JARMAN THANKS COUNTY FOR BIG VOTE

Sends Greetings To Each Of Chilton's Citizens In Letter To The News

"To My Friends of Chilton County:
"I desire to express to each of you my deep, heartfelt appreciation of the magnificent victory with which you again so kindly favored me. It merely intensifies my determination to prove worthy of the keenly appreciated confidence you so overwhelmingly express by serving you to the best of my ability at all times."

"I am happy indeed that Chilton was my third banner County, advancing to this position from sixth place two years ago. In fact, it was only 2 per cent behind Greene in second place. My own County was again my banner one."

"While it is necessary that I return to my duties in Washington immediately, I am quite hopeful that reasonably early adjournment will afford me the pleasure of spending much time in our District this Summer and Fall, at which time I look forward with unusual pleasure to the materialization of my keen desire to see and talk with you."

"Reassuring you of my sincere appreciation of your friendship, your confidence and your support, and with kind personal regards and every good wish, I am,

"Your friend,
"PETE JARMAN."

Ticket disposal is the basis for credits and the winner will receive a trip to Hollywood or five hundred dollars in cash. Awards of a second prize of a diamond wrist watch and a third prize of a diamond ring will also be made.

Miss Gertie M. Fiquette, of Clanton is a candidate and by the last official standing of May 2, stands only 700 credits behind the leader. While competition is keen, Miss Fiquette feels that she has excellent chances of winning the grand prize.

Walker States Thanks To People Of County

"To the People of Chilton County:
"I want to thank the voters of our county for the good vote they gave me on May 3rd, 1938. I am very glad you made it necessary that I would not have to go into another primary on June 14, 1938. I saw a great number of you in person and I hope to see all of you again before the election in November."

"To those of my friends who did not vote for me, I want you to know that I hold no ill feeling toward you. It is almost impossible to get all of our people to see the same thing in the same way. I want to say to those who could not vote for me, that if at any time I can do you a favor or be of any service to you, do not fail to call on me. You will find me ready to render you any assistance I can."

"I just want to say to the voters again, that I will keep my promise to you, that is, if you see fit to elect me in November, I will immediately introduce and pass a repeal measure doing away with our present Chilton County Road Laws. I will stop right there until matters of local legislation have been presented to you and you approve or disapprove them by a majority of your votes. In other words, no local legislation will be passed, if I am elected to the Legislature, until the people of the county have first voted on the local legislation and a majority of those voting say they want the local legislation passed. As I see it, this would be fair."

"Thanking you again for your splendid vote of confidence, and I trust that I will so live that you will never have a cause to regret having voted for me. I am,
"Your obedient servant,
"G. C. WALKER."

Where Crime Doesn't Pay

The Washington Star recently observed that the Governing Committee of the New York Stock Exchange "is to be commended for its decision to put into effect a new rule requiring exchange brokerage firms to make available statements of their financial condition to any customer upon request. To make this rule effective, Charles R. Gay, President of the Exchange, announced that the Exchange is cooperating with the Securities and Exchange Commission in the preparation of a new and simplified form of financial statement that can be easily understood by the 'man in the street.' If this rule is adequately enforced, and there is every reason to suppose that it will be, the possibility that dishonest brokers might deceive their customers in the future will be largely eliminated."

There are crooks in every calling, whether it be government, banking, or the peanut trade. The Stock Exchange has not been immune to them. But, out of regard for fact, it must be pointed out that the percentage of failures of Exchange members has been miraculously low—far lower, for example, than in the case of banks. And those brokers who have been derelict of the trust placed in them have been exposed and punished, no matter how high their position, as soon as their manipulations came to light. The Whitney case, in which only a few weeks passed between the Exchange's discovery of his embezzlement and his commitment to a long term in Sing Sing, is dramatic proof of this.

The Exchange's new ruling requiring brokers to provide their customers with understandable statements of financial condition, is simply one of the many steps that have been voluntarily taken to place security dealings on the highest conceivable ethical basis.

Big Business Serves The Little Fellow

Life insurance has been called "the most democratic of industries."

That is a justified description. For life insurance is primarily designed for the man of small or moderate means, rather than the man of wealth with a wide diversity of investments. To the ordinary man, in a great many cases, life insurance offers the only safe means of creating a nest, assuring economic security in old age, and making certain that his children will be educated and his family provided for in case of his death.

Life insurance is big business serving the little fellow. That is why 64,000,000 Americans own life insurance policies with the staggering face value of $110,000,000,000.

A Record Of Sound Agricultural Financing

An outstanding example of successful agricultural marketing cooperation is provided by the dairymen's League Cooperative Association of New York. The League recently announced that its members and other holders of its securities will be refunded $3,100,000 in the immediate future—even though these securities are not due for redemption for several years. This marks the fourth time the League has called in certificates issued by the League, $35,500,000 worth have been redeemed.

Other cooperatives can doubtless show similar records of financial success. The established marketing co-ops are real business organizations, working on business principles. Failures have been exceedingly few. They are a relatively new influence in agricultural life—but they have passed the experimental stage, and proven their soundness.

Save Our Standard Of Living

Rallying to the defense of the American standard of living, an editorial in a recent issue of Collier's magazine tellingly assails a proposal of an ultra-radical federal anti-chain store bill as "another political effort to destroy national markets and to make business local rather than national."

Under this bill, a company would be forced to pay a tax of $1,000 a store for all stores in excess of 500—and this would then be multiplied by the entire number of states in which a chain operates. It is obvious that no large chain could continue to exist if this law is passed—the total tax would run far into the tens of millions annually. Collier's states that the bill's sponsors "predict that the chains would be broken up within two years after its enactment." Their purpose is destruction—complete and final—of a system of distribution that has been of untold benefit to both producer and consumer.

Collier's opposes this measure because of its effect on the American standard of living. As it says, "The approach of Congress to proposals such as this bill is purely political. Whether consumers get better service or worse service, whether prices are higher or lower under one system or another, is distinctly outside the range of political interest. Sometime somebody will have to do some clear thinking and plain talking if our high American standard of living is to be preserved, restored or raised. Governments can destroy what we already possess but up to now no government has raised any people's standard of living."

The passage of this bill would inevitably result in higher prices to the consumer, or the establishment of great super-markets that would be destructive of independent merchants. It would restrict markets of farmers, throw men out of work and destroy a great source of normal taxes. It is an outstanding example of "business baiting" legislation which is so largely responsible for continued business depression in America.

Will You Be One?

Tomorrow will be a fateful day—in fact the last day—for a lot of people on our streets and highways. Will you be one of them? Whether you are or not, this is what will happen:

If tomorrow is an average day, 80 Americans will leave home in their automobiles, some to ride only a few blocks to work, others on a long trip; no matter what their intended destination—they will not come back.

And 57 others will step into a street or onto a highway to be run down by an automobile and killed.

Some of these 137 will be killed instantly, while others will die slowly and in agony. Besides those killed outright or fatally hurt, 325 others will have their bodies crushed and broken in varying degrees, many crippled for life.

This is only one day's toll, caused almost entirely by accidents which might have been avoided by the exercise of a little caution and common sense. Every day of 1938 will show approximately the same ghastly result of carelessness.

In 1937, automobile deaths reached 40,300, and injuries 1,221,090. Does that mean anything to you? Will you be one to swell the list during 1938? Think it over.

The Machine Age

Those who blame machines for causing unemployment may be right in certain specific instances, but only temporarily, because new inventions in the long run tend to create more employment and a better standard of living.

At the recent Congress of Industry in New York City the machine age was defended by three of the world's most eminent scientists—Dr. Edward R. Weidlein, president of the American Chemical Society; Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Dr. Robert A. Millikan, president of the California Institute of Technology.

All three agreed that scientific development and invention are necessary to industrial progress, and all rejected the idea that labor-saving devices destroy jobs. Dr. Compton expressed the general view of the scientists when he said:

"The automobile, communication, chemical, public utility, railroad and modern food industries stand out as examples of what science can do in creating employment. Research in pure science, followed by invention and engineering development, have produced these results."

MAKING GOOD IN COLLEGE—

This week the splendid work and accomplishments of two of Chilton County's young people attending different colleges are brought to our attention. Chilton County furnishes many students who have made and are making commendable and outstanding records in their various studies and college activities. The two students we mention this week are Miss Jane Billingsley and John Ezell. Jane is a Junior at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, and is the daughter of Mrs. Claude Billingsley of Verbena and formerly of Thorby. She attended the Thorby Institute and her record there was one to be proud of. She was one of the top ranking students and graduated from this institution at the head of her class. And now since her enrollment at Auburn she has continued her excellent rating in her studies there. Recently she was awarded a fellowship in the Furman-Ralston Laboratories of St. Louis. One student from each major college in the South is awarded this fellowship. Miss Billingsley received the one from Auburn. She is a member of two honorary societies—Theta Epsilon, which is a Home Economics society, and the Sphinx Society, a Woman's Honor Society. Thorby Institute and Chilton County is proud of Jane.

John Ezell, son of Rev. and Mrs. S.J. Ezell, of Clanton, has been one of the top ranking students at the Wake Forest College, Wake Forest, N.C. This is a Baptist College for young men. Since enrolling there his record has been one to be proud of. The biography of young Ezell recently appeared in the annual publication of the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. He is a member of several of the leading societies there and holds offices in some. For the biography of a student to appear in this publication he or she must be outstanding in extra-curricular activities. One phase of work in which John is very active is the Sunday School work at the College. He is Superintendent of the College Sunday School.

THE RETURNS—

It was right amusing to glance through our bunch of exchange weekly newspapers from over the state last week. When the results of a major election come in, it is one edition of the weekly press that carries practically the same headlines. Refined down, we'll say this heading fits the press of last week: "Dixon Vote Near Majority." As Editor Cody Hall of the Alexander City Outlook puts it, "ape off the mud, and let's start again."

MISS SMITHERMAN—

We received with deep regret the news of the death of our County Health Nurse, Miss Irene Smitherman. Miss Smitherman took part in all the leading progressive activities in Clanton. She worked for the welfare of Clanton and Chilton County, and had only recently been granted a leave of absence so that she might even better prepare herself for her work, so that she might even render a greater service to Chilton County, Clanton and Chilton County needs people like her, and she will be sorely missed here—in her work and as a civic-minded young woman. To her grief-stricken relatives we offer our condolence. May the fact that her life, although brought to an end so early, was spent for the betterment of mankind, be to them a consolation.

TO THOSE CONCERNED—

Will the lady, or ladies, who took the coin purse containing ten dollars and the owner's drivers license, from the purse in one of Clanton's dry goods stores last Saturday afternoon, please mail same to the Chilton County News at once to avoid embarrassment and trouble. It will be returned to the owner, who is a saleslady in the store, and who is anxious to get same back. If mailed in at once, identity will be kept secret, otherwise it will not.

THE NEW PASTOR—

Clanton is getting ready to welcome Rev. and Mrs. Oscar A. Davis. Mr. Davis was called recently as pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church. They will arrive to assume their duties soon. Rev. Davis has been attending the Louisville Seminary, where he graduated with honors. Mrs. Davis will have charge of the women's religious activities. She is the former Miss Eunice Long, and was known throughout the country for her work in the W.M.U. Although the Clanton Baptist Church reluctantly gives up Rev. and Mrs. Ezell, they in turn extend a warm welcome to the new pastor and his wife.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

A prominent clergyman in New England was called to conduct the funeral of a young lady who had died unexpectedly. As he entered the home he met the pastor of the mission church and met the preacher where the family attended church and of him he asked, "Was Mary a Christian?" To his surprise the pastor came into the expression of the minister as he confessed, "Three weeks ago I felt a strong impression to speak to Mary about her soul but I did not and I am sure that I do not know." He met the Sunday School teacher of the young lady, but that just a week before. Her reply was that she had a strong impression to speak to her two weeks before her death and did not and she did not know. He went to the girl's mother and asked, "Was Mary a Christian?" The mother broke down and wept as she confessed that just a week before her death that she had a strong impression to speak to Mary about her soul, but she failed to do so and she did not know. Could anything be more pathetic? The Holy Spirit was speaking to those individuals, but they did not heed. Better listen and act when God speaks to you. A soul may be in the balance.

One day Jesus came face to face with a host of demons and they began at once to cry, "Let Us Alone." Did Jesus obey their biddings? No. He dealt with them according to their merits. He cast them out and sent them scurrying to their dens of misery. To day gamblers, road house keepers, whiskey sellers, whiskey drinkers, Sabbath breakers are screaming at the words of their voices, "Let us alone." Shall we turn our backs? Shall we let them alone? Shall we leave these devourers of human happiness and these devourers of human souls to continue their destruction of life? Human redemption has always come at a high price, but we are not going to let the demons of society alone. Some good people may even have to go to the cross, but all such will go with high honor gathering about their brow. Suppose that the church should leave the world in the hands of the underworld and let all wickedness alone. Please tell me if life would be worth living.

No cultured man or woman would call up a friend over the telephone and talk all the time without interruption and then hang up and not listen for a word in reply. When we call up our friends we speak to them and then listen for them to speak to us. Courtesy gives each party the right to speak and to listen. How do you repay? Do you not call up God and begin a one-sided conversation? You tell Him all about your troubles all about what you want and what you are anxious for Him to do for you, and then you hang up the receiver and never allow God to say a word to you. It is well for us when we pray for the salvation of souls, the building up of God's Kingdom, for us to just hush and listen to God about the matter. He might be wanting us to tell Him do the thing for which we are praying. When you call up God in heaven, you talk to Him, but be courteous enough to be silent and let God talk to you.

Late one afternoon I laid my book on my lap and sat in the twilight in meditation. The room grew dark rapidly. The lad of my heart knew that I was in the room and after it was too dark for him to play in the yard he came running into the room expecting to find me. He looked around in the room and called, "Daddy." I knew I could not see me and so to find out what he would do I did not reply. I waited a moment and called a bit louder, "Daddy." I sat perfectly still. In a wall of distress he cried, "Daddy, Daddy!" I could wait no longer and he came rushing into my arms. I sometimes wonder if God does not test us to see if we really want Him. We speak to Him so often with such indifference. Do we really want God? When we call to Him out of the anguish of the soul, He never fails to open His arms for our reception.

In Egypt they were building a monument to a worthy hero. The stones used were large and very heavy. The last boulder was in hand and when it was being lifted into position by the machinery, it came up to within an inch or two of its resting place and there it stopped. The workmen tried every way to lift it the remaining distance, but all in vain. In the crowd standing there was a stranger, but he was a man of experience and he shouted to the foreman, "Freuden, wet your ropes, soak your ropes in water." This was done and in a few moments the ropes began to make a groaning noise as they drew up and the boulder was lifted into position. Often do we reach the limit of human strength. We make our plans and then do all we can to carry these plans into perfection, but we find that we do not reach the mark. Then it is often that the Holy Spirit, the power of God, comes about us to do what we are not able to do. The drawing power of God will lift us over many a difficulty. Man's best, plus God's help is equal to efficiency.

Chester Wagner of Iowa has registered his 1925 model car for another year. Wagner boasts that the antiquated engine has never failed on the road. W. Y. Keel Thanks Voters For Support

Editor, Chilton County News:

Please give me a small space in your valuable paper to express my appreciation to my friends who supported me in the May 3rd Primary. I want to say to those who didn't see fit to support me that they have my good will. Since we have two good men who possibly can accomplish more than I could, I decline any run-off on June 14. I entered the race clean, I clock my campaign the same way.

I shall put forth every effort to elect the Democratic Ticket in full in the November election.

"Yours very truly,
W. Y. KEEL.

ALABAMA MORTALITY RATE DECLINES, BUT STILL HIGH

Although Alabama's maternal mortality rate has declined by more than 26 percent since 1914, it is still higher than the rate for the United States as a whole and also higher than those for many other states. Dr. J. N. Baber, State Health Officer, pointed out today.

"In many parts of the State, and especially in the rural sections, large numbers of mothers do not have the benefit of proper medical and nursing care before, during and after the birth of their babies," he said. "The records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health show that slightly more than one white woman out of every eight, and more than three-fourths of all colored women, who gave birth to babies in the State in 1936 were not attended by physicians at that time."

The State Health Officer urged prospective mothers to place themselves under the supervision of physicians as early in pregnancy as possible and to continue to receive medical care until after the birth of their babies.

FARMERS ADVISED TO PLANT SOYBEANS SOON

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers planning to grow soybeans for seed production this year should endeavor to get them planted before the first of June, advises J.C. Lowery, extension agronomist. Oototans, Laredos, and Mammoth Yellows are the most important varieties that should be grown, he says.

Mr. Lowery said farmers can save several thousand dollars annually by growing their own seed and at the same time be building up the soil. Soybeans are also good summer legumes to be turned under as a grazing crop for livestock, the agronomist points out. For best seed production Mr. Lowery advises fertilizing the beans with basic slag or superphosphate.

Tennessee has been paving her roads. Georgia has been paving her roads. Florida has been paving her roads. So has Mississippi been paving her roads. But Alabama last year paved 96 miles more roads than all four of these states combined. It paved more roads than any other State in the Union except Michigan and Colorado. The latter State paved her roads with asphalt derived from a bond issue. Alabama's roads were paved without a bond issue. The funds being derived from the surplus of the automobile license tag tax, and the surplus of the gasoline tax, after meeting the debt service on bonds issued several years ago, and from funds derived from the Federal government.

The death rate in Alabama in 1935 was lower than that in any other State East of the Mississippi river except North Carolina and was only three-tenths of one per cent above the rate in that State.

There are more blind people in Illinois than in any other State. New York comes second. Pennsylvania third and Ohio fourth. Missouri has the greatest percentage of her population on the blind list. The total number in the United States in 1930 was 63,489, the number of deaf mutes was 57,084.

He Looks Rough

THE lineman looks rough. That's because he has a rough job—it must be done in all kinds of weather. Even though he looks rough, he does his job smoothly and efficiently, regardless of weather.

"Because he does his job well, dependable electric service is yours, and because of him and others like him whom we are proud to call our employees, weather disturbances impair your electric service infrequently and you enjoy a swift restoration of it after serious storms.

"Linemen go out on midnight trouble calls in the worst of storms. That is a part of their job. They are proud of their record of keeping your cheap electric service dependable.

"When the wind shrieks, and the lightning flashes, and the thunder rumbles, you take it as a matter of course (as you should), that if trouble occurs, the linemen and his buddies will be 'Johnny on the spot' to keep cheap electricity always 'Reddy' for you."

CLUB WOMEN MAKE RUG FOR THIRTY-SIX CENTS

Mrs. D.C. Sims of the Rock Springs home demonstration club in Chambers County reports that members of her club have made from one to three rugs each for their homes at the extremely low cost of 36 cents per rug.

"To me rug making is one of the most interesting projects the rural women have ever studied," reports Mrs. Sims. "Our home demonstration agent buys the loops in large quantities. Get All the Profit

TOP DRESS with POTASH

WHEN cotton begins to rust, profits begin to go. Save those profits by using from 50-100 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre in a nitrogen-potash top-dresser applied immediately after chopping. Experiments have shown that where potash was applied in the top-dresser the value of the crop was increased $15 to $25 per acre by larger yields, better grade, and longer staple.

The use of potash to control rust and reduce wilt also produces larger bolls that open normally and make the crop easier to pick, thus reducing harvesting costs and increasing profits.

Consult your county agent or experiment station about the fertility of your soil. If you did not apply enough potash at planting time to control rust and reduce wilt, see your fertilizer dealer or manufacturer about adding the equivalent of 50-100 lbs. of muriate of potash per acre in a nitrogen-potash top-dresser.

Write us for further information and literature on how to fertilize your crops.

MT. PLEASANT 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Mt. Pleasant 4-H Club met at the schoolhouse, Wednesday, May 4 1938, at 3:00 o'clock P.M. with a total of twenty members present.

The meeting began with a baseball game which we all enjoyed. After the ball game Mr. Ivey gave us some information on what we must do in order to be eligible to enter camp this Summer, and for us to keep our record books up to date and start our project as soon as possible if we haven't started them already.

Mr. Ivey then carried us to the field and pulled up a few bunches of hairy vetch and showed us the nodules which contains nitrogen. We did not get a good view of the nodules because the vetch had already been turned under and it had begun to mature.

Leaving the field we went to the dairy barn of Mr. Monte Paul's place and saw some Guernsey cows which he milks. We then went out into the pasture and saw the sire which was also a Guernsey. Mr. Ivey showed us how a good dairy cow should be shaped.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again next month, so all you 4-H Club boys come to our meeting next month and bring your record book if you have any problems to solve, also come with your baseball outfits so we might play some more ball. Bring someone with you so we can make this year's club meetings and club work better than ever before.

—Will Porter Rush.

MAY 30-JUNE 4 DATES OF NATIONAL COTTON WEEK

Alabama farmers have been busy the last few weeks planting and cultivating their 1938 cotton crop. At the same time plans have been going forward for more than 127,000,000 American citizens to rally to the cause of cotton, the South's principal crop. During National Cotton Week, May 30 through June 4, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

This week is not a sales event, says Director Davis, but a buying opportunity. The success of this week in moving already manufactured goods and reducing the surplus of our last year's record breaking crop will go far towards recovery.

From the time the cotton farmer plants his seed until finished cloth enters the primary channels, cotton provides the livelihood for practically one out of every ten persons in the country. The surplus of the 1937 crop, unless something can be done to increase consumption of cotton, will seriously hamper a tenth of the population in their earning and spending of money, Mr. Davis points out.

Mrs. G. D. Mims died April 28, 1938. A loved one from us is gone, but never will be forgotten. She leaves five sons and three daughters to survive her going: Mr. H. L. Mims, Mr. W. H. RURAL WOMEN PREPARE FOR CANNING SEASON

Canning season for Alabama's rural women is just around the corner. Some have perhaps already started by canning dewberries, strawberries and other early-ripening fruit, according to Miss Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent.

Miss Johnston says many thousands of home demonstration club women are planning to provide their families with a varied and balanced diet next winter by canning a great variety of fruits and vegetables during the late spring, summer and fall. Some of these women, however, are not thinking as seriously about their gardens, the source of so many vegetables for canning, as they should.

The home garden and the canning program should be planned together," she says, "because the garden will furnish so many vegetables during the growing season and a surplus to can for next winter."

During 1937 Alabama women and 4-H club girls preserved 2,337,746 quarts of fruits, vegetables and meats, cured 2,176,571 pounds of meat and dried and crystallized 22,981 pounds of fruits and vegetables. The total value of all these products was estimated at $1,756,012.92.

The value of the home gardens last year, both for use as green vegetables and for canning, is estimated to be $2,271,900.

Miss Johnston advises club women and others to contact their home demonstration agents regarding a canning budget which gives the correct amount of food to be conserved to meet the nutritional needs of the family.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written by
F. C. Stephens, Publisher of The Southern Democrat, Ontario

The Privilege License Department of the State Tax Commission is delegated with the authority to enforce the collection on the licenses levied under schedules 1 to 154, both inclusive, of the Revenue Acts of 1935, with the exception of schedules 31, 46, 91, 94, 109 113 and 138.

The Privilege Licenses Department has under its supervision a license inspector in each of the sixty-seven counties of the State who are assisted by four field agents, whose duty it is to spend several days throughout the fiscal year in each county, instructing the license inspectors as assisting them in citing persons who are delinquent and who for diver reasons are overlooked or neglected by the local inspectors.

At the end of each fiscal year, the Privilege License Department compiles a recapitulation of the licenses collected during that fiscal year.

This recapitulation shows that 82,246 licenses were issued for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1937 as compared with 55,732 for the year ending September 30, 1935. The collections for the use of the State for the past fiscal year amounted to $810,316.00 as compared with $717,890 for the year 1934-35.

This Department also collected last year for the use of the counties -404,206.

This recapitulation shows an increase in revenues collected of $92,425 denoting the fact that in a number of businesses and occupations the licenses were reduced by the 1935 Revenue Act.

The greatest reduction is shown in the licenses on automobile garage repair shops, dealers in automobile accessories and retailers in cigarettes and tobacco, and the licenses on gasoline stations. The decrease in the licenses saved the operators of these businesses $128,719, as compared with what they had to pay under the old revenue law.

This Department has to check all reports that are sent in by the Probate Judges and where the results indicate a falling-off in receipts the local license inspector and the field men are instructed to make an investigation.

This, briefly, is a few of the many duties required of the Privilege License Department.

When Mrs. George Baker of Bend, Ore., viewed a captive wilder recently the animal leaped at her throat and tore off two fox heads she was wearing as a necklace.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN MAKING FINE RECORD

John Ezell Has Outstanding Record As Student At Wake Forest College

One of Clanton's young men, John Samuel Ezell, who is attending the Wake Forest Baptist College for young men, Wake Forest, N. C., has gained recognition as one of the Country's most brilliant students attending college today.

JOHN EZELL

He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Ezell, of Clanton. Ezell, of Clanton, recently resigned as pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church after serving fifteen years in that capacity.

The biography of young Ezell recently appeared in the annual publication of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." This organization of recognition of students is a noted organization devoid of politics, initiation fees, and dues. It cost students nothing for his or her biography to appear in this publication. Students are selected for their record in extra-curricular activities, athletic and future possibilities, and not because of a scholarship record alone.

John is a graduate of the Chilton County High School. After graduation he entered the Wake Forest College, a Baptist college for young men. Major honors he has received since matriculation are: President of Epsilon Lambda Literary Society, President of Statesmen's Club, President of Baptist Student Union, Golden Bough, Student Assistant in Social Science, Founder's Day Orator, Junior Orator's medal, and Senior Representative of The Student Council.

Minor honors he has received are: Superintendent of College Sunday School Department, Third highest in Freshman Chemistry, Secretary of Statesmen's Club, First Vice-President of Literary Society and First Vice-President of Baptist Student's Union.

He is a member of the Kappa Psi Chapter, National Educational Fraternity, Chi Eta Tau, Philosophical Fraternity, Golden Bough, and Wake Forest Honor Fraternity. His hobbies are wood-carving, carpentering and general handy man. He plans to do graduate work in history.

IT'S THE POULTRYMAN'S CHOICE!

MORE CHICKS WERE FED ON STARTENA LAST YEAR THAN ANY OTHER STARTING FEED!

OUR'S TOO!

THERE MUST BE A REASON. In fact, Purina Chick Startena couldn't keep on leading year after year unless there were several reasons.

The whole answer is simply this: poultry raisers have found that Startena does a better job of raising chicks than any other chick starter on the market. When they feed Startena, they get better livability, bigger chicks, healthier chicks, and other qualities that they can't get with ordinary chick feeds.

Stop by and see us the next time you're in town. You'll like the new free Purina poultry booklet we have for you.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think
—BILLY SMITH

Reading the compilation of election returns in the race for Congressmen, we were delighted to find that Pete Martin, a splendid vote and played a part in sending him back to prevent this district in the seventy-sixth Congress of the United States. Having this gentleman as we do, we know that he will remember this excellent vote from Chilton County which brought it from sixth place up to third place.

The continued effort of business men to keep Clanton abreast of the times, build the city and make it more attractive is being evidenced by three programs of improvement in three places of business here. We note that Olie DeLoach has announced a vast improvement program for Clanton Cash Store No. 2 and also that that store will soon become a most modern shopping place for groceries. The installation of a cafeteria in the Bus Station will enable Clantonians to boast of having such a modern eating place and remodeling and improving of the building across from the Murray-Bell Hardware has brightened up that city block. Credit for this goes to J. Watts Moore and to Miss Callie Watts, who will move her hat shop into one of the buildings.

The efficiency of the staff of nurses at the Central Alabama Hospital is right up to par as usual. Under the splendid supervision of Miss Annie Gardner, this institution deserves the continued support of the people of this county who may be in need of such services.

Enjoyed a visit the other day with good friend, Walter Broadhead, former Chiltonian but now a well known business man of Birmingham. Rating one of the larger furniture stores in the Magic City, the Broadhead-Klimer Furniture Co. Mr. Broadhead has risen in business circles which makes one proud to be able to visit with him when in Birmingham. He comes from one of our county's prominent families and we envy Birmingham on having a citizen of his type.

Unfortunately the program in observance of National Air Mail Week, set for last Sunday had been postponed due to instructions from the post office department. But, programs of that kind still keep well and Postmaster Hoses Downs is ready to carry out plans and program for Clanton's first air mail service this afternoon when Dr. V. J. Grass will pilot the plane carrying the mail.

Reading and writing about the graduating classes of the high schools of the county, we reflect on the time several years ago when we were looking down to the high school, when our mind jumps to the period we entered the working and business world. Clanton, "We remember, too, how we wished we had been more attentive to our instructors in schools and how we were so sorry we didn't learn more. But, we have found so many, any times that problems to be solved are to be solved from books. And as we continue in these present years we have fully realized our schooling didn't end at high school and we have intentions whatever of leaving any impression with this year's graduates at the world is before them calmly waiting for the future which should be easily accomplished with the mental tools they received in school.

Alabama's progressive Governor, Mr. Graves, we extend congratulations to the excellent condition of the treasury of the state. His ability to keep the people's money in the top rank and at the same time produce more improvements during his present term in the state has been in many years, more than our mind can comprehend. But, we know the figures are there; we know the roads are there; we know the attractive and stately buildings are there. So, to a brilliant Alabamian, our Governor, we offer our hat.

Clanton's well known Mell Martin is to continue the Ferguson Directors Association that he is one of the state's outstanding morticians. His election for the ninth time to membership of that organization more than makes us feel that he is one of the best morticians we have ever known since he also serves as the most efficient secretary of Clanton's Kiwanis Club. Our congratulations to Mr. Martin.

BIBLE SCHOOL OF METHODISTS TO START 23RD

Children And Grown-Ups Are Urged To Attend Vacation School

Here is an invitation that we want every child in Clanton and nearby country, regardless of denomination, to accept, if they are between the ages of four and twelve. Come and let's have a happy time together in the basement of the Methodist Church from eight to ten-thirty. The school begins on May 23 and continues through the 3rd of June. There will be no school on Saturday. We have planned so many features that will delight the child—A story hour at the opening, a health period, a safety talk, song service, Rhythm band, handicraft, manual training, supervised recreation, and the study hour, which will be worked in so skillfully that you will never know you are in school at all. At the close of the school a pageant will be given on Friday night in which all the children of the school will take part. The parents will be cordially invited and urged to come. The various articles made in the school will be on exhibition at this time.

Following is a schedule for the vacation school.

Karl Landgrebe Will Speak To Kiwanians

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton will be honored tonight by the presence of one of the outstanding business men in Alabama. Mr. Landgrebe is also a most interesting speaker. He will be accompanied to Clanton tonight by L. C. Turner, assistant secretary-treasurer of the State Chamber of Commerce.

GIBBONS GARAGE, THORSBY, IS DOING EXPERT BODY WORK

The well known Gibbons Garage, of Thorsby, is announcing this week that they are now doing expert body and fender repair work on all makes of automobiles.

The Gibbons Garage, located on the Birmingham Highway, has enjoyed a splendid business and also states in an advertisement in this issue that they are specializing in auto painting. A good stock of used parts and tires will be found there.

CITY SURVEY ON SANITATION IS COMPLETED

Findings, Recommendations Of Health Officer Will Be Given Council

A survey of the sanitation in all houses within the corporate limits of Clanton has just been completed by Mr. H. Bucklew, county health officer. It was revealed in a report from the county health department this week. Tabulation of the results show that about 30 per cent of the houses have methods of excreta disposal which are unsanitary, it was stated by the county health officer. "This includes," said Dr. Sturkie, "95 which have standard privies which are badly in need of repair and 28 which have water flush toilets but are not using the city water."

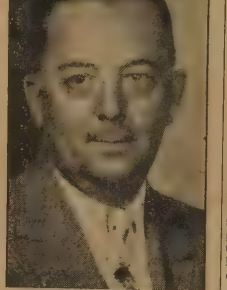

Complete findings of the survey were as follows:

- Houses with sewer connections—413.
- Houses with septic tanks—33.
- Houses with standard pit privies—290.
- Houses with surface privies—81.
- Houses with no toilet facilities—56.
- Houses with sewerage into dry ditches—4.

A detailed report of the survey with a spot map showing the type of sanitation in each home will be presented to the City Council with recommendations for the adoption of a city ordinance which will approve the problem in each home from both an economic and sanitary viewpoint it was pointed out by Dr. Sturkie. A similar plan was outlined by the health department to the City Council of Thorsby which adopted the ordinance at its meeting April 7th.

HARDY WRITES TO VOTERS AND EXPRESSES HIS APPRECIATION

"To My Friends and To The Voters of Chilton County:

"In the recent primary election you made it possible for me to remain in the race for tax collector of your county. For this I am deeply grateful and also express my appreciation for your splendid vote and influence, which placed me in the runoff on June 14th.

"I shall make every effort to get over the county and see you and ask you to continue your support in my behalf and also give me the nomination for the office in the second primary. I do not intend to shirk my duties as your sheriff in order to secure the nomination as I do not believe any of you would expect me to do that. "J. R. HARDY"

C. B. Cox Issues A Statement To Voters

"To the Voters of Chilton County:

"I regret very much that I have not been able to get around to express my appreciation for the good vote I received in the recent primary election. I appreciate these votes for several reasons one of which is that I know they were sincere, and I want my friends in the county to remember that if in the future I can be of service to them they have only to call on me.

"I would like to have served the county as its representative in the Legislature for another term but, it seems I will not be so fortunate. In the past it has been a great pleasure to me to have been able to help many people of my county and I shall always remember your kindness.

"Respectfully,

"C. B. COX."

Brilliant Banquet Of Music Appreciation Club Marks Tenth Year Of Its Existence

Commemorating the tenth anniversary of its organization, the Music Appreciation Club of Clanton, staged one of the most brilliant banquets Tuesday night held in Clanton for some time.

The dining room of The Thomson Hotel was arranged especially to fit the appropriate and entertaining program of the affair. The long tables, arranged banquet style, held long burning tapers which furnished the only light for the affair.

Special decorations of flowers, including an attractive small bouquet of natural flowers and hand-made, made the scene a most pleasant one as the thirty-nine members and their guests assembled around the table, finding their seats by small place cards.

At each place a typewritten jingle was placed and as each person was introduced by Mrs. Reid Mullins, who acted as toastmaster, the jingle was read. Each "jingle" was well worded to fit the person at whose plate it was placed. This added much merriment to the well planned program.

Lancasters Making Many Improvements For The Patrons Of Place

M. R. LANCASTER

Clanton's first cafeteria will hold its formal opening on Friday of this week when Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Lancaster, operators of the popular Bus Station, of Clanton will be prepared to serve foods in cafeteria style.

CAFETERIA TO BE OPENED BY BUS STATION

Taking over the operation of this well known business establishment on July 1, 1936, Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster have along with Clanton seen the business grow into one of the most popular eating places in the city. At the time they assumed ownership of the place, it was prepared only to serve sandwiches and light lunches.

In November 1936, they installed a most modern ice cream plant manufacturing all flavors and furnishing parties, picnics and homes with ice cream that is frozen in such a manner as to allow it to remain away from ice for several hours before eating. The first machine had a storage capacity of only forty gallons but now, Mr. Lancaster (Continued to Back Page)

Typical Alabama Motorist Government's No. 1 Boy Friend

A statement released the other day by Mr. M. Hearne, Secretary, Alabama Pet-Industries Committee, Montgomery, Ala., discloses that the "Typical Alabama Motorist," whose income is less than $1,000 a year, is the No. One boy friend of Federal, State, City and County governments.

According to Hearne, special motor vehicle taxes produced in 1937, $3,885,270, for the Federal coffers, $10,651,887.58 to Alabama, and $9,215,889.26 to the cities and counties of Alabama.

"The total to all governments was $23,753,046.85, the highest tax bill the Alabama motorist has yet been called upon to pay."

"Of this amount, $6,617,792.76 was contributed to general governmental functions. This contribution to strictly class taxation was in addition to the general taxes paid by him the same as by every other citizen who does not pay any of the special motor vehicle taxes."

"The 'Typical Alabama Motorist' contributed 34.7 percent of all State tax revenues in 1937. Of his total special tax bill, 27.8 percent was used for general purposes."

Savings Bank Life Insurance

Periodically there is agitation for the issuance of life insurance by savings banks, where the man wanting a policy may go in, look over a list of contracts, make his selection and complete his purchase.

There is probably nothing against this system of issuing life insurance—if adequate legal safeguards for the protection of the buyer are erected. But it is inconceivable that the American people would have ever purchased $120,000,000,000 of life insurance protection, as they have, in "over the counter" buying.

Savings bank life insurance has been legal in Massachusetts for a great many years—yet the total is extremely small in comparison to that of the regular stock and mutual companies doing business in that state. It is the agency system, under which men trained in underwriting call upon the prospective buyer, that is responsible for our being the best insured of all the world's peoples. No other system can hold a candle to it.

Safety Rules For Boys And Girls

As a part of May Day-Child Health Day exercises in your school or community, The Progressive Farmer for May suggests six rules of safety prepared by a county sheriff which all boys and girls should practise:

1. Do not ride with strangers.
2. Do not get on the left-hand side of the automobile when it is stopped off the road when you are in a vehicle. Give them plenty of

3. Do not stand or highway until you see no cars coming from

4. Do not cross an intersection when there is plenty of

5. Do not go for help quickly

6. Keep clear of the wreck. Let grown people give aid to the injured.

Right Road To Accident Prevention

The sixty-one stock casualty insurance and surety companies comprising the membership of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives, have just announced an extensive program for accident control, to be carried out through the National Conservation Bureau.

The companies have subscribed funds to be spent in the study and prevention of all classifications of accidents, notably industrial and automobile. Research in the control of occupational diseases and the development of techniques to control home accidents are also contemplated. The Bureau plans to cooperate with Federal, state and municipal authorities, and with other agencies in the field of accident prevention and control.

A number of major projects are to be undertaken. Two "laboratory cities" are to be selected for experimental and test work in traffic accident control. Forty thousand copies of "The Handbook of Industrial Safety Standards," a manual of standard safety practices for periodic inspections of motor vehicles by states and cities is to be developed with the aid of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators. The Bureau will work jointly with the International Association of Chiefs of Police in publishing a practical handbook on traffic engineering for police. Safe driving instruction for children of licensable age will be promoted, through the distribution of a high school textbook, "Man and the Motor Car."

This extensive program is a scientific approach to the difficult accident control problem. We have found that sporadic safety campaigns are useless, and that monetary enthusiasms produce no lasting good. Safety work that gets results must be carried on quietly and steadily, under expert supervision, year in and year out. The insurance industry's new program deserves the widest public cooperation and support.

Facts About The L. & N.

The value of the L. & N. Railroad, as fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the recent rate case, is $453,000,000, declares the road's president, James B. Hill, in the May L. & N. Employees' Magazine. He goes on to point out that the L. & N.'s bonded indebtedness is $221,648,530—less than half the value used by the I. C. C.—and that the average interest rate on these bonds for 1937 was 4.16 per cent, or 2.03 per cent on the I. C. C.'s valuation. In the face of these figures, Mr. Hill declares, it cannot be justly said that the bonded debt of the L. & N., or the interest rate, is excessive, or can be a sound reason for its inability to operate profitably at the present time.

Referring to the L. & N.'s deficit of one million dollars over the first four months of 1938, in spite of necessary drastic force reduction, Mr. Hill places the entire difficulty on the fact that it's freight traffic for that period was 23 per cent less than for the same period of 1937, while higher wages, taxes and cost of materials have increased the road's expenses by several million dollars.

Needless Destruction

The American people are continuing to needlessly destroy property, investments, jobs and opportunities, with fire.

The total estimated direct fire loss for the first three months of this year was in excess of $83,000,000. If indirect loss is added, the real total is several hundred millions for this 90-day period—indirect loss is by far the greater part of fire waste.

What this waste means to the country should be understood by everyone. It means that factories are being destroyed—thus throwing people of productive employment and reducing purchasing power. It means that tax-paying property is being taken off the tax-rolls by fire—thus increasing the burden that must be borne by all other tax-paying property. It means that thousands of human beings are being cremated alive annually—because we are careless, thoughtless and ignorant when it comes to controlling fire.

We have no alibi. In no other civilized country is the per capita fire loss as great as in the United States. Nowhere else do people take destructive fire for granted, and do so little to prevent it. The wonder is not that our fire loss is so disgracefully high, but that it is not higher still.

Whether this waste shall continue is a problem that must be put squarely up to every citizen. The majority of all fires can be prevented. A little knowledge, a few minutes of time—that is all that is needed. Are you willing to give that little effort in order to help stop the inexcusable human and material waste now caused by fire?

"You cannot win national stability by war. You cannot confirm democracy with hate. American plunges into Europe and Asia will not, unless experience lies, yield gains to the world or to the U. S. The one faint promise is that here in the U. S. a zone of sanity may be laid out, a bulwark for democracy in the midst of madness."—Hubert Herring.

We Observe

By Bonnie Hand

DURING SUMMER—

The business hours of Clanton this week began their annual custom of closing their doors one afternoon a week. We're mighty glad to see the employees of these stores getting this well deserved vacation during the hot summer months, however, there is one thing we dislike about this closing, but that is no fault of the stores, as printers and newspapermen are noted for being on the receiving end of the bad breaks. It so happens that the Chilton County News is in the process of being printed and mailed out every Wednesday afternoon so that lets our side out, as this takes all hands and the cook around here. But then I suppose we might get Friday or Saturday afternoon off, but we like to be with the crowd—rest when they do, and work when they do. But go ahead, you clerks, and enjoy Wednesday afternoon without us; we won't begrudge you this pleasure.

MORE RUMORS—

We've had our ears to the ground here and there and the things we pick up is just interesting. We don't know just how true are some of the things we have been hearing around Clanton, pertaining to what's going to happen, etc., but we wouldn't be surprised if there aren't several of Clanton's young people planning on indulging in one of the oldest customs known to mankind. But why wait until June?—We didn't.

NINTH YEAR—

Our good civic-minded friend, J. Mell Martin, has just been re-elected to serve his ninth year as Secretary of the Alabama Funeral Directors Association. The senior member of the firm of J. Mell Martin & Sons, funeral directors of Clanton, was paid a high tribute by the President of the National organization at their recent convention in Birmingham. And we think the funeral directors of Alabama could place a more qualified man as their secretary and the re-election of Mr. Martin from year to year, proves that they know it, too.

LARGE CLASS—

Well, another class of Seniors are going out from C.C.H.S. this week, and the teachers will be returning to their respective homes for their well-earned vacation. Our congratulation to this year's class of seniors, and to the fine looking bunch of boys and girls too. It's a fine thing to finish high school, but we hope these seniors haven't been disillusioned into thinking life hereafter is just one big primrose path and that their diploma is a passport to the universe. Disillusionment is not intended, but we think that to graduate from high school, or college with a fixed purpose in mind is worth many times the fact that one has "finished," with no purpose in mind.

CANT TELL—

A baseball game is similar to a political campaign—you can't tell how it will go until the last vote is counted or the last man is out. Members of Clanton's newly organized baseball club will vouch that that is the case, after the game they played at Lay Dam last Sunday. When everything looks sure-fire is the time to watch the P's and Q's.

BIG DAY FOR CLANTON—

History will be made today when Dr. V. J. Gragg takes to the air in his plane carrying the first mail from Clanton by air, commemorating the twentieth anniversary of the carrying of mail by air, this being National Air Mail Week. This is a big day in the history of Clanton and we can just imagine the thrill Dr. Gragg will have flying that plane and from a field hearing his name in honor of his interest in aviation, making possible to a great extent the establishing of an airport here.

HERE'S A GOOD ONE—

To Clark Headley, our assistant Printers Devil, goes the credit for this one—and it's a pretty good one we think—Out on Route 5, near Pinedale, W. J. ("Uncle Billy") Headley has had in use for the past thirteen years a system whereby he can know the time of night and not have a very a very long wait after he wakes up. Mr. Headley has three clocks—old clocks, one being something over 50 years. He knows the tone of each clock when it strikes and has them set at twenty minute intervals, one being set twenty minutes fast and one the same slow. The other clock is set on the correct time. If he wakes up during the night and wants to know the time, he never has to wait over twenty minutes before one of them strikes the hour, there being three twenty minutes in an hour. If the clock set fast strikes he knows it by the tone and just subtracts the minutes fast from 60 and he has the time from the hour struck. The same way is applied to the other two. Mr. Headley says that one of the clocks broke a few weeks ago and needs repair, and at the present time he has a twenty-minute wait before one of the two strikes. How's that for an oddity? Mr. Headley is 75 years old.

D. W. Haskew

We are told of a man who sat in front of his fire in meditation. He was alone and did not want to be disturbed. Then there was a loud knock upon his door and a man entered without being invited. At once he began a conversation that was delightful. He talked much of poets, music and artists. Then he went to the piano and played to the joy of the listener. After an hour of pleasant association he arose to go and the man ventured to ask, "And who are you?" For an hour he have been the most delightful caller I have ever had in my house and I want to know your name." The guest was now standing at the door and he politely bowed as he replied, "Sir, did you not know me?" Why I am the man you thought you would make out of yourself twenty years ago." Stop, my friends, and ask yourself this question, "Am I the man or the woman I expected to make out of myself twenty years ago?" You intended then to be full of learning, vivacious, personality and power. You expected to be a charming individual, but what has taken place? Down the way you are going to meet the man you expected to be, and will he be more charming than you are?

From the days of childhood I have heard this proverb, "Oil and water will not mix." When I went away to school one day I decided to test it out in connection with my study of chemistry. I poured some oil into a vessel and then poured the same amount of water. I took a paddle and started stirring. As I beat the water and oil together it seemed that it was mixing, but the very moment that I ceased to beat, the two would separate and be just as distant from each other as if they had never been stirred together. We always know where to find true Christians. When an honest Christian is mixed up with the world, the agitation may be rather testing, but when the agitation ceases, we see the man of God as he comes back to his state of being that is in Christ Jesus. We never have to travel ten miles to find out how true a Christian stands on a moral question. When we have the true elements of the Christian religion we are not going to mix with the world, Christ says, "He that is not for me, is against me." He also says, "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon."

We called at a home for some flower cuttings and plants. The lady carried us into her flower garden and I offered to dig up the plants. She objected and then called to a colored man who was working among the flowers in a distant corner of the yard. I noticed that he was down upon his knees among the flowers and that he arose from his knees to come to our assistance. Kipling says, "O Adam was a gardener and God who made him said that half of a gardener's work is done upon his knees. When we go into a garden to look after the tender plants of the flowers we must spend much of our time upon our knees to be able to give them the care and attention needed. In like manner when we go about the task of cultivating human hearts, if we are going to do a good job we must spend much of our time upon our knees, and from our knees we must go to the work to which we are called. We can only do great service when we go from our knees to the task that is awaiting us."

Some medical students took a horse and buggy and journeyed to a graveyard to get a corpse that they wished to use for dissecting purposes. The story is that after they had refilled the grave that they were thirsty and journeyed to a nearby spring for a drink of water. While they were gone another student who had followed them came out of his hiding place and took the corpse and hid it in the bushes and then stretched himself upon the ground in the place of the dead man. When the medical students arrived they picked up what they thought to be their corpse and hid him down between them in the bushes and started on their journey to the dissecting room. After they had driven quite a distance one said to the other, "Have you noticed how hot this corpse is?" The man between them broke the silence and said, "I guess if you two thieves had been where I had for the past two days you would be hot too." The two men, on hearing this leaped from the buggy and made for the tall timber on both sides of the road. The student in the buggy picked up the reins and drove on to town. He had something to tell the next day that was too good to keep. I have often wondered how hot those souls do get after 2 days after death.

IN MEMORY

In the passing of Mrs. Julia Parrish Taylor, Friday, May 13, there is sorrow in the hearts of those who knew her. With quiet, courageous cooperation she wended her way in a life of service to others.

With unflinching love and loyalty she made herself a tower of strength to her family, church and Sunday School. With a deep and keen appreciation she found joy in the training of children, having been a teacher in Sunday School for many years and a co-worker in the educational force of this state for more than thirty years.

With high and fine ideals she gathered around her many friends and comrades whose friendship she welded with hoops of steel.

We shall not soon find her like again.

J. A. Nivens Thanks Voters For Support

"To the Voters of Chilton County:

"I wish to take this as a means of expressing my thanks to each of you who so gladly and willingly cast your vote for me and so graciously lent of your influence in my behalf during my campaign for the nomination of Sheriff of this county, before the Democratic Primary on the third day of May.

"My being nominated I am sure is not the accomplishment of my efforts alone, as I am sure your cooperation in this matter only made it possible for me to accomplish the nomination.

"I assure you each and every one that I am deeply grateful to you for the confidence you have bestowed in me, and truly hope that I shall retain your confidence as well as all other good Democrats of the County in the future by so discharging my duties as a citizen and officer that when we come to the General Election in the Fall we will be a band of wholehearted cooperative citizens.

"I am happy to state that my opponent in the Primary is an extra high class citizen, this I am sure you, yourselves, learned during his campaign, as it was above reproach.

"I am frank to admit that I was unable to see each of the voters of the county during my Primary campaign. This I am sorry for but I assure you that it is impossible to do this and commit your duties as an officer.

"The taxpayers of the county have schooled me in law enforcement for more than three years, and of course have been paying me all the time, so as I go along from now until the General election I shall try to see as many of you as I possibly can, as well as those other of our good Democratic voters whom I hope and trust we can depend upon to join with us that we may accomplish the happy cooperative band which I have already spoken of.

"Again thanking you for all your kind and helpful services, I am,

Yours, respectfully,

"J. A. NIVENS."

Clanton's Future Outlook, Advancement Is Well Discussed In Article Touching On Air Mail Week Program

EDITOR'S NOTE.—The following article was written by Claud E. Marcus, native of Chilton County, but now from Los Angeles, California. Mr. Marcus is on an extended visit to Clanton and consented to write this splendid discussion on Clanton and its future.

Chilton County's participation in National Air Mail Week will reach a climax this afternoon (Thursday) at 2:30 o'clock when Dr. V. J. Gragg, prominent physician and aviation enthusiast, takes off from the Clanton airport for Montgomery with the first cachet of air mail ever to be dispatched direct by air from the Clanton post office.

When the wheels of Dr. Gragg's trim ship leaves the ground for the Capital City, 41 miles away, epoch making history will be transcribed for the archives of Clanton and Chilton County. A precedent will be set in which every man, woman and child in the County may be justly proud. This historic first flight of air mail from Clanton marks the first time air mail has ever been flown from this Central Alabama metropolis to the four corners of the Nation by an all-air mail route. It marks the first time a citizen of this County has ever held an appointment as Air Mail Pilot. (Dr. Gragg was sworn in a few days ago by Postmaster Hosea F. Downs as a temporary air mail pilot.) It will mark the first time in the history of the Clanton Postoffice that the Clanton postmaster carried its own individual air mail insignia.

These three events alone should be of gigantic importance to Clanton and Chilton County because the "Beginning," or "First Time" in any undertaking for the service of mankind is an important event.

A few days ago, Dr. Gragg complimented this writer by suggesting that he write his impression of the importance of Clanton's and Chilton County's participation in the National Air Mail Week. The thought came at that time that the aids, advancements, discoveries, inventions and devices for the service and succor of humanity are usually conceived in the mind of some individual of individual vision, imagination and faith are usually fostered by some individual or small group possessing creative inspiration, dauntless spirit and courageous tenacity.

It is to such a combination of human attributes that we owe our debt of gratitude for the tremendous benefits of aviation and the air mail service. For had it not been for the inventive genius, unselfish courage and spirit of Dr. Orville Wright, we would have no airplanes today. It was their precedent shattering exploit at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina just thirty three years ago when they flew a mere 120 feet in 12 seconds, the first time in the world's history that man ever left the ground in sustained flight in a power propelled vehicle. These two fearless brothers proved a theory, established a precedent and mirrored a vision which was caught by other pioneers out of which a vital industry was born.

Today, thousands of aeroplanes, giants of the air, crisscross the nation, span the seas and circle the globe, transporting passengers, freight, express and mail with the safety of the horse-drawn vehicle of the last century but at the dazzling speed of hundreds of miles per hour.

Day and night, through good and bad weather, over snow-capped mountains and burning desert sands, across placid seas and hurricane-swept oceans the airmen ride the skies—literally the "World on Wings."

We say the "World on Wings" made possible because Orville and Wilbur Wright had courage, faith, inspiration and tenacity.

No one in Clanton or Chilton County will invent an aeroplane because Dr. V. J. Gragg flies the first air mail from Clanton to Montgomery. But Dr. Gragg; Clanton's postmaster Hosea F. Downs and the other postal officials cooperating in National Air Mail Week are setting an example and mirroring a vision of the opportunities that should grow from Chilton County's participation in the air mail celebration. These opportunities can be made to mean as much proportionately to the social, civic, commercial, agricultural and industrial development of this favored section of Alabama as the Wright Brothers' Kitty Hawk aeroplane flight meant to aviation.

Yes, Clanton and Chilton County's participation in National Air Mail Week can mean proportionately as much, but it will not mean anything unless the Probate Judge and Commissioners, the Mayor and Town Council, Representative in the Legislature, school authorities, other appointed and elected officials, together with the clubs and societies organized for the advancement and development of this county catch a vision and progress reflected by National Air Mail Week and provides the leadership, inspiration and encouragement necessary to interest every citizen in his or her civic and social responsibility as a citizen.

Hundreds of friends in Chilton County know that it is one of the facts of this life that in 25 years, Clanton County and know that it has every facility, every resource, every advantage—save one, to become the "bright spot" in the best state in the United States. That single exception is a full-time, well planned and properly executed program of education to eradicate the wide-spread lack of understanding of the problems necessary for the growth of a rural agricultural community, well means not only adequate educational facilities for the children and youths of this county but of equal and probably more importance, a program of adult education.

As long as the leaders, not only in Clanton County but the entire state of Alabama as well, make education secondary to other state functions, just that long will progress and prosperity in Alabama be seriously retarded.

Because of circumstances, my home is now in California but Clanton and Chilton County will always have my sympathies and warm wishes. May the example of National Air Mail Week and this County's participation in its celebration be an inspiration not only to the leaders in the County but to every citizen as well.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. JAMES A. KELLY

Wednesday afternoon, May 4, at her home near Jamison, Mrs. James A. Kelly left this world for a home in heaven. Being a firm believer in her Master, she was a member of the Methodist Church, and always held out strong for her belief and faith, always for the right.

She left a vacancy at home, which no one can fill. Her chair by the fire will always be empty. But we have pleasant memories of mother as she walked among her flowers, fitting some new quilt design, or anything that would make home the home it was.

As she was seldom away from home, her absence seems more than we can bear. It is so hard to do without her, but we should not weep for mother. She is resting and rejoicing where the soul never dies. To us, mother is not dead. She has only gone on to await the coming of her loved ones to the land of peaceful rest. Though her going brings untold grief, we have only to look to the Savior for condolence in our hour of need. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. With this ever in our mind, as we know mother would want us to, we should our burden and smile bravely, hoping to meet her some day in a better world.

—Her daughter-in-law Mrs. William H. Kelly.

WITH YOUR HOME Demonstration Agent CONDUCTED BY MISS META GRACE

"Entertainment In The Home"

The various clubs are now studying "Entertainment In The Home." We are anxious to build up more social life for all ages because "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." It is important that we revivify and hand down to our own boys and girls the beautiful type of entertainment practiced by our forefathers. The present day demand that we find methods of entertainment less expensive and to be more conservative with our time. The duties of life are increasing and it is very necessary that mothers and fathers grow along with their children so there will be a better understanding between parent and child. Therefore, the parent should take the lead in guiding the pleasure and various types of entertainment in the homes. "Come, grow old along with me, for the best is yet to be."

The Annual Home Demonstration Club Rally will be held May 23 at the High School Auditorium beginning at 10:30 o'clock. At this time we will have the honor of having Director P. O. Davis, Auburn, Alabama and several other important speakers that we have not here-to-fore had the pleasure of having. We want every club woman possible to attend this lovely occasion as it marks the conclusion of the year's work. We are asking each club woman to bring a lunch which will be composed of meats, salads, pickles, stuffed eggs, pies and cakes. (The lunch will be served cafeteria style at the Home Economics Building.)

The Chilton County Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Meta E. Grace, will attend a Leadership School on Mattress Making in Alexander City from June 16 until June 18. Mattress making is expected to be one of the leading demonstrations during the year as Alabama Home Demonstration clubs are expected to have glib quota. Club women and other women will please keep this in mind and keep some of their extra cotton for their mattress. I am anxious to have more and better mattresses in each home. This is a good way to help use the surplus cotton on hand. Below is a list of the material and equipment required for a double bed: 10 yards of ticking, 40 to 50 lbs. of cotton, tufting needles, rolled edge needles, tufting buttons, mattress twine; for each community; a tufting

Fairview Club News

The Fairview Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Leila Culp on March 15. There were four visitors and nine members present.
A splendid demonstration was given by the leaders on baking powder biscuits and cheese biscuits. The leaders also served each lady a slice of ham to eat with the biscuits.
The members were sorry that Miss Grace was unable to attend the meeting, since the demonstration was such a success.
The club will meet next time on April 19, at the home of Mrs. Ola Edwards.

FARMERS TO REAP BENEFIT FROM EROSION CONTROL

Many farmers who use erosion control demonstration area near Clanton will reap additional benefits this summer from winter cover crops which protected their soil during the winter and early spring months, according to Mr. James H. Wood.

Nitrogen added to the soil by turn-under crops as crimson clover, vetch and Austrian peas will increase the yields of cash crops which follow, while the green manure will add humus-forming material to the land, increase the absorption of rainfall, and make the soil easier to work.

The advantages of early planting and proper inoculation could readily be seen during the winter and early spring by the increased growth where these practices were followed in comparison with the growth of the same crops when they were inoculated poorly or planted late. More effective cover over a longer period and more green manure to be turned under were obtained by early planting and proper inoculation, Mr. Wood said.

The increased use of leguminous cover crops as a part of the erosion control program on cooperating farms is giving farmers an opportunity to find out through their own experience the many benefits to be derived from these crops and to learn the methods of planting which give most successful growth. It is also resulting in inoculation of the soil which will make it easier to get food growth in the future.

Virtually all of the cooperating farmers who are growing these crops, are saving seed from at least a portion of their acreage this spring, especially in the case of crimson clover, for increasing their plantings next fall. And, in view of the knowledge they have acquired, they expect to plant early and be sure the land is properly inoculated, he added.

Farm women of Czechoslovakia are given free transportation by the government to encourage them to attend agricultural meetings.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. JULIA PARRISH TAYLOR

We feel so sorrowful and so sad;
We feel so all alone;
Nothing makes us glad
Since she has gone.
Our hearts are almost broken,
Our days so sad and dreary;
Everything seems different
And everyone seems weary.
She always met everyone with a smile,
She left them with a kiss;
Not only for a while,
These we will miss.
But now she is at rest,
Beneath the silent clay,
In that beautiful home of the blest,
Not so far away.

BUS STATION

stated, the demand has grown to such an extent that he has been forced to increase this by adding an additional cabinet of 150 gallons capacity.
Then came the recent increase of the Bus Station and Clanton is to have its first cafeteria and one of the most modern small cafeterias in the State.
A feature of this new system of serving food is the all-electric kitchen which has been installed by Mr. Lancaster to handle the varieties of food to be served, included in this all-electric kitchen is a special electric griddle for frying steaks and other meats and also an electric frying kettle which will handle chickens etc.
Modern Food Warmer
The entire kitchen of the Bus Station has undergone a considerable change and has become a most modern food preparing department in the city. Another feature of the cafeteria is the electric food warmer which is located under the service counter which holds the pans containing the delicious foods. This new and modern warmer eliminates the old system of using steam for this purpose and is arranged in such a manner that the heat is automatically controlled to give each variety of food the proper warmth suited for it.
Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster ear to be congratulated on this progressive step and the people of this section will find the Bus Station a place to get the best to be had in sandwiches, lunches and dinners at popular prices.
The continued increase in business at the Bus Station is evidence of the growing popularity of the foods and ice creams that are prepared under the personal supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster.

Local Farmers Get Checks Of $1,740

Checks amounting to $1,740 have been mailed to thirty-eight farmers in Chilton County by the Chilton County National Farm Loan Association, as a result of an announcement made by D. W. Waite, Secretary-Treasurer of the association. These payments represent a refund of capital stock in the association owned by the thirty-eight farmers who are receiving the checks. These farmers were entitled to this capital stock refund because of payment in full of the loans which they obtained from the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans through the local association. These members of the association, like other similar borrowers, at the time they obtained their loans subscribed for capital stock of the association in an amount equal to 5 per cent of their loans. The association in turn subscribed for the same amount of stock in the Federal Land Bank of this district.
The management of this association is in the hands of a board of directors elected by its owner-members. The present directors are:
J. N. Dennis, J. D. Broadhead, C. C. Cofer, W. J. Easterling and B. F. Massey.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think
—BILLY SMITH

Clanton merchants are getting their heads together and planning on giving the people of this section something to talk about in the way of real bargains in days. We learn, through reliable sources, that several of the local merchants have already made definite arrangements to carry out this plan which will be awaited with great interest each month by those who are interested in saving on purchases of household necessities. This newspaper will carry the news of these events to the four corners of the county and into surrounding counties. The people of this section are urged to watch this newspaper for the Dollar Days to be staged by the merchants of Clanton. Unheard of bargains will be thrown into the laps of the shoppers on these days and it will be folly on the part of anyone to ignore the Dollar Days to be staged by the merchants of Clanton. They will be red-letter days for thrifty shoppers.

We note, from an article appearing in this issue of the News, that the Birmingham police records show that since the creation of the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board arrests for public drunkenness in that city have shown a decided decrease in number. That statement, coming from such a reliable source is not to be discounted in the least. We vager that other cities where alcoholic beverages are sold legally will say the same as did Birmingham.

When merchants, business and professional men of Clanton extended their congratulations last week to the graduates of 1938 classes of the various schools, they touched a tender and sincere spot, judging from the complimentary remarks we have heard from many of the graduates. It is, indeed, good to know that the merchants, business and professional men of Clanton take such a keen interest in the efforts and accomplishments of our younger people.

Our warmest sympathies to the Rev. I. T. Nall, of Plantersville, for his unselfish act in making life a little more pleasant for a family of five fatherless children in Clanton Tuesday night. We imagine the mother remembered Rev. Nall in her prayers that night and then we remembered that "Bread cast upon the waters." We know that a mother and her five children went to sleep after having enjoyed a supper of good wholesome food, the first in over a day.

Continuing rumors and comments regarding the treatment of absentee ballots in this county has given us some alarm during the past few days. We have never actually seen an absentee ballot bought with cash, but where there is smoke there is usually some fire. We have always abhorred the practice of buying votes and when we learned that it was rumored here some absentee votes were purchased for as little as two dollars each, we thought of the younger people of our county. When fathers and mothers go to great lengths to teach their children honesty, truthfulness, and then have them face such things as vote buying we wonder what the vote, judging from what we hear, we would not be at all surprised to learn some day that the method of casting absentee ballots had wound up in litigation in the courts. That would be rather embarrassing to some people, we imagine.

We have intended for several weeks to say what was in our mind about the manner in which Alabama's highway patrol greeted Postmaster General James A. Farley on his recent visit to Alabama. We were in a position to see how the patrolmen took care of and escorted the distinguished man through the state. To Chief Walter K. McAdory and his "boys" we extend our congratulations. Alabama is justly proud of its highway patrol.

The ovation given governor-elect Frank Dixon in Montgomery last Monday evening was no more than an expression from the people that they are glad to see him and proud that he will be Alabama's next governor. His administration will be a success through his earnest efforts and the support of the people of the state.

MRS. HENRY JONES TO PRESENT PUPILS IN RECITAL TONIGHT
Mrs. Henry Jones will present her music pupils in a recital tonight (Thursday) at the City Hall in Clanton at 7:45 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Smith was well known throughout the county. He was for a number of years engaged in the lumber business. Mr. Smith was the son of H. N. Smith Motor Co., of Clanton. He held a leading part in civic and political activities in this county. His health had been failing for some time.

MANY ATTEND BANQUET HELD FOR DIXON

Peace And Harmony Reign Supreme During Fete In Montgomery

Devoid of the rough and tumble politics that marked much of the preliminary campaign, Governor-nominate Frank Dixon was guest of honor at a "Victory Dinner" in Montgomery Monday night at which more than 600 distinguished guests from throughout the state were present.

Peace and harmony marked the setting while much of the program was given over to humorous phases. Dixon touched lightly on the graver parts of the campaign which had preceded the Birmingham attorney's magnificent victory over four other rivals for the Democratic nomination which is tantamount to election.

Natally attuned in a double-breasted white suit, the governor-nominate rose to address the diners and declared that (Continued to Back Page)

ROOSEVELT IS ASKED TO GREET ALABAMIANS

Gov.-Elect Frank Dixon Invited To Accompany Editors On Annual Trip

President Roosevelt will receive the members of the Alabama Press Association's party on their trip to Washington, it is understood, unless their trip comes at the time of his vacation. Definite plans for the hour and day are waiting until the President signifies what time he can give.

Governor-Elect Frank Dixon has been extended an invitation to head the Alabama party of notables to accompany the editors on their annual vacation trip which carries them this year to Washington and New York.

These are but two of the features that will crowd the days and nights of the party of their visit to the nation's capital. Sightseeing in Washington will include all of the sights, and even the nights have been planned, of the party during their visit to the greatest possible entertainment may be enjoyed.

After their Washington the party will visit the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis on their way to Baltimore to enjoy the overnight trip down Chesapeake Bay by boat. And at Norfolk they will be taken to see Jamestown, Yorktown and Williamsburg before returning home.

Part of the party will elect to go to New York for three days of sightseeing and a return by ship to Jacksonville. (Continued to back page)

We want to thank the Wholesale and Retail merchants of Clanton and quite a few who donated in cash to make the cooking school a success, also the officials of the Alabama Power Company's office for their great assistance in putting it over and furnishing us such an able demonstrator to assist in this work.

Respectfully, Mrs. M. L. White, Chairman Circle No. 2, M. E. Church, Mrs. H. T. Pipes, Chairman, Circle No. 4, First Baptist Church.

C. C. H. S. Senior Gives Thanks For Prize

FIRST MAIL BY AIR LEFT HERE ON THURSDAY

Splendid Program Rendered At Gragg Field Prior To Take-Off

The first sack of mail to leave Clanton by air was flown to Montgomery last Thursday, as Clanton's part in the observance of National Air Mail Week, which was observed throughout the Nation from May 15 to 21.

Although the original program called for mail to be flown from Clanton on Sunday and Thursday, this was changed by the Post Office Department to Thursday only. At this time letters could be sent by air for an additional three cents, being flown from Montgomery to Clanton.

Dr. V. J. Gragg, well known aviation enthusiast for whom the local airport was named was the pilot commissioned by the Post Office Department to fly the mail to Montgomery, accompanied by Charles Wade, local pilot. An interesting program was arranged and carried out before the take-off.

Luther Little spoke on "The Development of Air Mail Service in Chilton County." Judge J. Lee Smith gave an interesting talk, pointing out "The Value of Air Mail Service to Chilton County," followed by Mayor C. Fenn Jones, who spoke on "The Value of Air Mail Service to Clanton."

Following these talks Postmaster Hosea F. Downs presented Dr. V. J. Gragg with the commission to fly the mail, accompanied by Charles Wade. The plane took off from the Airport at 2:30 P.M., arriving at the Montgomery Airport at 3:00 o'clock. This plane was second among the several mail planes from over the State, to arrive in Montgomery.

The Alabama Mills Band was on hand and furnished music for the occasion.

BAMA PRODUCTS BUYS BERRIES FOR CANNING

Over $30,000.00 Paid Growers In The Past Four Years For Surplus Berries

About thirty thousand dollars has been paid the berry growers in the Clanton Association, according to L. E. Diefenderfer, sales manager, by the Bama Products Company of Birmingham, for berries which were too ripe to ship to the Northern markets for use there.

According to Mr. Diefenderfer, back in 1933-34 the local growers were confronted with the problem of disposing of their berries which, when shipped to the markets up North, would net them practically nothing after the freight and cost of the crates for packing were deducted. Numerous growers plowed under their berry plants as a result of this.

Bama Products To Rescue

Seeing the plight of the growers, the heads of the local organization began looking for other means of netting money from the overripe berries which naturally became so, later in the season. Mr. Diefenderfer used as the Bama Products Co., whose products are widely known, and conferred with officials of the firm. This Alabama firm offered to buy these berries for canning purposes. Being located so close to where the berries are grown, they can be packed, shipped and canned in the period of a short time.

Money Stays At Home

The growers were paid fair prices for their berries by an Alabama firm. Even the money paid for freight to Birmingham, which amounted to over $900, went to owners of trucks and near Clanton. The crates in which the berries were packed could be used for several shipments. In other words, the money received by the growers of the berries is money received for something that heretofore went to waste, the growers being unable to dispose of the berries properly.

$11,000 This Year

Mr. Diefenderfer stated that the growers received approximately eleven thousand dollars this season for their overripe berries. "Many more berries could have been handled by Bama Products if they had been available," stated Mr. Diefenderfer. "But many of the local growers became discouraged and plowed under their plants several years ago," he continued.

The Bama Products of Birmingham is due the patronage of the people of Chilton County for their generosity in buying the berries from the local growers when they were available from other sources for the purpose for which they are used.

WORK TO BEGIN SOON ON STATE COURT BUILDING

Contract With WPA Signed For Conversion Of Temple

Lawrence H. Lee, personal legal advisor to Gov. Graves, said that preliminary arrangements for renovating and remodeling for use as a State Judiciary Building, the former Scotts Rite Temple structure at the corner of Dexter avenue and North Decatur St., purchased by the State several months ago for that purpose, are scheduled to be concluded this week by signing of the final contract between the State Building Commission and the WPA, which will participate in the cost of the work.

Practically all of the remodeling will be on the interior of the building, changes in the exterior being confined to piercing of the outer walls for necessary windows. On the interior, however, the space will be completely rearranged, to provide offices for the judges of the Supreme Court of Alabama, and the Alabama Court of Appeals, a courtroom, and offices for the Attorney General of the State and his staff. The large basement will be converted as a library for the two high courts.

What Are They Howling About?

A cost of living survey made by the WPA in 59 representative cities provides an interesting picture of how the average family spends its money.

According to this survey, the average family had an annual income of $1,260. Food took 35.6 percent, Clothing took 14.6 percent, and Housing took 17.6 percent. Recreation absorbed 5.9 percent and transportation 4.3 percent. And what do you think was the smallest item of all? You'd never guess, if you've been listening to the "high cost of power" political school. For the smallest item was electricity, which took just 1.5 percent of the average family's income!

And yet, of all the necessities of life, it is electricity which comes in for the greatest amount of talk—and it is the electric industry which has been assailed more than any other industry by our socialistically-minded politicians.

Still another comparison showing how cheap electricity is, was recently made by Gerard Swope of the General Electric Co. Mr. Swope compared the cost between power here and in the principal European countries in an unusual way—by basing the comparison upon the number of minutes an average workman must labor in order to purchase one kilowatt-hour of energy. He found that in Europe this varies from 12 to 43 minutes. In the United States it takes precisely 3.6 minutes!

Think it over. In this country a workman has to work only from one-third to one-eleventh as long to buy a unit of power as does the workman in the European countries surveyed. In this country power takes 1.5 percent of the average income, and is a microscopic item in the cost of living. What are the politicians howling about?

"It's Smart To Drive Safely"

Connecticut has just held her first state-wide highway safety conference, under the sponsorship of the Connecticut Highway Safety Commission. A pioneer in the field of highway safety, her efforts have been rewarded with a steady decline in traffic fatalities within the state during recent years.

During the conference, Buron W. Marsh, director of safety of the American Automobile Association, declared, "If the record of Connecticut could have been extended to the rest of the United States, 59,000 lives would have been saved since 1928.

Especially stressed at the conference was the vital necessity of educating drivers, young and old, to the fact that "it's smart to drive safely."

Education is strictly a local problem, and as President Hofman of the Studebaker Corporation said, "It can only be solved successfully by creating the right mental attitude toward safe driving. There must be a social taboo on the 'fix.' There must be a social taboo on drinking and driving. There should be a social taboo on young girls going out driving with young men who have had even one drink." In short, drivers must learn that, instead of being smart and sophisticated when they mix drinking and driving, they are enemies of society—potential murderers!

Every state in the Union must follow the example set by Connecticut if the Nation's highways are ever to be safe.

"Thinking is one thing in the world no one has ever been able to tax or put a tariff on," Charles F. Kettering, Research Director, General Motors Corp. But Mr. Kettering might have added that the legislative tendency is to tax the results of "thinking" to a point where productive "thinking" is discouraged or destroyed.

Cotton Is Money

Cotton is money in a tremendous area of the United States—in the deep South, in the Southwest, and elsewhere. Eighteen of the states depend upon cotton for a large part of their income—that money goes to buy automobiles, food, clothing, machinery, gadgets, books, newspapers, and a thousand and one other products made by the Nation's factories.

When King Cotton faces a critical surplus problem it isn't a local issue. It affects everyone with a job, an investment, a stake in America and American commonwealth and industry. Reduce the purchasing power of but one state and the adverse results of that are felt in the other 47. Reduce the purchasing power of eighteen states and you make a major contribution to national depression.

Cotton faces such a problem today. Unless something extraordinary is done in its behalf, when the 1938 crop is baled a surplus equivalent to two years' normal production will be weighing down the market. Such a surplus means narrowing the market, drastic price drops, and ruinous losses to the people of the vast cotton empire.

Thus, when a great distribution industry comes to the aid of cotton it is news—and good news, for the people of all parts of the United States. The industry in question is the chain store industry, which has started a campaign to stimulate the sale of cotton goods and allied cotton products. The campaign is to reach its peak with a National Cotton Promotional Week, beginning May 30. Advertising, handbills, eye-attracting window and inner-store displays—these are but a few of the devices that are being employed to move cotton in greater quantities than it ever was moved before.

So when you see these ads and displays, you'll know what's back of them—a desire to save the growers of a crop which is the means of livelihood for millions of people directly, and tens of millions indirectly, from economic disaster.

Independent Stores Threatened

For some time far-sighted leaders of independent merchants' organizations have opposed punitive laws against the chain stores—for the very sound reason that they feared such laws might eventually be construed to effect independent stores as well.

The State of Georgia has a law which levies excessive class taxes against the chains. Now, according to the State Revenue Commissioner, "voluntary groups and cooperatives will be classed as chain stores for taxation purposes under this law. This official previously said that "the department is of the opinion that two or more stores which operate as members of the so-called voluntary group or cooperative association constitute a chain of stores in contemplation of the Chain Store Tax Act of Georgia."

If that principle is extended to the other states having chain stores taxes—and it certainly will be, sooner or later, judging by the rapacity of legislators in pursuit of new sources of tax revenue—it will penalize every store which joins with one or more stores in order to buy goods more cheaply, or to advertise jointly, or to carry on any similar cooperative endeavor intended to lower selling cost and increase service. This latest move broadens the attack on the consumer's pocketbook by further penalizing efficiency, by eliminating the economies that are made possible by mass buying and distribution, and by forcing up costs.

Give the politicians an inch and they will take a mile—and whether it is at the expense of a chain store, an independent store, or the consumer, seems to be of no interest to them. Once we permit the unsound principle of class taxation to be applied against any legitimate business, we immediately endanger the existence of all other business. Punitive taxation of chains has become a very real problem to the independent store, and to all consumers.

The Best Milk

Milk is the basic food. It is an essential part of the diet for young or old. In this country we have what is probably the purest milk supply in the world—an achievement that is very largely due to the efforts of the dairy cooperative marketing associations.

The principal bovine diseases have been almost eradicated. The dairy cooperatives have worked with the state farm and health authorities to the end of bettering herds, from the standpoint of both production and health. The result is that you needn't be afraid of the milk you buy today—it is as safe as human ingenuity and work can make it.

HISTORY WAS MADE—

Although the postponement of the scheduled mail flight from Sunday to Thursday, caused some confusion among those interested, the program at the local airport was well worth the wait. Only a small crowd witnessed the take-off of the plane piloted by Dr. V. J. Gragg, who was presented the commission to fly the mail from Gragg Field to Montgomery, accompanied by Charles Wade, one of Clanton's leading and able pilots. But we got a big kick watching the first mail leave Clanton by air, and too, we had a letter to a good friend in that mail sack. As we watched their plane vanish from sight toward Montgomery, we knew history was in the making. We enjoyed the interesting talks made by Judge J. Lee Smith, Mayor C. Fenn Jones and Luther E. Little, also hearing the Alabama Mills Band usher the mail off in real style.

AGAIN THIS YEAR—

Wm. H. L. Smith, the genial clerk at Upchurch Drug Co., is again this year, as has been his custom for the past two or three years, offering for sale hunting dogs which are first class when it comes to hunting dogs. Mr. Smith raises these dogs and keeps them at his home in the homeplace in the Isabella community. His product has become known far and wide and he has shipped several to points far yonder throughout the nation. He says he has had howling success with his dogs.

THOSE CHANGES—

Some time back we told of rumors we had heard concerning changes in old business establishments and new establishments. Well, things are panning out nicely along that line, as M. R. Lancaster has installed Clanton's first and only cafeteria, Miss Cattie Watts is moving her hat shop into the remodeled building back of the A. & P. Store—and there's more coming.

THOSE RUMORS—

And those rumors we were telling you about a week concerning that old family custom, are showing up as realities, we notice, after reading the society section of the South's Greatest Newspaper—and there's more coming along that line, too. Keep your eyes peeled and your ears tuned up.

SECOND YEAR—

Prof. Patterson Hicks has just completed his second term as head of the Chilton County High School. The people of Clanton have grown to admire and respect Prof. Hicks and his efforts in carrying out his work as principal and head of the school. That the two years he has served as principal have been successful years for C.C.H.S. in every respect, there is no doubt, and we think we speak for all Clanton, when we say we're looking forward to seeing him back at C.C.H.S. next term. He has served as President of the Clanton Kiwanis Club for some time.

IN MEMORY OF ELBERT CHERRY

On May 13, 1938, the death angel saw fit to enter our home and carry away our dear brother, Elbert Cherry, leaving a vacant place that no other can fill, but filling a place in the heaven of peace that no other could fill.

Our hearts are filled with sadness and sorrow. We know his loving voice and smiling face will always miss here on earth, but oh, how sweet to turn to God's words and promises and read where we are going to meet in a better place some sweet day where we'll never say farewell. A place where there will be no sorrow nor pain; where we will not say one to another, we are sick, but will be happy. We are trying as best we can to look to God and be comforted for he has been so good and merciful to us. We thank Him for placing such a loved one in our family.

As a child he was quiet and peaceful, and was a very obedient child. The same young man of few words but ever ready to stand for the right. Never a night so dark or a day so rainy but what if someone needed a helping hand he would gladly and willingly lend—A Sister, Mrs. Gertie Abbott, Billingsley, Ala.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses shown us in the illness and death of our wife and daughter, Mrs. Lottie Scarborough Johnson. Especially do we thank Rev. J. S. Holland for his comforting words and Mr. Martin for his efficient service. We deeply appreciate the beautiful floral offerings also, May God bless each one and abundantly from this beautiful store of blessings—Raymond Johnson and W. C. Scarborough.

Lawrence Potczynski asked for a handout at the back door of a Detroit home. The lady of the house recognized him, but her divorced husband had failed to make alimony payments, and had him arrested.

MORALECHOES

D. W. Hackew

The rain poured for hours and the currents of water rushed down the hillsides, cutting ditches and washing up sidewalks. Two weeks after this downpour I was invited as a guest speaker at a church in the city where I lived. On reaching the church I found that the steps going up from the sidewalk had been undermined and were going to slide. We had to climb up the bank like boys climbing the banks in a gully, in order to reach the front steps of the church, and yet the preacher lived next door and spent a large part of his time sitting in a rocker. I wondered why it was that the pastor could not be a handy man and have spent part of his idle time in fixing the steps that led to his church door. Did that pastor have the interest of his church on his heart? I rather think that that it was pure laziness that kept that strong, able bodied man from repairing the steps. Much of the delapidated condition that we see around homes and churches is due to laziness.

While I was a lad on the farm I noticed that the hogs had a certain place in the woods near our home to which they would go at night. To the pigs this was home. I noticed that the hogs had no flowers growing around the home of the hogs. I ventured to ask my mother why it was that she had so many flowers around our home and the pigs had none. Her reply that, "Hogs do not care for flowers." I grew up with the idea in my mind that folks loved flowers, but that swine never care for them and never had any of them where they lived. There are two reasons why folks do not have flowers around their home. One reason is that they have not that finer cultivation that produces a love for the beautiful, and the other reason is that they are too lazy to have them. It takes a fine soul to have flowers around the home and it takes much perspiration to produce them. God furnishes the soil and the sunshine and we furnish the toil.

In one of my pastorates I knew a family where there were many children. The father made good money at his trade, enough to have put his family in comfort, but he had poor ideas of management and expenditures. His family were moving picture fiends and every week they spent more at the picture show than it took to feed them.

His house grew ragged along with his credit, and yet they were constantly showing the dimes through the window at the picture show. What a tragedy it is to see parents who do not know the value of money and where money should be spent. That home described is just a picture of many homes everywhere. In almost every locality we find families where money is unwisely spent and where there is poverty and want and all because the wages earned are wasted. It is far better to have a good home and a clean brain than it is to have all that can come from prodigality. It is far better to keep the home from becoming ragged, than it is to make ragged the brain of young life.

Life is hard at Alcatraz. The worst of prisoners are sent there for confinement and often they will do the unheard of things to maim themselves or to get into the hospital. One convict who was working on a dock detail suddenly picked up an ax, laid his left hand on a block, and chopped off every finger. Then he laid his right hand on the block and begged the guard to take the ax and chop off every finger on his right hand. This man was tired of work and planned to disable himself so that he could still eat but not produce. He feared that there are too many people in our country today who are not confined in prison, who want to get rid of their hands. They want to eat and yet they object to producing. In recent years I fear that the sympathetic spirit of the churches and the government, has helped to remove the working hands of men and women. It is nothing short of alarming to see the disposition of many to get on relief.

We were going out on a picnic. All seemed a great day on the creek bank. One little boy came with his lunch and held it tight in his hand. As we were waiting I observed that the little fellow had opened his lunch and was devouring it with great speed. I walked over to him and asked why he had decided to eat his lunch before he reached the picnic grounds. His reply was so much like many folks who are much older. Said he, "I have my lunch now and I decided that I had better eat it while I had it." Evidently he was not thinking of his future need, or else he was certain that he would be allowed to feast on the bounty of others. There are multitudes of folks who will devour, or waste, what they have, never thinking of a future need. We should learn the fine art of holding what we have until it is needed. No one can eat his lunch and have it when you waste a dollar today because you have it, the time is coming when you will need it and you will not have it. Better save your lunch until you need it. It is really great to have a dollar in reserve when you need it.

Expansion of gasoline consumption and the increase in the number of motor vehicle registrations has hiked gasoline tax and other motor vehicle revenues so much that a reduction in the gasoline tax rate of from 1 cent to 5 cents is possible in many states. This is one ray of hope for the nation's overtaxed motorists.

B. N. IVEY, Assistant County Agent in Charge of 4-H Club Work

The assistant county agents of Elmore, Montgomery and Lousiana Counties informed me that they were going to hold a joint sale of purebred Duroc pigs in Montgomery, Wednesday, June 15.

They have a surplus of these pigs and they will be offered for sale at a very reasonable price.

If you have some pigs ready for market you might carry them to the stock yards and sell them and buy more better breeding stock. Several could do this in a community cooperatively and save some money on hauling. For further information contact me at the County Agent's office.

New Cedron Club

The New Cedron 4-H Club met for their regular meeting at which time twelve members and two visitors were present. The following gave parts on the program:

Alton Lawrence, Earl Moates, Thomas Williams, Ruth Lawrence, Virginia Thrash, Payson Powell and Talmadge Williams.

After the regular business was taken care of, Mr. Ivey talked to us about our projects and how to feed and build hog houses for brood sows.

Verberna Club

The Verberna 4-H Club met May 9, at the Verberna High School. From there we went to Mr. Robinson's Chicken Farm. Mr. Robinson explained how he fed and cared for little chickens until they became laying hens. Then we discussed and selected a boy to go to Auburn. After that we discussed plans for another private camp for the Verberna 4-H Club and the County-wide joint camp. The Verberna Club decided to keep having its meetings after school is out.

ALABAMA FARMERS ADVISED TO LOOK FOR APHIDS

When the leaves of melons, radishes, cabbage, turnip, or other vegetables begin to bend downward or become wilted, one should look for aphids, or leaf-sucking insects, says J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Mr. Robinson says it is a good idea to look under the leaves because one will usually find there the insects that are sucking the sap from the leaves, weakening the plant, and reducing both the yield and quality of the fruit or vegetable.

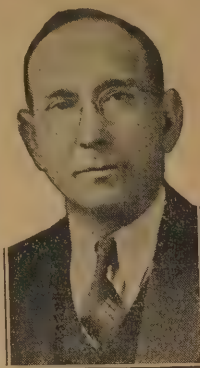

"Control of these pests," he believes, "may be brought about rather easily by spraying thoroughly with a nicotine-soap solution or by dusting with nicotine dust."

The spray is made of nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40), soap and water. The mixture of these ingredients is one tablespoon of nicotine sulphate and one-fourth cake of soap mixed with one gallon of water.

"The plants must be thoroughly drenched with this spray solution, both on the upper and under sides of the leaves," he says. "It must come in contact with the insects to kill them."

A good nicotine dust may be made by mixing one pound of nicotine sulphate with 19 pounds hydrated lime. Perfectly dry plants should be dusted when there is little or no wind and the temperature is above 70 degrees F. The materials are mixed by putting the lime in a churn or keg, pouring in the nicotine sulphate, adding a few stones, and rolling the container for 10 minutes.

Alabama's Next State Auditor Well Known

HOWELL TURNER

Howell Turner, present Secretary of State of Alabama, and recently elected State Auditor by nomination is one of the best known and well liked men in the state.

Mr. Turner's victory in the recent primary election is concrete evidence of what personal contact, friendliness, honesty and service will mean to any man. Especially if that man is a candidate for any office.

Having served as private secretary to former Governor B. M. Miller, Mr. Turner continued his making of friends and since holding the position of Secretary of State and proven that he was not playing up to the people with any particular motive toward selfish interests. The writer, having known Mr. Turner for a number of years, knows too, that the people of Alabama are assured of a continuation of service in the office of the State Auditor when Mr. Turner assumes that office next January. He succeeds Hon. Chas. E. McCall who has set a high mark of service in that office.

NEW ALABAMA INDUSTRY MAKING RAPID STRIDES

LaFayette, Ala.—Fay Fagan, manufacturer of a distinctive line of high quality cosmetics, has apparently met the need of a discriminating patronage when it recently placed on the market a wide variety of locally manufactured cosmetics. An ever increasing patronage indicates the growing popularity of the products of Fay Fagan.

Elsewhere in this issue of the News appears an announcement by Alabama's Newest Industry. Interested persons should communicate immediately with this firm for particulars and descriptive literature.

Ruffin Recommends Cutworm Poisoning

Cutworms, which have been noted recently in large numbers all over Alabama doing serious damage to hay and young cotton, can be controlled with poisoned bran mash, W. A. Ruffin, entomologist and horticulturist of the Alabama Extension Service, advises.

Mr. Ruffin says the worms have been doing considerable damage to alfalfa and to the stands of young cotton. They feed at night and in the day time can be found buried in the soil or under leaves, hay or other litter on the ground.

They are now going into the pupal stage and the first generation will probably cease feeding soon. Damage of the second generation cannot be estimated at the present time, he states.

The poisoned mash can be made by mixing thoroughly two pounds of arsenate of lead with 20 pounds of wheat bran and moistening the mixture with sweetened water. Two quarts of syrup and three and a half gallons of water will be sufficient for the above mixture.

The poisoned bait should be broadcast over the infested area late in the afternoon, at the rate of 100 pounds per acre and be effective. Where the stand of cotton has been seriously damaged it will pay the farmer to replant, Mr. Ruffin believes.

Further information can be obtained from the county agent.

BILLY CALLEN CORRESPONDING WITH YOUNG ENGLISHMAN

Following is a letter handed the News this week, written by Billy Callen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Callen of Clanton. Billy writes regarding his pen pal in England:

Chilton County News, Clanton, Alabama, Gentlemen:

I was told by Mr. John VanDerveer that if I would give you information about my pen pal in England you would put an article in the county news about him. His name is Ian Bisset and he lives in Liverpool, England. I came to know him by answering an article in the Birmingham News by another boy in England who wanted a pen pal in America. He had so many replies that he gave mine to Ian. We have been corresponding ever since.

It takes five cents to send a letter from here to England and about 12 days for it to get there.

It is very interesting to get a letter from England.

Ian is very interested in the geographical outline of the country and the activities of the people. His hobbies are stamps and photography.

I thank you very much for your service.

Very truly yours,

Billy Callen

PATES CHAPEL

There will be an ice cream supper at Mr. Harvey Davenport's next Saturday night, May 28, beginning at seven o'clock. All B.Y.P.U. members will eat free and outsiders will pay, so everybody come and let's have a good time. Last Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching days. The crowd Sunday was quite small on account of the singing at Mars Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hayes were the Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hayes.

Mrs. Jess Hayes was the Sunday afternoon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Odis Price.

We were glad to have visitors at Pates Chapel Saturday night and Sunday night. We invite all visitors to Pates Chapel.

Miss L. N. Robinson, Miss Alva Robinson, attended services at Mars Hill Saturday night.

Miss Ivey also Zema Hayes spent Saturday night with Miss Minnie Lee Bann.

One pastor and wife and daughter, Elaine Nix, spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rhodes.

Pates Chapel has postponed going to Mars Hill next Sunday night on account of measles. Will come some other time.

Don't forget the ice cream supper and come.

IN MEMORY

On May 12 the death angels came and took little Wilford Smith away. He was sixteen years old and had been sick for over a year. All was done that loving hands could do.

He leaves to mourn his loss his father, mother one brother, two sisters and a host of relatives and friends.

We love you dear Wilford.

No human tongue can tell, We can only say goodbye for a little while, But we don't say farewell.

Oh, how good and jolly he was day by day, And all the sorrow that he brought, (The day he went away).

He is not dead, just sweetly sleeping, Beneath the cold and silent clay. It seems like a dream and I want to be awakened, To find that he really has not been taken.

But we realize only too well, That he has gone to heaven to dwell. We feel so lost, so burdened, So long since he left our home, But God knew best and called him Home to rest.

For he was a rock of strength to lean upon in time of joy or distress. No more in this world can we see his sweet face.

But let us live to meet him on that bright and happy shore.

A "New Dealer" From 'Way Back

"I AM talking now about my Company's rural electric service engineers. For years they have been going about from farm to farm, showing how I—Reddy Kilowatt—am the cheapest hired hand a farmer could have, and how with me around to do much of the heavy work in the barn and kitchen, life becomes a whole lot more pleasant for the farmer and his wife.

"These rural service engineers are new dealers from way back. For years they have had visions of the fuller life which present day new dealers are talking about.

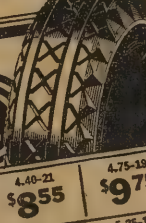

"For years they have been working with the Agricultural Department of your State and its fine colleges to bring this fuller life to Alabama farms. They are men of practical experience who KNOW. You can depend on what they tell you about rural electrification."

However, the defeat of 13-0 left somewhat of a sting after they had stopped to count the scores and most of the boys realized they were looked upon as ball players and in fact were ball players, because their past playing experience shows they are good at the game, so it was definitely decided more practice and baseball concentration was needed, thereby a large turn-out was had Tuesday afternoon for general practice.

That's the stuff, boys, admit your trouble and work to overcome it and the fans will stick to you.

building is to be ready to be occupied by the courts and the Attorney General's offices by the first of the coming year. The completed job will cost approximately $80,000. Of that amount $45,000 will be met by a WPA grant already authorized. The remainder will consist of State Funds. Bought by the State for $122,500, it is estimated that the property, with the changes made will convert it into a judiciary building which will represent a value of at least $350,000.

Offices of judges of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals will be located on the main floor, surrounding and immediately adjoining the court room. The court room will be large and commodious, utilizing most of the first floor space of the present auditorium. This auditorium now extends upward in a lofty tapering sweep to the dome-like ceiling just beneath the center roof. A third story will be provided by placing a partition across it, dividing the upper auditorium space approximately in half, and the dome section will be widened. Or this third floor the Attorney General's offices will be located.

Dixon Banquet

"the Atticus Mullin stage of the campaign is behind us and we have now gotten to the Grover Hall stage." Mr. Dixon referred to Mullin, caustic political writer for the Montgomery Advertiser, whose stories had much to do with Dixon's victory, and to Mr. Hall, publisher of the Advertiser, who is noted throughout the South for his constructive criticism.

Mr. Dixon's speech was about "the only one which touched seriously on politics."

He declared he sincerely hoped that whatever happens within the next four years beyond January 1 that his friends would be as glad to see him as they are now. He said the rough spots of the campaign have been passed and that it is up to the state to do their part toward a successful administration of state affairs.

Mr. Dixon was introduced by Col. Marion Rushton, one of the governor-nominatee's best friends, and who managed his campaign in Montgomery County.

Much of the program was given over to comedy stunts, Bill Beard, professional comedian, having a large part in the fun. He was introduced as Gov. "Happy" Chandler, of Kentucky, and produced gales of laughter with his expressed hatred of war which ran in part:

"I hate war—I hate war; in fact, I hate WAR. I am a war veteran. In the summer of 1914 I went to France to study art. In June we studied mouths. In July we studied shoulders. In August I went to the trenches. I hate war!" From Birmingham via a state-wide radio hook-up, came an address from Mr. Jones, city editor of the Birmingham commission president and a staunch Dixon supporter.

Commissioner Jones, in a humorous discourse suggested various rewards for leaders in the state who supported Dixon. Mr. Jones said, in part:

"Judge Alex Brantley is just a probable judge. Because of his support for Major Dixon, he would become master of the state's bloodhounds. Horace Wilkinson hopes to marry a Rushton and thus remain close to the throne. . . . Lloyd Bowers, the Major's law partner, doesn't want anything either. Of course if Dixon wants a good legal advisor, Lloyd knows where he could get one. . . . Tom Martin was likewise unselfish in his support. Yet he's not so need outside help, and if they insist he might be pressed into service. . . ."

But when Commissioner Jones' speech was finished, the radio buzzed for a moment, and from behind the palms stepped Dr. George Wheeler, who had been impersonating Birmingham's commission head.

Mrs. Leonard Thomas gave several soprano solos which were novel. Her songs were musical introductions of the notables present. These included the introduction of Col. Rushton, Sam Perry, Dr. Wheeler, Lloyd Bowers, Judge A. Brantley, A. A. Carmichael, John Hodgson, Sam Helburn, George Welsh, Ed Reid, J. C. Weldon and L. N. Duncan. Col. Rushton was toastmaster.

cultivates evenly

THE gang beams of the New 4 raise and lower horizontally. They are always level; thus all the shovels or hoes enter the ground at the same time and at an even depth unless you have them set differently.

The New 4 is a "balance frame" cultivator. When the gangs are raised by the master lever which is provided, the frame moves forward, and with it the driver, balancing the cultivator nicely.

The thorough success of the McCormick-Deering New 4 has undoubtedly made it the leading single row cultivator in the United States. We will be glad to show it to you.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think
—BILLY SMITH

Farley's Recent Visit—

We have read with no small amount of misgivings, comments made by Republican newspapers regarding Postmaster General James A. Farley's recent tour through the country and his visit to Alabama. That the Postmaster General of the United States would not fail to stop at a post office, however small, on his route, is evidence of the fullness of his human kindness and feeling toward the little man. Just because Mr. Farley was big enough to recognize the small man seems to have given some Republicans a sting in the pants, so to speak. As the Alexander City Outlook puts it, "After all he is the Postmaster General and deserves and should have the respect of that office."

The Supreme Court—

For approximately two years now, the people of Chilton County have been forced to put up with a continuous squabble emanating from and around the office of the Road Supervisor and the law which created that office. No one who has read this newspaper has expressed before, the people are somewhat tired of that situation. The decision was handed down by the Supreme Court of Alabama, a part of which is in this issue of the News, should do something to this regrettable situation. We don't know exactly what it should do, but it should do something it seems to us. Or, maybe it has already done it.

Dixon Busy—

Newspaper reports and reports coming direct from the headquarters of Alabama's next Governor, Major Frank Dixon, are no more nor less than we expected after his election. Major Dixon is carefully scanning the payrolls of the State Department heads and carefully selecting the men to occupy strategic positions in his administration. Knowing Major Dixon as we do and knowing of his anxiety to accomplish the better things for the State, we expected him to immediately begin his studies of these important matters and his deliberations will prove of benefit to the people of Alabama.

Back To Cuba—

We note with keen interest that the Alabama Press Association cancelled its trip this summer to Washington and New York, and instead, accepted the invitation of Cuban officials to come to Havana. We add our note of approval to the decision on the part of the press officials and heartily recommend this trip to anyone with a vacation in July and looking for some place to go. We enjoyed a week's stay in the capital city of Cuba and we will always have a kind feeling in our heart for those people there, as they have for the people of Alabama. The statement from the president of the Tourist Commission Cuba that the visit of four hundred Alabamians to Havana two years ago added Cuba more than they could tell, will mean much to those making the trip this summer. And, the price for the whole trip is remarkably low.

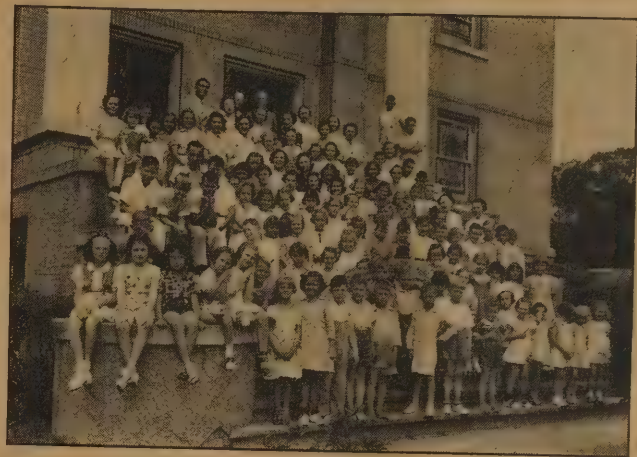

Again On June 14—

With only a few runoffs scheduled for the second primary election of June 14, we seriously doubt there being a great deal of interest in that election. That is one of the serious mistakes the voters of Alabama make—showing no interest in second primaries. We remind the voters of this county that in the second primary on June 14 they will have an opportunity of choosing between T. L. McKee and J. R. Hardy for nominees for the office of Tax Collector. With two such promising men still in the race, the county should turn out full strength on June 14 at the polls. However, if the small amount of interest in second primaries continues to be a reality in Alabama, then why the fuss about the short ballot?

Stinking, Eddie—

Stopping a few minutes in Montgomery the other day, we enjoyed a chat with our friend Ed Reid, executive secretary of the League of Municipalities and a man about town in Alabama politics and things. Ed told us he was glad to see our newspaper had not sold to anyone nor to any big corporation in order that they may use information to further their interests. Ed obliged Ed, but remember, if the news gets high enough we may be willing to sell them lock, stock and barrel. However, it would have to be mighty high at that.

NEWSPAPER MEN TO GO TO CUBA THIS SUMMER

Convention Trip Begins On Sunday, July 17 To Cuban Capital

Due to the fact that the World's Fair is to be held in New York in 1939 a large number of newspaper publishers desired to hold their 1938 convention in Havana and postpone until next year holding the press convention in New York. C. L. Walton, president of the Alabama Press Association, said in a statement to this newspaper today.

The postponement of the Washington-New York trip this summer and the holding of the summer convention in Cuba was made necessary by the unusual demand of publishers and their desire to again visit the Island of Cuba. Dr. Luis Machado, President of the Cuban Tourist Commission, last week extended a most cordial invitation to hold this year's convention in Cuba as guests of the Cuban government. Mr. Walton stated, "The members of the Alabama Press Association and their friends are near and dear to the hearts of all Cubans and I beg you to do us the honor of accepting this invitation."

The Roy Brown Tours have been asked to handle the details of the convention trip to Cuba during the week beginning Sunday, July 17th, and all persons interested in a delightful vacation trip should communicate with the Editor of this newspaper, C. L. Walton, at the Alabama Press Association, LaFayette, Ala., or Roy Brown Tours, Molton Hotel, Birmingham, Ala.

Supreme Court Makes Decision On Road Law

RESIDENT OF ROUTE TWO WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING SAT.

G. W. Bryant, who resides on Route 2, was carried to the Central Alabama Hospital Saturday night after suffering from severe burns and shock when he was struck by lightning Saturday about noon.

Mr. Bryant was standing on his front porch when the bolt struck the house, tearing away part of the porch, and inflicting burns on one side of Mr. Bryant's body. He was discharged from the Hospital Sunday.

YOUNG MAN IS FOUND INJURED HERE SATURDAY

Claims He Was Shot And Robbed By Some Of His Companions

A young man about twenty-five years of age who gave his name as Roy Evans of Columbus, Ga., was admitted to the Central Alabama Hospital Saturday night about eleven o'clock suffering from a bullet wound in his left shoulder.

According to Patrolmen C. L. Smith and Maurice Jones, also city officer of Columbus, Ga., who found Evans lying in a pool of blood near the home of Chief of Police Hugh Simpson in the eastern part of the city.

Young Evans, from his bed in the hospital, stated he was the victim of two robbers who he stated were carrying $9 dollars and shot him in the shoulder when he resisted the robbery. Having engaged in a poker game with the two men earlier in the night on the Lay Dam road, he stated they came back to town and that he got out of the car, a 1935 Ford, and followed the two men, near the Baptist Church in order that he might stop up to some extent, as they had been drinking heavily.

He stated the two returned shortly and asked if they might take him to his room at a local hotel. When he attempted to enter the car he stated one of the men drew a gun and the other took the billfold from his pocket. After he was shot, Evans said, he stumbled to the house of a negro, but failing to arouse anyone, he started down the road but collapsed before he had gone far. Hearing the commotion, the negro occupant of the house discovered Evans and aroused Mr. Simpson, who summoned the officers on duty.

A pistol was found lying near Evans. A search of his suitcase at his room revealed a box of cartridges which could be used in the gun, with only a few missing. So far, officers have been unable to find clues that might lead to the identity of the two men.

The reception proved a most successful and entertaining function, everything being designed and carried out to extend a most cordial welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Davis into the church and into the city.

Charlene Williams is spending this week at Lay Dam with Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Thompson.

DECISION OF COURT CHANGES LOCAL PICTURE

Court Holds That Supervisor Law Does Not Take Away Commissioners Power

The Supreme Court of Alabama placed a different color on the picture of operations of the Commissioners Court and the Road Supervisor's office of this county in a decision handed down sometime ago following the appeal to that higher court of a case from the Chilton County Circuit Court.

After elaborating considerably upon the matter before them and after citing several other cases that might be somewhat similar to the local Act creating the office of Road Supervisor, the Supreme Court rendered their decision. A part of the decision is as follows:

"This brings us, therefore, to consideration of the question of whether the Local Act of 1936 above mentioned was intended to and did in fact, and as a matter of law, take from the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County all control, supervision inspection and general superintendence of the public roads and bridges of said county, and deprive said court of its legislative, executive and judicial powers in respect to such roads, highways and bridges."

"By Section 1347 of the Code of the courts of county commissioners, or other like governing bodies of the several counties of this state have general superintendence of the public roads, bridges, and ferries within their respective counties, and may establish new, and change and discontinue old roads, bridges and ferries in their counties. To this end they are given."

DECREASE IN CRIME CREDIT TO LIQUOR LAW

Alabama Cities Praise Law And Show Decline In Drunkenness

Montgomery, Ala., June 1—(Special)—A sharp decrease of lawlessness in Alabama's key cities was attributed today by high officials to the regulated sale of liquor under Alabama's state-store system.

Judge Eugene Carter of Montgomery said that "personally, I think nothing has improved our community more than our present liquor laws and their administration."

"It is a source of pleasure to me," Judge Carter added, "to observe the well regulated liquor traffic under the ABC law which has replaced the old lawlessness of the old system."

Birmingham's police records showed that the first year of operation under the ABC law in the Magic City caused a marked drop in arrests for public drunkenness and driving while intoxicated.

Reports from Mobile, Huntsville, Selma, Gadsden, Dothan, Florence, and other cities in Alabama's 24 "wet" counties followed this trend, especially in the matter of public conduct on election day at the May primary.

There was a marked absence of drinking and disturbances at the polls due to a rigid shutdown of liquor sales throughout election hours, and officials reported a noticeable decline in election night "sprees."

The 54 state stores remained closed throughout May 3 on election day, and the ABC field force kept a careful watch to see that none of the retail licensees in restaurants, clubs and hotels made any sales until after the polls were closed.

Warning—The Fire Season Is Coming

Fire is always dangerous. It's only doubly dangerous in summer.
We are close to that menacing "fire season" now. Vacant lots and fields, if left uncut, are ready to burst into flame at the touch of a match. Woodlands are drying out—and when this dehydrating process reaches a certain stage, trees will literally explode when attacked by fire, and start conflagrations that may extend over tens of thousands of acres. Crown fires, running with hurricane speed and force along the tops of great trees, will extinguish all life, human or animal, in the area they cover easily prevented—if only we'll all help. Keep fire in mind, and act accordingly. If you own property see to it that it is kept clear and uncluttered, and free from any dry grass. When traveling about, never throw matches outdoors, never build fires near trees or other inflammables—and never leave a fire until it has been thoroughly extinguished, preferably with both water and sand. Obey the fire laws—they were made for your protection, not to annoy you.

As a matter of fact, the greatest tragedy of fire is that it is almost always unnecessary. Every year we burn up resources and property valued at hundreds of millions of dollars. We destroy thousands of lives. The indirect fire loss runs into the billions. It is reflected in unemployment, less business, reduced spending power. This toll is the result of carelessness, ignorance or just plain laziness. It may be that the unpreventable fire exists—but it's a very rare exception indeed. Human failure underlies at least 99 per cent of fires out of ten.

A little care and thought on your part may save your home or someone else's from destruction. It may save a life. Don't forget that.

Identify Yourself

The Nation's critical transportation problem can be solved only by the prompt adoption of a public policy which will give each form of transportation a fair chance to do the work for which it is best fitted and which can do it at the lowest true cost.
That is the opinion of J. J. Kelley, President of the Association of American Railroads. He also said: "To relieve the railroad crisis is beyond the power of the railroads themselves, because its causes are beyond their reach. It is a job for public policy, for economic statesmanship, for fair dealing. It is a job which cannot be done unless we all are willing to renounce the idea of getting something for nothing in the way of transportation, at the expense of that vague and unidentified 'other fellow'—the taxpayer—who, most disconcertingly, turns out to be all of us."

The fundamental difficulties faced by the railroads are very largely due to conditions established by public policy, under a system of regulation which has failed to fulfill its basic promise—that is, to protect the public interest in transportation, and at the same time to allow all carriers a fair return on their investment. Some carriers are directly subsidized by the government. Some are indirectly subsidized. Some are unregulated. Of them all, only the railroads are regulated in every phase of operation, are subsidized, are very heavily taxed and are, as a result of this inequitable policy, perilously close to ruin.

Certainly the policy Mr. Pelley asks for is not difficult to establish. Certainly it is not impossible to make our regulatory system conform to the conditions of today instead of yesterday. Certainly no public good can come of refusing carriers a "living wage." Today there is no more vital problem than the railroad problem—and the interest of the public demands that it be met. It is squarely up to our lawmakers to decide whether this great industry, with its army of workers and its billions of invested savings, is to be preserved.

Another Step In Clanton's Progress

This week Clanton continues its march of progress with the installation of its first Piggly Wiggly Store. It is not often that this famous organization places a store in smaller towns, and Clanton should be proud of this modern service, which will place the items desired at the finger tips of the buying public. This new type of store will mean increased business for Clanton as a whole, being just another step toward a bigger and better Clanton and Chilton County.

The News extends congratulations to new Piggly Wiggly Store and its owner, Mr. O. D. Deloach, also Mr. Paul Locklear, who will be manager. Both these men have had years of experience in the grocery business, and both have been engaged in business in Clanton for some time. We believe two more competent and progressive men could not have been found to manage and direct this store. We feel that their interest in the welfare of Clanton and Chilton County will mean much to their business and their community.

Diversion Of The Gas Tax

At the banquet at Blue Creek Camp last Thursday night, which was attended by the wholesale and retail dealers in gasoline and oil in this County, who are members of the Chilton County Petroleum Industries Committee, Earl M. Hearne, Secretary of the State Committee, related facts regarding the work of the Committee, which has as its primary purpose the ratification of an amendment which will curb the diversion of the high taxes collected on their product, to any cause other than the erection and maintenance of the public roads of the state.

The News is in accord with these men when they contend that the motorist is bearing more than his share of the tax burden and that the tax money should go for no other purpose than the maintenance of roads and erection of same. We cannot see why the car owner should contribute to the departments of the State Government that have no connection with the upkeep of the roads which he travels. He is paying, thru other tax channels, for the support of the Government. Just because he is the owner of an automobile, we see no reason why he should be forced to go more than his share, and to which the non-vehicle owner does not contribute.

Our taxes on Petroleum products are the highest in the Union. Tourists are shunning our State because of these excessive taxes and thereby steering business from the doors of gas and oil men of the State. The Petroleum Industries are not trying to shirk their share of the taxes—they are only asking for a square deal. The Amendment will be listed as No. One in the general election of November 8.

Congratulations To Memphis

Memphis, Tennessee, deserves the nation's congratulations. It has been declared winner in the National Safety Council's Sixth Annual Traffic Safety Contest. Six other cities also won prizes in their population groups: Milwaukee, Hartford, Beaumont, Texas; Everett, Washington; and Des Moines, Illinois. The grand prize for states went to Massachusetts.

Memphis won the major prize for cities by carrying out a comprehensive, continuous safety program. There was outstanding activity in the field of traffic enforcement and the Commissioner of Public Safety offers $100 to anyone who can prove that a traffic ticket was "fixed." Many street improvements were made, in order to correct danger points. Many miles of pavement were clearly marked, in order to keep vehicles in their proper lanes. A city law requires each motor vehicle in Memphis to be inspected three times a year.

Equally important, the city pursues steady, effective educational work, to acquaint local residents with traffic dangers and how to eliminate them. The result of all this was a substantial reduction in the city's accident, death and injury rates.

What Memphis and the other winning cities did, any community can do. In smaller towns the safety program will naturally be less complicated and expensive, but similar results can be achieved. Sad experience has proven that sporadic safety drives, no matter how enthusiastic or sincere their sponsors, are next to worthless—continuity of effort is absolutely vital. Public education, plus the correction of accident-prone locations, plus rigorous, non-fixable law enforcement, are the great essentials of any accident reduction campaign that gets results.

AND PLENTY OF IT—

When gasoline men eat they really eat, so we found out last Friday night. We're not in the gasoline business, but the Chilton Unit of the Petroleum Industries were very nice in inviting us down to put on the feed bag with them. And what a feed! Just when I'd decide it had all been taken care of, a waiter was right there with a platter of that real good barbecue with all that goes with it, and of course we'd have another helping. And then there was a splendid talk by Mr. Earl M. Hearne, Secretary of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee. Interesting pictures were shown of their first State Convention held in Montgomery. We had a fine time being with these fellows, and also learned many interesting things concerning their work in trying to do, or have something done about these taxes and gas being sapped on the gas business of the State.

THE BOY SCOUTS—

If you've been to an entertainment at the local high school at night you have probably noticed the splendid service rendered by the Clanton Boy Scouts. Upon entering the grounds with your car they take you to the car and assist in any way—in other words they are living up to the Boy Scout tradition. Performing a courteous service is what they enjoy, and the Clanton youths are not lacking in their duty. The Clanton Scouts have been invited by the Kiwanis Club to attend their meeting tonight, at which time the Scout Executive of the State will be on hand to assist in the re-organization of these lads.

SINCE APRIL 16—

Until April 16, 1938, we had never really paid much attention to the prices on items listed in the ads that were carried in the Chilton County News each week. It has been our job for several years—ever since our connection with the News—to see to it that that ads were neatly arranged, and that the prices on items were printed as our advertisers listed them. But on the above date we joined the huge army of grocery buyers, and now it becomes necessary that we make many purchases weekly that we heretofore left to someone else. Replenishing from day to day the larder of a household, and having many items we didn't buy, we find it necessary to consult the ads each week for bargains. We are glad to make our purchases from the merchants who use their local newspapers as mediums for advertising their wares. It's more or less complaining with the cliché of "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours." There are many people in Chilton County who read the News weekly and consult the ads carried for the best bargains. Mr. Merchant, will they read your ad this week in the News?

OUR DEFINITION—

Friendliness is a quality that is outstanding. We know of no other quality possessed by a person, that more plainly points out the true nature of that person. We don't mean to say that every person is endowed with an abundance of wealth, materially, or that he is minus other imperfections, but we do believe that a friendly disposition will make up for a good many failings, and that friendliness will pave the way for many advantages in life. In our humble opinion there are many people who want to be friendly but, to put it plainly, they don't know how. Some invisible force has a tendency to hold them back. They just fail to say those few cherry words to persons whom they chance to contact in their everyday lives, which would not only add a little spice of the real joy of living to their own lives but to others also. There are people everywhere like this—they have no ill feelings toward their neighbors, their attitude should not be taken as harboring a grievance. They just simply fail to practice that "good morning" and "hello" just a moment longer to add those few words which are gestures of friendliness and that show the real human side of human beings.

Mayor C. Fenn Jones, in the interest of a city beautiful for Clanton, this week gives his views regarding dogs on the city streets. Mr. Jones says he does not want to make it compulsory for dog owners to keep them up, but that something must be done about this menace. We admit Clanton has an over-supply of dogs, and that some nights sleep is hard to find.

We were glad to see our good friend, A. E. Reagan, in town the other day. Mr. Reagan has been confined to his home for some time following a paralytic stroke. We certainly hope he will soon be at his post as manager of the Big Four Hardware Company.

Well, we would at least like to know if that friend receiving the letter we sent by Air Mail during the National Air Mail Week. But maybe he hasn't received it yet. We'll allow a little more time.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Hawker

I had made a journey to a distant city. On getting up the next morning I made plans for my morning shave. The water was ready, soap and brush were used and my face was well lathered. Being in readiness for the shave I reached into my shaving kit for the razor and discovered that I had left it at home. There I was ready to shave and the very thing that it took to have a shave was at home. The religious life of many people are in a like condition. They have the form of godliness, but are all fixed up with liberality, church rivalry, ritualism, but they fail to have the presence of God within them. They are all lathered up with a form of godliness, but they are lacking in the all important thing of an experience of salvation. Righteousness is not a form of piety that we can spread on the outside and thus preserve the soul. When it comes to go to heaven an experience of God within is the thing that we must have.

I carried my watch to the jeweler. After cleaning the works and then adjusting it to correct timekeeping, he handed it to me saying, "Be sure to wind your watch every morning about the same time of the day." Said he, "Your watch is a delicate combination of machinery and during the day it is going to meet with many bumps and shocks as you move about your work, and it needs to run on a strong spring." Jesus would have us to come before Him in worship at the beginning of every day. In the passing of the hours of the day we are going to meet with many bumps and shocks and our soul needs to be running on a strong spring. Every family and every individual should spend a few moments in worship at the beginning of every day that the soul may be made firm and steady for the duties of the day.

One day I was in the room with a doctor. His patient was suffering quite a bit. She was evidently disturbed over her condition and was the doctor. After the physician had prescribed medicine she arose to leave the room. At the door she turned and asked this question, "Doctor, how long must I take this medicine?" The doctor's reply was to think, "Mrs. Smith," and he said, "You take that medicine as long as you feel a pain." In other words she was to take it until she stopped hurting. One day I witnessed a preacher as he took up a collection for a special cause. During his remarks he made this statement, "Friends, this is a most worthy cause and I want you to give until it hurts." Most people hurt every time they give. My advice to you would be like the advice of the doctor, "Give until you stop hurting because you give." When you give until it produces pain in your heart, you have a very serious symptom. When we have learned to give as we should, giving will be a pleasure and not a pain.

A wealthy lady was restless and unhappy. One day she said to her maid, "Ethel, I think I need a change of climate and scenery and I know a place on the seashore where I can go and find contentment and happiness." "No Mam," replied the servant, "You would not be contented there and that will not bring you happiness, because you will have to take along yourself with you and will never be happy with yourself." There are some folks who have so trained themselves until they can never find contentment and happiness where they are. Had it ever occurred to you that no matter where you went you would not be contented along with you. Happiness is not so much an outward surrounding as it is an inward state. The best way to be happy anywhere is to grow happiness in the soul.

An old Scotch preacher was faithfully dispensing the Word of God to his audience when he looked back over near the middle of the church and saw one of his elders fast asleep. This sight rather irritated the old man and so he lifted the Bible in his right hand and then threw it at the slumbering elder. The Bible went true to its mark and slapped the sleeping man in the face with a startling blow. When the elder had balanced himself the old Scotch preacher fairly shouted at him, "Brother, if you are not interested enough to hear the Word of God, I will make you feel it!" There are people in our day who are not interested enough in the Word of God to hear what God says. They sleep on when God is speaking to them. The time is coming when they will feel the slap of the Word of God as it hits them squarely upon the face. When we fail to hear and heed Divine truth, then it is that Divine Laws will make us to feel the weight of Providence.

A Statement to the Voters from Karl C. Harrison, Candidate For The State Senate

I wish to thank the voters of Chilton County for the splendid vote I received on May 3rd in my race for the State Senate from the 15th Senatorial District. I led my opponent in each of the counties in which we ran.

The total votes by counties are as follows:

	Karl C. Harrison	Dr. J. A. Hines
CHILTON	831	784
AUTAUGA	785	494
SHELBY	1443	1173
	3059	2451

Local Legislation

I will repeal the Road Law in Chilton County. I am not obligated to pass or repeal any other local law affecting your county. I will cooperate with your representative, and will at all times be guided by what the majority of the people of Chilton County want.

Education

I think no function of government is more important than education, and I favor an eight months term for the elementary schools and a nine months term for high schools.

Economy And Sales Tax

I will support and work to bring about every reasonable economy that can be made in our State Government and, after doing this, if we can carry on the essential functions of government without the sales tax I will not vote to continue it.

Auto Tags

I favor reducing the cost of auto tags.

Conservation

We in Alabama have a future of untold wealth in our pine forest, and I am greatly in sympathy with the conservation movement to teach us how to conserve and obtain the most benefits from these forests. I am in favor of our government rendering every assistance possible to this movement.

Farming, Public Health And Public Welfare

I shall at all times stand for and work to promote the farm extension work, and public health and public welfare.

Secret Ballot And Absentee Ballot

I favor a secret ballot and an improvement in our absentee ballot laws, and I think we should allow a person otherwise qualified to pay two years back poll tax and become a qualified voter.

Homesteads

I am in favor of exempting homesteads from State taxation.

Personal

I am on the Board of Stewards of the Columbiana Methodist Church, and teach a boys' Sunday School Class. I am President of the Columbiana Exchange Club.

I am thirty years of age and have been practicing law in Columbiana, Shelby County, Alabama, for the past two years and a half. Prior to the time I began practicing law I worked in a bank in Birmingham for eight years. I attended the University of Alabama and then studied law at a night school in Birmingham. I am vitally interested in good government, and have tried to prepare myself with the view of bringing about better government.

KARL C. HARRISON.
(Paid Pol. Adv. by Karl C. Harrison, Columbiana, Ala.)

SPORTING WITH SPORTS

Marvin W. Marcus, Sports Editor

Says Bill Rollow

In reading Bill Rollow's sport column, it sounds as if Bill was somewhat inclined to overlook both sides of the question of Kilby having several outside ball players on their club. Bill says:

Three Men In Jail

The Yankees and the Cardinals are supposed to have the finest scouting systems in the world. But Kilby Prison has them beat. Major Boyd, a local sand lot ball player, has been fired as a guard. They tell me he is a very good guard in right field. Is right field where that big, high wall is? And, can he guard base hits?

J. O. Jones is playing shortstop and Auburn's Dick Swindle of Parrish is pitching for Kilby. They all insist they are not there permanently—they can all get out whenever they want to—and not a one of them has been convicted of anything—on the record.

Swindle will also serve as an intern in veterinary medicine—but will get a reprieve in the Fall to go back to Auburn to complete his course.

Officials in the Kilby league should look into the Kilby situation—they are subsidizing a lot of ball players—whether or not it is against the rules.—This Is My Story And I'll Stick To It. BILL KOLBY.

The writer wonders if Bill has covered the sports situation as a sports sports writer should, as to have attended a game held in the walls of Kilby Prison. If he has, how can he show such attitude by saying they are subsidizing a lot of ball players.

The writer takes the other side of the situation. First, by saying, I have had the opportunity of attending several games held in these prison walls and each time have been deeply impressed with the great work and consideration shown by the officials of this institution to the unfortunate inmates in keeping the morale to the proper standard.

Of course, it may be true that all institutions of this sort have no exact program of recreation, but it is a fact all such institutions participate in some form of recreation and any kind of program necessitates, and expense of which some have no such funds, and in such cases are not the officials to be complimented on using the opportunities of placing such men as the three ball players mentioned by Bill, in the necessary positions open that will help further the necessary recreation program, without an added expense, of which they do not have.

The Clamps Clamped

The local ball club managed to get back in the winning column last Sunday at Lay Dam, winning from Fairview Athletic Club of Birmingham, behind the sensational hurling of the Clamps' new pitcher, Bud Teague, ace hurler of the University of Alabama, by a score of 7-3. Teague struck out 14 men—sitting down the first five batters in order without a foul ball, however, his wildness was somewhat responsible for the three errors. However, as this might seem, should not cast any reflections on the opposing teams as had it not been for the type of pitching for the Clamps it might have been a song with a different title.

Teague has been definitely secured for the season and should mean many wins instead of possible losses.

It seems to have been one of the two weak places of our team, that of pitching, but let it be said here, we know we have two boys on our club that can pitch, the other being Mickey McGuire, who lost a heart breaker last Friday over at Sylacauga against Mignon Mills. Pitching a four-hit game, losing by a score of 5 to 2, allowing two hits, no runs for six innings and having five runs made in the seventh on two hits and four errors. But the boys behind our pitchers are working hard to overcome the Big Boogaboos of no hits and lots of errors, because in Sunday's game lots of hits and few errors were had.

The Big Four of The Clamps Are—
Tabscott . . . 666
Baker . . . 556
Hayes . . . 361
Littlejohn . . . 333

Watch some of the other boys climb into this column next week.

End of the spirit's longing.
Dreams come true in the dawning.
Living, I taste God's grace, Dying, I see his face."

Whereas, Wise Heavenly Father has taken Irene Smitherman, a Pilot in the true sense of the word, One whose gentle, clinging nature harbored no harshness, but radiated love, patience, and kindness. One who loved her club and supported it with both her spirit and her work—and whereas, we are bereft of a wise counselor and a collaborator in God's vineyard.

Therefore, be it resolved, first, that we as a Club express a deep sense of loss and that we be constrained through her influence to exemplify the fruit of her spirit in or own lives.

Second, that we extend sympathy to the sorrowing family and commend them to the Lord who is high unto them that are of a broken heart.

Third, that resolutions be put on the minutes of the Club and sent to the Chilton County papers for publication and to the bereft family.

Respectfully submitted,
—Mamie C. Smith, Zora Guy Smith, Olive Welch, Clanton Pilot Club.

IN MEMORY OF T. C. ABBOTT
Friday morning, May 27, at his home near Pletcher, Mr. T. C. Abbott left this world for a home in the great beyond. Being a firm believer in his Master, we know he has gone to rest. To us grandfathers it is not dead but sleeping. He has gone on to await the coming of his loved one to the land of peaceful rest. He was 84 years of age and leaves to mourn his loss, our step-mother; six children, J. L. and J. T. Abbott, Mrs. G. B. Will, William Fletcher, Mrs. Gertrude Poole of Montgomery, Mrs. B. Edwards or Irondale, Mr. C. D. Abbott of Antauvauville, and 24 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

"Thi remains were laid to rest in Pilgrim's Rest Cemetery Saturday morning, May 30, 1938, at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Hughes officiating—a grand daughter, Mrs. Gladys Osley.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for their help and many deeds of sympathy and kindness shown us during the illness and death of our dear father, Mr. T. CLINICS FOR TYPHOID WILL BEGIN JUNE 7

Health Officer Urges All To Become Immune Of Typhoid Fever

Announcement of the beginning of summer typhoid clinics to be held by the local health department was made this week by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer. A total of 12 clinics are being arranged for the month of June, 5 to be conducted by the health officer and 7 by the health nurse. The program for the summer to continue through July will include all of the larger community centers, the local health officer said.

The schedule for June was announced as follows:

Clinics by Health Officer
Stanton School—June 7, 9 A.M. to 11 A.M.

Maplesville School—June 7, 11:30 A.M. to 2 P.M.

Alabama Mills School—June 9, 8:30 A.M. to 10 A.M.

Jemison School—June 9, 10:30 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Verberna School—June 10, 9 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Clinics by Health Nurse
Isabella School—June 7, 9 A.M. to 11 A.M.

Vermont School—June 7, 11:30 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Collins Chapel School—June 9, 9 A.M. to 10:30 A.M.

Thorsby School—June 9, 11 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Fairview School—June 10, 9 A.M. to 10 A.M.

Shiloh School—June 10, 10 A.M. to 11:30 A.M.

Ponwell School—June 10, 12 A.M. to 1:30 P.M.

In commenting on the summer immunization program, Dr. Sturkie remarked, "Four visits will be made to each of the above places and the health officer or nurse will arrive as promptly as possible unless unavoidably detained by car trouble, etc. 'In view of the fact that it has been now 3 years since there has been any large scale giving of shots' by the health department in Chilton County, a large number of persons should receive the immunization this summer. It should be remembered that immunity conferred by typhoid vaccine lasts only from 2-3 years and should be repeated at least every three years. If we are to hold our typhoid incidence down there must be a response such as there was in 1935 when 5756 persons were vaccinated against typhoid fever. Since that year there has been a gradual decline in the number of cases of typhoid fever in the County, fifteen being recorded in 1935, 8 in 1936, 2 in 1937 and only two so far in 1938."

"It will be the policy of the health department," he said, "to hold all clinics at the schools unless it is not convenient to do so. It is quite impossible for either the health officer or the nurse to stop at individual homes to immunize persons as too much time is consumed. In addition to the typhoid vaccination, diphtheria toxoid will be offered to all unprotected children under the age of eight. It is especially urged that infants above the age of six months be immunized against diphtheria. Besides the clinics to be held in the County a weekly session will be held each Saturday from 8:00 A. M. to 1:00 P. M. at the health office in Clanton."

YOU can have a lot of trouble if you run out of oil. Burned out bearings for instance, or scuffed pistons, or maybe even a cylinder rebore job.

That's why we Shell dealers are making you this proposition: If we don't check your oil when you drive into our station—and you catch us up on it—we'll bring your oil level up to the full mark free.

What's more, we'll put in Golden Shell Oil—the oil that's especially made to reduce the wear of stop-and-go driving. Because it's fast-flowing, this oil leaps to every moving engine part the instant you step on the starter. And it's tough, too, so that it won't break down under the heat of steady running. In fact—

There's no finer oil at any price than Golden Shell.

Apprentice Training Has Appeal
For Young Workers in the South

Brickmason Apprentice Receiving Instruction

Apprentice training has become an important feature of many large industrial plants in the United States. One of the latest programs of this nature which aims at providing an adequate supply of skilled workers, has been launched by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company in Birmingham, Ala. The program consists of a four-year course and is designed to train young men as all-around, skilled journeymen in their respective crafts. At present approximately sixty apprentices are enrolled.

The instruction schedules cover fourteen trades. The time of the apprentice is divided between the shop where he obtains practical experience, and the class room where he studies a course related to his craft, supplied by the International Correspondence Schools. Study courses cover such trades as mechanical drawing, mathematics, blue print reading and construction design.

Apprentices must be between 17 and 24 years when enrolled. They must be graduates of a high school or vocational school, or must possess an equivalent educational background.

Apprentice applicants are required to stand aptitude tests and to measure up to a high standard of physical and mental fitness before being selected for training.

Interest In Taxation
Product Of Depression

Growing public interest in taxation and especially in the cost of taxes to the individual, is one of the few beneficial effects of recent depressions, in the opinion of L. H. Anderson, Executive of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee. Mr. Anderson told the continuing cost of taxes, soon would lead to a revision of the nation's complicated and hopelessly costly tax system.

"The old saying 'it's an ill wind which blows no good' properly can be applied to recent depressions," Mr. Anderson explained, "which appear to be having a beneficial effect in arousing growing public interest in taxation, and especially in the cost of taxes to the individual. Folks whose incomes seriously have been curtailed and who find it increasingly difficult to make both ends meet, are paying more attention to the high cost of taxes."

"Items in the press indicate that all over the country people are becoming aware of the fact that taxes are costing too much, and that something must be done in the way of revision of the nation's complicated and hopelessly costly tax system. The motorist taxpayer, protesting his own high and duplicated taxes, has been joined by thousands of others who also have discovered that the policy of shifting taxes to somebody else cannot be substituted for reduced tax costs as a solution of the tax problem."

"Among the more promising efforts are studies of the costs of government, and of taxes, now are being made in several states in the hope that some way may be found to achieve economies in government operation and thereby permanently reduce tax costs. Our organizations are ready and willing to cooperate in these efforts."

Hogs Serve Double Purpose On Farms

Hogs can serve two purposes on Alabama farms—supply home meats and supply a cash crop, emphasizes F. W. Burns, livestock specialist, Alabama Extension Service.

Twenty percent of the State's farms do not produce pork even for home consumption, he says, adding that enough farmers all over Alabama are producing hogs for market to prove that they can be made a profitable cash crop if efficiently handled.

A farmer can start now, Mr. Burns says, by buying a bred sow or gilt, preferably of a good type that is prolific, early maturing, and is able to convert feed into pork economically. The sow should be treated for cholera, and should receive green feed, or pasture, plenty of water and shade, enough corn to keep her thrifty, and half a lb. of mixture of equal parts of tankage and cottonseed meal. He says it will be better assurance of a thrifty litter of pigs if a mineral mixture of equal parts of charcoal, slaked lime, and salt is kept before the sow.

Since 75 percent of the cost of pork production is feed, it is essential that an adequate supply of home-grown feed be produced to feed the pigs. Experiments have shown that in the field 250-300 pounds of peanuts in the field or six bushels of corn and 50 pounds of protein supplement to produce 100 pounds of pork.

For additional information Mr. Burns advises farmers to contact their county agents to get bulletins giving the details of hog production on the farm.

IN MEMORIAM TO G. W.
MULLINS

Dear father, you have left us, And your smile we miss so sore. Our hearts are filled with sadness, For no time can heal that sore.

More and more each day we miss you, Friends all think the wound is healed. But they little know how sore That is in our hearts congealed.

We often sit and think of you When we are all alone. For memory is the only friend That grief can call its own.

What is life without you. All the things a world may send? For when we lost you dear father, Wet lost our dearest friend.

You wore the crown of patience, Thru the years you struggled on. And those hands that rest forever Are the hands that blessed our home.

Soft and bright the stars are shining Spreading o'er a lonely grave, Where lies the one we love so dearly. We tried so hard but could not save.

Mrs. W. L. Coggins

Mr. Mary Bloom, 31, won a divorce at Baltimore from August Bloom, testifying she was saved only by her ample size when her husband tried to push her through a window during a dispute.

Specialist Gives Workstock Rations

A good livestock feeding rule for Alabama farmers is to feed more roughage and less grain to idle animals and more grain and less roughage to animals at hard work, says Dr. R. S. Sugg, livestock specialist, Alabama Extension Service.

Another good rule for the farmer to follow is to give heavy working horses and mules about one and one-half pounds of grain and one pound of roughage for each one hundred pounds of live-weight. The roughage should be fed at night and the grain fed either in two or three feeds, says Dr. Sugg.

He lists the following rations for best results for heavy work (1000-lb. animal): No. 1, 7 pounds of corn, 7 pounds of oats, and 10 pounds of hay; No. 2, 12 lbs. of corn, 2 pounds of cottonseed meal, and 10 pounds of hay; No. 3, 15 pounds of ground ear corn, 2 pounds of cottonseed meal and 10 pounds of hay.

For light work a 1000 pound animal should get one of the following rations: No. 1, 4 pounds corn, 4 pounds oats, 12 pounds hay; No. 2, 6 pounds corn, 1 lb. cottonseed meal, 12 pounds hay; No. 3, 10 pounds ground ear corn, 1 pound cottonseed meal, 12 pounds hay.

When work animals are idle they should be allowed to run in a good pasture or fed 15 to 20 pounds of hay and about five pounds of grain mixture, according to Dr. Sugg. In feeding cottonseed meal farmers should be sure it is free of lumps and molds. The meal should be started by feeding one-fourth pound per day and increasing it up to two pounds gradually.

DODGE SALES CHIEF DIES ON WAY TO DEALER MEETINGS

From Los Angeles comes the word of the sudden death of W. M. Purves, whose promotion to the post of general sales manager of the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation, was announced a few weeks ago. Purves, who had been in the automobile business since 1907, was 50 years old on the day of his passing. Born May 8, 1888 in Pittsburgh, he left the steel city with his parents at the age of four, for Princeton, N. J., where he later attended the University. Subsequently he took an engineering course at Cornell.

Purves' first connection with motor cars was in 1907, in Orilla, Ontario, where he became a mechanic in the Canadian EMF plant and married Miss Mary Roberta Wade. Having risen to the position of service manager, he joined the Ford Motor Company in 1910 and was with that company in various capacities until the United States entered the World War. He was then given leave of absence to become a member of the Federal Government's Executive Committee of five men operating the gas defense plants in New York.

At the close of the War Purves rejoined the Ford organization, remaining with it until late in 1919, when he received the appointment of assistant sales manager of the Willis Ste. Clair Company at Maryville. Another move took him to the Gray Motor Company as general sales manager, before his connection with Dodge Brothers.

This came in 1924, when Purves was made a member of the Dodge field organization as a district manager. He was stationed at Detroit and later Dallas, Texas, before being promoted to regional manager at Chicago. His next step was to the factory at Detroit and in 1926, to the post of passenger car sales manager. Another promotion, to assistant general sales manager, came in 1931, and in April 1938, when A. W. DerZee became Vice-president of Chrysler Corporation, Purves was appointed general sales manager of Dodge.

Purves was a member of the Detroit Athletic Club, Orchard Lake Country Club and Princeton Club. Surviving his widow, four sisters residing in Princeton, Eleanor Parke Armstrong; Mrs. William Park Armstrong; Mrs. Elwood Alden Frost; and George Tybout Purves of a brother.

Over anxious to get hold of a food market in Los Angeles, burglars employed much dynamite in blasting the safe to blow the money to bits.

Thirty-two years ago, while threshing wheat near Williston, Mont., Carl Olson lost a pocket knife. Recently the knife was found and returned to him by a neighbor.

BIRTHDAY DINNER
Last Sunday a host of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. R. C. Hand in honor of the birthday of the morning. The morning was spent in talking and jokes. At noon a bountiful dinner was served to all those enjoying the day. Mrs. and Mr. J. C. Arant, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Arant, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Foshee and children, Mrs. Nora and Kathleen Thornton,

To The Dog Owners Of Clanton

Many interesting articles have been written on the subject of dogs, telling of their devotion to man, their protection to children, their aid to the blind, and of their general benefit to all the world. Some of these articles are so extravagantly written, expressing the value of dogs one would be persuaded to believe were it not for dogs, the people could scarcely exist. Business would slow down and the world fall to function in its usual way.

In addressing this letter to you, I do so with the full knowledge of your appreciation of your dog; that you would perhaps to the extreme in giving your dog protection. This attitude is prompted first by the fact the dog is yours, and you object to anything of your own being damaged or mistreated. We all have this feeling for our possessions. In the second place I believe we have been influenced by the press of the country to place too great a value on dogs and our interest and appreciation are somewhat unreasonable. We are kind of impressed that it is unpopular not to love a dog, and it is almost unpardonable to attempt to reduce their number in the community, or to restrict their liberty. A nice sweet girl or lady believes she is attracting favorable comment and notice to herself when she appears on the street with a dog in her arms. It is my opinion of a secret vote were taken, disapproval would be expressed, but when she meets her associates along the way, a little policy and desire on their part to please her at once prompts them to begin to "rave" about how cute the dog is.

I have no personal dislike for a dog. When I was a boy living in the country I had a yard full of them. Recently I made friends with a handsome black dog of fine blood, and it followed me home. I refused it admission to my home at the front door, and it went immediately to the back door, and was so appealing in its manner and expression that I opened the door, and the dog inspected my home as if to determine whether to remain with me permanently or not. The half fed and sick dogs have my sympathy, and I am never unkind to a dog. They should not be mistreated, but I think our attitude toward dogs should be changed. I believe we should place a commercial value on them, and the possession of one should be determined entirely on its being able to render a useful and needed service to the home and should not be kept as a pet. If the dog cannot earn its feed and keep by giving service, then do not have the dog. This policy would reduce the number in the community and eliminate the worthless breed known as the cur or mongrel.

Why not place the dog in the same class with the horse, or beast of burden? Would you feed a horse if it did not need its labor? Then just as you have the expense of a dog, the mess and odor it creates about the home? People in the country have use for dogs, but we, who live in towns and cities do not, as a rule, need one at all. My friend, Bud Jones, the cattle man, has a dog. I think it is a help to him in handling cattle and he is justified in keeping the dog in Clanton.

About ninety per cent of the dogs in Clanton are a real nuisance and should be disposed of. They ruin the flowers and shrubs in the yards of your neighbors. They sleep on the porches and in porch chairs. Mats, rugs or cushions left on porches over night are often ruined. They turn the garbage cans over and scatter the contents about the premises. If the street men fail to take additional time to gather it all up, this brings a complaint from the housewife against the men and the dogs also. They dig great holes in the yards of your neighbors and otherwise mess the yard so much it is unsafe to walk through the yard and return into the house without first careful examination of one's shoes. They bark at each other most of the night across the town, and several times during the week they have got-together meetings and parties, and prizes are awarded to the one that barks the loudest and the longest. Usually there is not much regulation, or strict rule, so it seems they all bark at the same time, and the party is brought to a tree-for-all fight over the prizes. Your neighbors do not sleep well while all this noise is being made.

Such complaints as I have mentioned are made frequently to me and to the Council, and earnest request made of the Council to pass a law requiring of the owners of dogs on their own premises. Citizens have appeared before the Council at our meetings and almost demanded that they take some action to give them protection against your dogs. The demand that a "dog law" be passed is growing stronger each day. Therefore I am writing you this letter to kindly say to you if you do not prevent your dogs from disturbing your neighbors, you will hasten the time when the City Council will be compelled by the demand of a large citizenship, to forbid the running at large of your dogs.

It is your privilege to own a dog, or as many as you wish, but you do not have the right to allow them to disturb your neighbor, or to damage his property. Our home in town being so close to each other, it is almost impossible for one to own a dog without it annoying, to an extent, your neighbor. Its bark and its activities is not hard on prevailing to him as it is to your neighbor. Your neighbor, as a rule, will not complain to you. He wants your good feeling and friendship, but he brings his troubles to your Mayor and Council and often requests that we do not mention his or her name.

My second reason for this letter is to ask you most kindly to consider the matter in a broadminded and reasonable way. Ask yourself the question: If you really need a dog; if you do not, then help your officers by destroying it, to have a cleaner city. Your neighbor deserves consideration. Be a good neighbor by according to him all legislative, judicial and executive powers, except as limited in and by the statute. These courts are courts of limited jurisdiction and powers as to the construction, maintenance and improvement of the public roads, bridges and ferries, except as their jurisdiction may be limited by the local or special statutes of the State. They are given by the law the authority and power to establish, promulgate and enforce rules and regulations, make and enter into such contracts as may be necessary, or as may be deemed necessary and advisable; to build, construct and maintain a good system of public roads and bridges, and regulate the use thereof.

"But it is insisted by appellant that this general superintendence, and other powers and duties with respect to the public roads of Chilton County, conferred by the general law (Code, Section 1347, upon the court of county commissioners of said county, were taken from the said court by the local act of 1936.

"It has been repeatedly held by this court, that in performance of their duties with reference to the location, erection, repair or removal, 'or in the furnishing of the county's buildings, bridges and roads,' the court of county commissioners exercise a function that is quasi legislative. Enslay Motor Car Co. v. O'Rear, Texas, 196 Ala. 481, 71 So. 704; Matkins v. Marengo County, 137 Ala. 135, 34 So. 171; Tally v. Jackson County, 175 Ala. 64, 39 So. 107; Eutaw v. Coleman, 189 Ala. 164, 66 So. 464; Commissioners Court v. Hearne, 59 Ala. 371; Askew v. Hale County, 54 Ala. 639, 25 Am. Rep. 730.

"By the local act of 1936, the Legislature created in and for Chilton County the office of Road supervisor, with power in the Governor to appoint the supervisor to serve until the first Monday in February, 1939, and thereafter, the Court of County Commissioners are required to appoint the supervisor. "By Section 3 of the Act the Road

Supervisor may be removed by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County for neglect of duty, or for any other cause which would furnish grounds for impeachment of public officers.

"By Section 5 of the Act the duty imposed upon, and authority vested in the Road Supervisor, as to building or repairing the public roads and bridges in Chilton County, are expressly declared to be subject to the control of the Commissioners' Court, as set forth in the Act.

"To be sure the Road Supervisor is charged with the duty of supervising the construction, maintenance and repairing the public roads in said county, but this does not mean that he displaces, in this respect, the court of county commissioners, and this court is stripped of its statutory power conferred upon it by Section 1347 of the Code. This supervisor is required to be a civil engineer, and his duties and authority in no wise conflict with the general powers of the court. He is in immediate charge of the construction, maintenance and repair of the roads, but his duties are purely ministerial and subordinate to the Court of County Commissioners. (Court of County Commissioners of Pike County v. Johnson) 229 Ala. 417 So. 481; (Arledge v. J. D. Pittman Tractor Co., Inc.) (M.S.).

"A consideration of the Act of 1936, supra, convince us that there was no legislative purpose to transfer the powers vested in the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County from that court and vest the same in the Road supervisor. If such had been the legislative mind, different language and different terms would have been employed. Repeal of statutes by implication is not favored, and in this local act we find nothing which would be rise to an inference that it was the legislative purpose to deprive the Court of County Commissioners of its legislative, executive and judicial functions with respect to the public roads, bridges and ferries in said county. The said local act in no wise conflicts with Section 1347 of the Code, nor does it deprive the Court of County Commissioners of any power or authority conferred upon it by said Section 1347 of the Code.

"The only basis for the contention of appellant that the expenditures complained of were illegal is rested upon the erroneous assumption that the Local Act of 1936 took from the Court of County Commissioners all duties imposed by statute upon said court, and, as we have reached the conclusion that the local act in no wise conflicted with the provisions of Section 1347, it necessarily follows that the circuit court properly sustained the demurrers of the respondents taking this point, and petitioner having declined to plead further, the court also properly dismissed the petition.

"It results, therefore, that the judgment of the circuit court must be affirmed. "Affirmed. "Anderson, C. J., Thomas and Brown, JJ., concur."

The local Committee was winner of this contest on merit of membership type of publicity, accomplishments, etc. W. E. Huddleston is Chairman of the Chilton County Committee, and acted as master of ceremonies during the banquet.

After all the appetites had been sufficiently appeased, the State Committee, Secretary of the State Committee, made a splendid talk on the purpose and work of the Committee, and showed moving pictures of the first State Convention held in Montgomery in March of this year. These pictures showed the huge parade taken in the Capitol City in which this County took an active part. The Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee protest the burden of taxes which have been heaped upon this state's motorists and are working for the ratification of an amendment preventing the diversion of taxes derived from their products for purposes other than the building and maintenance of roads over the State. This Amendment will come before the people in the November election.

Mr. Hearne expressed his appreciation for the splendid work being done by the Chilton Unit, stating that much progress is being made over the State to the end that their purpose be accomplished. The meeting was adjourned by Mr. Huddleston.

Legionnaires To Meet

In Montgomery Soon

Plans are rapidly materializing for the Twentieth Annual Department Convention to be held in Montgomery on July 10-12.

Col. Wm. F. Screws, General Convention Chairman, at an organization meeting recently appointed the following Legionnaires to act as Chairmen of the various convention committees: Finance, P. M. Nicrosi, Housing, J. M. Dickerson; Registration, John Figh; Decorations, C. W. Scott; Parade, Millard L. Scott; Musical organization, Luther Waller; Publicity, B. S. Fitzpatrick; and H. G. Pannell, liaison with Legion Auxiliary, Judge Eugene Carter.

All of the Department's Legion Great have been invited to attend. Among the more prominent who have been accepted are: Louis Johnson, Asst. Secretary of War, Associate Justice Hugo Black of the U. S. Supreme Court, Hon. J. Lister Hill, Junior U. S. Senator. Governor Bibb Graves, Retiring Governor of Alabama, and Frank M. Dixon, Governor Nominating Committee. Los Starnes, Pete Jarman, John Sparkman, Luther Patrick and George Grant, also all Past Department Commanders. Chairman Screws, however, wants it distinctly understood that all will make a speech. In fact, outside of one or two principal addresses, we will have a lot at a minimum. As it is, the time is far too short to get in all of the entertainment planned.

The program will get underway on Sunday night, July 10, in the form of a memorial exercise to be participated in by members of the Legion, Ladies Auxiliary, and Sons of the Legion. Monday morning will be given over to welcoming guests and speeches of response. Following this will come a big barbecue, the annual parade, competitive drills among the various mutual organizations, the Auxiliary Dining Hall, a big military ball. Six drum corps and five bands have signified their intentions of attending. Six hundred dollars worth of prizes are to be awarded among these organizations. From a musical standpoint it will be one of the greatest fiestas to have ever been held in Alabama. Tuesday will be given over to the election of officers and other routine business.

The General Committee in untrusting in its efforts to make this one of the greatest of all Legion Conventions and urges every Legionnaire in the State to attend and participate in this most colorful of affairs.

Multicolored coral from all parts of the world will be displayed at the 1938 World's Fair of the West on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

GOOD RELIEF of constipation by a

GOOD LAXATIVE

Many folks get such refreshing relief by taking Black-Draught for constipation that they prefer it to other laxatives and urge their friends to try it. Black-Draught is made of the leaves and roots of plants. It does not disturb digestion but stimulates the lower bowel so that constipation is relieved.

Trees Wanted—

We were pleased to receive a letter from Marie Bankhead Owen, director of Alabama's Department of Archives and History. Mrs. Owen is interested in securing some data regarding historic trees in Alabama and would like to know if any such trees exist in Chilton County. For instance, Mrs. Owen says, in Baldwin County there is the "Jackson Oak," under which General Jackson held some important military conferences. Then, in Elmore County there formerly stood the tree under which Tecumseh made his famous speech to the Creek and Choctaw Indians. However, Mrs. Owen advises that tree has been destroyed by the ravages of Nature. You know of any historic tree in Chilton County the writer would be glad to hear of it, or you may just write to Mrs. Owen at Montgomery.

Good Judgement—

Our city officials—made another display of good judgement recently when they became affiliated with the Alabama League of Municipalities. This organization is one of the State's organizations whose workings are not questioned by other politicians nor the general public. We have been interested for sometime in seeing the largest City of Clanton County become a member of this splendid group of Alabama towns and cities and commend them highly for this step. We believe they will benefit from time to time as a member and we might say to the Alabama League of Municipalities, to Ed Reid, especially, that the League is to be highly commended on having such a city as Clanton for one of its members. New, Ed Reid, executive secretary of the organization, can stick another feather in his cap. This assures his organization of continued growth and prosperity.

Digging Ditches—

The work that is being done in extending the watermain to all sections of the city. We note men are hard at work on this and have already placed some of the most important mains. People are a little prone to forget these moves are part of one day, but well wagger that if a fire should break out in the new territory where the mains have been extended, those residents there would thank the day the pipe was placed and water turned on.

Tuesday Is The Day—

Back to the polls we go on next Tuesday. Three all-important offices are to be decided on, and six good, efficient men are asking for the three offices. Three of these men will not be elected. For Tax Collector, the County T. L. McKee and J. R. Hardy are vying for the honor. You will also decide who will be your next State Senator. Whether he will be Dr. J. A. Hines, of Shula, or Karl Harrison, of Columbiana. A day is to be filled on the Public Service Commission. Arthur Hewness and Clint Harrison are seeking this one place. Voters of this County should not shrug their shoulders and stay away from the polls. It is just as important to vote Tuesday as it was on May 3rd. It costs the County almost as much to hold this election as it does one where many names are on the ballot. It is also comparative in importance.

Congratulations—

To Clanton's own Joe Earl Gowan, we extend heartiest congratulations on becoming a doctor. Following in the footsteps of father, Dr. J. E. Gowan, and brother, Dr. J. S. Gowan, Dr. Joe Earl Gowan is now a dentist in the true sense of the word.

May We Come Again?—

There is really nothing like asking to be invited to a social function or a meeting of some kind. However that is exactly what we are doing and the him goes to the Chilton County Council of County Workers. We owe thanks to a council for an enjoyable, an interesting and educational outing last Friday. More power to the Council collectively and its members individually. To hear the frank discussions of our County workers at these meetings is to have one's eyes opened to problems facing to a better understanding of how to cope with such social problems as are faced by our County officials and other workers.

Miss Edith and Pearl Hand, Christy Gowan, Mrs. M. Lande and Mrs. Bonnie Hand, motored to Birmingham last Wednesday afternoon.

CONTEST OPEN 300 FREE NEW REFRIGERATORS

Billingsley Service Store Announces Contest Open To Local People

The Billingsley Service Store, exclusive distributors in Chilton County for the Servel Electrolux refrigerators, takes pleasure in announcing their participation in a nationwide contest wherein three hundred new, modern gas or oil burning refrigerators will be given away each day for thirty days. The contest closes June 31st.

The P & G Naptha soap takes a great part in this contest also. W. C. Billingsley, operator of the Billingsley Service Store, of Clanton, states there will be 10 of these modern refrigerators given away each day for thirty days. The rules are simple. You merely go to the Billingsley Store and ask for free entry blanks. Or, go to your nearest grocery store and ask for them. Then you simply complete the sentence "I like P & G White Naptha Soap because."

Recently, one of Clanton's well known residents, Mrs. Milton Smith, was awarded $1,000 as first prize winner in another of the contests sponsored by the Procter & Gamble Soap Company. Mrs. Smith simply told in a few words why she likes to use the well known "Camay" soap.

Mrs. Billingsley urges the people of this county to enter this new contest now. No catches and the rules are most simple.

COUNTY COUNCIL HOLDS ANOTHER FINE MEETING

Suggestion Of New Building For County Offices Is Found Interesting

Another interesting meeting of the Chilton County Council of County Workers was held last Friday night at The Thomson Hotel in the form of a dinner that was well attended. Miss Grace, home demonstration agent, presided at this meeting with Miss Nolen Kennerly, director of the Department of Welfare in charge of the program.

In the words of Miss Grace, each meeting of the Council seems to be the best and the last was full of entertainment and information. A feature of the entertainment part of the program was the presentation of a marionette show by Miss Gail Gletty of Thorshy.

Miss Gletty is one of the girls who are being assisted and trained through the Home Demonstration Dept. and the National Youth Administration. The show of her tiny figures proved to bring considerable comment from those at the dinner.

The miniature stage, the characters and stage settings were made by Miss Gletty who also wrote the play which was carried out by the puppets with Miss Gletty and her sister manipulating the strings causing the tiny characters to appear almost human.

A STATEMENT FROM M'KEE TO THE VOTERS

Cites Results Of Primary Of May 3rd And Asks For Second Term

Clanton, Alabama June 6, 1938.

"To The Voters of Chilton County: On next Tuesday it will be your privilege and duty to go to the polls and vote for the man of your choice for your tax collector of your county and I earnestly request every voter in this county to go to the polls and vote so that we may have a voice of all the voters for one time.

If you are interested in finding out a man's quality and what he really is, there is no use to ask him about it. But, go to his neighbors and the people who come in contact with him and know him best. They will tell you the facts.

"Now, I'm going to give you the records of the May 3rd primary election which shows what the people who know me best say about me. In Beat One where I was born, raised and lived until all my children were born, my old neighbors there gave me 29 votes and gave my opponent only 3. In Beat 4, Box 1, which is the courthouse box, where my opponent and I are thrown with the people of the town and county every day and where both our offices are located, the voters gave me 149 votes and my opponent received only 79 votes in the entire county with two opponents.

Piggly Wiggly Enjoys Splendid Opening Here

A gala event took place in Clanton last Friday when the new Piggly Wiggly Store opened its doors to the public with Obie DeLoach as operator and Paul Locklear as manager.

It has been a long time since Clanton witnessed such a gala store opening and since the Piggly Wiggly Store has been enjoying a brisk business. Their advertisement in this issue of the News carries these words "Just to show you we are conscientious..." and lists some of the most unusually low grocery prices in town.

WOMENS CLUBS FINISH SURVEY OF WPA WORKS

Give Hearty Endorsement Of Projects After Careful Study In County

Chilton County Committees of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs gave their hearty welcome to projects and services of the Works Progress Administration in a recent study of the work program. It was announced this week by Mrs. J. U. Reeves, State Federation president, following receipt and analyses of the committee report.

The study in Chilton County was made under the direct supervision of Mrs. Omar Reynolds of Clanton, county Federation Chairman, and was a part of a State-wide survey taken in 32 counties. The findings of the Chilton County Committees, Mrs. Reeves said, are in substantial agreement with reports from committees in nearly all of the other counties.

The Chilton Committees found, that, among other things: The work program, in view of the added cost for materials and supervision, was highly preferable to the dole as a means of caring for the able bodied needy unemployed.

That WPA employees were earning their pay and that the pay was not excessive.

That many WPA employees leave for private jobs when employment opportunities are available.

That the projects are distinctly worth while, are needed and are of wide public interest.

Miss Hardy Becomes Bride Of Mr. Christian, Of Tuscaloosa At Pretty Ceremony

A wedding of social prominence was solemnized at five o'clock in the afternoon, June 3, at the bride's home in Clanton when Miss Marjory Hardy became the bride of Raymond Christian, of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, in a ceremony characterized by beauty and charming simplicity. Only members of the immediate families and a few friends were present. The officiating minister was the Rev. B. F. Atkins of Northport, Alabama. The vows were spoken before an improvised altar arranged before a window in the living room where tall baskets filled with blue Hortensia and burning white tapers against a background of ferns and smiles.

Margaret Davis of Rockford, niece of the bride, was Junior bridesmaid and wore pink organza. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed garden flowers in pastel shades. (The altar candles were

COOPERATION ASKED BY LOCAL HEALTH DEPT

Food Establishments Are Asked To Comply With New Ruling

Proprietors of eating establishments were soundly warned today by the County Health Officer that compliance with the new regulations of the State Health Department affecting the preparation of foods, beverages, etc., would be strictly enforced in Chilton County. "According to Sec. 1146 of the Code of Alabama, 1923, as amended September 13, 1935," stated Dr. S. D. Surkile, "it is provided that whenever the State Health officers officially advise a municipality for the operation of a municipal corporation that he is in position to enforce the regulations authorized in this section in any county and municipality, it shall be unlawful thereafter for the Judge of Probate or the City Clerk of the said municipality to issue a privilege license for the operation of any establishment in which any food or beverage is made, prepared, processed, displayed for sale, or served, unless the applicant for the said license presents a permit for its operation from the County Health Officer. In order to be eligible for such a permit both the equipment and the method of operation of any food establishment must conform to standards set up by the Health Department," the local health officer asserted. Wisdom From Youth

Some time ago a high school class in a farming community was asked to write essays on various farming problems. One boy wrote, in part: "Two things are necessary to help dairymen. First, farmers need better organization; second, farmers need more education about marketing problems."

That is as true as it is simple—and it applies to all other branches of agriculture. Farmers who scientifically develop and serve markets, and who are represented by well financed, efficiently managed and loyally supported marketing organizations are, in the long run, prosperous and progressive farmers and in good times and bad they will earn a better livelihood. Marketing co-operation simply means putting agriculture on a business basis, which eliminates hit-and-miss methods, and so far as possible guarantees that the producer will have a profitable market for what he raises.

Use Electricity Safely

You have a giant ready to do your work at the push of a button. But don't ever forget that this giant is not always friendly.

Electricity, properly controlled, is safe, but there is a real danger of shock if electrical appliances or lamps are defective or if proper precautions are not followed. Safe-guard your home with reference to the most careless person who may enter it. Appliances or lamps should not be placed near metal objects that are grounded, because if someone touches both at the same time, the result may be disastrous. Most adults appreciate this fact but children cannot be expected to know.

Numerous fires are caused by electric pressing irons, toasters, curlers, etc., left attached and unattended until they overheat. Many such appliances are now equipped with automatic shut-offs, which break the circuit before the temperature goes too high but an extra measure of precaution is easy and worth while. Always detach all heating appliances when leaving the room.

Another word of caution. Ask an electrician how many lamps and appliances may be plugged in safely to one outlet and don't use more. Use the correct size fuse and do not put pennies behind blow fuses.

All wiring should be done by an expert electrician and in accordance with the specifications of the National Electrical Code. Householders should watch for frayed and worn cords and have them replaced with new. Avoid hanging wires over nails and running them under rugs as this sometimes causes short circuits.

Many an amateur electrician has sown the seeds for a serious fire. Play safe and leave all wiring work to those who know the game.

Two Irrevocable Laws

The safety of life insurance, as an institution, is guaranteed by two natural laws which are outside the province of politics. One is the multiplication table. The other is the law of mortality.

Life insurance doesn't involve guess-work or unsubstantiated theories. It does involve the experience of hundreds of years and mathematical dicta which are as changeless as the tides.

That is why life insurance has survived the longest depression in modern history with its colors flying—and why, even in bad times, more and more people are investing more and more of their hard-earned money in life insurance policies.

"The mission of Fascism, of which its leaders openly boast, is not to fulfill the promise of the modern world, but to destroy it . . . Its strength lies in its capacity for demoralization."—Lewis Mumford.

Working Together

Commenting upon agricultural marketing cooperatives, The Sunkist Courier of California observes that "the success of a cooperative depends upon the men who are in it . . . A cooperative organization requires a closer working together than is customary in most commercial organizations. The entire theory of cooperative activity is that better returns are made possible by this close coordination of interest."

A successful farm marketing cooperative must have officers and managers trained in business procedure, and wedded to sound business principles. It must have members who give that organization loyal, continued support, and who really make themselves a working part of the business. The outstanding successful agricultural co-ops of this country have such officers and members. When farm cooperatives have failed, a common reason has been inexperienced management, and slothful and disinterested members. A related cause of failure has been a branching out by such co-ops into alien fields not connected with the marketing of farm products.

Guide To Traffic Safety

Police departments undertaking the vitally important problem of traffic engineering, now have a guide to standard procedure. A new hand, entitled "Traffic Engineering and the Police," has been published jointly by the National Conservation Bureau and the Safety Division of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Its publication rounds out another section of the Bureau's comprehensive traffic control program undertaken on behalf of the nation's leading stock casualty insurance companies.

Much of the handbook is devoted to the use of traffic engineering methods to reduce hazard at accident-prone locations—those spots in a community where accidents occur most frequently. An exhaustive system for analyzing danger spots is explained, and the correct use of traffic engineering devices and methods to remove hazards is detailed.

Other sections of the handbook deal with stop signs of various types, the proper control of traffic on business streets and residential streets, etc. An appendix explains in detail how to make traffic engineering field studies. The materials and illustrations presented have never before appeared in print.

Single copies of "Traffic Engineering and the Police" will be sent free to municipal and state officials, upon request to the National Conservation Bureau, 60 John St., New York City. It is believed that the widespread use of the handbook will be reflected in a substantial decline in accidents, injuries and deaths.

You Can't Pay For Fire

If you're wise, you protect your property with fire insurance. But don't let this lull you into a feeling of false security. For nothing can completely pay for fire.

It is impossible to adequately compensate for loss of time, of business, of opportunity, of employment. Nor can we pay for human lives with dollars.

In brief, fire insurance, invaluable as it is can only cover the tangible losses of fire. It cannot cover all the intangibles or the indirect losses—and these contribute by far fire's greatest toll. Replacing burned furniture will not make up for the destruction of a home. Nor will replacing machines make up for a burned factory.

That is why fire prevention work should be done by everyone. There are scores of instances on record where men have been ruined by fires—in spite of having sufficient insurance to cover all direct losses. If your place of business burns, your trade will go elsewhere, and you may find it impossible to get it back. If the place where you work is ravaged by fire, your job will go up in smoke with it—and no insurance can cover that.

During the recent years the annual fire loss has stayed at about the same level—in excess of two hundred million dollars a year. Most of that waste could be prevented. It constitutes an inexcusable and unnecessary drain on the nation's resources. Knowledge and vigilance will turn the trick.

We Observe

By Bonnie Hand

If you see some fellow tryin' For to make the project go, And you can boost it up a trifle, That's your cue to let him know That you're not going to knock it, Just because it ain't your shout, But that you're going to boost a little, And help the project out.

From "Patti Prattles," a column conducted by Miss Patti Fleming of Goodwater and carried weekly in the Goodwater Enterprise, we clipped the above. Back during the days when the Goodwater Enterprise and the News were under the same management, Patti conducted this column as "The Chatter Box" and we considered it the best bit of news about Goodwater each week. That was several years back. Anybody who can write a column that long deserves an orchid, or something.

GROWING—Clanton is a growing town. Every day brings some progressive move or some new business to our fair city. The new Piggy Wiggly Store, owned and operated by people who have engaged in business here for a long time, is a sure sign that Clanton is growing. We are becoming "civilized," and we're not getting too far ahead of ourselves, either, as the population has increased, and in recent years the city limits have been extended, changing Clanton from a town to a city. What we need most now is several new industries in and near Clanton, which will process the products which Chilton County is capable of turning out. These new industries would mean more payrolls for the people, and in turn increase the buying power of Clanton and Chilton.

NEW LOCATION—We stopped by the Watts Hat Shoppe the other day, and were pleasantly greeted by Miss Catherine Watts, owner of this popular establishment. As you know, Miss Watts has moved her Shoppe to her new location across the highway from the Exchange Barber Shoppe, and typical of a place operated by Miss Calrie, everything was spic and span, and to the last inch a place the faire sex of Clanton should be proud of.

FOR A BIG TIME—"On to Cuba" will be the cry of New Yorkers of this state and their friends, when they embark on a boat, July 17, bound for Havana, Cuba for a week of fun and forgetfulness—and they have plenty to try to forget, for that week anyway—such as primaries, and many other things which harass members of the fourth estate. One swell trip, that'll be, but if yours truly makes the rifle there'll have to be some negotiating done. But the News is making a special effort to be represented on that trip, and whether or not we are nominating we certainly recommend to our readers this pleasure jaunt, in case they are planning a real vacation at a reasonable expense. The Press Association made this trip in '36, and have been talking about the many courtesies extended them by the Cuban Government ever since, and so now they decide to go back for more. If you're planning a trip this summer, join the Alabama Press Association on this cruise to Cuba. Newspapermen are not bad to be with—when they're on a vacation.

THANKS—We were at the local hospital in pursuit of our duties recently, and couldn't help but admire the beautiful flowers growing near the building. Miss Annie Gardner, our nurse, presented us with a beautiful bouquet of hydrangeas. She also has many beautiful pot flowers. Flowers and hospitals make a good combination; we think.

THE BIG CARNIVAL—Saturday and Sunday were big days for Birmingham, when the annual Air Carnival was held there. Great flyers and beautiful girls came from near and far to take part in the event. Several of the famous flyers taking part in the Carnival were on the program at the dedication of Gragg Field here last July, namely: Odell Garrison, Walter Petzet and Glenn Messer. No carnival, convention, or anything else would be complete without the participation of the fair sex, so "Miss American Aviation of 1938" was crowned. We didn't crown any of our beauties at the dedication of Gragg Field, but Clanton has 'em just the same.

WE ADVOCATE—The erection of an enormous shade over the ice plant that could be pulled down about three o'clock in the afternoon on a sunny day so a fellow wouldn't have to almost blind himself trying to see when the stop light on Main Street says proceed.

Paved street from the courthouse to the Lay Dam road, so a fellow won't lose his teeth and probably a good bit of religion traveling that short distance.

Less political squabbling, and a more unified and concerted drive for a bigger and better Clanton.

D. W. Haskew

It is amazing sometimes to see what human beings will do for no reason on earth but to be unusual, or to be mule mean. One dry dusty day I was riding along a clay road in mid afternoon and all the cars that I met were making a tremendous amount of dust. Several hundred yards away I saw one coming and the roll of dust behind was so thick and heavy that I could see nothing beyond it. My first impression was that the car was coming at a terrific speed, but when a bit closer I could see that it was not making over fifty miles an hour. The dust was indeed behind the car that I eased over to my side of the road and slowed down. Just then the car swept by me and I saw that he was dragging a Black Jack tree behind him. He had well tied to his rear bumper and the limbs were sweeping about in the fourths of the road. For some time after he had gone on his way I had to sit in my car and wait for the dust to clear up so that we could go one our way. That youngster may have had a reason for dragging that tree behind his car on a dusty road, but it looked like pure meanness to me. Some times we wonder why we do not have a law passed to bore fools for the hollow horn.

I went into a drug store and the manager was showing to me the plan that he followed in the arrangement of his medicines. On one shelf he had poisons, on another he had healing balms, and on others he placed the bottles in regulated form. His medicines were classified and arranged so as to have each bottle in its place As I viewed that collection I was impressed with a special way with the important place of the bottles holding the medicines. They sat there on the shelf doing the same thing every day and doing it the same way all the time. The bottles holding the deadly poison were doing an important task, and so every other bottle was well employed. One day a lady came to me saying, "I am so tired of my place in life. It is making beads, sweeping floors, cooking food all the time and every day just the same thing over, and what does it all amount to?" Often do we feel that our lives amount to nothing. We have to do the same thing so many times, it is work and work and what is the use of it all? No life is a failure if it amounts to no more than the vital that holds the medicine. There is nothing like being faithful where you serve.

An art gallery in Rochester, New York has a picture of a young man, who is riding a horse at a swift speed. Out in front of him is an angel holding a crown before him and the young rider is reaching for it. He is trampling under his feet flowers and helpless children. But the rider fails to see these. Just one ahead of him is of the is a deep precipice and with the next bound the horse will plunge over with his rider. Suppose that the young man seizes the crown, he will have it in his hand only a moment, for with the next leap the horse will plunge him to his death. What a picture this is of the man today who is seeking for worldly fame and forgets to do good while he seeks for it. A good angel may be holding the thing for which you are driving, just ahead of you, and you may be almost ready to lay hands upon your coveted prize, but what will it avail you if you have trampled children under your feet and crushed down all that is beautiful and fine in life? The very next leap may be death. Better grow flowers and make children happy if you want to win the prize and the crown that is worth possessing.

In Harper's Magazine we are told of Maxo, the European painter, who was engaged in 1937 to do some special painting in a church of a suburb of Pittsburgh. He did most of his work in the night, dusk and while alone in the church, he heard strange noises. He even saw a figure in black moving about the altar, raising his arms and gesticulating as if reciting the church ritual. On reciting his experiences in the church Maxo was told that his observations in the church had been the observation of many others who had been in the building in the night hours and that it was the popular belief that the man who visits the church in the night hours is the spirit of a dead priest who, while he was alive, took money from parishioners for Masses which he never read and who neglected his other priestly duties, and who is now coming to the church to make up for his sinful negligence. Harper's Magazine tells us that this story is true, and that all who worship in this building are cognizant of this ghostly visit at night. How terrible must be the experience of spirits who have failed to do their duty while on earth, and how diligently must they search for means and opportunities to mend the mistakes of a misspent life.

IN MEMORY OF MR. GEORGE W. MULLINS

Whereas God in His infinite goodness has removed from our midst on May 21, 1938, our loving father and grandfather, G. W. Mullins. Though saddened by his passing, we take comfort in reflecting his faith as expressed in his life, his character as shown in his love for God and humanity. For several years before his death he had been a sufferer. He endured suffering with patience and fortitude. After the sun set and the evening came out, his sweet spirit went to join the Savior in that home not with hands, whose builder and maker is God. His good deeds and acts of love are here to stay. His journey's ended, his work all through, he leaves behind an influence kind and true. Always he lent a hand, helping and strong. Defended the right, rejected the wrong. His home was open to all who came his way. From willing hands and a heart of gold, he brought aid and cheer to young and old. May he reap his reward in heaven above. Safe and secure In God's great love. —Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mullins & Family

Alabama Fourth In Accidental Deaths

Alabama is tied with North Carolina for fourth place among the states of the Union on the basis of the ratio of accidental deaths to total population as shown on a safety map prepared by the National Safety Council, in Chicago. A copy of which has been received by the State Department of Health. This map, based on accident mortality reports obtained from State health departments, shows Alabama's and North Carolina's accident death rate as 65 per 100,000 population. The three states represented as having lower rates are Arkansas, with a rate of 56.3 per 100,000 population; Rhode Island, with a rate of 39.3 per 100,000 population; and Maine, with a rate of 62.3 per 100,000 population. This State is one of 19 represented in white on the map, indicating that the accident death rate for each of these is less than 80 per 100,000 population. Thirteen states, shown in green upon the map, are declared to have accident death rates between 80 and 99.9 per 100,000 population, while the other 16 states, shown in black, are represented as having rates of 100 or more accidental deaths for every 100,000 population.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

On Sunday, June 5 a large crowd gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Baker about ten o'clock to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Baker. At noon a bountiful dinner was served out under the trees. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Minor and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Minor and family, Mrs. Austin Minor and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cleckler, Miss Lucretia Alline, Loy Mullins, Miss Ellen Minor, Mr. Aubrey Baker, Julian Baker, R. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS PLAN A MATTRESS CAMPAIGN

Alabama Home Demonstration club women and their home agents have set 10,000 mattresses as the goal to be attained in their mattress-making campaign from August 1 to January 1, announces Miss Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent. At the same time, Miss Johnston gives the dates for district training schools to be held in Alabama under the supervision of Misses Ruth Dohney, May Cureton, and Elizabeth Forney, district supervisors, and Nell Pickens, home management specialist of the Alabama Extension Service.

The training schools are scheduled as follows: District 1—Gadsden, June 21-22; Florence, June 24-25; District 2—Troy, June 6-8; Alexander City, June 16-18; and District 3—Mobile, June 9-11; Selma, June 13-15. "Records show that women owning their cotton can make an excellent mattress for a cash outlay of about $2 for ticking, thread and buttons," says Miss Pickens. "It takes between 40 and 50 pounds of cotton to make a mattress. Figuring this at nine cents per pound, the cotton would be worth about $4 and the entire cost of the mattress would be approximately $6. It would be worth several times that much when completed."

A great deal of interest in the making of mattresses has been shown by the home demonstration club members and many of them have already begun to make mattresses which they say "are just like bought ones."

W. D. NELSON

On Sunday, May 22, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Nelson, and bore away our loving father and grandfather, Mr. W. D. Nelson, age 79. Oh, how we miss him. Everything was done for him that loving hands and faithful hearts could do. He had been in failing health for several years. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, eight children, G. W., C. A., Rex, Britton, and Tuskin Nelson, Mrs. Bud Campbell, Mrs. Ethel Robinson, Mrs. Dock Hilyer; three half brothers, Tobe Mac and John Farmer; forty-four grandchildren; and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in the Chestnut Creek Church with Rev. Enfinger officiating. Burial was in that cemetery with Spigars in charge.

Pall bearers were his grandsons John and Jim Nelson, Douglas Robinson, Harvey Nelson, William Campbell, and Sam Williams.

Comments On Law On Absentee Votes

Clanton, Alabama
June 6, 1938

"Editor,
Chilton County News,
Clanton, Alabama.
"Dear Sir:
"I would like to secure enough space in your good paper to express some of my views, and views of others regarding the absentee ballots of this county. I want to say also that I deeply appreciate the stand taken by the newspapers on the absentee ballot frauds, and thank you for calling it to the attention of the people. I have heard much comment on this and many complaints on the papers' stand.
"I have had many good people to talk to me and condemn the practice of buying votes by the absentee methods, and all agree that something should be done about it now. When it comes to one or two men using their money to buy the worthless absentee votes from a class of people who have no more thought or care of the welfare of the county than to sell their vote, then the honest people should take action and do whatever will serve the best interests.
"I believe, and many who have talked with me believe, that the authorities should call a special session of the grand jury and investigate and indict whoever is connected with this absentee vote fraud which is so plain in this county.
"I believe that anyone who would offer to buy a vote or who would offer to sell, or sell his vote, should be punished in the most severe manner provided by law. And, I think it is a direct insult to honesty and a destruction to government for us to allow this fraudulent absentee buying to continue.
"I believe it is a known fact that a large number of absentee votes have been bought for the June 14 primary election and that these votes are for the opponent of Mr. T. L. McKee and I would like to see the honest, law-abiding voters of this County go to the polls on next Tuesday and cast their vote for Mr. McKee thereby condemning this practice of vote buying in our County.
"Until this deplorable practice is stopped, the honest, conscientious voters have little voice in selecting their officials. So, let's vote June 14 for T. L. McKee for Tax Collector.
"Respectfully yours,
"Hugh Thompson."

Queries Regarding More Local Politics

Clanton, Alabama
June 7, 1938

"Editor,
Chilton County News,
Clanton, Alabama.
"Dear Sir:
"Will you allow me sufficient space in your newspaper this week to go a little further into the matter of which I wrote some weeks ago—that for the visions I had during my race for Representative. The Union-Banner queried me a little regarding the most severe manner I wish to advise them they were right in their presumptions that the big tractor company represented one of my opponents in my vision and that the hard-working road hands represented the other opponent.
"When I saw that big tractor and road machinery company open its bank account for one of my opponents and become so interested in politics in our county, I felt I was lost. But, later I discovered why that tractor company was so interested. I discovered there is a certain local law requiring the advertising for bids on all purchases of supplies for the county amounting to $150. or more.
"I also found that that law works to the best interests of the county as a whole and as long as it is in effect the big tractor company has considerable difficulty in sticking its finger into our county treasury. That was the answer to the question as to why the tractor company got financially interested in the Representative race and wanted to place their firm in office.
"But, I firmly believe that my friend and former opponent-candidate, Mr. Walker will disregard the kind feelings toward him of the tractor company and not strike that law from the books. I say this because I believe Mr. Walker will see that that advertising law is a protection to our county treasury and for the good of our county for generations to come. Mr. Cox must have seen that when he passed that law.
"I was mighty glad to find out why the tractor company came down to Chilton County and wanted to help run our affairs. They simply wanted to get rid of that law. But, I don't believe Mr. Walker will make that mistake in the face of the voters of the county. Anyway, since when did we have to have the help of a tractor company in our elections? I believe if a majority of the people were familiar with this they would resent it tremendously.
"I see that the newspapers here have been saying something about possible fraud in absentee ballots in this county. I am glad to find the people are waking up to what's going on in their county in politics. I want to call on Mr. Walker when he gets down to Montgomery as our representative to lend every aid in correcting this situation in

Dr. J. A. Hines Favors Sit-Down Strikes And The C. I. O. In Ala.

"I, Percy Lemley of Aldrich, Alabama, am President of Local Union No. 5830 of United Mine Workers of America, and as such officer was present at the meeting of the Executive Board of Shelby County Industrial Union Council, a council composed of C.I.O. It seems as if the manager of Brightwood is lacking somewhat as a sportsman by not yet making some kind of an explanation.
The Clamps got revenge on the Kilby team last Saturday for the defeat they handed them down last Wednesday, by the score of 9 to 3, by going down to the State House of Correction

Liquor Revenue Pays Teachers Back Wages

First Month of Legal Sale in Georgia Brings $522,000 Into State Treasury
Income of nearly a million dollars from taxes and licenses for the legal sale of liquor, begun in Georgia only a month ago, is bringing joy to the public school teachers of that State in the way of overdue salaries and assured regular payments in the future. A total of $522,000 was returned to the State Treasury in the first month of sales. Salaries of approximately $650,000 for the last half of March were delayed until early in May when returns from the liquor taxes made it possible to square the accounts for that period. And that was possible from the returns of about only 20 of the 159 counties in the State which at that time had authorized the legal sale of liquor. The State has guaranteed the payment of the balance of the salaries for the month of April on or before July 1.
Owing to the test of constitutionality of the recent Act of the Legislature in the Supreme Court, providing for local option elections in the counties of the State, there has been some move within the past few weeks to have further elections. The voters of 30 counties have already decided by an overwhelming vote in favor of the legal sale of liquor. On May 21 Atkinson County voted Wet 250 to 48, and Seminole 285 to 77.
Argument was heard in the Supreme Court May 17, on the question of whether or not the Legislature exceeded its authority in passing the local option law of February 3, 1938. Counsel for both sides believes it will be several months before an opinion is handed down.

Farmers Are Warned About Hog Disease

"This year's heavy rainfall, followed by warm weather, has created a serious threat of infectious enteritis, or "necro" outbreaks in hogs, and farmers are being warned to take precautions against the disease, state livestock health authorities have announced.
"Hogs should be moved out of old, muddy lots and placed on clean pasture," advises Dr. L. S. McAdory, state veterinarian. "The organisms which cause enteritis multiply rapidly in damp, warm weather, and an entire herd of hogs may become infected with the disease in a short time. The death rate may be very high and pigs which do recover may remain unthrifty the rest of their lives."
Owners are also warned against peddlers of so-called "cures" for "necro," or necrotic enteritis. "The best steps against the disease are to get hogs on clean ground as quickly as possible and rely on the advice of a veterinarian as to what further measures may be taken."

Precautions in introducing feeder hogs into a herd are also suggested, as they may be the carriers of necro, cholera, or other diseases.

She Knows Only Cats Can See Well In The Dark

"SHE also knows that persons with glass eyes can't even see in the daytime. She knows, too, and any optical specialist will tell you this is true, that even with the finest lenses for your eyes you cannot see well if you do not have enough light."

"She is one of my Company's home lighting specialists. When she comes to your door, invite her in. She has an interesting story to tell you about light and its relationship to your eyes and your comfort and your child's grades in school. You will appreciate having talked to her, because you will have learned that with electricity as cheap as it is in Alabama, there is no reason why you should endanger the two most precious organs of the body—the eyes—by trying to see in poor light."

Annual Home Demonstration Club Rally Was Held At The High School Recently

The Annual Home Demonstration Club Rally was held Thursday, May 26, at the Chilton County High School, at Clanton.

The morning session was opened by singing "Alabama," and the convocation by the new Baptist Minister, Rev. Davis.

Mayor C. F. Jones gave the welcome address, and the Response was given by our faithful Commissioner, Mr. H. R. Oden.

Mrs. H. F. Virgin, County Scholarship Chairman, gave a report of the work done by the Scholarship Committee this year. She introduced the Scholarship winner, Martha Kennedy, who gave a few words of thanks to the Council and the Club members for the wonderful opportunity given to her and in turn to other girls in the county.

Next came a report from the Citizenship Chairman, Mrs. Stanley Kennedy, who reported that programs on Citizenship were given in each club in the County. The Youth Club reported the best program, and Minooka and Verbena followed close seconds.

Mrs. J. D. Mullins, Chairman of the Kitchen Improvement Contest, reported splendid results from the contest. 100 women have entered, and others are thinking of entering as the closing date has been extended until August 1. She reports a beautiful collection of prizes, which the various merchants of Clanton contributed.

One of the most enjoyable parts on the program were the two lovely dance numbers by little Sue Ann Powers.

Our most charming Council president, Mrs. H. K. Christenson, introduced our beloved Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Meta E. Grace, Miss Grace in turn introduced Mr. John Hollis, superintendent of the Alabama Power Company at Mitchell Dam; Mrs. John Hollis, Mrs. Davis, wife of the new minister, Miss Nolan Meroney, County Welfare Supervisor, Miss Dobine, district supervisor of home demonstration agents, the members of the Clanton Study Club, who gave two lovely song numbers, and last, but not least, Mr. P. O. Davis, of Auburn, who gave the most interesting and educational address.

The meeting was then adjourned for lunch which was served cafeteria style in the Home Economics Building. And a most delicious lunch it was. Drinks, sandwiches and ice cream were donated by various companies in Clanton.

The afternoon session was opened by singing "Song of the Open Country."

The Public Speaking Contest, which was on "Better Schools For Rural America," was opened with the following as contestants: Miss Annie Louise Spencer, Mrs. W. A. Wilkins, Mr. O. L. Howard, Miss Pauline Osley, and Mrs. J. A. Marcus. While the judges were making their decision, Mrs. H. K. Christenson gave a most interesting talk which she had prepared on the same subject. The judges returned and reported Miss Pauline Osley, winner; Miss Annie Louise Spencer, second; Mrs. O. L. Howard, third. Prizes were given to all who entered.

Mr. John Hollis favored the meeting with a most interesting discussion on the possibility of starting a strawberry jam industry in Clanton, and the hopes of having a Strawberry Carnival at Clanton next year at strawberry season.

Miss Dobine gave an interesting report on some of her work, and expressed her desire to see the jam industry begin in Chilton County. She also stated that she would like to see a mattress campaign started in this County and have every farm woman make at least one cotton mattress. This is one of the best and most useful ways of keeping cotton off the market.

Perhaps the most looked forward to event of the day was the awarding of the certificates to the leaders who were present and also to the Club presidents.

Mrs. Virgin presented a gift from the Minooka Club to the Scholarship girl, for which she wishes to publicly express her deepest appreciation to each member of the Minooka Club.

With a few words from Miss Grace and Mrs. Christenson the 1938 Rally was brought to a close with the hope for a bigger and even better Rally next year.

WHEN
ON TIRE SAFETY

Do May 30, Floyd Roberts shattered all track records for the 500-mile Indianapolis Race, averaging 117.2 miles an hour using Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

IT'S ALWAYS Firestone

FOR 19 CONSECUTIVE YEARS THE WINNERS OF THE
INDIANAPOLIS 500-MILE RACE HAVE PROTECTED
THEIR LIVES WITH FIRESTONE GUM-DIPPED TIRES

They said it couldn't be done — that tires could not withstand the torture of the new high speeds. Yet Floyd Roberts set a new record, at this year's Indianapolis Race, averaging 117.2 miles an hour for the 500 miles on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

With the sun-baked brick of the straight-away and the granite-hard surface of the turns pulling and grinding at their tires, 33 daring drivers, every one on Firestone Tires, waged a thrilling battle for gold and glory. Never before have tires been called upon to take such punishment. Never in all the history of the motor car has tire safety been put to such a grueling test. Yet not one tire failed — not one single cord loosened — because Gum-
Dipping, that famous Firestone patented process saturates and coats every cotton fiber in every cord in every ply with liquid rubber counteracting the tire-destroying internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Why risk your life and the lives of others on unsafe tires? Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with Firestone Triple-Safe Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proofed on the speedways for your protection on the highways.

RECORD HIGH REACHED IN 1937 GASOLINE TAXES HERE

Chilton County service stations collected many thousands of dollars from motorist customers towards the all-time record high of $13,295,000 that was paid in 1937 to the State in gasoline taxes by Alabama motorists, W. E.
Huddleston, Chairman of the Chilton County Petroleum Industries Committee, said today.

Mr. Huddleston added that official records received by a committee from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads indicate that the cost of the State's gasoline tax to its motorists increased 13.1 percent last year over 1936, when $11-754,000 was collected, and that the tax bill of the motorists in 1937 was 43 percent higher than in 1934, when $9,299-000 was collected.

"The State's gasoline tax revenue piles up from the contributions made by motorists every time they buy a few gallons of gasoline. As in the nur-very rhyme, "Little drops of water make the mighty ocean," so do the nickels and dimes paid in gasoline taxes make the millions of dollars of State Highway Funds," continued Mr. Huddleston.

"By contributing these millions of dollars the motorists of Alabama have aided materially the progress of the State. Good roads have brought the farmer nearer his market, have opened up the scenic beauties of the State thereby attracting tourists, have enhanced the desirability and value of real estate.
The benefits of better and safer roads are shared by every citizen in the State whether or not he owns an automobile," said Mr. Huddleston. "A few decades ago the cost of providing roads was borne largely by private owners; now that burden has been shifted largely to the motorists."

"The Chilton County Petroleum Industries Committee advocates and supports the constitutional amendment to be voted on in the General Election in November prohibiting the diversion of highway funds to nonhighway purposes. The ratification of this amendment will mean that the excellent road building program can be continued until an adequate road system is completed.

The defeat of this amendment would mean disaster to road building programs in Alabama."

ponents against me, I carried exactly one-half the boxes.

"I believe that the facts stated above and the fact that I have conducted the affairs of your office of tax collector in a manner which I believe meets with the approval of the people, will fully justify you in casting your vote allowing me to serve you for another term.

"There has been some newspaper criticism and condemnation, which I fully appreciate, of absentee vote fraud and vote buying in this county. I am advising the people now that I had no hand in this, have never tolerated such practices and never shall, and the results of the election will prove this statement.

"I appeal to the honest voters of the county to stand by me and we will stamp out this practice of fraud in our elections thereby assuring us of the selection of the most efficient and competent officers and not the officers bought at a price. I know we yet have more honest people than crooks and we can win through honest efforts.

"I wish to again remind you that when I announced for reelection I stated that if you would allow me to serve as your tax collector for a second term I would not ask for the office again. That statement remains true. Again asking every honest voter of this county to go to the polls on next Tuesday and vote for me, I remain,

Respectfully,

T. L. McKEE.

"You gave me an opportunity to prove to you my ability and worth when you so kindly elected me to serve as your sheriff. I believe I have faithfully and efficiently performed the duties of that office to your satisfaction, and of course you know, according to law I cannot succeed myself.

COUNTY COUNCIL

partment of public welfare as well as every other department of county governments. Miss Salsar, also of Montgomery, and district supervisor of public welfare, accompanied Miss Dunn to Clanton.

Hon. G. C. Walker, well known attorney of Clanton, said a few words and praised the President as the greatest humanitarian the world has known in many, many years. Mr. Walker also introduced Miss Dunn.

Discussions were entered into as a part of the business session and the progress of the various county departments were discussed. County Agent Fant gave a splendid picture of the long-felt need for a county welfare department, the housing of farm agents' office, the department of public welfare, the home demonstration agent's department and any other department of the county not housed in the courthouse.

This suggestion from Mr. Fant met with hearty approval and Miss Gracie appointed a committee to go further into the matter.

Commissioner Howard Oden was asked to give a few facts and figures in regard to the work of the Department of Public Welfare of the County.

Mr. Oden cited the fact that the county no longer has the burden of supporting an almshouse and that this progressive step was accomplished through the cooperation of the welfare department.

The meeting adjourned with the announcement that the county agent's office would be in charge of the program for the next meeting.

That all projects surveyed should be continued or expanded.

The civic improvement committee found no evidence of "boondoggling" and "leak rakin." The committee reported that the WPA had paved twenty miles of road and had widened, graveled and otherwise improved 25 miles of county roads. The Clanton Airport and harbor constructed by the WPA is of benefit to a very few persons at the present time, the committee said, and stated that the future development in aviation would prove its worth.

The public health committee found that the WPA had excavated five and one-half miles of ditches for malarial control. These ditches drained 3,000 acres of ponded area and are of benefit to approximately 4,000 persons, the committee said.

The committee found that the WPA also constructed thirty-four school privies and 370 privies on private property. The committee noted that the number of typhoid cases in the county had been reduced from 17 in 1935 to 2 in 1937. The committee urged that these projects be expanded "until our county is freed from any malarial or typhoid hazards."

The service projects committee made a study of the commodity warehouse and the school lunch project at Minopka School. Commenting upon the value of the school lunch project the committee said "some of these children walk as much as two miles to school and a hot lunch is a cold day maker. The school day brighter, the child happier and healthier, the school atmosphere more wholesome and produces results in the life of the community that might be classed as among the intangibles."

The commodities, the committee said, are distributed to the aged, blind, crippled, widows, orphans and emergency cases that arise. The National Youth Administration student aid program is, the committee said, rendering invaluable assistance to needy students and young people in Clanton County. "There are ambitious students in the high schools and in the colleges realizing their desires to continue their studies because of the financial aid received through the NYA."

The committee cited numerous instances where the results of the operation of the program had had the effect of elevating the standards of living for the entire family.

The cultural projects committee found that the writers' project was valuable in that it unearthed a wealth of historical material regarding the county and furnished gainful employment to deserving workers.

The sociological committee reported that the average education in the WPA family was about third grade, that the debts averaged about $15 per family and that 50 percent of the houses in which they live were in very poor condition. Concluding the committee said, "the sociological committee gave three days of its time to this study; the findings are our own, made from case investigation and discussion. We were happy to do this work and conscientiously hope it has helped."

FORD DEALERS AGAIN WINNERS OF FORD PRIZES

Awarded First Place In Their District For Outstanding Sales Ability

Clanton again comes into state-wide attention through the efforts of one of its places of business. Clanton Motors, Inc., local Ford dealers, received special awards of a considerable recognition recently when two of its salesmen won cash prizes and T. J. Littlejohn, manager was awarded a gold wrist watch by the Ford Motor Company.

These awards went to the dealer in District Three selling the largest number of automobiles during the month of May. There were thirteen dealers in the Third District, many of them located in much larger cities than Clanton.

Julius (Rip) Burnett, crack salesman of Clanton Motors, received a cash award of twenty dollars and J. F. (Coe) Higgins received an award of forty dollars. These prizes signify that Clanton Motors won first place in the district during the past month.

These are only a few of the prizes this growing concern has won through their sales and service ability for the Ford Motor Company and Ford owners.

HEALTH DEPT.

"It is expected," he added, "that this regulation will take effect locally just prior to the issuance of new privilege permits in October, 1938. To date all cafes, restaurants, lunch stands, etc., in the county have been inspected by Fred H. Bucklew, county sanitation officer, and the proprietors have been duly notified of the corrections which are to be made in order to bring their equipment up to the standard specified in the law. Their response so far has been most disappointing, there being little or no effort made by operators to co-operate with the health department." Postponement by these establishments up to the requirements will result in a delay in obtaining their privilege licenses, Dr. Sturkie warned.

Some of the new regulations which, according to the local health officer, will vastly improve the sanitary conditions in cafes, etc., are:

- (1) Hot water under pressure where water under pressure is available.
- (2) Provision of adequate number of wash sinks or compartments for washing equipment.
- (3) Hand wash facilities required.
- (4) Locker space for clothes of employees.
- (5) Sanitary toilet on premises for use of employees.

cult, he said, for those not familiar with the AAA, and for this year to understand the delay in payments. However, an explanation has been received from A. W. Jones, administrative officer at Auburn, which Mr. Fant believes will be interesting to farmers in this county. Mr. Jones' statement is as follows:

On January 1, 1938, immediately after the close of measuring acreage for 1937, all county agents, committeemen and others were busily engaged in the work necessary for getting out the payment. However, the passage of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 all work then in progress had to be stopped so that acreage allotments for planting in 1938 could be completed before spring planting time, which was rapidly approaching.

"Upon the recent completion of acreage allotments to the State's approximately 300,000 farmers, the county and State office forces have again turned their attention to 1937 payments and this work is now being pushed to full capacity in order to get payments to farmers and to clear the decks for the other tasks of 1938."

Mr. Fant emphasized the importance of farmers who have not signed applications to do so at an early date. There are approximately 150 applications in the County Office that have not been signed, he stated.

Alabama Editors Club Convention Is Popular

Reservation Blanks And Descriptive Literature Are Available At This Office

The third convention tour to Havana, Cuba, by Alabama editors and their friends is proving very popular. According to a statement given this morning by C. L. Walton, president of the Alabama Press Association, more than a hundred requests for information and descriptive folders of the trip to Cuba have already been received from the Alabama Press Association.

Travel, hotel and other costs mounted since 1936 and we are fortunate to get an all-expense trip at low cost of $85.70, especially since popular entertainment has been added in addition to the program in 1936, he said. Friends of the Alabama Press Association who desire the ideal vacation should make their plans immediately for the convention tour to Havana during the week of July 17 to 24. Descriptive literature may be obtained from this office, or from Walton, President, Alabama Press Association, LaFayette.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think
—BILLY SMITH

So They Took It

And so they just took the absentee ballot box. Perhaps that sentence is all that is needed to be said in regard to the occurrence at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon—so far as some people are concerned. But, there are many in this County concerned in a matter of that nature and we are one of them.

Our concern may, or may not, amount to a hill of beans. We are concerned from the standpoint that an injustice has been done if the ballots in that box were legal and without any trace or hint of fraud, as some are said to believe existed. If those men who simply walked into the probate office and confiscated that absentee ballot box have proof that fraud existed there, in then it is their duty to take immediate steps to expose that fraud and expose the persons responsible for any fraudulent actions therein. There is a great principle at stake, reputations are at stake and if what we hear from supposedly reliable sources is true, then those responsible for the disappearance of that ballot box knew definitely there was fraud. We give such citizens credit for possessing enough brains to be sure of their way before they start traveling—especially in that direction. And, if there is fraud in that absentee ballot box and our authorities were going to allow those votes to be counted as official, after hearing these rumors, we may turn our backs although this newspaper cannot sanction such things as "kidnaping" a ballot box full of votes.

So They Took It

Box, box, who's got the absentee ballot box, Or, perhaps a lost advertise, ment should be inserted in the news, papers and a sizeable reward offered for the "lost" absentee ballot box which has been contained over seven hundred ballots uncounted. But, who wants that box?

When a group of five leading citizens of Chilton County walk up and take a ballot box during an election, that is news. We can never truthfully say "It Can't Happen Here." It did, and as we write this column, no one has moved very far in search of the all-important and missing box.

Does the confiscating of that ballot box by a group of citizens mean that the people have spoken in regard to the reported fraud and buying of votes in this county?

Does it mean that they mean business when they say it must stop. Surely five thoughtful, thinking, elderly business men don't all go "hay-wire" at the same time with the same thought in mind. Or, did they?

We remember stating in this column on May 26th that we would not be surprised if fraudulent actions in absentee voting in this county ended up in litigation in the courts. Now we are wondering if we are going to miss our guess very far.

If there ever was room for action it seems to this writer that the way has been paved by the action of the five citizens Tuesday afternoon in the disappearance of the absentee box.

We are not accusing, condemning nor protecting any person or group of persons. We are simply saying that we believe if anything is ever to be done about correcting, proving or disproving rumors of fraud in absentee ballots and the buying of votes in this county, now is the time for authorities to act before another and larger group of citizens decide to confiscate some more ballot boxes. Such things can become serious. In Kentucky they shoot people for less than that and ask questions afterwards. That would be embarrassing in this county.

We have no proof that the charges made by rumors regarding absentee voting in this county, are true. We have only our confidence in the officials elected to protect the voters against such occurrences. That confidence has not been shaken yet, although this newspaper wishes to go on record as endorsing an immediate movement by the proper authorities to check into the "why" of the disappearance of that absentee ballot box. We, for one, would like to know the "why." And there are several thousands other citizens and voters in this county who deserve to know why.

Miss Mary Courtney Jones who has completed her sophomore year at Webster College, St. Louis Mo., will visit friends and classmates in Cincinnati, Ohio, and Nashville, enroute home.

GOVERNOR HAS FRIENDLY CHAT WITH DIXON

Graves and Dixon Meet And Talk Over Two Hours On Alabama Problems

Alabama's Governor and Governor-nominatee chatted two hours and a quarter Friday and indicated afterward that any ill feeling developed by caustic exchanges during the recent Democratic primary had been set aside.

Smiling as they parted, Gov. Graves and Frank M. Dixon, of Birmingham, told newspapermen "It was a very pleasant meeting," but declined a further statement.

Graves pledged Dixon, who will take office next January, any cooperation needed in familiarizing himself with the State's complicated machinery, and both indicated they likely would meet again.

"Come as often as you will, Major," Graves said, Dixon replied, "I appreciate it. . . your taking your time with me today. I will probably call on you often, particularly regarding the various departments."

The two posed for photographers, Dixon sitting one time in the Governor's chair.

Dixon was accompanied by his son, (Continued to Back Page)

ANTI-RABIES TREATMENT FOR DOGS NOW DUE

Dr. Parrish Issues Statement Relative To This County; Regular Schedule

Following is a statement from Dr. W. L. Parrish, veterinarian and county officer for the enforcement of the state law relative to the anti-rabies treatment for dogs:

"According to the dog law of Alabama it is about time to vaccinate all the dogs of Chilton County. We have not had much if any rabies in Chilton County during the last year while in bad. Children and grown-ups had to take the rabies treatment in my own practice I had to give the rabies treatment to quite a few cows and horses and to lots of dogs, while during the last year I have not treated any."

"The people of the county, I think, cooperated very nicely as a whole. I am trusting these few that did not will realize their mistake and help make it 100 per cent in the county this year. All dog owners who will not be able to meet me on appointments are asked to bring their dogs to my house before we begin the regular year and have them treated for fifty cents. If you do not care to take advantage of this I will be glad to do it for you at any time but the regular price of $1.00 will be charged."

"Watch the papers for appointments in your community. We will be in Clanton from 8:00 A.M. until 4:00 P.M. at McCain Stables July 1st. The regular fifty cents cash fee will be charged and all dogs from three months up are eligible."

Interesting Letter From Mrs. S. J. Ezell Who Is On A Tour Of The Western States

This trip is wonderful. The whole thirty-six are having a great time. Little is some trip-planner. I had not imagined anything so marvelous. We are all well and have had no car trouble or anything else to mar the trip.

I am thinking of our Unity-Chilton Institute which is to be held July 5, 6, 7 and wishing to urge everyone to take the necessary plans, that our Institute may be the greatest ever held. Will you urge through the papers that each church plan to have means of transportation arranged for the people who want to go each day. If the Sunday School Superintendents will begin now, arrangements can be made for many to go. I am hoping that each church will insist on their pastor attending each day.

I am urging the W.M.S. presidents to see to it that a full corps of teachers from her W.M.S. attend the class they will teach, so that when our Institute

YOUNG MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR SARDIS

Mystery Surrounds Death Of J. T. Crane; Found In Open Field

A young man, J. T. Crane, age 20, was found Wednesday evening, June 8 about 7:00 o'clock near the home of A. C. Bone in the Sardis community, about eight miles from Clanton, in a dying condition. He died in a short while.

According to Sheriff J. R. Hardy and Deputies Nivens and McCary, who investigated, young Crane was found by Arley Bone, lying in a field near his home, where he investigated the backing of his dog. He was placed on the porch of the Bone home where he died shortly. Deputy McCary of Maplesville, was sent for and stated that Crane had been dead for some time when he arrived.

Just what caused the death of the youth has not yet been determined. Blood specimens were sent to the State Toxicologist at Auburn to determine whether or not he died from poisoning. At the time of this writing no official report has been made.

Crane's body bore no marks except several small dots about the face, according to officers. Corner J. M. Martin, who brought the body to Clanton, (Continued to back page)

DR. SAM JOHNSON VISITS

Commander Samuel Johnson, of the U. S. Navy, and Mrs. Johnson, of Pensacola, Fla., spent the week end in Clanton with friends and relatives. They were accompanied to Pensacola by Miss Ina Saxon McCraney, who will spend several days there.

Miss Mary Nell Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones, left recently for the University of Virginia to begin work on her Masters Degree.

O'clock noon when a group of prominent citizens of the County marched into the office of the Probate Judge and in a quiet, business like manner proceeded to take the absentee ballot box, hand it out a window to a man who placed it in an automobile. The ballot box, said to have contained over 700 absentee ballots, hasn't been heard of since.

Only Few Present

According to reports from the office of the sheriff there were only three men in the office of the Probate Judge when the taking of the box occurred. These three men were W. M. Polk, chairman of the Democratic executive Committee of the County, C. B. Cox and Myrberts. The latter two were there as watchers and Mr. Polk was there in his official line of duty.

Election officials of the absentee box had just left the office to go to lunch when the men entered.

The reports given the News stated that four well known men walked into the office, one picked up the ballot box, placed it in a large sack. Mr. Polk is said to have risen from his chair in protest at this action, and was quietly, but firmly, told to sit down and keep quiet by one of the men who entered the office. The other two watchers were also said to have made some protest but were told to keep quiet. There was no display of guns or any weapons by the four men, it was stated. Apparently the taking of the absentee box was well planned and the occurrence was done so quietly that few persons in and around the Courthouse knew what was going on at the time.

Just as the News went to press, Sheriff Hardy advised that immediate investigations were started relative to the disappearance of the absentee ballot box and that some action would be taken right away.

Fraud Is Charged

Rumors that have been circulated over the County during recent weeks to the effect that there was considerable fraud in the absentee ballots and buying of votes in the absentees, it is said to have brought about this snatch. MARENGO VOTES FAVOR OF STATE LIQUOR STORES

Wide Margin Given State Store System In Primary Over County

Marengo County voters, in a special local option election held Tuesday, simultaneously with the primary election, gave a wide margin in favor of adopting the state stores liquor system in that county, according to unofficial election returns from that county yesterday morning.

A 218 vote margin for the "wets" placed Marengo County in line for state control of its liquor and beer sales. It is understood that the dry forces had a small organization and that the opposition also had some sort of organization prior to the election.

Predictions from other sections of the state are that other counties of Alabama would soon fall into step with the state control of liquor. This election in Marengo is the second to be held. The first election gave the "drys" only a 13 vote margin.

Graves And Dixon

The friendly conference between Governor Graves and Governor-nominate Dixon last Friday was an agreeable spectacle. Two razor-edged hatchets seem to have been buried, with only about one inch of the handle of each sticking above the ground after the obsequies. All reports agree that the conversation was not only polite, as was to have been expected, but cordial and helpful.

After all, the State is a $50,000,000 business enterprise, as someone had said, and it is of great importance to all concerned that the great enterprise be directed understandingly. Every new governor is green, every old one is experienced. The management of a great state's affairs requires technical knowledge of procedure and method. Every old head can give a young head priceless information in any field of endeavor, no matter how much the two heads may disagree about many matters, no matter how sour they may be.

It was becoming of Mr. Dixon to seek a conference with Governor Graves as a gesture of peace and good will, as well as a courtesy to the chief magistrate, and it was equally becoming of the Governor to respond warmly to the gesture and to offer his successor in office the facilities and courtesies of all state departments in formulating and refining his program. No doubt both gentlemen enjoyed the meeting and felt better toward the other at its end, for we note by the public prints that they plan to have other talks between now and January. Thus both Graves and Dixon Friday not only observed the amenities, but they discharged a responsibility to the people of Alabama, whose servants they are.

Also the meeting must have gone far to heal the breach in the Democratic party of Alabama and to promote unity among its citizens of all groups and factions.—Montgomery Advertiser.

The Need For More Industries In Alabama And Chilton County

Asserting that there never has been a substitute for hard work, eBnjamin Russel, industrialist of Alexander City and president of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, advocated more work and less talk in order to convert Alabama's possibilities into realities in an address delivered in several north Alabama towns last week. "Elbow grease is still the essential oil of industry," continued Mr. Russel, "and we need less block and more tackle in order to pull Alabama up from forty-seventh place among the states in spendable money income."

"This State," he said, "ranks at the top in natural resources, fifteenth in population, twenty-eighth in area, but next to bottom in income and buying power." He attributed the low income and buying power in Alabama to the fact that 72 percent of the State's population derives its income from agriculture with only 28 percent divided among industry and business.

During our state with Ohio, Mr. Russel pointed out that Ohio, a state of 40,740 square miles has wealth estimated at $18,489,522,000 against estimated wealth in Alabama of $3,002,000,000. The value of Ohio's farm property being estimated at $2,236,902,000 against Alabama's farm property at only $611,301,000.

"Industry must come if we are to survive," said Mr. Russel. "We have reached our peak in agricultural production. We must learn to process the products of our farm, forest, and mine before we can benefit the individual people of the community."

Declaring that Alabama is selling most of her products in the raw state and that such products are being shipped back into Alabama as finished articles for which Ala-amount they had received for the raw probamians pay as high as ten times the duct, Mr. Russel advocated the ultimate construction of appropriate factories in each county, financed locally wherever possible to solicit outside capital, and thus keep in the state for the benefit of the workers the difference between the amount obtained from the sale of raw materials and the value of the finished product.

"Much of our best young blood is going out of Alabama each year to seek fame and fortune in other states, because we in Alabama have not provided for these young people," Mr. Russel further declared. "We must bring about work opportunity for these young people and keep them in Alabama to further enrich her state."

Accompanying Mr. Russel on his speaking tour was Mr. W. A. Steadman of Birmingham, Alabama manager of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

At a meeting of the local Kiwanis Club recently, Karl Langrebe, vice-president of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, and also vice-president of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce made an interesting talk concerning Alabama's position in the drive for more industries in Alabama. He was accompanied by L. C. Turner, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce.

At this same meeting arrangements were made for a local campaign for membership in the Chamber of Commerce, which has as its major objective the bringing of small industries to the State. The Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce are endeavoring to place some of these industries in this County, which would mean much to the farmers and merchants and the County as a whole. J. C. Page, cashier of the First National Bank of Clanton, is chairman of the drive.

His Word Of Honor

A well dressed, comparatively young man entered our office one afternoon and inquired if he might speak with the Editor. On being informed that he was talking to the Editor, he unwound his tale of woe. It seemed that he was in the special advertising business, and had been in the north part of the country—his home was in New Orleans—trying to put over an advertising deal, but had failed, due to matters beyond his control, so he was left stranded in the town without money or friends. Managing to get this far, he was stuck, and to be exact, he needed seventy-five cents to carry him into New Orleans, where friends and some money awaited him.

As state before, this man had all the earmarks of being a very nice fellow, well read, and his talk showed he had an unlimited vocabulary at his command. Well, to get on with our story, this gentleman was very embarrassed to have to ask for money, but upon his word of honor that he would send us at once the money we let him have, just as soon as he reached New Orleans—would we or could we, let him have the money. We did.

We could just let it go as one of those case where we were the "suckers" but this man, whose word of honor means so little to him, could offer no reason why, after hearing him talk and observing him from every angle, why he should not live up to his word of honor, if he needed money bad enough to give it. He was not the ordinary beggar type, whom a person would aid, knowing from his appearance that he needed it, we have too much more respect for the beggar than we have for him, to class them together. It's a bad thing when a man of means uses his word of honor to gain so little materially, and lose so much of his self respect.

Chinese Refugees Starving

One of the greatest tragedies in human history is rapidly approaching a horrible climax in strife-torn China. Relief workers estimate that 60 millions of war refugees are huddled together in ruined towns and villages, or wandering over shell-pitted, unplanted fields in search of a few grains of rice to stave off starvation. Disease is rampant in this hungry, homeless horde, and death more agonizing than that of bayonets faces them unless sympathetic nations hear their pleas for aid. The American Red Cross Societies of the world, is seeking to give this assistance. Won't you help? Give to the Chilton County Chapter's Chinese Relief Fund.

NEW CAR—
We were passing the Hayes Chevrolet Company's garage the other day and couldn't help but see the new shiny Chevrolet Sedan with the lettering "City Of Clanton" newly painted on its side. We could come to but one conclusion, and that was that City of Clanton had purchased a new car for the use of its officers. The one in use was growing old, and this new one will aid in keeping in step with Clanton's progress. Congratulations to the Mayor and Council on this new move. We'd like to take a ride in this new car, but not for the same reason lots of people do—get it?

THEY HAD VISITORS—
On the Editorial page of the Demopolis Times last week they state they are holding back quite a bit of bragging about having a "real" editor in the family. But now that this distinguished personage pays them a visit they just have to cut loose and admit they're proud of his visit. He is George A. Cornish, assistant to the managing editor of the New York Herald Tribune and son of the late Edward Seymour Cornish, who was the editor of the Demopolis Times until his death several years back. Mr. Cornish, his wife and family are guests of the present editor of the Times, who is a brother in law. We extend congratulations to the Demopolis Times, and think they have a right to brag. We felt like bragging a little following the visit paid The News by James A. Farley, Postmaster General of the United States, on his recent tour—and we did—however, Mr. Farley is not related to any member of the News Staff.

CONGRATULATIONS—
Speaking of the Hayes Chevrolet Co. we are proud to extend our heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Dick) Hayes on the advent of their fifteenth wedding anniversary, which, I understand, they celebrated several days ago. Yes Sir, one of Clanton's most popular couples, celebrating their fifteenth anniversary of married life in peace. We've been married only a short while, and we hope that when our fifteenth anniversary of married life rolls around we'll be enjoying the friendship of as many people as Mr. and Mrs. Hayes.

FROM LANETT—
Editor Vernie Teel of the Chambers County News, in his column "Neighborhood Chaff," last week "put his foot in it" when he wrote the editorial about keeping Lanett a clean and beautiful city. It seems that after said editorial was read by Mrs. Teel, she promptly wanted to know who its author was. Expecting a bit of praise from the wife, he lost no time in informing her he did it "with his little typewriter." Now Vernie just clear like forgot that those weeds needed cutting in the back yard, and a few other little things that a good husband is expected to do around the house to keep the appearance in good standing toward making a city beautiful, and was reminded of same by Mrs. Teel. Vernie says he didn't hear the last few reminders—he had urgent business at the office.

DONKEY BASEBALL—
The very mention of donkey (we're polite) suggests shabbiness, and when they take part in a ball game, along with local business and professional men in the line-up, you can just bet there'll be laughs a-plenty. We wouldn't miss this for anything, and it's being sponsored by the Methodist Circle No. 1. It'll be a night game, too, the first one ever played here. We predict a record breaking crowd will turn out for this entertainment.

MORE CONGRATULATIONS—
Out of thirteen Ford dealers in their district, the local Clanton Motors, Inc., won first place in a contest, sponsored by the Ford Motor Co., by selling the largest number of cars during the month of May. Congratulations to T. L. Littlejohn, manager; Julius (Rip) Burnett, assistant; and Joe Higgins, salesman, who won valuable prizes, as a result of wide-awake salesmanship. Just ask Mr. Littlejohn for the time of day, and watch him display that gold wrist watch.

After reading that letter from Mrs. S. J. Ezell, who along with her daughter, Grace, are members of the party of thirty-six, headed by Supt. Luther Little, touring the Western States and Mexico, I am inclined to wish I was in that party. They're really having a big time according to Mrs. Ezell.

We understand the well known "who broke the lock on the henhouse door" has been used in the Clanton, Ala. different words being inserted in some place of the song. So we hear—we wouldn't know.

Testifying in her divorce suit, Mrs. William Bailly of Chicago declared, "I am a radio widow. My husband sits at the loud speaker and will never take me anywhere."

MORALECHOES.
D. W. Haslow
What can a boy or girl who is under twenty years of age do in order to be a good citizen? Do you have to wait until you are old enough to vote to become a good citizen? While you are under age you can be just as good a supporter of the flag as you can be after you are granted the franchise of your country. One duty of a good citizen is that he obey law. This includes those minor regulations that we find in every community. They are laws that make for the mutual good of old and young. The minor rules, qualities of a good citizen when he deals honestly with his comrades, when he drives up and down the street in quietude and with safety, when he picks up paper, banana peels and broken glass, when he observes parking and driving regulations, when he is careful not to damage the equipment at play grounds and public places. Boys and girls can also be good citizens when they go in for community cleanliness and civic improvement. These things are the test of your citizenship today and they show what you will become when you can go to the polls after you are twenty-one. Be a good citizen now.

A recent issue of a nationally read magazine carried the picture of a wrecked vessel on the Pacific Coast. There had been no storm on the deep and the captain was an experienced officer. No one knew why this old salt of the sea should have lost his course and wrecked his vessel. After the rescue of the passengers and the crew had been made an expert man of ocean travel went aboard the ship and made pen knife lodged in the crack of the compass. Evidently some one had tried to scrape the rust from the compass frame and had broken off the point of the knife. This bit of steel being near the needle caused it to lose its correct magnetism and the ship went out of its course and drove on to its ruin. Ah, My Friends, you think the little sins do not amount to very much. You can play golf on Sunday, you can go to the picture shows on the Sabbath, you can either fish or play ball on Sunday and it does not matter. Watch out, those little things that violate your conscience at first may seem insignificant, but the pull of a little sin will take you out of the correct path and God forbid, but you may go down later on.

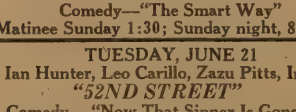

Dr. E. Stanley Jones was asked if he were not afraid to die. "No," he replied, "I do not think about death. Long ago I realized that some day I would have to die, for this is the way of all mankind, but I am thinking a great deal about living. My aim is to make my life worth while as long as I live, but when death comes I will be just like the bird that is sitting on a limb of a tree that is being blown hither and thither by the winds. The wind may blow the twig from beneath the bird, but should that be done, the bird will swing, we will have wings and can fly. Let the storms of affliction pull from beneath us the house of flesh, then it will be that we can spread our wings and fly away to our Father's Home.

IMPROVED GIN METHODS INCREASE FARMER'S INCOME

Drying seed cotton by the use of driers in the gins has enhanced the bale value of cotton from 70 cents for short staple to $2.30 for long staple cotton. Charles A. Bennett, Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, told members of the Alabama Ginners Association at Birmingham recently.

Mr. Bennett reviewed the work of the U. S. Cotton Ginning Laboratory at Stoneville, Miss., an dated that great progress has been made in drying seed cotton to improve ginning and the quality of lint and in improvement of piling, fans, and saws in the gins. Already 530 of the 12,700 gins have added driers to their equipment. Alabama ginners are holding one-day meetings all over the State during June to discuss these new ginning developments.

Disbursement Of General Funds

The State Comptroller's report shows that $317,170.50 was paid out of the general fund for administrative and executive purposes during the first half of the fiscal year. This includes the Governor's salary and that of the employees in his office, the Governor's contingent fund, Department of Archives and History, Auditor's office, Attorney General's office, Comptroller's office, Examiners of Accounts, Treasurer's office, Secretary of State's office, State Tax Commission and the Estate Tax Department.

WASHINGTON VOTES

Recently the residents of the City of Washington took an unofficial vote to sound sentiment for the official ballot which is denied them under existing law. More than 33,000 out of the total population of about 637,000 cast their straw ballots on two propositions: The right to vote for the President and Members of Congress; the right to local self-government.

Both proposals carried overwhelmingly, the first by 13 to 1, the second by 8 to 1. Pathfinder, published in the national capital, suggests that the difference in the vote on the two questions was because many did not desire to bring the large Negro population into the local political picture. About one-third of the city's inhabitants are Negroes.

Residents of Washington have not voted for President since the national capital was established there in 1800, nor for local officials since 1874. The City, officially designated as the District of Columbia, is governed by Congress as to legislation, and by executive commissioners appointed by the President.

Many persons holding government positions in Washington retain their voting rights in the states from which they came. But permanent residents of the city, who pay taxes as citizens elsewhere, do not think they should also be allowed to vote. And why not.

ABC Turns $387,958 Into Welfare Funds

Montgomery, Ala. June 15.— State control of the sale of whisky, wine and beer turned $387,958 into the public welfare funds of the State and the 67 counties, wet and dry alike, for the year ending May 1, 1938.

E. Roy Albright, chairman of the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, said that cash disbursements to the State, counties and cities for the period totaled $1,939,794 of which $387,958 was earmarked and set aside for public health, old age pensions, aid to crippled children, the mentally and physically handicapped, and dependent mothers.

This money not only speeded up relief work throughout the State but was conceded by health authorities to be a great factor in the attainment by the State Health Department of its goal of a full time health unit in each of Alabama's 67 counties—a goal it has been unable to reach for more than a decade.

Revenue paid into the State's General Fund—$969,987—was credited by Comptroller Charles Lee as the direct reason for the full payment of the $1,000,000 appropriation to public schools from the State's General Fund.

Chairman Albright said that during the year ending April 30, the Board also paid cash dividends of $387,958 to the cities in which the State's 54 liquor stores are located, a substantial item in the city revenue of many of the smaller municipalities which voted to come under the control system.

The General Funds of the 67 counties received $1,939,797—the same amount paid into the public welfare funds of the counties.

Pike County quickly placed its new revenue into building a new roof for the courthouse to replace a roof that had been leaking for months.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Several people gathered at the home of Mr. Robert Hicks and Miss Esther Hicks, near Maplesville, Sunday, June 12, to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Robert Hicks, Mr. E. A. Edwards and Miss Frances Chism of Riderville. A bountiful dinner was spread at the noon hour under the shade trees. The day was spent with much pleasure. Misses Venice, Ruth and Frances Chism entertained in the afternoon with music and singing. Little Willodean Smith enjoyed by all. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Edwards and little girl, Betty Jo, of Maplesville; Mrs. Annie Chism, and children, Howard, Venice, Ruth and Frances of Riderville; Mrs. Julia Smith and little girls, Willodean and Dorothy of Riderville. There were others invited but couldn't attend on account of sickness.

After an enjoyable day spent together each returned to their homes, with that blessed thought we hope to meet again.

508.09. This includes the A.B.C. election expenses of B. Hospital, expenses of the State Board of Adjustment, salary and office expenses of Peoples Public Service Attorney, and a number of other items.

Recreation accounts for $25,290.61. There are only two items in this, White House of the Confederacy and State Parks and Forests.

Listed under the head of building funds is three items—Parlow, $75,000; Southern Industrial Institute, $15,000; and Scottish Rite Temple, $63,600.

The balance of $5,909,361.28 in the treasury to the credit of the General fund of March 31.

The disbursement of other funds will be given in another article.

THE KITCHEN—The kitchen in the modern home is, in many respects, the most important room in the house. This is especially true in cases where a servant is not employed and where the mistress of the house must attend the cooking, laundry work, and the many other domestic duties. In such instances the mistress must spend a large part of her time in the kitchen, hence this room should be made as convenient as possible for its purpose. The kitchen should be reached by a separate entrance where tradesmen can deliver supplies and packages. If there is no basement there should be convenient access to the stairs.

Kitchen Devices—Devices for convenience and ease in performing the operations of the kitchen should be installed whenever possible. Electric ranges, refrigerators, dishwashers and other labor-saving machines should be thoughtfully considered. Ironing boards, apron closets, broom closets, tables, step-ladder chairs, cabinets for miscellaneous foods and spaces for all kitchen utensils can be attractively arranged. Good light should be provided and a pleasant outlook from the windows is most desirable.

A breakfast nook in the kitchen or directly connected with it, is a great space saver, and is convenient for simple meals. A kitchen should not be so large as to require a great deal of walking about by the one performing the cooking and serving of meals. It is important to install a great many electric outlets for new devices are being invented rapidly.

SOME VICE-PRESIDENTS

Few Americans, perhaps, would be able to tell off-hand how many vice presidents of the United States afterward became President, and for the benefit of any who might be interested, we may recall that there were nine.

They were, in order, Adams, Jefferson, Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, and Coolidge. The first three were elected president after serving terms as vice-president, while the remaining six became president upon the death of the chief executive with whom they were elected.

John Adams served two terms as vice president under President Washington; was elected president, but defeated for reelection in 1800 by his own vice-president, Thomas Jefferson. In fact, Adams ran third in the election of 1800, receiving 65 electoral votes, while Jefferson and Aaron Burr received 73 each. The election was thus thrown into the House of Representatives, and Jefferson was elected. Burr, becoming vice-president under the system then in effect.

Martin Van Buren was vice-president during the second term of Andrew Jackson, whom he succeeded to the presidency in 1837. Van Buren was defeated for reelection in 1840; defeated for nomination for president in 1844, and nominated but defeated in 1848.

Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson and Arthur merely served out the unexpired terms of their predecessors, although Fillmore tried for an additional term and failed. Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge were elected president in their own right after serving out the unexpired terms of their dead predecessors, McKinley and Harding.

Health Dept. Makes Study Of Milk Here

A pressing need for one or more small dairies equipped to produce Grade A Raw milk for sale in Clanton was pointed out today by local health officials in a weekly bulletin from the county health department. A recent survey, it was revealed, showed the daily sale of milk within the city limits to be sufficiently large to justify throwing safeguards around milk production to protect the public health. 432 families buy milk for some consumption. With an average of 5 in each family this gives 2,160 persons directly effected by the sale of milk. As this is approximately one-half of the population of Clanton it is readily seen that a safe milk supply is imperative.

"Milk, stated Dr. S.D. Sturkie, county health officer, "is an excellent medium for the growth of harmful disease germs and more often than we suspect is the vehicle for the transmission of disease. This is more particularly true of the dairy serving many persons than the small one or two cow producer. One typhoid carrier among the handlers in such a dairy can be responsible for an epidemic. It is not enough that a dairyman simply have the reputation of being clean."

"To have Grade A Milk in Clanton," he continued, "it is not necessary that an ordinance be adopted which would restrain the man with one or two cows from selling milk. Any dairyman on a purely voluntary basis can, if he wishes, bring his equipment and method of handling up to the standards required to sell his product as Grade A.

by the health department and be periodic bacteriological examinations and temperature reading would be made by an inspector from the department. Under the situation existing now, steam sterilization of bottles, pails, etc., and satisfactory cooling of milk to a temperature below 50 degrees F., both extremely important in making milk safe, are not being carried out. At least one local dairy could at not a great outlay of money add this equipment and be able to produce Grade A Milk. There could be plenty of intelligent consumers in Clanton, aware of the value of these precautions, to provide a market for a product which would be safe from a health standpoint."

LATE COTTON NEEDS AN APPLICATION OF NITRATE

With most of the cotton of Alabama two weeks late and a great deal of it later than that, it is very important that farmers do everything in their power to give this crop an extra "push" in growth, emphasizes J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service.

Mr. Lowery says that with both cotton and corn later than usual it would be a good investment for the farmers to apply generous applications of nitrate to these plants so that this extra push in growth will make up the delay to a great extent.

"The heavy rains in April put both these crops behind last years' crops from ten days to two weeks and some farmers have had to replant because the cotton did not come up to a good stand or because cutworms or something else ruined the stand after it came up," he says. "These crops will be more than two weeks late."

The side dressing of nitrate soda will increase the growth of both cotton and corn. Experiments show that the best results are obtained when the nitrate is applied about forty days after planting. In cotton this will be after chopping and before blooms begin to be general over the field. Corn will be about knee high at this time. If cotton and corn follow a winter legume it is not necessary to side dress with nitrate. From 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda, depending upon the other amounts of commercial fertilizer used, should be applied.

Dry weather and hot weevils and wet weather and boll weevils can do a lot of damage to late cotton, Mr. Lowery states.

A garter that dropped from her husband's pocket caused Mrs. Edith Raymer of Chicago to secure a divorce.

Cab - Over - Engine Truck Is Popular

A popular, large capacity truck, at moderate price, is now available in the Chevrolet-Montpelier Cab-Over-Engine unit, offered on the three wheelbases of the Chevrolet 112-ton chassis.

The new unit combines the various advantages inherent in cab-over-engine design—extra haulage room, ease of handling in limited space, and conformity with dimension requirements in the laws of numerous states. With one of these units, bodies ordinarily used on a 157-inch wheelbase chassis can be used on a 131-inch wheelbase chassis, all major units being standard Chevrolet dealers.

Among the outstanding mechanical features of the unit are Chevrolet's six-cylinder valve in head truck engine, combining power, economy and long life, Chevrolet perfected hydraulic brakes, noted for smooth, positive operation and long wearing qualities; rugged and durable Chevrolet full-floating rear axle; heavy duty four-speed transmission, and "alligator jaw" frame combining durability and strength.

Accessibility of the engine, for quick servicing and maintenance is provided by a forward-tilting hood and easily-removable floorboard. Exceptional comfort has been built into the cab, which has full width seat, good vision in all directions, and conveniently located controls. Remote control gearshift and brake levers eliminate the necessity of dividing the front seat.

An Open Letter to a Hit-And-Run Driver

WELL, you got away with it. So far, anyway. Of course you're still a bit nervous. You are startled by doorbells; your palm sweats when you pick up the morning paper; your mouth gets dry when a stranger seems to stare at you. For there is just a possibility that some chance passer-by saw you. But your pulse is beginning to behave again. Each passing day brings added safety.

If it will make you feel any better, you may never be caught. But, my craven fellow, you'll never escape yourself! You'll never escape the shame of having killed a child and run away. You'll never escape the aching, burning memory that, faced with the test, you preferred cowardice to courage.

You will live the rest of your days bluffing yourself into believing that you didn't have time to think (although life's crises are not scheduled for men's convenience); that anybody else would have done the same thing (although you don't dare tell anybody else); and that it wasn't murder, but just an accident (as though people hid themselves after accidents). The days will be trying, but not so bad compared with the nights, when you lie awake with your conscience and when, having fallen asleep at last, dreams steal into your tired brain to reenact that scene of secret shame. Yes, the nights will be hard.

A thousand times you will wish to release that pent-up shame, to scream: "I killed a child and ran away!" It would make you feel better, but you won't do it.

Listen: You didn't get away with a thing! And you know it!

He Never Bites A Dog....

(But Dogs Are Not Always So Considerate)

"SOME dogs are like some people. The more friendly you are with them and the more you try to please them, the more likely they are to bite you. At least, that's what our meter readers tell me. Of course, such persons are the exceptions.

"The Fido in this picture is not one of the surly kind and his master is just as pleased as he when the meter reader comes around, because he knows that he will get a bill surprisingly low for the amount of electricity he uses.

"I have never heard of one of my Company's meter readers biting a dog, even if the dog were vicious. While a customer who doesn't appreciate just how cheap electricity really is in Alabama, may growl occasionally, the meter reader doesn't growl back; he just smiles and says, 'Well, friend, if you would just use more of it, you would learn how cheap it really is'.

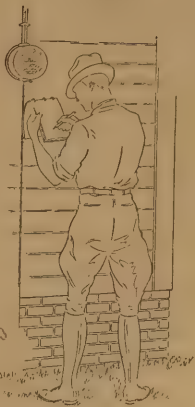

"The next time he comes around to your house, let him tell you more about it."

The Effects Of Liquor

Liquor in its long reign upon the earth, has never helped the man who consumes it to place a single dollar in the bank. It has never been worth a dime to him upon going to the grocery store for flour, coffee, meal, milk or butter for his family and himself. It has never helped him to place a single cent's worth of coal or wood or gas in his house to keep the home fires burning. It has never helped him to get a job, although it is on record as having lost him many jobs.

Two small groups profit by liquor—the tax evading millionaires and those who manufacture and distribute it. Yes, it means prosperity for them, but also means a living hell for its countless victims.

Last year, according to the National Safety Council, 39,700 persons lost their lives on the highways, an all time record, and conservative estimates place the number of those killed in accidents involving drink at approximately 10,000. Traffic fatalities closely parallel alcohol consumption. The National Safety Council published an article by Dr. H. A. Heise covering 119 consecutive highway accidents, revealing that about sixty percent of the accidents and seventy five percent of the injured or killed were in alcohol "accidents" liquor is a factor, not only in highway accidents but also in many thousands of mishaps in homes, resulting from falls, fights, fires, etc.

Despite nation wide safety campaigns in which all civic organizations are participating more than 15,000 children were fatally injured in accidents last year and more than 5,000 of these were crushed to death by automobiles.

According to the latest government figures the school enrollment for the first time in American history has not only reached a standstill, but in startling contrast to the steady gains in enrollment year from 1920 to 1930, under National prohibition, the past two years have seen an actual drop in enrollment and average attendance of children in our public schools whereas from 1920 to 1930 school enrollment

Clanton Catholics Extend Invitation

As announced last week, the Trailer Chapel services which will be held in Clanton on the night of Tuesday, June 21 at 7:00 P.M. will be in charge of the Rev. A. N. Terminiello and the Rev. J. W. McArdle. They will be assisted in this tour of the Central Alabama missions by three deacons from our Lady of the Lake Seminary, Moundville, Ill.

St. Teresa's Trailer Chapel has the unique distinction of being the first dedicated to this work in the entire South. It was fitted, at father Terminiello's direction, by the Covered Wagon Co. and has received much favorable comment from the press and leading magazines in the editorial and photographic sections.

The public address which will be given from it in Clanton on next Tuesday night, will be in the nature of an open air forum, held in front of the court house.

Should inclement weather prevail, the auditorium in the City Hall will be available for the meeting.

Any questions bearing upon the teaching of the Catechism of the Church, or pertaining thereto will not only be courteously answered but are invited.

You may mail questions unsigned to box 504, Clanton, or place in question box near entrance to court house, or ask them in person.

As stated before, there will be no collection of any kind. The people of Clanton and those of each surrounding community are extended a most cordial invitation by Father Terminiello in behalf of the Catholics of Clanton.

Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. Claud Craig, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Committee.

FROM THE SCROGGINS FAMILY

May we have a small space to try in our weak way to thank our friends and kindred who did so much for us in our sorrow, of having our loved one taken from us so sudden. Those deeds and words of sympathy were such help to us. We will never forget you all, and hope that we can be near to help you in some way when your hearts are broken from having a loved one taken from you. The great number of people who came to see him and the many beautiful flowers showed in a blessed way the respect you had for him—Mrs. Scroggins and Daughters, and sister, Mrs. Grace Cox.

John, Henry and Arthur Dunn, brothers, married Alice, Louise and Evelyn Wilmoist sisters, at Hobart, Tasmania.

averaged an increase of 409,969 per year. For the four years 1932 to 1936, there was a total increase in school enrollment of 91,658, there being a slight spurt forward in 1934, but an actual decrease of 77,095 in the total enrollment from 1934 to 1936 and a decline of average school attendance of 159,423 for the second and third year of the period of the re-legalized liquor traffic.

No one would charge that this downward trend is due solely to any one factor, but the taking of more than $13,000,000,000 by the liquor traffic out of the pockets of the American people in retail sales of alcoholic beverages during the past sixty months has unquestionably reduced many homes to penury and blighted the lives of thousands of children.

ENTHUSIASM IS GAINING IN BIG CONTEST

Ten Refrigerators Are Being Given Away Daily; Contest Will Close July 1

Enthusiasm remains at a high pitch among those in this vicinity who have been participating in a nation wide contest in which ten refrigerators have been given away every day as prizes during the past few weeks, according to Billingsley Service, Serval Electroflux dealer, who is collaborating with the sponsors of the contest.

Mr. Billingsley announced that many persons had called for entry blanks since the beginning of the contest on May 20, which will close July 1, when three hundred Serval Electroflux refrigerators in all will have been awarded as prizes.

"Though the contest is now more than half over the interest in winning seems to be on the increase, largely due to the desire of women for up to date refrigeration," said Mr. Billingsley. "Consequently, it is a matter of much satisfaction to our company that the sponsors of the contest chose the line of refrigerators sold by us as those to be given away to winners.

"It would be a pleasure for one of my customers or others in this vicinity to win a Serval Electroflux refrigerator and thus we will continue to invite all persons who desire to be contestants to call at our showrooms where they will be supplied with free contest blanks and where information regarding the competition will be available.

"The contest is conducted by Procter and Gamble, the well known soap manufacturing concern and featured in its "Guiding Light" program which is broadcast from coast to coast over and NBC red network every afternoon except Saturdays and Sundays. Announcement of winners is made of the radio program. Serval, Inc., which manufactures the refrigerators offered as prizes is collaborating with the sponsors of the contest.

"The contest is held in order to win a refrigerator a contestant must judge one of the ten best writers of a statement containing 25 words, or less, completing a sentence beginning 'I like P & G White Naphtha Soap because...' The sentences are judged for their originality, sincerity and aptness of thought.

"More than half of the three hundred refrigerators offered at the beginning of the contest have already been awarded to happy winners, thus leaving in the neighborhood of 125 to give away."

MT. PLEASANT 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Mt. Pleasant 4-H Club met Wednesday, June 1, at 3:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Ivey carried the members down to a swamp where he had been blowing out a ditch for Mr. R. M. Forshie. While we were there Mr. Ivey showed us how to plant dynamite in which to blow out a ditch, as that one, we planted the dynamite 12 ins. apart which was one-half stick at the time except around stumps. When we put out the dynamite he showed us how to connect the cap to the dynamite and then to the cord which he shot the current through in order to set off the dynamite.

After the excitement we went back to the schoolhouse and had our meeting, but we were sorry to know that Mr. Ivey's father was ill in the Selma Hospital and that he could not stay and play ball with us, but hope he is better by now.

The meeting adjourned after the ball game to meet next month.

MAPLESVILLE 4-H CLUB

The Mapleville Sr. 4-H club boys held their regular meeting at which time the following subjects were discussed: Corn and cotton crops, livestock, poultry and fertilizer for cotton. Record books were filled in and corrected. The boys discussed buying 4-H emblems to wear on their coats.

Mr. B. N. Ivey, 4-H Club Agent, was in charge of the meeting.—Glen Latham, Reporter.

Homecoming At Refuge Last Sunday Held In Honor Of Family Of Mr. H. H. Mims

The Homecoming and family reunion held here Sunday was an enjoyable occasion. Services began promptly at ten o'clock. We sang about an hour and our pastor brought a message, using as a text "He Went A Little Farther And Fell On His Face."

There was given a short history of Mrs. H. H. Mims' family in whose honor the reunion was held. The history was prepared and given by one of his sons, Mr. Bruce Mims. The history was as follows: "As far as we have been able to ascertain, the first Mims came to this county 160 years ago from South Carolina. This county was then known as Shelby County. Later it was called Baker County, and finally given its present name.

"Mr. Mims, our father, was married in 1883 at the age of 19, to Miss Rebecca Ann Minor, our mother. To this union were born 16 children, 12 living now, 51 grand children, 42 living now, 38 great grand children, 32 living now, which gives a total of 105, 91 of which are living now. This gives 14 who have crossed death's chilly tide."

The pastor Rev. M. Lockhart, called attention to the fact that the Governor of Alabama had only just recently proclaimed a father's day to be held the 3rd Sunday in June for which we are justly proud. He further stated that since this meeting had already been announced when father's day was proclaimed, we will celebrate this day in part in behalf of our father in law, Mr. H. H. Mims in whose honor this family reunion is held.

There were more dinners spread here Sunday than ever before in the history of the church. The afternoon was spent in singing and preaching. The Rev. Enfinger, pastor of Walnut Creek Church, brought a soul stirring message immediately following the noon hour. Those directing during the day were M. Lockhart, J. R. Connell, S. L. Baker, W. O. Wyatt, Hersicere Easterling, Delene Minor, Ethel Easterling, Dewey Hughes, Archie Devaughn, M. W. Easterling Jr., B. Crew, O. L. Devaughn, and Misses Delene Minor and Louise Mims sang a duet.

We have changed the date of our singing school at this place for more than one reason. The school will begin Monday, June 27 and run for 18 days, taught by Prof. O. L. Devaughn and Marion Easterling. Prof. Devaughn will have charge and it is expected that Mr. Easterling will teach music. So remember that you can get anything in the music line that you desire by attending this school.

The school will run from 7:30 A. M. until 12 and will cost about ten cents a day.

We invite the neighboring communities who are not going to have a school this time to chime in and let's make this one of the best schools ever held in this community. Prof. Devaughn's outstanding rule in this school will be "work hard and do right." If you have any preparations to make in order to attend this school begin now so that you will be able to get every day for that the best way to get the most out of any school.

Regular services will be held here next Sunday and Sunday night. The Burkhalter Quartet will be here Sunday night. Come and you will enjoy your trip.

WEATHER FAVORS WEEVILS RUFFIN WARNS GROWERS

Because of unfavorable weather conditions, too much rainfall in April, the cotton crop generally this year is later than usual. As a rule late cotton crops are likely to be seriously injured by boll weevils and leaf worms, says W. A. Ruffin, entomologist of the Alabama Extension Service.

The U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine reports boll weevil conditions as "spotted" over the country, this year. Large numbers of boll weevils went into hibernation in Alabama last fall, and as winter was comparatively mild, there are plenty of weevils to produce a heavy infestation by midsummer if conditions remain favorable for their increase.

There are three general methods of applying poison to cotton plants in the pre-square stage, says Mr. Ruffin. Some growers prefer to mop the small plants with a mixture of 1 pound of calcium arsenate, 1 gallon of water, and 1 gallon of molasses. Others prefer to dust the plants with calcium arsenate, or to apply a liquid mixture with a spray pump. All are effective.

Dusting the cotton with calcium arsenate dust at the rate of 5 pounds per acre, and repeating the applications at 5-day intervals until the weevils are checked, is the method generally used after the cotton has reached the squaring stage. On light sandy soils, where there is danger of soil injury from heavy dosages of calcium arsenate, a mixture of equal parts of lime and calcium arsenate is recommended.

Where both the weevil and the flea hopper must be controlled, Mr. Ruffin recommends a dusting mixture of one part of calcium arsenate and two parts of sulphur.

HOME CANNING BULLETIN IS AVAILABLE TO WOMEN

Alabama women can serve their families a better balanced meal with a more varied diet throughout the year by adopting a canning program, says Miss Lavada Curtis, food preservation specialist of the Alabama Extension Service.

To aid women in an intelligent program of preserving food for the non-growing season, Miss Curtis has recently finished a bulletin which answers many questions confronting the home canner and provides information on budgets, jelly making, vegetable canning, pickling, fruit juices, preserves, numerous recipes and a host of other subjects with which the home canner comes in contact. It is entitled "Food Preservation."

This bulletin was prepared especially for the home canner and copies can be obtained from the county home demonstration agent or by writing to the Alabama Extension Service, Auburn, Alabama.

THREE KILLED IN RECENT ALA. MINE BLAST

Boothton, Ala., June 10—Three men were killed and another seriously burned in an explosion at one of the coal mines of the Southern Coal and Coke Company at Boothton, in Shelby County, 34 miles southwest of Birmingham. The explosion occurred about a mile underground where half of the night crew were doing some special work. Company employees identified the dead as:

- Clyde Haley, white, about 30.
- Bernice Millstead, white, about 30.
- Early Williams, negro, 50.

These three were killed instantly. Mack Smith, a white man, suffered serious burns of the hands and arms and less seriously about the face. He was sent to a Birmingham hospital.

Employees of the company at the mine office said cause of the explosion had not been determined but that it was thought that sparks from the mining machinery ignited a gas pocket.

Smith crawled from the special working where the explosion occurred to the main corridor of the mine where four other members of the shift were working. These four rushed to the aid of their fellow workers, but finding they had been instantly killed, brought their bodies to the mine entrance.

Southern Coal and Coke employs about 250 men at its three mines in the vicinity of Boothton.

Hammered Bullet Shoots Selma Child

Selma, Ala., June 10—Richard Whitcomb, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Whitcomb, suffered an abrasion on his abdomen early last night when a cap from a cartridge stuck his body, boring beneath the skin.

The accident occurred as the youth was playing with a hammer and a cartridge near his home, shortly before dark. In the excitement caused by the explosion and the discovery that the child had an injury, it was first believed that a stray shot had hit him.

Police found that the little boy and playmates had been hammering a cartridge. The explosion resulted, to the mystification of the children who thought that a shot had been fired.

Suggestions Given For Storing Potatoes

With a spring and fall crop of Irish potatoes and with proper storage of these potatoes the farm family may have home-grown potatoes all the year through, states L. M. Ware, head of the horticultural department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Mr. Ware says there are several inexpensive ways of storing Irish potatoes through the summer. A cool, darkened cellar make an ideal place of storage. It is well to leave the potatoes in some kind of container holding about one or two bushels and be sure that the container is not resting directly on the ground or on the concrete.

Another very simple way and fairly satisfactory way of storing potatoes during the summer, which is available to any farmer, consists of storing in the shade of a rather dense tree. A layer of straw is placed upon the dirt, then a small pile of potatoes—placed on the straw. Dirt should not be used to cover piles as with winter storage of sweet potatoes. A trench dug around the area and a little tin or composition roofing to shed water completes the job. Potatoes kept in this way may be used for the fall crop of seed potatoes if the Triumph variety is being grown, according to the horticulturist.

ALABAMA IS LARGEST BEE SHIPPING STATE IN UNION

The spring months is the busiest season for this industry. Each year this department inspects, through its apitary division, between 30,000 and 40,000 colonies which are used for commercial purposes. There are approximately 140,000 colonies in the State and a large majority of these bringing in a profit to the owners.

It has been due largely to the efficient work of the inspectors in the Department of Agriculture and the co-operation of the producers that this state has become the largest bee shipping state in the Union. Most of the bees are sold to the northern states and Canada and due to these bees being rigidly inspected and disease free, there is a strong demand for the Alabama bees.

In addition to the income derived from the sale of bees to other states, there is produced annually in Alabama 1,400,000 pounds of honey. There is still a field for expansion in this line as figures show that last year between 12 and 15 carloads of honey were shipped to the city of Birmingham alone.

As proof of the enviable place which the beekeepers of this State hold in the Apitary division of the Department of Agriculture, each year many visitors come to the State for the purpose of observing and securing information about this program. Only recently, the Agricultural College of India sent a representative here to observe this business in package shipment. We also had visitors from the Agricultural College of England, as well as from many northern states and Canada.

Mr. Goode urges the farmers to consider this as another plank in their program of farm diversification.

FARMERS RETIRE EROSION LAND TO HAY AND PASTURE

Cooperating farmers on 2,400 farms in erosion control areas in Alabama are shifting more than 31,000 acres of their most erodible land to permanent hay, pasture, and woodland, a report compiled by the Soil Conservation Service shows.

While the bulk of this acreage was previously cultivated, the net production in cultivated crops amounts to only 33,000 acres. This is owing to the fact that other land on these farms that can be safely cultivated is being put into crop production and is taking the place of a part of the erodible crop land which is being converted to other uses.

The average cooperating farmer had approximately 96 acres of cultivated land to begin with. Under the erosion control program he is reducing his crop land a net amount of 14 acres and, with other land retiring to these uses, is increasing his permanent hay by 5 acres, pasture by 2 acres, and woodland by 10 acres.

With steep and severely eroded land retired from crop production, and with good rotations and other sound conservation farm practices established, increased yields per acre and a better balanced farm program will result, according to State Soil Conservation officials.

Dry County Leads In Drunken Driving Cases

Miss Vivian Gray Becomes Bride Of Mr. Chester Wingard Tuesday Evening, June 7

A wedding of much beauty was quietly solemnized on Tuesday evening, June 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fant, when Miss Vivian Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Gray, became the bride of Mr. Chester Wingard.

The living room was lovely with floor baskets of sweet peas interspersed with lighted tapers in crystal candelabra forming an improvised altar.

The bride was never more lovely than she was in the charming costume she chose for her wedding. It was developed of navy alpaca with accent touches of ash of roses and a pinkish blue her corsage was a simple white gardenia. Navy accessories completed the costume.

The bride entered with her father and was met at the altar by the handsome groom.

The Rev. Oscar Davis, pastor of the Baptist Church, pronounced the marriage vows, using the impressive ring ceremony.

Immediately after the wedding the guests were invited to the dining room where a tiered wedding cake, centered with sweetpeas, was cut by the bride and served, together with punch, to the following: Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Gray, Miss Mary Lee Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray, Mr. D. A. Wingard, the Rev. Oscar Davis and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Headley, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Varnell, Mr. B. N. Ivey, Mr. Barney Ishell, Mr. Francis Lenard, the last two from Columbiana, the bride and groom, Miss Billie Ruth Fant and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fant.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wingard left for a short wedding trip to points in South Alabama, Florida and Louisiana.

The young couple are well known and popular throughout the county, both having been connected with the office of the County Agricultural Agent for several years.

Upon their return they will be at home in their charming brick bungalow on the Maplesville Highway.

The many friends of this popular young couple wish for them a long, prosperous and happy life.

that donkeys are used by the players, except the catcher and pitcher, who are not allowed to move out of their respective boxes. Eighteen players and eleven donkeys comprise the teams. The ball used is a soft ball, and the bases are closer than they are in regular baseball.

The batter is required to hit the ball, as no batter strikes out, and making the hit he promptly mounts his donkey standing nearby and gallops around the bases, touching each one. The fielders are also mounted, and the rules prevent them leaving their mounts at any time.

The Maplesville Baseball Club is sponsoring this game on Tuesday night, June 12, at the Maplesville school park, beginning at eight o'clock. Following is their line-up:

For the American League: as B. Hampton, Stanley Hayes, John Maples, J. H. Graham, Union Chambers, J. J. Hayes Jr., Tom Williams, J. P. Payne, Hershel Shanks.

Many Friends Honor Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hayes On Their Fifteenth Wedding Anniversary

One of the prettiest affairs of the season in Clanton took place on last Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Dick) Hayes observed their fifteenth wedding anniversary at home here with a beautiful lawn party. The large lawn was brilliantly lighted by colored lights and the guests entered through an improvised gate of smilax. Delicious punch was served from a large block of ice in bowl form, in which pansies and sweet peas were frozen giving a pretty effect.

Dainty sandwiches were served the guests with punch and cookies. Pink and white mints were placed in dainty plates on tables on the lawn. The house was beautifully decorated in baskets and vases of summer flowers. The dining room with a white table covered with lace cloth was most attractive. The table was centered with a crystal bowl of mimosas, baby breath and shasta daisies. On either side of the bowl stood crystal holders with tall burning white tapers. From the chandelier hung four white wedding bells and from each of these hung ribbons of white tulle and lilies of the valley. Many lovely crystal gifts were attractively displayed in the living room.

Assisting were Mrs. James Wade, Mrs. Hance Alfred, Mrs. John Hollis, Mrs. C. Reese Mullins, Mrs. Frank Scott, Mrs. Claude Pipes, Mrs. Grady Heflin, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. James C. Jones, Mrs. Arthur Willis, Miss Margaret Floyd and Miss Ruth Pardee of Enterprise.

Floyd, mother of Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Andy Jones, grandmother of Mr. Hayes and his mother, Mrs. J. P. Hayes and Mrs. Clarence Mildrum, of Clayton. CHINESE REFUGEE ARMY GROWING

China's helpless war refugee population is growing at the incredible rate of 500,000 a day, according to American observers in that country. Facilities for handling this vast throng have long since broken down, and the millions of civilians in the sheltered land are falling prey to typhoid, beriberi and pneumonia, brought on by starvation. Your contribution, regardless of size, will relieve—possibly the life of a mother, a brother, a father or a child. Send it at once to the Clanton County Chapter, American Red Cross, marked for the Chinese Relief Fund.

who took part in the disappearance of the ballot box, containing one of the largest number of absentee votes ever recorded in this County. And, no trace of the box had been reported. There was some rumors that other ballot boxes would probably be taken and extra forces of the State Highway Patrolmen were sent to Clanton from Montgomery Tuesday afternoon. However, by eight o'clock, or early, Tuesday night, every box in the County had been turned in and accounted for except the absentee box.

BUS STATION SELLS LARD

NUMBER OF MALTED MILK

A new wrinkle in cold drinks came to Clanton through the service of the Bus Station. The drink is called "Spinning Wheel" malted milk.

M. R. Lancaster operator of the popular Bus Station cafeteria and open house, stated that they have sold over 200 of these delicious drinks in 20 days. The mixing machines used in preparing these drinks have counting material on them. A novel idea is an electric wheel whereby a lucky person may win one of these drinks free.

If You're Planning To Build

CHOOSING the site. Before obtaining the drawings of a house, many things should be considered that will have a direct effect upon the design of the building. First, the site should be studied with reference to its surroundings and its probable future development. Its convenience to neighboring cities or towns should be considered, as well as means of public transit, service the matters of light, power, gas, electricity, sewage, water supply, garbage disposal, etc. The owner should be reasonably sure that the property in the vicinity will develop so as to increase in value and beauty.

The parts of what a house consists of may be considered under three different groups; living, sleeping and service groups.

The living group includes the living room, dining room, library, den, porches, and other parts of the house that are used for the comfort and enjoyment of the family and guests.

The sleeping group comprises bedrooms, sleeping porches, bathrooms, closets, etc. that are generally placed in the upper floors, except in bungalows, where they are on the ground floor.

The service group consists of the kitchen, pantry, store-rooms, laundry, cellar, etc., all of which parts should be conveniently grouped as far as possible.

Plans Made To Establish Curb Market In Clanton

TO AID FARMERS IN MARKETING THEIR PRODUCE

Home Demonstration Agent And Commissioners Are Cooperating

On Monday afternoon, June 20, a group of men and women of Chilton County met with Miss Meta E. Grace, Home Demonstration Agent, to discuss the roadside market plans. Miss Grace said, "Since I've been Chilton County I've seen the need for a roadside market so that the people of Chilton County can sell their surplus products." Miss Grace studied the roadside markets in Carolina last summer. She said, "The people there make their living from the tourists who pass their roadside traffic here than there, I see no reason why the people of Chilton County can't have a good bit of money that way. So why not have a market here and sell our products at home instead of taking them to Montgomery or Birmingham."

The main idea is to have a central market in or near Clanton and have stand along the highway as branch markets.

Mrs. Cora Strock said that the curb market in Montgomery was started about 12 years ago with about 5 tables on the street. The vacant lot by the courthouse was used as a storage lot. To begin with only cakes, chickens, fowls, etc., were sold. Now about 200 tables are used and there is still not enough space for all who come, and almost every kind of produce is carried there for sale.

One lady in Chilton County has sold 3,000 chickens since the first of November, 1937. So why not make a successful business here in Chilton County.

"With a good board of directors, which I assure we will have, and a good set of rules," said Judge Smith. "I see no reason why a curb market will not succeed."

State Toxicologist Reports On Crane Case

Following is the official report made by H. W. Nixon, State Toxicologist, in the case of J. T. Crane, young man residing near Maplesville, who was found in a field in a dying condition. Young Crane died shortly and specimens were sent to the State Toxicologist to determine the cause of his death. Following is the report received by J. M. Martin, coroner, and addressed to Hon. Winston Huddleston:

"Hon. Winston Huddleston, Solicitor, Wetumpka, Alabama.
"Dear Mr. Huddleston:
"On June 9, 1938, Mr. G. W. Deason, Clanton, Alabama, came to this office with three other citizens of that County and submitted to us for laboratory examination a human stomach and two ounces of blood, said to have been taken from the body of John Tyre Crane, who died in Chilton County on June 8, 1938 under mysterious circumstances.
"The specimen of blood was taken before embalming, the stomach was taken after embalming, and practically all of the contents had been lost. The residue was contaminated with embalming fluid and coloring agents.
"I made separate analyses of these two specimens. The blood analysis showed relatively large quantities of ethyl alcohol (47 percent). I was unable to recover an appreciable quantity of any poison or powerful drug from the stomach specimen.
"It is my opinion that a human subject whose blood contains 47 percent alcohol, is suffering acute alcoholic intoxication, and his life is seriously endangered thereby. There are cases on record where subjects have died from the effects of alcohol and analyses of their blood showed no more alcohol than this case.
"Our findings in such cases would be more conclusive and complete, if we had the opportunity of examining the decedent promptly after death and before embalming, and were allowed to secure the complete viscera for laboratory examination, and in the light of all available history prior to the death in question.
"Hoping this information is of value to you I am,
"Yours truly,
"H. W. NIXON
"State Toxicologist."

Hardy Thanks The Voters Of Chilton

"To The Voters Of Chilton County:
"I wish to take this as a means of expressing my sincerest appreciation to each of you who so kindly and willingly left your important post at home both last night and at public post to cast your vote for me as well as lend your influence in my behalf, and I shall at all times in the future, remember that you have bestowed unusual confidence in me, in that a majority of you cast your vote for me in the June 14, runoff, primary.
"I shall make every effort possible to see each of you personally in the near future.
"It is being talked that there will be another election, on the Tax Collector's Office, for nominee, this I don't know, but whether there is or not, I should greatly appreciate the taxpayers of this County not having this unnecessary expense incurred upon them, or us.
"Again thanking each of you, for your vote and influence in the past and wishing you all a continued success in your every efforts.
"I am respectfully,
"J. R. HARDY"

Investigation Needed

(AN EDITORIAL)

All Chilton County Democrats which will include members of the county Democratic Executive Committee, law enforcement officers, and county solicitor have a problem facing them that they cannot ignore, and if these persons believe in fair play and a strict adherence to the rules, should call for an investigation of the kidnaped and missing absentee ballot box of the primary election of last June 14th.

This newspaper believes that the Democrats of Chilton County are far from being satisfied with the manner recent elections have been conducted in this county. Certainly this newspaper is not satisfied with the manner in which the primary election of last June 14th was conducted.

Of course, the News has no inclination whatever to take sides in a Democratic primary election in this county in favor of one candidate or another. That has been stated and proven before.

Although continual reports of fraud, misconduct, vote buying and other flagrant violations have been made and heard by this newspaper, and it may be possible that the abduction of that absentee ballot box by six prominent citizens may have been an effort to call attention to this reported fraud, this newspaper cannot endorse such drastic steps as were taken by these six men. There must be a reason and not only the Democrats of Chilton County, but every citizen of the county has a right to know why this happened. We deserve a thorough investigation of this matter.

The State of Alabama is aroused over this situation in Chilton County and the people of the state will not allow it to rest and become just a memory until it is looked into and if there has been wholesale fraud, changing of ballots, and illegal affidavits as is charged, then surely our great State has sufficient laws to punish those responsible for it and prevent a re-occurrence of such tactics in elections.

What happened in Chilton County on June 14th regarding that election may lead to serious things, to bloodshed and reigns of terror. Its seriousness must not be discounted in the least.

This newspaper calls upon the Democratic Executive Committee to make a thorough investigation of this matter. And, if they find these charges are true, that they place the evidence before a grand jury for further action under the laws of the State of Alabama. And, we hope this will be done immediately.

State Committee Has Considered Election

Sub-Committee To Recommend Action For County Committee; McKee Files Contest; Nominee Not Certified

Recent developments in the election up-set in this county due to the disappearance of the absentee ballot box of the primary election June 14th, have slightly changed the picture although observers state that it appears either route followed by the county Democratic Executive Committee will lead to a special primary election to settle the question of who is the nominee for tax collector and state Senator.

However, this is not certain. When the county Democratic Executive Committee met last Thursday as probed by law to canvass the returns of the primary election no certification of a nominee was made due to the absence of the absentee ballot box and the certificate of results.

The county committee instructed the vice-chairman and secretary to look into the matter and determine the best course for the committee to follow. E. N. Bentley, of Thorsby, is vice-chairman and secretary of the county committee and served in the absence of W. M. Polk, chairman of the committee. Mr. Bentley and Billy Smith, secretary of the committee, went into the matter, conducting something of an investigation and took the situation to the special sub-committee of the State Democratic Executive Committee which promised immediate action.

The state sub-committee, duly appointed with powers of the state committee, met in Selma Tuesday afternoon and informed the vice-chairman and secretary of the county committee at the regular meeting of the sub-committee in Montgomery today, they would tender a formal recommendation to the Chilton County committee as to what action to take in the matter.

The Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee will meet in Clanton Friday to hear the state committee recommendations and act upon that. Despite the fact that no nominee for the office of tax collector has been declared by the county committee, J. McKee filed contest papers against J. R. Hardy with the county committee Tuesday night but made no comment Monday night but made no comment to what steps he would take until he could advise with his attorneys.

It was learned through the sub-committee of the State Democratic Committee that the county committee was practically all-powerful in taking whatever actions they wished to determine a nominee.

The county committee may call another and special primary if they wish; the committee may even then certify a nominee and possibly may change its mind and recall that certification, or the committee may possibly accept the contest and go into an investigation. Either route, however, observation, will probably lead to a special primary election in this county. Of course this may hinge entirely upon whatever the state sub-committee recommends to the county committee after the state committee meets in Montgomery today.

No legal action has been taken by officials nor have any arrests been made in connection with the disappearance of the absentee ballot box said to have contained 741 ballots.

As the News goes to press Wednesday, it was not learned whether Dr. J. A. Hines would file a contest or not in his race for State Senator. His count of votes as it now stands gives Karl Harrison several hundred lead over Hines, excluding the missing absentee box.

When the Chilton County Democratic Committee meets Friday in Clanton the findings, evidence, in the hands of E. N. Bentley vice-chairman and Billy Smith, secretary of the committee, will be placed before it. It is not known at this time whether Mr. Polk, the chairman, will preside over this meeting or not. He returned to Clanton Tuesday with a motor trip with his family.

ROUTE TWO MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN HERE

Apparently the victim of a train, the mangled body of Paul Simmons, age 49, who resided in the Maples Springs community, was discovered early Sunday morning on the L&N Railroad about four hundred yards in the direction of Clanton, from the Dennis Crossing, by a negro boy who chanced to be walking up the track.

According to J. M. Martin coroner, who investigated, Simmons was last seen on Saturday afternoon in Clanton. He came to town with Jim Driver, at whose home he was staying, and on arriving in town made the statement to Mr. Driver that unless he was at the car when he (Driver) was ready to leave he would find another way of returning home. He was reported not seen again, until his body was found, badly mangled.

Funeral services were conducted from the Maple Springs Church Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock with the Rev. M. Lockhart, assisted by Rev. Andrew Davis, conducting the services and J. M. Martin & Sons in charge of burial. He is a member of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Atlanta, that city being his headquarters.

His efforts are concerned with the stemming of the tide of mounting Jew hatred and the promotion of a better understanding of the Jewish people on the part of the Gentiles. His message on Sunday evening will be on the Bible teaching concerning the Jews. The public is cordially invited to attend—Rev. Oscar Davis, Pastor.

A Man's Prayer

Teach me that sixty minutes make an hour, sixteen ounces one pound, and one hundred cents make a dollar. Help me live and lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unhaunted by the faces of those whom I have brought to pain. Grant, I beseech Thee, that I may earn my meal ticket on the square and in doing thereof I may not stick the gaff where it does not belong. Deafen me to the jingling of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow but reveal to me mine own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play. And when comes the smell of flowers and the tread of soft steps and the crunching of the hearse's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "HERE LIES A MAN."—Exchange.

State Chamber Of Commerce Is Pursuing Proper Policy

A little more than a year ago the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce was organized and outlined its program for building this State to greater and more deserving heights. We glanced over the roster of names in the new organization. We noted several who had led campaigns in opposition to measures we had considered progressive. We picked out some that we had identified in the past with political and economic reaction. We declared openly our lack of faith in the new Alabama Chamber of Commerce, for which we were immediately chided by John Temple Graves II, of the Birmingham Age-Herald.

Having great faith in the Birmingham columnist, we back-tracked slightly and waited. Since then we have seen the new organization grow more and more active in the state. We have seen it sponsor measures that offer real promise of a greater Alabama. We have seen it enlist leading agriculturalists, leading educators and leading economists in its program. Steadily we have come to believe in the Alabama Chamber of Commerce. We have begun to feel that the leaders have determined to make the organization a cooperative organization, that they have no intention of dominating it, but merely of keeping it at work for a greater Alabama.

In the Chamber's recent declaration concerning new industries for Alabama are found the following quotations: "Experience has shown that a short-sighted policy to seek new industries whose operations will not prove profitable over a period of years, both to the industry and to the community in which it is located.

"Likewise, industries which exploit labor, which fail to pay reasonable wages, and which are unwilling to assume their fair share of community and state responsibilities are undesirable. (By the latter we understand is included the willingness to support adequately with taxes a progressive system of public education and a modern state government.)

"The type of industry which Alabama needs and welcomes . . . is that which can take the raw products of our farms, forests and mines and process and market them. . . .

"As a general rule the industry seeking inducements in the form of bonuses, cash for moving expenses or special subsidies . . . is undesirable."

Here our last vestige of resistance to the State Chamber of Commerce breaks down. Here the Chamber is supporting what we consider to be a sound policy. Alabama needs industry, of course, but only the right kind of industry. We need to develop them gradually with our own capital. Small, home-owned industries that will benefit Alabama, the producers of local raw materials, and Alabama labor, are our great need. If the State Chamber can induce the development of such industry it will be rendering an epochal service.—Lee County Bulletin.

Wealthy Diplomats

It is rather well known that only wealthy men can afford to become ambassadors or ministers to leading nations of the world, as the salaries and allowances from the government are insufficient to maintain them suitably in such posts.

The background of a few of our principal diplomatic representatives abroad will illustrate that they are mostly drawn from the wealthy class.

Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, was a big Boston banker and motion picture magnate before entering the government service.

Hugh Wilson, ambassador to Germany, is from the wealthy Chicago shirt manufacturing family.

William Phillips, ambassador to Italy, is related to the banking family of J. P. Morgan.

Joseph C. Grew, ambassador to Japan, is also related to the Morgan family.

Norman Armour, ambassador to Chile, is a member of the Armour meat packing family.

Alexander W. Weddell, ambassador to Argentina, married the wealthy widow of James H. Steedman of St. Louis in 1924.

Anthony Drexel Biddle, ambassador to Poland, is a member of the famous banking family of Philadelphia.

Many other high ranking American diplomats and members of their staffs are also men with large fortunes.

Theoretical Regulation Ignores Red Lights

The fruits of a transportation policy which has consistently refused the railroads rates sufficient to meet the cost of operation and return even a nominal profit, are being harvested now. And they are bitter indeed.

Thus, in a recent address, R. V. Fletcher of the Association of American Railroads, pointed to the necessity for reducing expenses, and said: "To this end, every possible economy is being practiced, and every known device resorted to, to increase efficiency. But in a crisis such as the present one, these methods will not meet the situation. Disagreeable as is the effort to reduce the wage scale, there is no alternative. Preliminary steps are being taken to reduce the wage base by fifteen percent. The leaders of railroad labor have stated their purpose to resist to the last, every effort in this direction. It seems doubtful, however, if the welfare of the rank and file of railroad labor will be benefited by maintaining the present unprecedented wage scale, the highest in the history of the industry. The increase in expenses, the unsatisfactory rate levels and the fall-off in business have made it impossible for the roads to retain on their rolls many thousands of men who are now out of employment. In fact, a high wage rate in times like these is of benefit only to those at the top of the seniority roster."

Certainly the railroads do not want to be forced to reduce wages—it must result in a great deal of litigation an argument, and finally be decided by long meditation proceedings. But what else can be done? The cost of labor is tremendously important factors in total operating expense. All other expenses have been bared to the bone—and revenues are still dangerously low, and are tending lower. The small rate increase recently granted—averaging 5.3 percent, as against the 15 percent requested by the lines—is but a drop in the bucket.

There is, of course, one way out—and that is for Congress to take steps that would result in the railroads being granted adequate rates. Unless that is done, the hard facts indicate that wage reductions are inescapable. This is part of the price we must pay for our "depression making" system of railroad regulation.

High Priced Corn Ahead?

H. G. Hastings, noted Georgia seedsmen, in a letter to The Progressive Farmer sounds a warning we are glad to pass on to our readers. He says:

"A letter from Iowa reports the subsoil there is dry as a bone. The same thing apparently holds true in eastern Nebraska. The very center of the big Corn Producing Belt is very much worried over the moisture situation. In fact, it has been abnormally dry throughout that area for nearly a year—and if they have one of their usual hot dry seasons this coming summer, it will be just too bad for the fellow who has to buy corn next fall and winter."

We Observe

By BONNIE HAND

AROUND THORSBY—

Saw our good friend, Ernie Hanson, in Thorsby the other day. Mr. Hanson lost no time in telling us that things are happening in and around Thorsby in a progressive way. That big government Pine Tree Nursery located near there has made rapid progress and is one of the interesting spots of this country. We haven't been out to see how this project is coming on for some time, but we're giving Mr. L. E. Brickenderfer, the genial nursery manager, fair warning that we'll be headed that way before long, and we expect to be shown the latest developments in the camp and on the farm. We're sure this nursery has been a help to Thorsby, and the citizens of this progressive town have a right to be proud of the fact that Thorsby was selected by the U. S. Government as the site for its largest nursery.

KIWANIS—

We can see right now that rare treats are in store for Kivanians of Clanton, when they hear Donald Comer, Alabamian industrialist, at their regular meeting tonight at the Elks Lodge Hotel. Monday night of next week will be "All Kivani Night," and will be fittingly attended by Clanton Kivanians when they gather at Mitchell DeLoe, who the ladies invited, as the guests of Kivani John Hollis, Superintendent of the same. And with John Hollis as host, this meeting could be nothing but entertaining.

YES SIR—

Maybe you haven't stopped to think that Clanton has a real candy manufacturing plant that is capable of turning out candy of most every flavor and description. The Minshew Candy Company employs several persons in its plant near the L&N Railroad, and it's interesting to watch candy in the making on a large scale. J. L. Minshew, owner and operator of this establishment.

TOO BAD—

Things will happen over which we have no control. We were certainly sorry that Donkey Baseball game was rained out last Monday night. At this writing we don't know whether or not the game will be played later. We hope the game scheduled at Maplesville went off in a big way. We've never seen a donkey baseball game, but we're still looking forward to seeing one.

WHY NOT—

Summer is really here now, judging by the calendar and temperature, and that turns the thoughts of the younger people to swimming. And to the younger people of Clanton and surrounding sections, that means a trip to Prattville, or some other city where there is a modern swimming pool. Isn't it regrettable that Clanton, a larger city than Prattville, and a city that is progressing in many ways has no county or city, or for that matter, no independently owned, modern recreation center. Such a place is certainly needed in this territory. We wonder couldn't our county or city officials do something about this situation.

NO LUCK—

Went fishing the other day, and I suppose the less said about that trip, the better. Guess we just went at the wrong time of the week, month, year—or something. And then Tuesday morning we ran smack into a 32-pound catfish down near Broadhead's Market. This baby was hooked by Rube Wyatt and "Jelly" Bean. This was a beauty, and if we keep trying, maybe some afternoon when the wind is just right, the fish hungry, and—but we'd never be that lucky and catch a cat that big. And too, our heart might not stand the excitement.

One ad in the Chilton County News is not supposed to bring in a flock of new customers to a place. That ad will bring customers, all right, but REGULAR ADVERTISING helps a business keep its firm name before the buying public, and strengthens that business to the point that it will be substantial for years to come. This is a fact—not just filler to this column.

When she proved that an automobile accident had turned her nose blue, Mrs. Anita Woods of Los Angeles won a $2001 judgment in superior court.

As he went to jail in Denver because he was unable to pay a fine of $100 for stealing seven hundred pounds of cheese, Joseph H. Love exclaimed, "I can eat several pounds of cheese a day and still yearn for more."

Detaining a 16 year old boy who ran away from home "to go West," Deputy Sheriff Harry Gole of Rock Island, Ill., asked the boy why he kept his gun. The youth promptly produced seven revolvers.

Charles Cole, pretended deaf and dumb beggar of Chicago was indicted for cursing a man who refused to give him money.

Because Joseph Reese persisted in courting the sister, Pat and Ed Riston of Belfast sat him on a hot stove.

After arresting Mrs. Marian Shaw of New York City for the 53rd time on a charge of speeding, the judge announced that he would send her husband to jail for permitting her to drive if she were arrested again.

MORAL ECHOES.

D. W. Hawley

WE sat in the reception room where had assembled two brothers and their families. Each had two children. The children out of one home were quiet, thoughtful and obedient. The children out of the other were loud, rude and disobedient. It was a good time for me to study human nature. Why did we have before such a contrast in child life? Was the difference produced in the nature of the child, or did it go back to the difference in parental attitudes toward growing children? Two fathers sat before me. The father and mother of the two children who behaved well had faces of character and will power, while the faces of the parents who had the rude children indicated lack of strong character and will power. Before these children came into that room they had been under molding hands, and now before company they were giving expression to what they had received in days gone by. It is often true that what a child is in company, is an expression of what a child receives in the home before company comes.

Alabama needs a more uniform system of grading hogs since the low cost of producing pork on peanuts and the unlimited market for hogs makes the present combination profitable for the Alabama, says the farm product marketing committee, adding that more careful grading and packing of all farm products is necessary to bring the best market prices to Alabama farmers.

A wealthy farmer lived by the side of the landing field and often the pilot would urge him to ride on their planes. His price were always too much for the stingy old Scotchman. One day a pilot proposed to give the old man and his wife a free ride if he would promise to speak for him when he saw many church members who pretend to be on the job with God and yet they never strike a lick for the Kingdom all day. Fisheries Society Meets

Fish and game experts from three nations on the North American continent converged on Asheville, N. C., this week for the annual joint meeting of the American Fisheries Society and the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners. June 20 to 24 inclusive. Alabama is interested in the convention because many problems affecting Southern warm water fishes will be discussed, and because L. P. Quinn, head of the State Conservation Department, is president of the American Fisheries Society. He will preside at the sessions and deliver the president's address. This group represents the leading thought and research on food and game fisheries of Canada, The United States and Mexico. Com. L. P. Quinn was honored with the presidency last year at the Mexico City Convention.

Barbecue Scheduled

The Choctaw Hunting and Fishing Club, with interests in Hale County, announces that the club will be host July 4 at a big barbecue. Residents living on and adjacent to the property will be invited, as well as all the club members. Purpose of the barbecue, according to Carl P. Huntsville Meeting Success

More than 100 sportsmen and representatives of conservation groups in North Alabama counties met last week at Huntsville with State, Federal and TVA officials for a discussion of problems affecting that section. Quinn, of the State Conservation Department, said that it was one of the most fruitful meetings of this kind he had ever attended, and praised the Tennessee Valley people for their interest in the work all agencies are doing to restore and conserve game and fish of that area.

OUTSTANDING SPEAKERS ARE INVITED TO FARMERS, WEEK

Plans are well underway for the annual Farmers' Week meeting in Thorsby, August 1st to 5th, announces P. O. Thomas, director, Alabama Extension Service.

This year the program will include more actual farmer participation and an increased number of recreational or entertainment events; states Director Davis. Each morning from 8 to 10 o'clock farmers' forum and discussions will be held. From 10 to 12 general sessions, featured by addresses from prominent farm speakers will be on the schedule.

Field trips and recreation will occupy the afternoons while each evening during the five-day meeting music and other entertainment will be given. One outstanding speaker will be heard each evening.

"We believe that in attendance, in interest, and in value this Farmers' Week will be better than any conducted previously at Auburn," states Director Davis.

On the Ship He Would Be the Look-Out

"If you could take a few seconds off sometime and travel with me around the electrical system of my Company, you'd be surprised at how many people you would find on duty any hour of the night or day, to make certain that your electric service remains as constant as it is humanly possible to make it. You could make the trip in a few seconds because, as you know, I travel 144,000 miles a second."

"I believe you would find the work of the operators at the substations and power plants particularly interesting. While it might appear to you that they are not working, all of their senses are attuned to the delicate but precise instruments about them, which signal the slightest variation from normal in your electrical service."

"The operators must be on the job every minute of the duty period assigned to them. You would get a big thrill if you happened to come in when there is a serious weather disturbance, because then you would see the automatic signal lights rapidly blinking on and off; you would see the operator hurrying from switchboard to switchboard promptly and accurately getting the service back to normal again."

"You, sitting in your cozy chair, are seldom aware of the thousands of Alabama Power Company employees who, in the performance of their duties, make it possible for you to enjoy cheap, dependable electric service."

Chryslers "Run Cool" In Hottest Weather

Extremely hot weather imposes two tests on a motorist. One of these is a moderation of the mechanism, which the motorist does with the comfort of the other passengers. In the 1938 Chrysler of the same engineers and body design. Royal is insured that the car will meet every test. That is why Chrysler's body begins to climb out of the top of the thermometer tube.

Chrysler Royal engines "run cool" in any weather because of their efficient directional cooling. The combination of a full length water jacket and a water distributing tube contributes to this cool operation, by providing more uniform temperatures over the entire length of the cylinder block, thus assuring uniform cylinder expansion under extreme heat. Naturally, the truer the cylinders remain, the fuller the compression and the greater the economy in oil. A proportionate share of water is discharged directly to all exhaust valve seats, the hottest part of the engine. Water then circulates around the intake valve seat, cylinders, combustion chambers and back to the radiator.

Furthermore, the oil being forced under pressure to various engine bearings passes immediately adjacent to the lower end of the water jacket and is cooled thereby, resulting in more efficient operations as well as oil economy.

A crankcase ventilator is another factor in the cool operation of the Chrysler Royal. The hot, injurious gases, produced by combustion are removed from the crankcase by a vacuum system. The oil filter pipe at the front of the engine acts as an inlet for air, which escapes through an outlet extending below the base of the engine.

The forward movement of the car produces a partial vacuum at the lower end of the outlet pipe, drawing off the

W. P. A. Erected 311 New Buildings In Ala.

Montgomery, Ala., June 22—W. G. Henderson, State Works Progress Administrator, today announced that WPA had constructed 311 new public buildings, an addition in Alabama.

The buildings represent an investment of approximately $4,000,000, and 124 of the structures erected are school buildings.

Among the new public buildings erected in Chilton County are Clanton Airport Hangar.

Recreational buildings, including auditoriums, stadiums, gymnasiums and bathhouses total 29. WPA also constructed 12 institutional buildings including hospitals, penal institutions and others. Courthouse additions, city halls gases from the crankcase and drawing in clean fresh air from the oil filter pipe.

The comfort of passengers is promoted by a scientific ventilation system in the 1938 Chryslers. It is possible to get at maximum of fresh air without drafts and each passenger has individual control of his own "weather." A big screened cowl ventilator brings fresh air into the lower part of the driver's compartment. Ventilation wings in the front door windows move on friction pivots and may be adjusted to any desired position through an 180 degree arc. The rear section of front door windows may be lowered completely. On the four door sedans, rear quarter windows are fixed on pivots as in the front door. Rear door windows lower completely out of sight and on two door sedans the rear window can be lowered almost flush with the sill. On rumble seat coupes, the rear window may be lowered to allow communication with rumble seat passengers.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD TO PLACE ON NEW TRAINS

Effective June 15 the Pennsylvania Railroad will place in operation, between its Atlantic Seaboard and Western Terminals, the largest fleet of modern design passenger trains in the country. Advancements in styling and streamlining will be used to re-equip eight premier east and west trains, four in each direction, known in names as the "Broadway Limited" and the "General" between Chicago and New York, the "Liberty Limited" between Chicago and Washington, D. C., and the "Spirit of St. Louis" between St. Louis and New York.

The "Broadway Limited" will be an all-room train with no open sections, representing master rooms, drawing room, compartments, double and single sleeping car roomettes. The schedule of this train will be reduced to 16 hours between Chicago and New York. The Repeal

As you recall, we stated in the very beginning of these articles on the liquor business, that the things that we would have to say would be based upon observation, experience, facts and figures. It is my purpose this week to give some facts and figures on the repeal, or rather results of the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Milk Consumption Shrinks

Consumption of milk jumped 35 billion quarts in 1924 to 41 billion in 1933, according to the report of D. Munn, president of the National Dairy Council. This represents an increase of 17 percent during the ten years under prohibition. Since repeal the production of milk has jumped from 41 billion quarts to 39 billion quarts.

This represents a loss of more than a quarter of the gain made during the ten dry years.

Moreover, a report of the consumers council shows that in 59 leading cities of the nation, the rate of consumption of milk is below a healthful normal.

A. A. Norris, president of the Associated Milk Boards, discussing figures for the eleven leading nations of the world, recently stated that the United States is now next to the lowest of that group.

According to reliable statistics the present per capita of milk consumption in the United States is 15 quarts daily per family of five. The minimum quantity for each such family should be 25 quarts. In other words, the present milk consumption is 40 percent under the minimum for health safety. The quantity recommended as ideal for a fully adequate diet is 4 quarts per day per family of five. By that standard the present consumption is 64 percent below the recommended.

A. A. Norris, above quoted, recently said: "The severest blow to milk drinking was the Repeal of the Prohibition Amendment."

That statement seems to be fortified by the fact that in 1934 the first full year of legalized beer, its consumption was 1,168,018,000 gallons. The consumption of beer increased steadily, reaching 1,720,222,481 gallons of legal tax beer in 1937.

This represents an increase of 47 percent for the period of an average annual increase of 16 percent, which means further ruinous inroads of the

Clanton Methodist Church

Now is the time for all good men—and women and boys and girls to come to the aid of their churches. The officials of our churches are standing for its growth in love, service, and fellowship in attendance. They need the interest and help of each person who can help them by thinking, praying, speaking. We are happy to have the number in attendance last Sunday and just wish each of the absent ones could have been present to hear our pastor's message at general assembly. May each one of those who heard it strive to be more loyal to our church in its every endeavor and to do more for its good.

We wish to express our good wishes to all the absent ones and especially to all who have been kept away from church because of illness or illness in the family. We hope and pray for the early recovery of the sick ones and for the return of each member our church services along with the faithful who have been able to continue to attend regularly.

Alabama Motorists Pay $13,295,000 Tax In 1937

Alabama motorists last year paid a record high of $13,295,000 in gasoline taxes to the State, an increase of 13.3 percent over 1936, when $11,734,000 was paid, Mr. Earl M. Hearne, secretary of the Alabama Motor Vehicle Industries association, announced today. The figures, showing the substantial gain in gasoline taxes in 1937, are taken from the annual report of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, received by Mr. Hearne.

In the past several years gasoline taxes by Alabama have been remarkable gains. Collections were 43 percent above 1934, 20 percent above 1935, and 19 percent above 1936, said Mr. Hearne.

Marked gains in gasoline taxes, he noted, are the result of the Constitutional Amendment, passed by the people at the November General Election, providing for a 10 percent increase in the State and local funds is ratified, should the State and counties to grow rapidly and safer roads more rapidly than ever before in the history of the State. With millions of dollars of additional road funds available because of the higher gasoline tax revenue, road improvement on a wide scale can be carried out, if all road funds are spent for road purposes. Within a few years the needed basic improvements in the State highway system can be made, and with a declining need for major improvements, the State may find it possible to give its motorists, most of whom earn less than $30 a week, relief in the form of a reduction in the gasoline tax. Up to now the trend in gasoline taxation has constantly been upward. In the not distant future that trend should be reversed.

Imogene Spigle Weds W. L. DeVaughn At Church Ceremony Solemnized In Cullman

A marriage of widespread interest was that of Miss Imogene Spigle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Spigle of Jeppa, and William Lincoln DeVaughn of Clanton, which took place at the First Christian Church, Cullman at eight o'clock on the evening of June 11.

The church was beautifully decorated with gladioli and tall baskets of Easter lilies, while in seven branched candles,abra white tapers burned against a background of massed palms and ferns. The candles were lighted by Miss Margaret Nell Jones of Clanton.

Proceeding the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. J. R. Holly of the Central Christian Church, of this city, an artistic program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Roberta Smith, pianist, of Florence, and Mrs. Gilbert Rigby, sister of the bride, vocalist whose selection of "Love's Harp" was particularly noteworthy.

The bride was lovely on this occasion, wearing a gown of white satin made on princess lines and fashioned with long sleeves extending to a point over the hand. From neckline to hem the dress was ornamented with self covered buttons and the fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a coronet of white rosebuds. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Marion Spigle was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Lucile Lamont, of Florence attended as her bridesmaid. They were lovely gowns of blue and peach chiffon, respectively, styled with very full skirts, puffed sleeves and heart shaped necklines, and their bouquets were of sweet heart roses tied with harmonizing ribbons.

Maude Hodgens served as best man.

If You're Planning To Build

By W. S. Lowndes
Director, Schools of Architecture and Building
International Correspondence Schools

THE average home owner seems to feel happier if he can say his house is built according to some historical style or period. We have borrowed freely from the designs of builders in England, Spain, Italy and many other countries. These historic styles have developed logically and artistically. They are the results of the tasteful applications of the materials at hand to the construction of buildings that were required at the time. Today the builder can gratify almost every whim and the result is pleasing to the average citizen.

There is at this time a tendency among architects, who are weary of following the examples and traditions of the past, to use new forms and methods of design. American architects are making great strides and a definite native trend is finding expression in many dwellings. Of course, the American colonial style has been developed into one of the most attractive types to be found anywhere. The ideal way of designing is to be sensible and tasteful in manner, using the materials at hand, without following any traditional method of arranging the rooms or in decorating the interior. In this way you show originality.

In this modern age homes are built with a careful eye to the sun, as in air-conditioning and sunlight. The architect of today thinks in such terms and it is well to put more money into these features which now are considered a standard of ideal living.

Howard Couch was groomsmen, and the ushers included Frank Petty, George Fonder, Jr., and James Graham.

The bride is very popular among her associates, possessing a charming personality, and soon many friends throughout the Tennessee Valley received her B. S. degree from Athens College with the Class of 1935, and has since been employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority at Wilson Dam.

Mr. DeVaughn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. DeVaughn of Clanton, and is employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority in the department of operations.

After a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, Mr. and Mrs. DeVaughn will be at home in Florence.

Alabama Borrowers Rank High With Home Owners' Loan

Alabama borrowers have made a good record and rank high in performance on the records of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. Borrowers have paid back $4,623,820 or 12.3 percent of their principal indebtedness, and 181 loans amounting to $787,937 have been paid in full.

During the period of making loans, 16,611 loans with a total of $37,037,585 were granted in the records of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Affairs as of April 30 of this year show that 9,707 accounts were entirely current or less than three months in arrears, while 1,043 others were more than three months in arrears. There are 1,263 other borrowers who are making some kind of payments and whose homes the Corporation hope to save.

The Corporation actually owns 79 homes and has sold 22. The rest of the accounts are those paid in full, those which are so seriously impaired that drastic action must be taken to save them or those whose owners have died or those who have been foreclosed. In addition to the records for the U. S. National HOLC operations, borrowers have paid back $48,124,521, or approximately 13 percent of their entire principal indebtedness, 31,926 loans amounting to $75,128,446 have been fully liquidated.

As of April 30, 618,385 accounts were either current or less than three months in arrears, while 155,773 others were more than three months in arrears. Borrowers were paying their monthly bills and making regular payments that should shortly place them in the liquidating class.

The Corporation owns 79,473 homes and has sold 11,482. Of the units owned 88.5 percent are rented and rental collections average 97.2 percent.

BOB GOODE CAUTIONS AGAINST MIGRATION OF "BAD" BEETLES

According to Commissioner of Agriculture, R. L. (Bob) Goode, the white fringed beetle grub, known as the "bad" beetle, is now in the stage of transforming into adult beetles. Mr. Goode further stated, "We are anticipating the area infested in Alabama and Florida to be alive with this pest by July 1."

Due to the efforts on the part of the Plant Industry Division of the State Department of Agriculture, with Geo. Harris in charge working in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Entomology, we feel that the beetle will survive the eradication measures which are being employed this year.

Every known method of control that has been developed and proven to be effective is being used in the fight to control this pest. Chief among these methods of control where followed cultivation is not practical: the use of hot lowgrade oil supplied with pressure and spraying with pyrethrin acid method is used, the beetle will be unable to produce any eggs and will soon die from lack of food.

We feel it advisable to urge that all persons not engaged in the actual work of aiding in eradicating this pest refrain from visiting the infested area. These beetles are most likely to cling to your car or clothing and thereby spread to a new location. This can be easily prevented by staying away from the infested area and your cooperation in preventing the spread of this beetle is earnestly requested."

Plans Made To Establish Curb Market In Clanton

TO AID FARMERS IN MARKETING THEIR PRODUCE

Home Demonstration Agent And Commissioners Are Cooperating

On Monday afternoon, June 20, a group of men and women of Chilton County met with Miss Meta E. Grace, Home Demonstration Agent, to discuss the roadside market plans. Miss Grace said, "Since I've been Chilton County, I've seen the need for a roadside market. That the people of Chilton County can sell their surplus products." Miss Grace studied the roadside markets in Carolina last summer. She said, "The people there make their living from the tourists who pass their roadside markets, and as there is much more traffic here than there, I see no reason why the people of Chilton County can't make a good bit of money that way. I see why there is no market here and sell our products at home instead of taking them to Montgomery or Birmingham."

The main idea is to have a central market in or near Clanton and have stands along the highway as branch markets.

Mrs. Cora Stock said that the curb market in Montgomery was started about 12 years ago with about 5 tables on the street. The vacant lot by the courthouse was used as a storage lot. To begin with only cakes, chickens, etc., were sold. Now about 200 tables are used and there is still not enough space for all who come, and almost every kind of produce is carried there for sale.

One lady in Chilton County has sold 3,000 chickens since the first of November, 1937. So why we make a successful business here in Chilton County.

With a good board of directors, which I assure we will have, and a good set of rules," said Judge Smith. "I see no reason why a curb market will not be a splendid success here."

An advisory committee was appointed to select the board of Directors. The advisory committee is as follows: Judge Smith, Chairman, Mrs. Stock, Miss Lena Downs, Miss Grace, H. R. Oden.

This committee met immediately after the meeting adjourned to make a few plans and appoint the Board of Directors.

The following will be asked to serve: Fate Powell, Jasper Dennis, L. E. Diefenderfer, Mrs. H. K. Christianson, Bill Stock, Miss Lena Downs, Miss Meta Grace, T. E. Wyatt, Billy Smith, Mrs. Alice Hudson, and Mrs. W. C. Manning.

This Board is to meet with the advisory committee on Monday afternoon. Continued on Back Page)

Hardy Thanks The Voters Of Chilton

"To The Voters Of Chilton County: I wish to take this as a means of expressing my sincerest appreciation to each of you who so kindly and willingly left your important post at home both to the farm and at public post to cast your vote for me as well as lend your influence in my behalf, and I shall at all times in the future, remember that you have bestowed unusual confidence in me in that a majority of you cast your vote for me in the June 14, runoff, Primary."

"I shall make every effort possible to see each of you personally in the near future."

"It is being talked that there will be another election, on the Tax Collector's Office, for nominee, this I don't know, should be whether there is or not. I should greatly appreciate the Taxpayer of this County not having this unnecessary expense incurred upon them, or us."

"Again thanking each of you, for your vote and influence in the past and wishing you all a continued success in your every efforts."

"I am respectfully,
J. R. HARDY"

BIRMINGHAM MERCHANTS TO LUNCH HERE

To Meet With Local Men At Exchange Hotel Tomorrow

According to Edwin L. Mullins, local merchant in charge of arrangements about twenty-five merchants, members of the Alabama Merchants Association will motor down from Birmingham Friday and lunch at the Exchange Hotel with a group of Clanton merchants.

A letter received by Mr. Mullins stated that the party will arrive here just before noon. Arrangements have been made for the luncheon to be held at one o'clock, and as many merchants as possible are urged to meet with the Birmingham group at this time.

Mr. Mullins stated that if merchants desiring reservations will contact him he will be glad to make arrangements for their accommodation. The dinners will be paid for individually. He urges that as many as possible attend, as Clanton will act as host to this group. Wright M. Taylor, Secretary of the Alabama Merchants Association, will accompany the group down, and an interesting program is being arranged.

The annual convention of the Merchants Association will be held this year in Birmingham on August 10 and 11. Edwin Mullins, one of Clanton's youngest merchants, has been asked to act as chairman of the attendance committee for Clanton.

ROUTE TWO MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN HERE

Paul Simmons Found On Track Near Dennis Crossing Sunday

Apparently the victim of a train, the mangled body of Paul Simmons, age 49, who resided in the Maples Springs community, was discovered early Sunday morning on the L&N Railroad about four hundred yards in the direction of Clanton, from the station, by a negro boy who chanced to be walking up the track.

According to J. Mell Martin coroner, who investigated, Simmons was last seen on Saturday afternoon in Clanton. He came to town with Jim Driver, at whose home he was staying, and on whose farm he was employed, and on arriving in town made the statement to Mr. Driver that unless he was at the car when he (Driver) was ready to leave would find another way of returning home. He was reported not seen again, until his body was found, badly mangled.

Funeral services were conducted from the Maple Springs Church Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with the Rev. M. Lockhart, assisted by Rev. Andrew Davis, conducting the services and J. Mell Martin & Sons in charge of burial. He is survived by one brother, Joe Simmons, of Cotton Valley, La.; three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Gibson, of Birmingham, Mrs. Josie Driver, of Route 2, and Mrs. Eva McClure of Alexander City.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Masters of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White.

MISS LOIS THOMPSON TO ATTEND SCHOOL IN N. Y.

Miss Lois Thompson, one of Clanton's most talented young ladies, left Tuesday of this week for Rochester, New York, where she will attend the Eastman School of Music.

Miss Thompson's singing has delighted the people of Clanton and Chilton County for a number of years. She will receive her Masters Degree on the completion of this course.

NOTICE

The News has been requested to announce that a Children's Day Program will be held at Mt. Pisgah Church on the fourth Sunday, June 26. Everyone come and bring a well filled basket.

A third and special primary election in Chilton County is a certainty following a ruling and a recommendation made this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by the special Sub-Committee of the State Democratic Executive Committee which met in Montgomery and made their final statement regarding the election in this County to determine nominees for the Tax Collector and State Senator.

The recommendation, or ruling, from the State Sub-Committee, presided over by Hon. John D. McQueen, State Chairman, also included the race between Karl C. Harrison and Dr. J. A. Hines for the State Senate. This race will be run again in all three counties composing the Fifteenth Senatorial District, according to the ruling of the State Sub-Committee.

G. T. Wilbanks Injured When Struck By Auto

G. T. Wilbanks, well known resident of West End Clanton, was injured last Saturday morning when he was struck by an auto driven by Mrs. Vernice Klinger.

According to the information received by the News, Mr. Wilbanks attempted to cross the Maplesville Highway near the Spigener Funeral Home. The accident was unavoidable. Attendants at the Central Alabama Hospital, where he was carried, state his condition is fair. He received cuts and bruises about the head and body, and a painful injury to his neck.

Special Service At Baptist Church Sun

The Rev. Herbert H. Amster a Christian Jew of Vienna, Austria, and now representative of the American Board of Missions to the Jews, will speak at the Clanton Baptist Church on Sunday, June 26, at 7:45 P.M. Mr. Amster was born of Vienna Jewish parents, being reared in his youth in the Roman Catholic Church, but after coming to the United States was converted and took training for the Gospel Ministry. He is a member of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Atlanta, Georgia.

His efforts are concerned with the stemming of the tide of mounting Jew hatred and the promotion of a better understanding of the Jewish people on the part of the Gentiles. His message on Sunday evening will be on the Bible teaching concerning the Jews. The public is cordially invited to attend.—Rev. Oscar Davis, Pastor.

Elmore Stores Have Declared Dividends

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the V. J. Elmore & Co. and S. I. Stores, Inc., (an Alabama Corporation) held at the General Office in Clanton, Alabama, June 3, 1938, the following dividends were declared to be paid on the first day of July, 1938:

To the stockholders of record July 1, 1938:

The holders of first preferred stock shall be paid dividends at the annual rate which has been elected by the original subscribers, (either 5 or 7 per cent) for the first six months of the year.

The holders of Class "B" Common Stock shall be paid at the rate of one dollar per share.

The holders of Class "A" Common Stock shall be paid at the rate of $5.00 per share.

Date Recommended

The date for holding the third and special primary election in Chilton County has been recommended by the State Sub-Committee for July 26, 1938.

The Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County will meet in Clanton Friday (tomorrow morning) at ten o'clock to take up the recommendations of the State Sub-Committee, in whose hands the matter had been placed for a ruling following the disappearance of the absentee ballot box of this County.

It is believed that the Chilton County Committee will unanimously endorse the recommendations of the State Sub-Committee which has final say-so in matters of this kind.

General consensus of opinion from over the County appears to be in favor of a third and special primary election to determine a nominee for Tax Collector of the County since the State Committee ruled that the County Committee could not certify a nominee under circumstances surrounding the primary election of June 14.

If the County Democratic Executive Committee accepts the recommendation of the State Sub-Committee, which they no doubt will tomorrow, then the contest filed by T. L. McKee, candidate for Tax Collector, will be automatically discarded and called "no contest" by the Committee.

Investigation Looks

However, many citizens say that even if the contest is discarded, this will not stop the movement to thoroughly investigate charges of fraud in absentee voting in this County. And, it is understood that this machinery has already been set up and in motion for this investigation to "let the chips fall where they may" as some have expressed it.

Quite a delegation from Chilton County was seen today at noon at the meeting of the State Sub-Committee in Montgomery. Many of these apparently were there in the interest of Karl Harrison, candidate for State Senator.

ANNUAL HOMECOMING TO BE HELD AT PILGRIM'S REST

The annual Homecoming and singing will be held at Pilgrim's Rest (two and one half miles south of Fletcher) on the first Sunday in July, as has been the custom. Everybody is invited to come, bring their new song books and lunches, and spend the day.

Chryslers "Run Cool"
In Hottest Weather

Extremely hot weather imposes two tests on a motor car. One of these involves the operation of the mechanism, the other has to do with the comfort of the passengers. In the 1938 Chrysler Royal, the engineers and body designers have insured that the car will meet both of these tests. That is why Chrysler owners don't worry when the mercury begins to climb out of the top of the thermometer tube.

Chrysler Royal engines "run cool" in any weather because of their efficient directional cooling. The combination of a full length water jacket and a water distributing tube contributes to this cool operation, by providing more uniform temperatures over the entire length of the cylinder block, thus assuring uniform cylinder expansion under extreme heat. Naturally, the truer the cylinders remain, the fuller the compression and the greater the economy in oil. A proportionate share of water is discharged directly to all exhaust valve seats, the hottest part of the engine. Water then circulates around the intake valve seat cylinders, combustion chambers and back to the radiator.

Furthermore, the oil being forced under pressure to various engine bearings passes immediately adjacent to the lower end of the water jacket and is cooled thereby, resulting in more efficient operations as well as oil economy.

A crankcase ventilator is another factor in the cool operation of the Chrysler Royal. The hot, injurious gases produced by combustion are removed from the crankcase by a vacuum system. The oil filter pipe at the front of the engine acts as an inlet for air, which escaped through an outlet at the rear of the base of the engine.

The forward movement of the car produces a partial vacuum at the lower end of the outlet pipe, drawing off the

W. P. A. Erected 311
New Buildings In Ala.

Montgomery, Ala., June 22—W. G. Henderson, State Works Progress Administrator, today announced that WPA had constructed 311 new public buildings in additions in Alabama.

The buildings represent an investment of approximately $4,000,000, and 124 of the structures erected are school buildings.

Among the new public buildings erected in Chilton County are Clanton Airport Hangar.

Recreational buildings, including auditoriums, stadiums, gymnasiums and bathhouses total 29. WPA also constructed 22 institutional buildings including hospitals, penal institutions and others. Courthouse additions, city halls passes from the crankcase and drawing in clean fresh air from the oil filter pipe.

The comfort of passengers is promoted by a scientific ventilation system in the 1938 Chryslers. It is possible to get a maximum of fresh air without drafts and each passenger has individual control of his own "weather." A big screened cowl ventilator brings fresh air into the lower part of the driver's compartment. Ventilation wings in the front door windows move on friction pivots and may be adjusted to any desired position through an 180 degree arc. The rear section of front door windows may be lowered completely. On the four door sedans, rear quarter windows are fixed on pivots as in the front door. Rear door windows lower completely out of sight and on two door sedans the rear window can be lowered almost flush with the sill. On rumble seat coupes, the rear window may be lowered to allow communication with rumble seat passengers.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD TO PLACE ON NEW TRAINS

Effective June 15 the Pennsylvania Railroad will place in operation, between its Atlantic Seaboard and Western Terminals, the largest fleet of modern design passenger trains in the east. Advanced features of styling and streamlining will be used to re-equip eight premier east and west trains, four in each direction, known in names as the "Broadway Limited" and the "General" between Chicago and New York, the "Liberty Limited" between Chicago and Washington, D. C., and the "Spirit of St. Louis" between St. Louis and New York.

The "Broadway Limited" will be an all-room train with no open sections, representing master rooms, drawing room, compartments, double and single bedrooms and roomettes. The schedule of this train will be reduced to 16 hours between Chicago and New York. The other trains of this new fleet, in addition to the room type of cars, will include modern design open Pullman sleeping cars.

Many novel features of interior design, decoration and arrangements will be embodied in the new cars. Decorations will be in modern style, setting off and harmonizing with unusual seating arrangements, broad, clear vision windows and highly perfected lighting system. Each car will include accommodations, refinements and conveniences never before offered to the public, and will add new attractiveness and pleasure to travel by train.

Pennsylvania Railroad dining cars just out of the shops, and built specially for these streamlined trains will be part of the equipment.

We offer you these ultra-modern, streamlined trains with the sincere conviction that, on your next trip to the East, we will be able to reveal to you an entirely new conception of modern railroad transportation, knowing that an absolute revelation in safe, speedy and delightful travel awaits you.

and other administrative buildings totaled 21. Twenty armories had been completed at the time the report was compiled.

Among other structures were fire houses, garages, hangars and ware houses.

The Repeal

As you recall, we stated in the very beginning of these articles on the liquor ban that the things that we would have to say would be based upon observation, experience, facts and figures. It is my purpose this week to give you facts and figures on the repeal of the liquor amendment.

Milk Consumption Shrinks

The consumption of milk jumped from 35 billion quarts in 1924 to 41 billion in 1933, according to the report of M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy Council. This represents an increase of 17 percent during the past ten years under prohibition. Since the repeal the production of milk has jumped from 41 billion quarts to 39 billion quarts.

This represents a loss of more than one quarter of the gain made during the ten years.

Moreover, a report of the consumers council shows that in 59 leading cities of the nation, the rate of consumption of milk is below a healthful normal.

A. Norris, president of the Associated Milk Boards, discussing figures for the ten leading nations of the world, recently stated that the United States now next to the lowest of that group.

According to reliable statistics the present per capita of milk consumption in the United States is 15 quarts daily per family of five. The minimum quantity for each family should be 25 quarts.

In other words, the present milk consumption is 40 percent under the minimum for health safety. The quantity consumed is ideal for a fully adequate diet is 4 quarts per day per family. By that standard the present consumption is 64 percent under minimum.

A. Norris, above quoted, recently stated the severest blow to milk drinking was the Repeal of the Prohibition amendment.

That statement seems to be fortified by the fact that in 1934 the first full year of legalized beer, its consumption was 118,000,000 gallons. The consumption of beer increased steadily, reaching 122,222,481 gallons of legal tax beer in 1937.

This represents an increase of 47 percent for the period of an average increase of 16 percent, which further ruins inroads of the market.

The farmer is probably the chief financial losses. His direct annual loss

State Toxicologist Reports On Crane Case

Following is the official report made by H. W. Nixon, State Toxicologist, in the case of J. T. Crane, young man residing near Maplesville, who was found in a field in a dying condition. Young Crane died shortly and specimens were sent to the State Toxicologist to determine the cause of his death. Following is the report received by J. Mell Martin, coroner, and addressed to Hon. Winston Huddleston:

June 20, 1938
Hon. Winston Huddleston, Solicitor, Wetumpka, Alabama
Dear Mr. J. T. Crane, G. W. Deason, Clanton, Alabama, came to this office with three other citizens of that County and submitted to us for laboratory examination a human stomach and two ounces of blood, said to have been taken from the body of John Tyre Crane, who died in Chilton County on June 8, 1938 under mysterious circumstances.

"The specimen of blood was taken before embalming, the stomach was taken after embalming, and practically all of the contents had been lost. The residue was contaminated with embalming fluids and coloring agents."

"I made separate analyses of these two specimens. The blood analysis showed relatively large quantities of ethyl alcohol (47 percent). I was unable to recover an appreciable quantity of any poison or powerful drug from the stomach specimen."

"It is my opinion that a human subject whose blood contains .47 percent alcohol, is suffering acute alcoholic intoxication, and his life is seriously endangered thereby. There are cases on record where subjects have died from the effects of alcohol and analyses of their blood showed no more alcohol than this case."

"Our findings in such cases would be more conclusive and complete, if we had the opportunity of examining the dead body promptly after death and before embalming, and were allowed to secure the complete viscera for laboratory examination, and in the light of all available history prior to the death in question."

"Hoping this information is of value to you I am,

"Yours truly,
H. W. NIXON
"State Toxicologist."

Lay Dam (at cow barn)—July 8, 8:30 to 9:30.
Leonard Gentry's Store—July 8, 10:00 to 11:30.

Please remember that you may meet me at any place to suit your convenience and that I will be glad to treat your dog at my house before July 1 at the regular fee of 50c, but after we start above schedule, $1.00 will be charged if done privately.

I also wish to impress upon the owner who did not cooperate last year that this law was enacted for the protection of people and that the State Health Department and your County Health Society are very anxious to see that all dogs from three months up are treated.

All dogs that were treated last year must be treated again. This is a State law and all violators are subject to the law by a fine. Watch for further appointments next week.

W. L. PARRISH, Inspector.

Clanton Methodist Church

Now is the time for all good men and women and boys and girls to come to the aid of their churches. The officials of our churches are struggling for its growth in faith, in works, in membership, in attendance. They need the interest and help of each person. We can help them by thinking, praying, speaking. We are happy to have the number in attendance last Sunday and just wish each of the absent ones could have been present to hear our pastor's message at general assembly. May each one of those who heard it strive to be more loyal to our church in its every endeavor and to do more for its good.

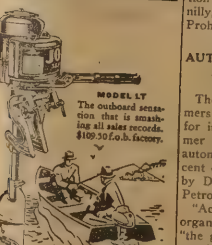

We wish to express our good wishes to all the absent ones and especially to all who have been kept away from church because of illness or illness in the family. We hope and pray for the early recovery of the sick ones and for the return of each member our church services along with the faithful who have been able to continue to attend regularly.

AUTOMOTIVE LEVIES ARE FARMERS' INCOME TAXES

The average income of Alabama farmers is well below the taxable range for income tax purposes, but the farmer who owns a car or a truck pays automotive taxes aggregating 11.41 percent of his gross income. It was stated by D. H. Bohler, Chairman, Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee.

"According to figures reaching my organization," Mr. Bohler explained, "the gross income of the average farmer in Alabama last year was $265. His automotive tax bill for the same year amounted to $27.39, or 11.41 percent of his gross income."

"In this connection I want to point out that the income figure just cited is not the one which income tax liability is computed. For income tax purposes the net income alone is considered."

"From the figure cited the costs of production would have to be subtracted, and such costs may amount to as much as 30 percent of the gross income. The net income represents the return to the farmer for his investment and his own labor and in the case of the Alabama would obviously be too low to be income tax liable."

"Obviously, also, automotive taxes which farmers pay are a heavier burden upon their net incomes than are income taxes upon the earnings of taxable groups. It seems to me a paradox that farm cars and trucks, necessary equipment in present-day farming, should be taxed as if they were luxuries."

If You're Planning To Build

By W. S. Lowndes
Director, School of Architecture and Building
International Correspondence Schools

ONE of the most important things to keep in mind when you are planning to build is the arrangement of closet space. Closets are indispensable and should be installed wherever required as far as the cost of the house warrants. In inexpensive houses, closets are used sparingly. When possible each bedroom should have a large closet. These closets should be provided with high shelves and be provided with the patented devices for hanging clothing. The doors should open so as to admit direct daylight or lamplight. Also there should be a good-sized closet connected with the kitchen, one with the laundry, and one for coats, etc., in connection with the hall. It is desirable to have a closet for linens, one for china and cedar closets for the storage of winter clothing and blankets.

If your house is to have a cellar make it serve you well. The average cellar is a sort of catch-all, and is apt to contain a miscellaneous collection of objects, many of which are useless. A modern cellar should be properly designed for certain functions. The heating apparatus, of course, is a prime necessity and should be thoughtfully located. The laundry is frequently located in the cellar and should be closed off so as to be free from dust. By partitioning off the cellar with light, dust-proof partitions a large game room can sometimes be located there. Such a room may be used as a play room for the children. Closets for storage purposes also may be built into any well planned cellar.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think
—BILLY SMITH

Splendid Idea

Through one of our leading citizens we learned of a plan that has been proposed, or rather talked about that is a splendid idea and would go far in aiding the farmers of this County. It seems that the strawberry growers of this section have a fine building here that is available if the County is allowed to furnish funds for the installation of a canning center for surplus fruits and vegetables.

We learn that there is, and will be a large surplus of beans, tomatoes, and other fruits and vegetables in the County this year. Now it seems to us that if the County Commissioners can, by law, be permitted to invest a few hundred dollars (we understand it won't take much) in a small canning plant here, arrangements can be made through the offices of the County Farm Agent or Home Demonstration Agent for workers and possibly the cans needed.

Unless some steps similar to this are taken there will be a tremendous loss in surplus fruits and vegetables in this County this year. There is no excuse for these foods to go to waste when so small an outlay of money can prevent it and when there seems to be such a spirit of cooperation from the berry growers to be willing to furnish the building for the canning plant.

There will be many families in this County during the coming winter that could use canned fruits and vegetables to a great advantage. We understand that Judge Smith and Commissioner Owen have taken the matter under consideration and are sold on the idea. If the County Commissioners see fit to spend three or four hundred dollars on this, provided they are allowed to, it will be an investment for years to come and in the opinion of many, will more than pay for itself in two years for the people. May we go on record as endorsing this plan which will save thousands of dollars of surplus fruits and vegetables in this County yearly. Canned fruits and vegetables used at home are more economical than selling the products at prices below cost of production.

Didn't Like It

We would judge that members of the County Democratic Executive Committee would not like the happenings surrounding the disappearance of the absentee ballot box. Our opinion is based upon words spoken at the meeting of the committee here last Friday. Undoubtedly, the committee didn't like the rumors of the charges of fraud in absentee voting and that it didn't like the action of the supposedly six men who kidnapped the box, and this new rumor is still wondering if anything will be done about this situation, and when it must be realized by our citizens that not only the people of Chilton County are highly incensed over this matter, but that the entire State is up in arms about it. If you doubt our word for this, just look through your last Sunday's daily papers and read the State letters from all sections of the State condemning the absentee vote in Alabama.

On To Thorsby

Clanton will be as quiet as a church on next Monday, July 4th, judging from the number of any plans for any kind of celebration and the fact that a majority of the business houses will be closed. But, the wide-awake Town of Thorsby is right on its toes and off to Thorsby we will go Monday to help celebrate Independence Day. We warmly remember having spent one glorious and happy Fourth at Thorsby and that town being our birthplace, are looking forward to next Monday and another day among our old friends.

Another Good Program

We note from the program of the New Vadesian Theatre that it is returning to Clanton for the coming week. Being a movie fan, we are delighted and recommend the next week's theatre program to you for real entertainment. We have been wanting to see "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "The Wizard of Oz" and are looking forward to next Monday and another day among our old friends.

Thorsby Is Preparing For Big July Fourth

PARADE, BALL GAMES ARE ON DAY'S PROGRAM

Entire County Invited To Join In Celebration On Next Monday

Merchants, business men and citizens of Thorsby this year plan to celebrate the Fourth of July in an elaborate way, according to the program arranged by this progressive little town.

In the past Thorsby has been the scene of many get-togethers, at which a friendly and hospitable spirit prevailed, but this Fourth of July is expected to find Thorsby the scene of the most enjoyable occasion ever held there. In this issue of the News will be found a full page invitation to the people of this section, extended by the merchants of Thorsby, to be on hand for a good time on this holiday, which demonstrates the patriotic spirit which prevails at that place.

A real cooperative spirit has been shown in arranging this event, and to Miss Esther Johnson goes a goodly portion of the credit for arranging the following program:

At 9:30 A. M. there will be a parade staged by the merchants of Thorsby in which almost every business house will be represented, along with others desiring a part in the parade.

Statement From T. L. McKee To Voters

Clanton, Alabama
June 28, 1938

"To The Voters Of Chilton County:

"I wish to express my thanks for your loyal support in my behalf in my race for nominee for Tax Collector. I realize this splendid support was not influenced by money nor political scheming.

"As you know, I am in the run-off for Tax Collector, set for July 26 and I will endeavor to see as many of you as I can to solicit your continued support and influence. However, you realize that it is impossible for me to see all of you in that length of time. I believe I am safe in saying that every one of you know me personally and know of my record as a county officer has been clean and beyond reproach at all times.

"You perhaps may think I already and I am saying now, that I am not connected with any political ring of this county and neither do I endorse, or even appreciate any method of electing officers other than by the honest, open and above-board method of voting, so that your officers will be free to administer to you in a democratic manner, equal rights to all, special privileges to none and not be hogged by political bosses and dictators.

"Thinking all of you for your support and loyalty, I may have the same in the July 26th primary. I remain,

"Respectfully,

"T. L. McKEE"

Mr. and Mrs. George Parr And Miss Ernestine Childs Compliment Miss Roberts

Mr. and Mrs. George Parr and Miss Ernestine Childs of Marianna, Fla., entertained on last Tuesday evening with a delightful buffet supper complimenting Miss Jane Roberts, bride-elect.

For the occasion the home was decorated in garden flowers with a color scheme of green and white predominating.

The place cards were attractive cigarettes with the faces of a bride and groom drawn on them. They stood on a small match box covered with a match on which was written "It's A Match."

Mrs. Childs presided over the bride's book.

A Buffet supper was served from a prettily appointed table.

The bride wore a model of pink marquisette and lace made on princess lines with low decollete gate.

The following guests were registered: Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ross Wilson Appleton, Miss Helen Roberts, Miss Mary Robinson, Miss Patsy Folk, Nell Rockett, Ann Ross, Peggy Page and Aileen Tisdale.

One of the beautiful parties of the season was the buffet luncheon at which Mrs. Barney Roberts entertained on last Wednesday, the occasion continuing the pre-nuptial parties which were given honoring Miss Jane Roberts, who was married that evening to Mr. J. Ross Philips, Jr.

The Buffet table was laid with a lace cloth and was centered with candles on crystal holders. Two cabbage filled with tooth picks on which were placed artistic cheese. Pears were placed at each end of the table. This attractive decoration was a gift to the bride from Mrs. Clara B. Curry.

CARDUI

In this modern time something wonderfully worth while can be done for practically every woman who suffers from functional pains of menstruation. Certain cases can be relieved by taking Cardui. Others may need a physician's treatment.

Cardui has two widely demonstrated uses: (1) To ease the immediate pain and nervousness of the monthly period; and (2) to aid in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

Junior Bridesmaids Honor Miss Jane Roberts

On Wednesday, June 22, at the lovely home of Mrs. J. C. Page, Misses Nell Rockett, Olive Rainer Elmore, Peggy Page and Ann Ross entertained with a beautiful breakfast at 9:30 honoring Miss Jane Roberts, who was married on that date to Mr. J. Ross Philips.

The home was decorated with baskets of beautiful gladioli. The dining table was covered with a California pottery work of garden flowers.

The tables on which the breakfast was served also held smaller bowls of pottery filled with garden flowers.

The three-course breakfast was planned and served by Mrs. M. R. Orr who is noted for the delicious food which she serves at the Exchange Hotel.

HOMECOMING AT MACEDONIA, BEAT II, SECOND SUN, IN JULY

We will meet at 10 o'clock and sing a while and then have preaching at 11 o'clock by the Rev. W. W. Robinson. The pastor will give a welcome address.

The afternoon will be spent in singing, so all the singers come and bring your new song book. We have the promise of two good singing classes to be here and sing for us. We are expecting to have a class from Mr.

Zion Church at Montgomery to sing, so everybody come out to hear them and help to sing.

Be sure and bring a well filled basket of dinner.

We are going to hold the revival meeting at this time, so everybody take notice and come out to the service.

We have Rev. J. P. Littleton to help the pastor in the meeting and maybe another preacher.

Miss Jane Roberts and Mr. Phillips Wed At Church Ceremony Wednesday Night, June 22

The marriage of Miss Jane Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Barney Roberts, of Clanton, to Mr. J. Ross Phillips of Gadsden, which took place last Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, at the Methodist Church, was a beautiful ceremony witnessed by a large assemblage. Mr. Ivan Trussler of Gadsden officiated. Cathedral candles in branched floor candelabras lighted the green banked altar. In the center and at each side was a huge sprayed arrangement of white gladioli, white lilies in an arrangement of green burned in the windows. The music was a beautiful and impressive feature. Before the ceremony Miss Beverly Hester played a program of organ music selections. She played "In Summer" and "Serenade." Mrs. Henry Stanley then sang "Because" and "O Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Hester. During the ceremony "The Perfect Prayer" was sung by Mrs. Stanley instead of being given by the minister. The traditional wedding marches were played for processional and recessional. The ushers were Wood Rowe Purcell, Randall Cross, Wilson Appleton, Irvin Levi, Jr., Joe Bellenger, and Dr. J.A. Arnold, all of Gadsden. The bride was attended by a lovely cortege. The junior bridesmaids were Misses Ann Ross, Neil Rockett, and Peggy Page, who wore gowns of flesh marquisette and carried old fashioned French bouquets. They stood in the center of the decorations directly behind the minister. The bridesmaids were Misses Edna Roberts of Kansas City, Ernestine Childs of Marianna, Florida, Sara Ann Phillips of Gadsden, Elden Tisdale of Graceville, Florida, Theresa Pope of Decatur, Georgia, and Mrs. George Parr of Clanton. They were dressed similarly in gowns of marquisette shading from flesh into cherry. Their flowers were French bouquets of carnations.

The maids wearing the lighter dresses carried the cherry shades of flowers and those wearing the cherry dresses carried the flesh bouquets.

Miss Helen Roberts sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of parlor pink net over corn flower blue and she carried briar cliff roses.

The lovely little flower girls were Anne Freeman of Gadsden and Janet Ross of Clanton, niece of the bride. They were gowned in flesh marquisette over satin.

The bride entered with her grandfather, Mr. W.H. Sartor, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and Mr. Frank Ralls of Gadsden, who was best man. The bride was lovely in a gown of white satin, made in princess lines with tight bodice and a graceful skirt. The heart shaped neck line was embroidered in seed pearls. The skirt terminated in a long train.

The bridal veil was illusion in flimsy layers attached to the hair with a pearl liara and extending beyond the length of the gown train. The bride's only ornament was her mother's diamond cross. Her flowers were briar cliff roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Barney Roberts, mother of the bride, was gowned in aqua lace. She wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. J. Ross Phillips, mother of the groom, wore black net and a corsage of white gardenias.

A reception at the home of the bride's mother followed the ceremony.

The bridal party stood in the living room which was effectively decorated in white gladioli and white candles.

The dining table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a beige tiered wedding cake which was a present to the bride from Mrs. Waites of Birmingham.

The cake was beautifully embellished with rosebuds and lilies of the valley. On the center stood the miniature bride and groom under a miniature arch. Mrs. Waites baked the 300-pound cake for the Roosevelt Reception recently held in Birmingham.

Cake and cream carrying out the green and white color scheme was served to the guests.

The bride and groom left late in the evening for a wedding trip to points in Florida. After July first they will be at home in Gadsden. The bride possesses charm and poise. She is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Barney Roberts and has a wide circle of friends throughout the state.

She received her degree in music at Huntingdon College and has taught for the past year in the Gadsden High School.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Phillips Sr., and is a prominent business man of Gadsden.

The out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were:

Miss Elizabeth Ralls, Gadsden; Mr. Boyd Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Burke Phillips, Miss Mary Wharton, Mrs. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Levi, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Trussler, Mr. Willis Adelbert Harris, II, Mrs. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Freeman and Oscar, Jr. and Ann, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Phillips Sr., Sara Ann Phillips, Irvin Levi, Jr., Randall Cross, Joe Bellenger, Judge and Mrs. J.L. Herring, all of Gadsden; Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Radebaugh and family of Montgomery.

Dr. James Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Purcell of Birmingham, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Ralls, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ralls of Hogansville, Ga.; Thera Pope, Atlanta; Aileen Tindel, Graceville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Phillips and family of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roberts, Sheffield, Ala.

111 DEATHS IN STATE FROM PELLAGRA; NONE IN CHILTON

One hundred and eleven pellagra deaths occurred in the State of Alabama during the first four months of the present year, of which none occurred in Chilton County, according to provisional figures prepared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health.

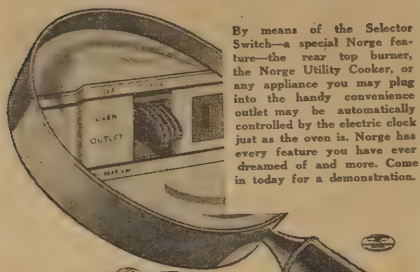

The pellagra death total for the period from January to April, inclusive, this year was 40 percent greater than that of only 79 for the same period last year. The total of 311 pellagra deaths for the whole of 1937 was the highest reached in this State since 1933, when 368 deaths from pellagra were reported. Pellagra is described by health officials as a diet-deficiency disease, due to a lack of proper food elements in the diet.

(But Simple If You Understand It)

"THERE are a number of similar maps in the numerous Alabama Power Company substations. They represent the wireways over which I must travel to reach your home so I may furnish you with cheap, dependable electric service. They are watched by a dispatcher who immediately learns, either through automatic signals or telephone calls, when one of these electrical wireways becomes blocked, or goes out because of a storm or other trouble. When that happens, he immediately detours me around the scene of trouble. Sometimes I have to travel over half the State to reach you, but that does not bother me much because I travel at the rate of 186,000 miles a second!

"Of course, this map and the dispatcher's job look complicated to you, but to him both are as simple as 'a-b-c'."

"But that doesn't mean that he doesn't take his job seriously. He does, and is as dependable as the fine, cheap electric service you get."

TREES ARE BIG FACTOR IN PREVENTING LAND EROSION

Lightning may strike the man who sits under a tree in a storm, but at least he gets drenched if he can reach the sheltering umbrella of the tree's branches.

There is one reason why well managed woodland, even when located on steep slopes, check run-off and prevent soil erosion. Mr. James H. Wood, of the Soil Conservation Service at Clanton, points out.

When the rain does finally reach the forest floor, a litter of leaves, twigs and other decaying vegetables will be there to hold it—if uncontrolled grazing and burning have not been permitted. In addition, the soil is spongy and porous, holding the water in place.

In this way, parts of the farm which would not pay if left in crops or pasture can be made productive. Well managed woodland offers a crop of wood products which can be used on the farm or sold. What is more important, trees on steep slopes not only prevent erosion on the land where they stand, but lessen the volume of water which can pour down on and erode cultivated land below.

A Real Cause Of Our Impoverishment

The shipping of our raw materials North and East and buying them back as finished products has impoverished the South. Northern and Eastern manufacturers have in some way been enabled to secure a low freight rate on raw material going out of the South and a low rate on manufactured articles coming into the South.

This condition has made it hard for manufacturers in the South to compete with manufacturers in the North and East.

It was brought out in a hearing before Commissioner William E. Lee, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, that the rate on slaves from Cleveland, Tenn., to Baltimore is 63 cents on the one hundred pounds while from St. Louis to Baltimore it is 59 cents. The distance from Cleveland to Baltimore is 905 miles and from St. Louis to Baltimore it is 905 miles. The distance is 200 miles greater but the rate is four cents less.

It is exactly the same distance (1109 miles) from Birmingham to Boston but that it is from St. Louis to Boston but the freight rate is eleven cents cheaper from St. Louis.

Gadsden pays 29 cents per hundred to get her stores into Columbus, Ohio, but Taunton, Massachusetts, gets her stores into Columbus for 53 cents, although the distance is 50 percent greater.

The same discrimination applies to other manufactured articles. Cast Iron Holloware shipped from Pittsburgh, Penn., to Toledo, Ohio, must pay 58 cents freight while the same articles can be shipped from Birdsboro, Pa., for 45 cents. And there is only two miles difference in the distance.

It is this kind of discrimination that is keeping industries out of Alabama. It is this kind of discrimination that caused Governor Graves to call a conference of the Governors of the South to make a fight for fair play. Facts are being presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission by these Governors under the leadership of Governor Graves and it is hoped that before the end of the year this barrier to in-

THOMPSON-DELOACH MARRIAGE

SOLEMNIZED AT BRIDE'S HOME

One of the June marriages which will be of much interest to many Alabamians was that of Miss Altha Lucile Thompson of Vida and Mr. Thomas Earl DeLoach of Wedowee.

On Saturday evening, June 25, at 6:30 o'clock the marriage vows and ceremony were spoken before a large group of friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Cecil M. Ellison of Eclectic performed the ceremony.

Miss Elizabeth Hampton, wearing a white seer crepe dress with short bolers of navy and white, lighted the candles which were set off standard and banked against the altar of ferns, vines and flowers.

Preceding the ceremony Alvin Thompson, brother of the bride, accompanied at the piano by Miss Charlotte Hackman of Prattville sang "I Love You Truly" and "Oh, Sweet Mystery of Life." Miss Hackman also played the wedding marches.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Rheba Gillespie, who wore an afternoon dress of pink lace with matching accessories and carried an arm bouquet of summer flowers.

The bride entered with her brother, Olie C. Thompson. Her gown was of white sheer crepe made on princess lines and trimmed with self-covered buttons. She wore a coronet of gardenias and carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, L. R. DeLoach of Opelika who served him as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for a short wedding trip to points in Florida and South Alabama.

For traveling the bride wore a navy blue dress with short bolero made of one of the popular summer fabrics. Her accessories were navy with red and white.

Mrs. DeLoach, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Thompson of Vida, lived in Birmingham until a few years ago where she attended the city schools. Later after moving to Autauga County, she finished her high school education at Billingsley and attended State Teachers College at Livingston where she took an active part in student activities. For the past two years she has taught in the Autauga County School System.

Mr. DeLoach, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. DeLoach of Vida, has spent most of his life in Autauga County. After completing his high school education at Marbury, he attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, where he was very interested in student affairs. He received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Agricultural Education from there and for the past two years has taught Vocational Agriculture at New Hope in Randolph County.

After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. DeLoach will be at home near Wedowee.

Miss Moore And Mr. W. O. Bradley Wed

A marriage of much interest which took place recently was that of Miss Myra Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore, of Clanton, and Mr. William Obad Bradley, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore in Clanton. The house was artistically decorated with ferns and cut flowers. The bride was very attractive in a dress of pouter and navy blue alpaca with accessories of navy. She wore a corsage of tall-mum roses.

The bride and groom entered to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. John Deamus who also rendered soft music during the ceremony. A very impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. S. J. Ewell, former pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church.

Mrs. Bradley is a very accomplished young lady. She is a graduate of Clanton County High School and also of the University of Alabama where she has done some graduate work. For the last few years she has taught in the Verbena Elementary School where she also takes an active part in activities of that community.

Mr. Bradley is a very prominent young man from Tuscaloosa, Alabama. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama where he is now in line for his Master's Degree. For the past year he has taught at Cooper, Alabama where he was active in community life.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Bradley are now at the home of the bride's parents near Clanton where they will remain until fall when they will take up residence at Verbena. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bradley have a host of friends to wish them much happiness.

SINGING AT ENTERPRISE POSTPONED UNTIL LATER

The News has been requested to announce that the singing scheduled for Enterprise on next Sunday has been postponed until a later date due to other singings nearby.

Clanton Methodist Church

Last Sunday the attendance in the Adult Department of our Sunday School was fine. Mr. Wailes as president of the Men's Bible Class and Mr. Elmore as teacher during the absence of Mr. W. A. Reynolds are doing mighty good work in that class. We congratulate the Adult Department in general and the Men's Bible Class with the aforementioned officers in particular on last Sunday's attendance and its teacher's message. We look forward to the same and even better record from this day forward. One hope is that all classes and departments can and will follow the example set by that department and make our work and attendance record-breakers. Each department is really working to go forward and we are hoping for such success in each.

Our pastor's sermon at 11:00 o'clock and at 7:30 P. M. are always well worth the hearing. They are appealing to the forward and inspiring to the Christian. Let's give him good audiences and choirs at both preaching services next Sunday after having attended Sunday School at 9:45. Come yourself and invite the visitors and the town's newcomers.

MT. NEBO

Our regular singing society met on Sunday evening at 2:30. The directors for the afternoon were as follows: Mr. W. L. Henley, J. D. Williams, Miss Inez McKee, Miss Gladys Powell, Mrs. Frank Calloway, S. A. Henley, Arthur Heney.

A quartet was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, Miss Inez McKee and Mrs. Vaughn McKee.

The pianists for the afternoon were Miss Gladys Powell, Mr. F. J. Powell and Mrs. J. D. Williams.

Everyone is invited to attend our singing society every fourth Sunday afternoon.

CLINIC DATES ARE ARRANGED OVER COUNTY

Typhoid Preventatives Will Be Given By County Health Officer

The schedule for the month of clinics to be held by the local health department for the purpose of giving typhoid injections and diphtheria inoculations at appointed localities in the County was released early this week in a departmental bulletin issued from the health office. The failure of many persons needing protection to attend the June clinics was pointed out by the local health officer who strongly urged that all persons who have not been protected against typhoid fever since 1935 be sure to repeat the injections this summer.

Commenting on the health program, Dr. S. D. Sturkie stated, "During the month of June a total of 1,143 persons received a complete series of typhoid injections. This represents a considerable decline in the number of persons protected against typhoid as compared with 1935. Already four cases of typhoid have been reported in Chilton County during 1938, two having occurred during the past two weeks. One of these affecting a white woman near Stanton resulted in death. It is unfortunate that the average community prefers to wait until typhoid appears in its midst before acquiring any protection."

The Clinic schedule is as follows: Mt. Pleasant School—July 5, 8:30 to 9:30; Baker School—July 5, 10:00 to 11:00; Enterprise School—July 5, 1:00 to 2:15; Jackson Chapel School—July 5, 8:30 to 9:30; Mineral Springs School—July 5, 10:00 to 11:00; Lay Dam School—July 5, 11:30 to 1:30; Cooper School—July 7, 8:45 to 9:45; Floyd's Church—July 7, 10:15 to 11:15; Mt. Creek Church—July 7, 11:45 to 1:45; Union Grove School—July 8, 9:00 to 10:00; Oak Grove School—July 8, 10:30 to 11:30; Freeman School—July 8, 10:00 to 1:30; Mitchell Dam School—July 8, 3:00 to 4:30.

Four visits at weekly intervals will be made to each locality named. One case of Poliomyelitis (Infantile Paralysis) occurring in the City of Clanton was reported to the health department last week.

Contests of all kinds will take place after the speaking and will last until the noon hour at which time everybody is invited to spread lunch.

In the afternoon will come one of the biggest attractions of the day. A double-header baseball game will be played. The first game will be played between Thorsby and New Cedron, which will begin at two o'clock. The following game will be played between Thorsby and Antioch.

Those who are looking for some place to go on the Fourth of July are cordially invited to come to Thorsby, bring a well-filled basket and spend the day.

ABSENTEE BALLOT

gard to the absentee voting in this County and called upon the Grand Jury of Chilton County to make a thorough investigation of all violations of law connected with the primary election of June 14th.

The Committee was apparently highly incensed over the actions in the absentee ballot box matter and over the reports and rumors of charges of fraud in the box.

Copies of the resolution asking for a Grand Jury investigation were mailed to the Governor, the Circuit Solicitor and the Circuit Judge, for whatever action they see fit to take in the matter.

The Committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

Following are resolutions condemning action of the men taking the absentee ballot box and also the rumors of violations and of fraud in the box:

STATE OF ALABAMA,

CHILTON COUNTY:

Whereas, it is rumored in Chilton County that in the absentee ballot box in the Democratic primary election held on June 14th, 1938, in said county, there were numerous violations of the law in the casting of absentee ballots and the procuring of same.

Therefore, Be It Resolved that, if such practices were engaged by anyone, that the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama, does hereby condemn the same.

Be it further resolved that the Grand Jury of Chilton County, Alabama, be asked to investigate all violations of the law, or laws, connected with the said primary election held in Chilton County, Alabama.

This resolution read and approved by the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama, in special session at the Courthouse in Clanton, Alabama, on the 24th day of June, 1938.

STATE OF ALABAMA,

CHILTON COUNTY:

WHEREAS, in the run-off Democratic Primary, held in Chilton County, Alabama, on June 14th, 1938, certain of the citizens, without any authority of law, took the absentee ballot box from the Courthouse of Chilton County, which prevented said votes from being counted in said election.

Be it, therefore, resolved by the Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee, in special session assembled in the City of Clanton, on this the 24th day of June, 1938, that it is the consensus of this Committee that said action of said citizens, in taking said ballot box, is contrary to the principles of the Democratic Party and is, in the opinion of the Committee, at the very heart of the principle of the right of the people to govern themselves through popular elections, and this Committee does, therefore, condemn the action of said citizens in taking said ballot box, contrary to law, and this Committee further goes on record as appealing to all members of the Democratic Party, and all electors and election officials, to conduct future elections in this County strictly in accordance with law, and that any and all infractions of the election laws be vigorously prosecuted, in order that future elections in the County will be fairly and lawfully conducted, so that the will of the people may govern.

Be it further resolved that this resolution be spread on the minutes of the Committee, and that a copy be sent to the Editor of the Chilton County News, for publication.

near the Baker Schoolhouse. The car was almost demolished. Young Manning received a painful ankle injury, but attendants at the Central Alabama Hospital, where he was carried, stated his condition was not serious. Manning made the race for Tax Assessor on the Republican ticket in the recent primary election.

A wreck coming at a most regrettable time, occurred near the Alabama Mills on the old Birmingham-Montgomery highway last Monday morning when the car driven by J. T. Ellison collided with one driven by Sam Wilson of near Clanton. Ellison was enroute to make arrangements for the burial of his wife, who died Sunday.

Mr. Ellison was carried to the Central Alabama Hospital suffering from several wounds about the head and body. His condition was reported as fair. Other Occupants of the two cars received only minor cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Stanley Cooper was seriously injured last Saturday afternoon when the car in which she was riding crashed into a Greyhound Bus near the Bob Merrill Store, north of Jemison. The car was driven by J. D. Culp, who was placed in the County Jail and charged with driving while intoxicated. He was uninjured. Both Mrs. Cooper and Culp were residents of Route Six, Clanton. Reports from the Central Alabama Hospital where she was carried, state her condition is considered serious.

The schedule called for the airplanes to start landing at Gragg Field here about 4 p.m. When the news went out to press it was not determined just how many would be in the group.

The recently organized and active Clanton Aero Club will take a great part in entertaining the visitors and guests during their stay here.

A Letter To Property Owners Of The City Of Clanton

To Whom Concerned:

That agency of the Government known as the PWA, which officially died more than a year ago, has been revived by the Congress and put in operation. The application we made through this agency to the Government in 1935 for 45 percent donation on the cost of paving our streets, has been finally approved and the money allotted to Clanton for street paving, amounting to $278,100.

Unfortunately for Clanton, on account of some debts created about twenty years ago, and unpaid today, Clanton is not prepared to carry the 55 percent balance paving cost, which is your part of the cost, and at the present time the other improvements that are more essential now than is the paving of our streets.

We have application with the Government for a greater water supply, for extending the sewer pipe to the new sections, for improvement of our present sewer system, for improvement to the water plant, for building a home at the plant for the operator of the plant so he will be close to the job both day and night, for a larger reservoir, for a much larger water tank, and for a sewage disposal plant, all of which is absolutely necessary to our health and progress. The Government is willing to help those who are trying to help themselves and we are planning to get every dollar the Government is willing to donate us. The Council and myself are fully agreed that the credit, or ability the City HAS LEFT to borrow money should be used to improve our water and sewage system instead of putting it on the streets and routine to go without sufficient water. Everyone knows that our water and sewage system is the most important part of our business set-up, and should not and must not be neglected to carry on any other interest of the City.

No one is more anxious to pave our streets than myself, but knowing the absolute necessity of the above improvements, I must say to the property owners on the streets named in our application in 1935 to be paved, unless you are willing to and do, pay cash for your portion of the cost, which is 55 percent, it is my opinion your street will not be paved at this time.

Your officials would be glad to borrow the money to pave the streets and give you time in which to repay the City, but the fact is simply this: the City cannot, under the law, borrow sufficient money to pave the streets and do the much needed improvement to our water and sewer system. By paying cash, or getting the money yourself, to pave the streets, you do not only benefit yourself personally, but you make it possible for the City to continue getting donations from the Government to make the improvements I have named above. Would you, if you were Mayor, neglect the water system to pave the streets, or would you protect the property of the people against loss by fire, and the health and progress of the city by taking proper care of our water system?

It is much cheaper for the property owner to borrow the money and pay cash for the paving than it is for the City to issue bonds to get the money. There is much expense in issuing bonds, and when the bonds are sold, the seller of the bonds gets a commission, and they may not bring par value. That is, if a $1,000 bond does not sell for but $800, we lose $200.

I cannot tell you at this time the cost of paving and drainage, and I will not know the exact cost until the contract is let, but in a few days I hope to be able to give you a close estimate of the total cost.

I wish all to understand that the streets listed to be paved in our application in 1935 was in accord with the wishes of the property owners on those streets, and the streets omitted were also the wish of the property owners. Since 1935, however, many of the property owners who objected then to the paving want it now and I shall try to get permission from the Government to include those streets in the work soon to begin.

Santa Claus has come at last, and will pay 45 percent of the cost. The Government requires that this work get under way in a short time, so let us all work together for the benefit of Clanton. You are a part of Clanton and Clanton needs your help by paying cash for your portion of the cost. We cannot afford to lose this opportunity to get something given to us that will lift us out of the dust. I shall ask the people on each street to take care of their own problems, and I will give you more detail later.

The Council and myself cannot succeed without your assistance. Cooperate pleasantly with us and we will not knowingly lead you in the wrong way.

TWO PERSONS ARE WOUNDED IN GUN BATTLE

Shooting Scrape Occurs On Busy Street Here Last Saturday Afternoon

Two men were wounded, one seriously, last Saturday afternoon following pistol duel in which three men figured. Witnesses stated eleven shots were fired as the three men engaged in the exchange of bullets.

Lorenza Smith is in the Central Alabama Hospital here suffering from two bullet wounds said to have been fired from a .32 calibre pistol in the hands of Hilton Prickett who was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Reports state that Smith and a companion, Owen Williams were sitting in a car parked at the curb near the entrance of the Tiffin Furniture Co., when Prickett drove up on the opposite side of the street. Alighting from his car, Prickett is said to have approached Smith and start firing, two shots taking effect in Smith's back. Williams, who was with Smith, is then said to have fired.

Rev. Ethan A. Norris Died Last Saturday

One of the County's well known and lovable characters passed away last Saturday. The Rev. Ethan A. Norris, 65, died at his home near Verbena following a lengthy illness.

The death of this outstanding citizen brought to a close a life of service from a man who has spent over twenty years in this County as a minister. The Rev. Norris also served as a deacon in his church before becoming a minister and has countless friends over the county. This was attested to by the large crowd attending his funeral. Among those were nine well known ministers of the County.

Funeral services were held last Monday, July 4, in the Corinth Church with the Rev. W. S. Cox, the Rev. J. D. Hughes and the Rev. W. P. Lowery officiating. Interment followed with Martin & Sons of Clanton directing.

County Sees Savings In Money Spent On Roads

The roads of Chilton County will no doubt be in readiness for the winter weather judging from work that has been done during the past month and the work that is being done now by members of the Commissioners Court who have taken over operation of the county's road work.

Reports from many sections of the county state that the Commissioners are doing some excellent work now and with good weather, which is evident, all roads will be taken care of. About a month ago, following a decision of the Supreme Court relative to the road supervisor law in this county, the Commissioners took over the work following continued complaints.

Commissioner J. Monroe Parrish advised Tuesday of this week that a new road will be built east of Clanton joining the Lay Dam road and the road which leads to the airport and other sections near here. Commissioner Parrish stated that WPA labor would be used and that he is cooperating in every way at the same time looking after other roads in his district.

For sometime now Commissioner Howard Oden has been giving his personal attention to the work on roads in his district and his efforts are meeting with fine results. Commissioner John Bean has been continuing his work in his district and the roads there will be in good shape in a short time, it is understood.

Over in the western part of the county where some difficulty is had in keeping many of the roads up following heavy rains, Commissioner R. Ousley has been doing some splendid work since the Commissioners took over the task of keeping up the roads.

Effecting Savings
Judge Lee Smith is very optimistic over the way the road work in the county is now being handled. Statements coming to him show that the people are receiving dollar for dollar value on the money spent on roads since it was placed back in the hands of the Commissioners.

Lande, proprietor of the store, apologized Tuesday for the fact that the large crowds of clerks couldn't handle the crowds Friday and Saturday. Mr. Lande stated he hoped those who didn't get waited on would come back as he has arranged to take care of the rush and that all the bargains are not gone. THORSBY HAS FINE FOURTH OF JULY PARTY

Large Crowd Gathers During Day; Parade Is One Of Day's Features

Thorsby put on gay colors last Monday, July Fourth for a day that will be remembered by the hundreds of people who gathered there to celebrate Independence Day.

A brilliant parade took place during the morning. The parade was made up mostly of floats and gaily decorated automobiles representing the various places of business in this growing town.

Here and there groups of people gathered around the musicians and sipped cold drinks or ate ice cream while they listened to string instruments. The morning was completed with the gathering in the new Thorsby Park where the beautiful displays were spread before a record crowd of people.

The youngsters were called from the sand piles, swings and other games arranged in the park. Another feature of the day's program was an address by Hon. Percy M. Pitts, attorney of Clanton.

Baseball games featured the program of the afternoon. Those not attending the games were well entertained by music, songs and dances arranged by Lloyd Howard with his accordion.

Thorsby is to be congratulated on a gay, entertaining and sane Fourth of July.

That Clanton Incident

Alabama Democrats, who are far from satisfied with the manner in which elections have been conducted at many points in the State of late, were nevertheless startled by news reports from Clanton in the recent runoff primary.

According to accounts, the seizure followed repeated charges of absentee vote buying and other practices contrary to ethical election practices. The fact that the stolen box contained some 741 votes, which is reported to be 25 percent of the entire voting strength of the county, makes it evident that something out of line was going on in Chilton and that there was provocation for action to protest the situation.

Reports from Clanton indicate that the box was taken by five or six prominent citizens of the town, and although they made no effort to hide their identities, there seems to be little public sentiment for action against them.

Although the election may have been conceived by those involved as an effort to call attention of the State to the need of correcting the absentee ballot situation, which is considered by many to be an open invitation to fraud and corruption, such drastic action can not be condoned, because it is itself an open invitation to similar practices by persons not motivated by unselfish purposes.

The incident should prove, however, that there is need for corrective measures to eliminate previous election abuses. — Times Journal.

Gragg Field

Exactly one year ago—July 4—the dedication of Chilton County's Airport, Gragg Field, took place with a big celebration that brought some of the country's greatest pilots here to stage a big show and help in the celebration.

A large portion of the money used in building this airport was furnished by the Federal Government, and now we have a modern airport with a well-built hangar, that is for the use of the people of Chilton County mostly.

But within the last year we haven't been making much use of this airport. It is true we have a few people here that have been active in flying, and a plane or two is owned by private citizens, and we have a few licensed pilots, but very few. Interest here has waned considerably it seems in what has become a growing industry in the United States. True it is that aviation here in Chilton County is not an industry as yet. It is at present only a hobby, but it can be turned into a useful hobby, and in years to come, when airplanes will play a very important part in our daily lives, Chilton County would not lag behind if more interest would be manifested in flying now.

Cotton And The Country

It is a generally accepted fact that agriculture is at the base of the American economic system, while in the South cotton is the fundamental fact of our economy. Yet this month wheat, rye, oats, and cotton are selling at anywhere from 20 to 50 per cent less than they were a year ago.

Cotton is at the lowest level in history in terms of the old gold dollar, even lower than the five-cent level it hit in June, 1932.

These are dismal facts, to put it mildly. But from the point of view of the country as a whole, and from the farmer in particular, there is an even more disheartening set of figures. The purchasing power of the farmer, the major potential consumer, is considerably off and far below what might be considered parity. During the last year, according to a bulletin issued a week ago by the Department of Agriculture, farm prices as a whole declined about 23 per cent, compared with a drop of only 7 per cent in the price of articles the farmer buys.

It is the old unsolved problem of producing for a world market and buying in a protected market. The tariff which John C. Calhoun denounced more than a century ago has helped make our industrial population one of the richest in the world; it has kept much of our agricultural population on the verge of peonage, in a not much better position than are the peasants of India and Egypt.

The farmer must buy commodities that are artificially pegged by the tariff at a high price, yet he sells in a free world market. His income is far below that of the industrial worker, and now this country, after a severe and prolonged depression, is feeling the tragic effects of its unequal economic order. American industry is unable to support itself any longer without the help of the farmer, and the average farmer has comparatively little to spend.

In the meantime, the United States is rapidly losing its foreign market for cotton. Formerly this country exported about 8,000,000 bales a year; now it exports but about 3,000,000 bales. The result has been that countries like Brazil and Egypt, which are our competitors, have begun to produce more cotton and are making headway against our old market.

We are producing far more cotton than can be bought, under the present circumstances, in this country; but we are not producing more cotton than is needed. Four-fifths of the cotton producers of the South do not themselves have sufficient cotton goods necessary for comfort. They sleep on straw mattresses; cotton towels, sheets and clothes are luxuries.

The fundamental reason for this poverty is the tariff and the financial system which it has fathered. The agricultural worker simply is not on an equal footing with the industrial worker, and the whole country suffers acutely.

The one immediate hope is that the new farm act will have a happier effect than is expected. Secretary Wallace said recently that the act contained "the correct and enduring approach" to the farm problem. But it is admittedly an experimental approach.

Another hope, and it is the basic one, in this paper's opinion, lies in the progress of the reciprocal trade program, which is the only thing approaching tariff reform that the present Democratic Administration has given us. Secretary Hull has already negotiated nearly a score of treaties, but unfortunately they have not been with the major cotton importing countries. And Italy, Germany and Japan, three countries which normally buy much American cotton, are following economic policies of nationalism which make reciprocal trade agreements out of the question. The one big hope is Great Britain, and at present negotiations are under way for an Anglo-American trade pact.

Saved--$10,000,000,000

Everyone is familiar with the legislative attacks made upon the chain store industry—culminating in a law offered during the last session of congress which, if passed, would have practically destroyed the industry. But everyone is not familiar with the chains' tremendous economic contributions to the United States.

A few figures tell the story vividly. Chain stores pay $450,000,000 each year in rentals to 140,000 property owners. They pay $200,000,000 a year to newspapers, magazines and printers for advertising, handbills and other literature. They pay $225,000,000 annually in city taxes alone. They buy $6,000,000,000 worth of products from United States manufacturers. And they pay $1,200,000,000 a year in wages.

So much for the landlord, the publisher, the tax collector, the producer, and the worker. What about the consumer?

For the country as a whole, reliable figures on exactly how much the chains save consumers are lacking. But an authoritative survey recently conducted by the Real Estate Association of the State of New York indicates that the chain stores save the consumers of that state alone $940,000,000 a year. New York accounts for about ten per cent of the population of the United States. As a result, if chains save consumers in the other states as much as they save the consumers of New York, the total saving reaches the gigantic sum of almost $10,000,000,000 a year.

This, then, is the economic picture of the chain store industry as it exists today. Its beneficial influences are felt in every strata of our national life. The savings of mass distribution are responsible for raising the average standard of living. It is incredible that there are men holding responsible positions in government who would destroy this industry—at an unimagined cost to workers, consumers, and to producers of all kinds.

IMPROVEMENTS—

The business firms in Clanton are continually adding new ways and means of serving the public in a way that is a credit to Clanton. That is why Clanton is a growing city. We have a group of fastidious business men here who are always on the lookout to bring something new and progressive into their business. Competition is keen these days and a firm must be up on its toes to stay out front. Whenever a progressive step is made by one of Clanton's business men, we are, perhaps, inclined to give it only a passing thought, not stopping to think of the expense and planning that is incurred in a particular progressive step. However, we note later that this particular business is rendering a better service and we are inclined to patronize the firm so doing. The Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Company has recently installed new machinery which enables this firm, headed by our good friend, Leo Thompson, to render a higher type of service to you than in the past. At that time your linen suit looks brighter, and that your pants are shaped and pressed better, that only means Leo has added more modern machinery to keep pace with Clanton's progress.

THEY ALL COME BACK—

We were glad to see our good friends Bill Hester and Leo Alred on the streets the other day. Both Bill and Leo have been down in Florida for some time, but like the others, they couldn't stay away from Clanton.

TYPICAL OF THE LEADER—

We note that The Leader, one of Clanton's leading dry goods stores, has put on another big sale called a "No-Profit Sale" in which they are giving the people of this section some real bargains in the dry goods line. But it is not only the people of Clanton who are getting the benefit of this sale, but the people of this firm, who are always looking for a chance to offer the people real bargains for their money. They must be bargains, as The Leader has been in business in Clanton for eighteen years, and that's quite a record for a firm which has remained under the same management the entire eighteen years.

BIG THRILL—

Got another good look at our fair city from the air last Friday afternoon. Clanton, with its network of roads leading to other points is a pretty sight from the air. We were given this treat as a gift from L. Earl Newman, Birmingham. Mr. Newman is well known in Clanton, especially by aviation enthusiasts. He is a licensed pilot, and was here in the interest of organizing a flying club among our air-minded citizens. A swell idea, we think, and after that half-hour of soaring around Clanton, we wouldn't be surprised if we found ourselves taking up flying lessons before long. Mr. Newman is a member of the Birmingham Dawn Patrol, a group of real pilots, and was here with a trim Aronca plane—cable type, and if we can be considered slightly of passing judgment, this plane was a honey. We would certainly like to see more interest in flying in Clanton. We have an airport at our command, so why not use it. Several have expressed interest in flying, and here is the chance for a real chance for Clanton to have an organized club. We already have a few licensed pilots, and with their help, Clanton could have many more in a short while. Aviation is going forward rapidly and we need to keep step.

PASSES ON—

This week we offer our profound sympathy to the bereaved family of Rev. E. A. Norris, who passed away at his home recently. Rev. Norris was a veteran minister of the Gospel and his work in this was outstanding. We remember the days when we grew up under the preaching of Bro. Norris. As a Sunday guest in our home on the Community Church preaching day, we learned to love and respect this beloved minister. So in his passing, Chilton and surrounding counties are grieved, for no minister could have served his congregations better than this beloved man who has answered the call to his God. High and has gone to his reward, which, beyond a shadow of doubt, has been prepared for him.

There are almost ten times as many motor vehicles in operation in Alabama as there were twenty years ago. The increase during the past ten years was only a little more than 20 percent. The largest registration up to 1937 was in 1929 when the total number registered was 291,834. The number registered during the past fiscal year was 308,849 and the amount collected for license high mark was reached in 1930 when plates was $3,549,513. Prior to this the amount collected was $2,953,325.

When a Canadian gentleman offered his lower berth ticket to an elderly woman, saying he did so out of respect for her old age, she bawled him out and threw the ticket in his face. It happened recently in North Carolina. Miss Godwin was from Stedman. Mr. Stedman was from Godwin. They were married. Miss Godwin from Stedman is now Mrs. Stedman from Godwin.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

One night I sat alone in my study and after turning on the radio I waited for a moment and then heard the sweet music of Hummeret. An artist was playing it over some station in New York and it came to me clear and sweet. No a sound of static. I thought about how wonderful it was that the notes of that song could come over a thousand miles of space and time, and it passed. Between my study and the studio men were talking, cars were rumbling, wheels were rattling and whistles were sounding, but not a sound of all that noise. The notes of Hummeret were as clear as a bell. I was thinking. Did I hear you say that you could not go out into the world and live among its noises and influences and not be affected by these. If the notes of a lovely song can slip through the noises of a thousand miles and not be affected by these, certainly you can live in the world and not be of the world. Select an ideal for your life and move along that ideal and then you can slip through the world and come to the end of the way just yourself.

At the age of twenty I thought myself to be full grown physically. At that time I wore a hat size six and seven-eighths. At the age of thirty my hat size was seven. At fifty it was seven and one-eighth. Now that size hat is becoming uncomfortable. The Smithsonian institute has investigated the question of head growth and has found that men's heads grow after the body has completed its growth. They found cases where a young man wore a very small hat and after many years the same man could not be fitted in any of the standard sizes. Perhaps you have known men with a similar trouble in securing a hat that would fit. We do not claim that this is the universal rule. Ask a man of sixty if he wears the same size hat he wore when he was twenty. As long as this is not the universal rule we are not sure of the possibility. It could be that the case of a man with the growing head is not a matter of growth but a matter of having a "swell head." Be that as it may we have all seen some folks with swelled heads.

In one of my pastoral calls a lady said to me, "Pastor, I would enjoy going to church as much as anybody, but I will tell you the truth, I do not have time to go to church." That woman took time to wash dishes, sweep floors, dress babies, mend clothes and attend social functions, but she could not take time to go to church, and yet, her spiritual life was of more importance than anything else in her possession. If we live we are going to take every living moment and do something with it. We have got to take time. When we stop taking it we will be cold in death. We should take time to worship for it is the highway we should take. We should take time to work for it is the price of success. We should take time to read for it is the fountain of wisdom. We should take time to be friendly for it is the road to happiness. We should take time to think for it is the source of power. We should take time to love and be loved for that is the privilege of the gods. We should take time to play for that is the secret of perpetual youth. We should take time to laugh for that is the music of the soul. It behooves us to take time to do the fine things, or else time will take us and force us into the low way of living.

If you will take the trouble to look into the dictionary you will find several inches devoted to the definitions of the word nice. Some of those definitions are not nice at all. Some of them are very inadequate, but still the English American has no difficulty in recognizing niceness anywhere. Let's see what we can find out about this little word that means so much. What is it that makes one person very nice and another not so nice at all. Nice people never show personal dislikes. You never find nice people showing and pushing past one another. They do not stand in groups in doorways or on side walks making it difficult for others to pass. A well bred person will not be selfish and greedy at social and entertainment. Nice people are not haughty and boisterous when they are being observed. Nice people are not "over nice" in their manners and speech. They speak good English and speak distinctly and clearly. They try to spread it on. Nice people are not late at a dinner or an engagement. Nice people always repay hospitality if they are not invited. In your very manhood you carry a placard that reads "Very nice, Nice, Not too nice. Possibly rude." Study this little word and make a Nice person out of yourself.

More bees are being shipped from Montgomery than from any other point in the world. During the shipping season which begins about April 15, and continues for six weeks or more, approximately fifty car loads of bees are shipped from the Capital City. Most of these bees are shipped to Canada where they are ready to begin making wax upon their arrival. Because of the severe winters new colonies are imported each season by the honey producers of that section. Mr. Bell Watson of Chicago paid taxes on a lot in Spokane, Wash., for five years when she decided to visit the spot. She couldn't find the property and was given a tax refund.

McArrell-Chambers Wedding Solemnized

The wedding of Miss Annie McArrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McArrell of Brent, to Mr. Forest Moody Chambers of Clanton, took place Saturday, June 25 at the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Raymond Wilson, Pastor of the Brent Presbyterian Church in the presence of close friends and the families.

The bride was attired in navy blue linen lace with harmonizing accessories. The house was decorated throughout with vari-colored gladioli and dahlias. The vows were assumed before an improvised altar of woodvine and pink honeysuckle.

Immediately following the ceremony the guests were ushered into the dining room where Miss Kathleen McArrell, sister of the bride, presided over the punch bowl. She was assisted by Mrs. Horace Cleveland, aunt of the bride.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Union Chambers and daughter, Annie Laurie, of Maplesville, Miss Kathleen McArrell of Birmingham and Mr. J. T. McArrell of Macon, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers are at home to their many friends in Clanton, where the groom holds a responsible position.

WITH YOUR HOME Demonstration Agent

CONDUCTED BY MISS META GRACE

These Chilton County NYA Girls Hats off! The girls are passing by. What girls? The "NYA" Girls of Chilton County—do tell—we've heard of these girls but now here they are. Looky!—There's 1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8 all in a row, blondes and brunettes—and they are quite pleasing and fair. Yes, these are the Youths we're training to work and at the same time teaching them "how to make their own way."

It happened when the Welfare worker, Miss Meroney, called Meta E. Grace and asked her wouldn't she take the girls in her office. Anxious to help, Miss Grace said, "I can take 'em," and she did. She took Helen, Hattie, Bessie and Merle. At first the girls seemed shy and afraid and who wouldn't. The first time you walked into a big office and everybody looking at you. But soon their fears were gone when a soft kind voice said "Good morning, girls, we're glad you've come to work with us, and gee, so much to do. I never saw the like, and everything has to be done jay so."

Yes for two years Helen, Bessie and Merle have been addressing all the envelopes, working up exhibit materials, making year books, getting out programs, assisting with socials, meeting the public and helping Miss Grace, the Home Agent with club meetings, etc.

Recently, Helen and Hattie were the guests of the Chilton County Council of Co-Workers Banquet. This was their first public appearance. When asked to say a word, Helen said, "I'm happy to be a NYA girl, I have learned so much 'while working'." Hattie said, "I liked the office work so well, I am now taking a business course during the spare hours. And if someone else only help me I'll be able soon to help them. Miss Grace and Mrs. Welch have been kind and good to teach us and has made me proud to be a NYA girl."

Bessie and Merle are in addition, spend bookkeepers and have learned much through the club work and are applying it each day.

Then Mr. Fant took three other girls namely: Florence, Jewel and Islow, and soon they too, will make their place in the world. There are other NYA girls over the County, Alice Gilmore of Verbena, who makes her way through club and school, a leader galore, and what's more she's talented in many ways, but speaking of talents there's Gail Gletty, that little original artist who not only works, but entertains her first class Puppet Show she has developed all by her self. She and her little sister can make you dizzy with laughter, and while your hair stands on end the tears will be streaming down your cheeks and you can't possibly believe that Gail Gletty is the sole author, reader or impersonator and actress behind the scenes, but she is. And when you come to the play "Save the Homestead" you feel all absorbed and despondent—and think, "Just look at what a little NYA girl can do and this is the way it is with Chilton County's fine NYA girls."

Mary Pearl Griffin Health Winner Again For Chilton

"It pays to keep healthy," is the slogan of Mary Pearl Griffin, the County winner for the second year in the County-wide 4-H Health Contest.

The Health Contest started in Chilton County in 1936-37, started Meta E. Grace, Home Demonstration Agent, "and for the purpose of improving the daily health habits of our fine boys and girls. It is needless to say the habits formed during the ages of these boys and girls are established for life and it is our aim in the future to have every boy and girl keeping their regular scoring chart each day. There are over 1,000 of these club boys and girls in Chilton County. Quoting Miss Grace further, she says, "Mary Pearl, selected for being the best physically fit in the County Health Officer, Dr. Sturkie, is like all other healthy girls, a very active girl. She is the County Council President of the 4-H Boys and Girls Council, which is the highest place that can be held in the County 4-H Club work. She likewise is one of the Board of Directors of the State Council and helps to make the State 4-H regulations. Mary Pearl is also very important in high school, carrying all the

WOODLAND MANAGEMENT

With farm woods occupying as much or more acreage than all other crops combined on many farms in the Soil Conservation area near Clanton, the importance of proper management cannot be stressed any too strongly, according to Mr. James H. Wood, Camp Superintendent.

Trees are a crop that can profitably be grown on the steepest and roughest land in the farm and on land which is not suitable for growing other crops. Mr. Wood pointed out. By handling his woods as a crop, the farmer can make the most efficient use of such land from the standpoint of both erosion control and timber production.

Plans for harvesting the winter fuel supply and other woodland products from the timber stand can be made during the summer by marking the straightest, healthiest and most desirable species of properly spaced trees to be left in the stand as crop trees, just as the best cotton or corn plants are left at proper spacing by thinning these crops.

By designation the crop trees with a band of paint or some other method, the remaining trees, including the slow-growing, diseased and improperly spaced trees, and those which are crowding the crop trees, can be removed for fuel wood or for other purposes. Such thinning will stimulate the growth of the

REVIVAL AT REFUGE

The revival will begin here Wednesday night, July 13. The Evangelist M. D. Garrett from Tarrant City will do the preaching. It is expected that Rev. Garrett will have his large tent and loud speaker to use if it becomes necessary to use them.

If we don't miss our guess there will be more people attending this meeting than any ever before.

Quite a few people have asked me if this is the man who preached at the courthouse some weeks ago. This is the man. Come hear him.—Al. Lockhart, pastor.

REV. S. C. HAYS TO PREACH AT CEDAR GROVE, JULY 10, 11

crop trees, produce a valuable crop, and still leave the land protected from land erosion, Mr. Wood explained.

Protection of woodland from damage by grazing and fire is an essential phase of good woodland management both for erosion control and timber production, he added.

activities and sports at the Enterprise High School. She was likewise included in the County Radio Broadcast.

Last year Mary Pearl was one of the highest scorers in the State finals and here's hoping she will be the top winner this year.

Recently, when Mary Pearl was asked which she had rather represent at the State Camp this year, the Health winner or the 4-H Council, she replied, "I'd rather be the healthiest girl in Chilton County than anything I know."

Mary Pearl is indeed a fine example of what our health standard should be.

Alcohol Not Medicine Any More

For more than a quarter of a century alcohol has been practically abandoned by medicine. But the traditions of a century ago still consider whisky a panacea to be used as a "first aid" even in cases where its use is gravely dangerous.

Dr. Haven Emerson, former commissioner of Health of New York City, and now head of the College of Physicians and surgeons of Columbia University, states that "There is no medicinal value in the United States or in any other nation that teaches that alcohol is useful as a stimulant or tonic." He says that because of its narcotic effect alcohol interferes with working efficiency, and Dr. Howard Kelley, head of the medical school in Johns Hopkins University, condemns it as "a dangerous, but injurious when it is used as a medical agent." "There is no alcohol in the world," he writes, "which alcohol is a cure. It undoubtedly causes thousands of cases of diseases. Its use is ruinous to the kidneys, liver, heart and blood vessels, and it is one of the commonest causes of death."

Dr. Emerson has shown that alcohol is a poison, not a stimulant. He says that Dr. Wm. J. Mayo, of the Mayo Clinic, on Rochester, Minn., in 1905, reported on collected cases that he knew of those who had died of alcohol poisoning. W. A. Evans of Northwestern University, who is one of the most prominent medical men in the United States, observes that "No man can afford to drink alcohol as a medicine has no fair trial. It was based in part on this extensive experience and is qualified that alcoholic beverages have no place in the treatment of disease."

Alcohol is not only useless as a remedy for disease, it is the cause of many physical and particularly mental diseases. "In New York State alone," writes Dr. Alexander Lambert of Cornell University, "I believe that ten percent of the women and thirty percent of the men confined in the state asylums are there through forms of insanity caused by alcohol."

As a beverage alcohol is destruction to the physical, mental and moral resources of the drinkers, and impairs the social structure of which the drinker is a part by increasing crimes, disease, and social waste and disorder.

In the Matter of the Appointment of a Guardian for Mrs. Anna Raborn, a lunatic.

Notice is hereby given that a petition was filed in the Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama, on the 6th day of July, 1938, by Mariana Raborn, praying that a guardian be appointed for the property of Mrs. Anna Raborn a lunatic, who is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and who is now and has been for a number of years confined in the State Hospital for the insane at the State of Florida at Chattahoochee, Fla.

Notice is hereby given that the hearing of said petition by the Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama is set for the 26 day of July, 1938, and that a copy of this notice be sent to Mrs. Anna Raborn and that anyone desiring to contest the appointment of said guardian appear on said date for the purpose of contesting the same.

Plans To Erect 100 Privies Here

Announcement of plans of the local Farm Security Administration to begin construction on 100 privies to serve 100 resettlement families had been made early this week, according to a health report. A list of the families to receive this sanitation was prepared by Mr. Marvin Durbin, local administrator, and given to the health department several weeks ago, the report revealed. With 300 privies installed by the Resettlement group during 1937 this brings the total of families provided with adequate sanitation to 130. The total number of resettlement families is 140. The privies are being built under the supervision of the health department according to specification drawn up by the State Health Department.

"This constitutes," said Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county Health Officer, "a very forward step in bringing the lesson of sanitation to the rural sections of our County. The educational benefits alone should be very far reaching. No section of our State needs sanitary methods of excreta disposal in individual homes more sorely than does Chilton County with its high incidence of hookworm infestation. Surveys made by the Health Department have shown thirty percent of the school population of the County to be infested with hookworm. The solution to this problem lies not in the treatment of infested children but rather in the provision of sanitary toilets in homes. Treatment while effective from a therapeutic standpoint, usually leaves a small residuum of worms which are sufficient to maintain the disease in the family."

The sanitation program of the local Health Department is under the direction of Fred H. Buckle, who is serving as the sanitation officer. Mr. Buckle's plans for the future include the showing of films in the County schools for the purpose of educating both parents and children to the need of sanitation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holcombe and little daughter, Gwendolyn of Birmingham spent the past week end with Mr. and Mrs. Clay Marcus and family who have recently moved to Clanton from Birmingham.

L. E. NEWMAN HERE RECENTLY IN INTEREST OF FLYING CLUB

L. E. Newman, well known aviator of Birmingham, was in Clanton several days last week in the interest of organizing a flying club among local aviation enthusiasts. He was acting as representative of the Glenn Messer Company of Birmingham.

During the experiments it was found that it was necessary to make two to four applications of the mixture at intervals of four to seven days to obtain the best results.

Chick Fiquette and Olive Welch were married at the home of Rev. Davis in Elmore County last Saturday afternoon, July 2. The following attended the wedding from Clanton:

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fant and children, and Mrs. W. J. Fiquette, mother of the groom and his sister, Gertrude Mae Fiquette. After the ceremony they left for a week in Florida. The bride is employed at the County Agent's office and Mr. Fiquette is in the employ of Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company.

The experiments showed that dusting with the mixture not only gives as good results as the separate dustings, but under some conditions even better results.

The Department's insect specialists recommend a mixture including one part of calcium arsenate and two parts of sulphur. In other words, a hundred pounds of calcium arsenate to 200 lbs. of sulphur, said Mr. Ruffin. They recommended 22 to 15 pounds of the mixture per acre.

As a rule, growers in areas troubled with both the weevil and the flea hopper at the same time by dusting with a mixture of sulphur and calcium arsenate, said W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist.

The Bureau of Entomology specialists conducted experiments at Fort L. A. vaca, Texas, for three years, and state that results of the work apply to all parts of the cotton belt where both the hopper and the weevil cause heavy damage.

The experiments showed that dusting with the mixture not only gives as good results as the separate dustings, but under some conditions even better results.

The Department's insect specialists recommend a mixture including one part of calcium arsenate and two parts of sulphur. In other words, a hundred pounds of calcium arsenate to 200 lbs. of sulphur, said Mr. Ruffin. They recommended 22 to 15 pounds of the mixture per acre.

L. E. NEWMAN HERE RECENTLY IN INTEREST OF FLYING CLUB

L. E. Newman, well known aviator of Birmingham, was in Clanton several days last week in the interest of organizing a flying club among local aviation enthusiasts. He was acting as representative of the Glenn Messer Company of Birmingham.

During the experiments it was found that it was necessary to make two to four applications of the mixture at intervals of four to seven days to obtain the best results.

Chick Fiquette and Olive Welch were married at the home of Rev. Davis in Elmore County last Saturday afternoon, July 2. The following attended the wedding from Clanton:

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fant and children, and Mrs. W. J. Fiquette, mother of the groom and his sister, Gertrude Mae Fiquette. After the ceremony they left for a week in Florida. The bride is employed at the County Agent's office and Mr. Fiquette is in the employ of Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company.

WHO WROTE IT?

"Some of These Days"

Some of these days

His tiny legs were too short to reach the bellows of an old family organ when his self-education in music began in Amesbury, Ontario. He mastered the keyboard while an older brother pumped. At sixteen he was earning his living as a piano player in Detroit, and a few years later he was a celebrated colored vaudeville star—both pianist and comedian.

Between shows—backstage—he would sit at the piano, hours at a time, improvising melodies. Early in 1910 he evolved a melody which he believed should become a popular song. Vainly he sought words for the appealing tune, until one day, lunching in a cafe near the vaudeville house, he was thrilled by the dramatic recital of a girl who cried as a heartbreaking farewell to her sweetheart: "Some of these days you're going to miss me, honey!" The rhythmic melody of a pattern with his melody. In less than an hour he had completed words and music of a song, and "Some of These Days" was on its way to become a great American popular song hit.

For twenty-eight years it has been sung through a complete copyright period, and in 1938 it comprised renewed its profitable copyright for the second twenty-eight year period. Meanwhile he had written: "Down Town Strutters' Ball," "Jean," "All Night Long," "Walking the Dog," "You Ain't Talking To Me," "Honey Gal" and many others. He became a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

While vaudeville lasted he was a headliner in America and Europe. With the collapse of vaudeville, he became a famous night club entertainer. He is a familiar figure in New York City night life, lives in Brooklyn and is an authority among musicians on the development of jazz and swing in modern music. His name is a household name.

PROMOTION MADE RECENTLY

IN TENN. VALLEY AUTHORITY

Mr. Pauls, formerly project engineer on the Pickwick Landing Dam, now as chief construction engineer, has been appointed chief construction engineer with duties relating to all TVA dam construction projects. He takes over duties formerly performed by T. B. Baker, recently made chief engineer.

Mr. Jessup, who has served as construction superintendent on both Wheeler and Guntersville Dams, has been advanced to the position of project manager of the Authority's Gilchristville Dam project, for which Congress recently appropriated funds to start construction. Both appointments are effective July 1, 1938.

Mr. Pauls has been with the TVA since 1935, first serving as construction engineer on the Pickwick Landing Dam and later being promoted to project engineer for the Pickwick project. Prior to his association with the Authority, he has had more than 25 years of experience on heavy construction work, such as the flood control dams of the Miami Conservancy District of Ohio, the Reclamation dams with the Bureau of Reclamation, and hydroelectric projects for several utilities.

Mr. Jessup's record includes more than 25 years experience as superintendent of construction for the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation in Boston, Mass. He has served on many important projects, including hydroelectric buildings, and other heavy construction.

Mr. Pauls will be located in the Authority's Knoxville offices. Mr. Jessup will spend his time at Knoxville, where he was developed, and at the site, where preliminary operation already are underway.

Tennessee's Governor Gordon Browning, the latest Governor to announce publicly that he favored a reduction of his State's gasoline tax, which is the highest in the nation, says that the tax is excessive and that it is demonstrated in that state where automobile ownership is 40 percent under the general average for the United States.

Due to weather conditions and other factors many Alabama farmers have not planted enough feed crops to properly feed their stock next winter, says W. H. Gregory, associate extension agronomist, in advising that there is still ample time to grow sufficient winter feed.

It should be remembered that to adequately feed a cow or a male about two tons of hay in addition to grain is needed, says Mr. Gregory. Sudan grass will make a larger amount of hay quicker than any other crop on good land. On land which is sown in this hay-producer one to two tons of feed per acre can be grown in 60 days. Mr. Gregory suggests that after the grass comes up it should be top-dressed with 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre. He says about 25 pounds of seed should be planted to the acre.

Sorghum is another crop that will produce a large tonnage of grass hay even when planted late, states Mr. Gregory. Amber and orange are two of the best varieties that may be planted. From one to two pecks of sorghum should be planted to the acre in order to keep the stand from being too large. Disc the seed in and top-dress with 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre after the crop is up, he advises.

A third crop which will produce grass hay is pearl or cattail millet, which should be sown at about the same rate as sorghum. Other varieties of millet do not make a large tonnage.

Cowpeas is the only legume crop that may be safely recommended for sowing this late for hay production, says Mr. Gregory. However, on some of the better soils of the State, soybeans will make considerable hay. Gregory states that a mixture of cowpeas and either sorghum or Sudan grass sown together will make a large tonnage of hay on good land, and the hay will be more nutritious than the sorghum or Sudan planted alone.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE URGES HOME VACATIONS

At this particular time, when many are seeking diversion from their regular labors, Colonel Harry M. Ayers, chairman of the Recreational Development Committee of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce, points out to Alabama citizens the possibilities of their own state for a summer vacation.

Alabama is rich in recreational facilities and offers a broad and varied field of pleasurable recreation. Forests and mountains, lakes, and sea afford opportunity for every type of diversion.

In North Alabama on the crest of Lookout Mountain is Mentone, a pleasant resort with excellent hotels. It is located near DeSota Park, a recreational area with accommodations for vacationists including camps, camp sites, cabins and trailer camps.

DeSota is one of Alabama's fifteen State Parks which have found popular favor with Alabama vacationists and sightseers. Among those which feature cabins are Cheaha, DeSota, Gulf State, Little River, Oak Mountain, Weogulka and Panther Creek.

Cheaha Park in the Talladega National Forest embraces Mount Cheaha, the highest point in Alabama. It is a rugged and picturesque spot improved with towers, foot trails, mountain roads, picnic grounds and shelters. The U. S. Forestry Department has recently announced a further recreational development in this vicinity. By damming Cheaha Creek at Devil's Den they will create a 25-acre mountain lake, around which bath houses will be constructed, camp sites, and trailer parks established.

Nearby is Shocco Springs in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains where three spacious hotels and fifteen cottages accommodate summer tourists seeking rest, relaxation, or amusement. Alabama's Gulf Beach is a playground for fun and recreation, offering both bathing and fishing facilities. Gulf resorts include Mobile, Fairhope, Daphne, Battles Wharf, Point Clear, Bon Secour and Perdido.

Recreational areas on the Tennessee Valley Authority reservation never fail to attract large numbers. Along the river banks in the neighborhood of Wilson Dam, The C. C. C. in cooperation with National Park Service and T.V.A. have developed extensive parks fully equipped with shelters, fireplaces for outdoor cooking, drinking fountains, and automobile parking lots. At Wheeler Dam and Pickwick Landing large areas have likewise been opened up.

At the close of the summer season last year, the Muscle Shoals district awoke to the fact that the tourist business had become its chief industry.

Lay Dam, Mitchell Dam and Jordan Dam, Alabama Power Company developments on the Coosa River and Martin Dam on the Tallapoosa River have long been favorite recreation spots for the nature lover and the fisherman.

While the State Chamber Recreational Committee first strives to sell the people of Alabama on the opportunities offered in their own state for recreation and enjoyment, they also wish to present these opportunities and advantages to the people of other sections of the country.

Each day has been bringing to the State Chamber an increasing number of inquiries from people in all sections of the country, who are planning a summer trip to or through this State.

The Recreational Development Committee is very deeply interested in further developing recreational facilities in the State and publicizing these advantages to Alabama as well as to the rest of the world.

BIG ENOUGH TO DO THE JOB

... But Not too Big to be Friendly

"MAKE TO ORDER NINE MILLION telephone calls! Make them clear, fast and accurate!"

That's the big order we get every day from the South's telephone users.

To handle this great volume of calls is a tremendous job. It requires the services of over 7,000 men and 12,000 women... and an investment of more than 232 dollars worth of plant and equipment for every telephone.

This organization must be big to provide the fast, accurate, high-quality telephone service that the South demands. But we are not too big to be friendly neighbors. Not too big nor too busy to greet you with a smile... to serve you with courtesy and consideration... to help you locate a doctor in a hurry... or to lend a helping hand whenever you need some special telephone service. To us, telephone users are people—not just telephone numbers.

Use your telephone more—to keep in touch with family and friends... to speed your business affairs... to get things done quickly and easily, anywhere.

Improvement of pastures is the most important single item in profitable beef production in Alabama, states R. S. Sugg, extension animal husbandman. Pastures capable of producing 250 to 300 pounds of beef per acre should be the goal set by all beef cattle producers.

Pastures established since January 1, 1930, on land which was severely eroded or on slopes considered too steep to cultivate will be considered as acreage not tiled annually or in regular rotation, states L. W. Dugger, regional director of AAA, in discussing classification of permanent pasture land in checking of performance for 1938.

Cows that are to freshen in the fall should be dry for a period of four to six weeks, states F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service. If the dry cow is in good pasture land during the summer or early fall she will need little extra care. If it is necessary to increase her flesh a mixture of equal parts by weight of corn meal, ground oats, and wheat bran will be found satisfactory, he advises.

In summer, water should be available at all times for cows on pasture and it should be supplied from a stream or well rather than from a muddy pond.

One of the features of the annual Farmers and Homemakers' Week in Auburn, August 1-5 will be an old-time "fiddlers' contest."

Those thousands of customers of the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Company perhaps do not know, nor have even thought of, the effort that is continually put forth by that concern to render the best of service. Nor perhaps have these customers ever availed themselves of the privilege of seeing the modern laundry and cleaning plant in operation and viewing the modern machinery that turns out spotless fabrics of all kinds when sent there for attention.

One of the more recent additions to the plant is what is called a "figure eight" cleaner. This machine is a great part of which was constructed in Clanton, is used in washing delicate fabrics such as linens, silks, etc. The regular back-and-forth motion of this machine pushes the water and cleaning fluids through the cloth instead of forcing the cloth through the water, thereby eliminating all possibilities of damage to even the most delicate piece of material.

When it is mentioned that a part of this machine was made in Clanton, that is true, and Mr. Thompson, the general manager of the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Company is always happy to show visitors through his plant and explain the intricate operations used to insure satisfaction.

Curtains receive a special treatment at the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Company also. A specially built stretcher is used and when ruffles are to appear in the cleaned item, and electric fluting machine is ready for use.

Mr. Thompson also believes in comfort for his employees. During past summers, the plant was unacceptably hot, due to the weather and the pressing machines. Some time ago Mr. Thompson installed a large exhaust fan in the top of the building and even on the hottest days, a distinct breeze is created throughout the building.

The Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Company is truly a credit to the City of Clanton. With its modern machinery and up-to-date methods of cleaning, pressing, dyeing and other work, it is able to handle most any job sent there.

Enough about the equipment of the plant. Now to say something about the employees. Only the highest type of person is employed at the Clanton Laundry. They are industrious, conscientious and painstaking. A long article could be written regarding these efficient employees.

Cotton Classing For Improvement Groups To Start This Year

Cotton classing for one-variety communities and other improvement groups are available for Alabama growers for this year's cotton crop, says J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the State Extension Service.

The service is available to groups of producers organized to promote the improvement of cotton. It will not be available to individual farmers or to groups that do not qualify as cotton improvement organizations. The purpose of the service is to inform farmers of the grade and staple length of their cotton and the extent to which their efforts are producing beneficial results.

From each bale of cotton of an improved variety ginned for a member of a qualified group, a 6-ounce sample of lint that is representative of both the grade and staple length will be sent to the nearest classing office of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Each sample will be classed for grade and staple length and the grower notified of this classification.

"Organized groups," says Lowery, "must provide for the drawing and identification of the samples, and for shipping the samples to the classing office. Tags and containers will be supplied by the Bureau, and transportation charges will be paid by the grower. There is no charge for the classing, but the samples classed become the property of the Government."

During the rapid expansion of cotton improvement work in Alabama farmers have been unable to obtain adequate classing services by which they might measure the quality of the improved cotton that is most in demand.

Tobacco Tax Department, State Tax Commission

The Chief Clerk of the Tobacco Tax Department under direct supervision of the State Tax Commission is held accountable for the administration of the Alabama Tobacco Tax Law which levies a tax on cigars, cheroots, stogies, cigarettes, smoking tobacco, snuff or substitutes therefor.

Stamps are sold by this Department to jobbers of tobacco products at a discount of ten percent who is required by law to affix stamps to each individual package of tobacco products sold by them.

The revenue derived from the sale of stamps in addition to penalties imposed and collected from violators, go into the Alabama Special Educational Trust Fund.

In addition to the enforcement of the Alabama Tobacco Tax Law, this Department is required to enforce the Punched Board and Playing Card Tax Law and the Carbonic Acid Gas Tax Law. Revenue from both of the above go into the General Fund.

The income from the tobacco tax has steadily increased during the past three years. This increase is due in part to a change in the law. Much of it, however, is due to a more vigorous enforcement of the law. The revenue collected in 1935 was $2,085,439.20. Following year the receipts amounted to $2,755,210.70.

In 1937 the tobacco tax brought $3,142,519.70.

The Carbonic Acid Gas Tax collections increased from $146,398 in 1935 to $25,208.30 in 1937.

No tax was collected on Punched and Playing Cards in 1935. Under present revenue law $56,286.30 was collected in 1937.

A room in the home of Col. W. J. Blake at Watertown, Mass., is entered entirely with World War showing sectors where Blake was in.

Fiddler's Contest To Be Held Farm Week

A series of county "old fiddling" contests will begin over the State next week preparatory to selecting contestants for the "fiddling" competition to be held in Auburn during Farmers and Homemakers Week, August 1-5.

In announcing that this novelty feature has been added to the Farmers Week program, P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, requested that all county contests be sent to his office by July 20.

Luncheon clubs and other organizations in a number of counties will sponsor the local contests. Several clubs are planning to offer a free trip to the Auburn meeting as county prizes.

The final competition in Auburn is expected to attract a number of real old time "fiddlers," said Director Davis. He added that three cash prizes will be offered at the State contests here.

Miss Elizabeth Delony, State Girls 4-H Club Leader, is chairman of the music committee, and will handle details of the fiddling contest.

Plans for the annual meeting of farm men and women in Auburn are well underway. This year the program will include more actual farmers participating.

Farmers Can Obtain Free Tests For Oats

Alabama farmers having seed oats for sale are advised by W. H. Gregory, associate agronomist, to send about 2 pounds to L. N. Allen, seed analyst of the State Department of Agriculture at Montgomery, to get germination and purity tests run so that they will be in a position to tell prospective buyers the quality of their seed.

The State Department to offer this service free of charge to all farmers of the State. The samples should consist of about two pounds of large seed and one pound of small seed and should be as nearly representative of the entire lot as possible, says Mr. Gregory.

Generally money can be saved by buying seed oats and other small grain at this time rather than waiting until planting time. It is very advisable to buy only seed that have had this germination test which should run 85 percent or better.

Another advantage of buying seed oats now is that plenty of time is allowed to treat them for smut before planting them. The formaldehyde method costs very little and consists of spraying one pint of formaldehyde on each fifty bushels of oats as they are being shoveled from one pile to another. After each shovelful has received one or two squirts of the formaldehyde the entire pile of seed should be covered with sprayed sacks to hold the fumes five hours or overnight.

Oat rust can be controlled only by planting rust-proof varieties, such as Hastings 100-Bushel, RedRust Proof, and Fulghum.

tion and an increased number recreational and entertainment events. Farmers' Forums and discussions, field trips and recreation, and educational addresses will be included on the program.

According to the figures recently released by an automobile insurance company there were 40,300 people killed in the United States in automobile accidents during the year 1937.

"Q. M."

"WAR veterans know how vital are the duties of the Quartermaster ('Q.M.') Corps in an army. Strangely, when an army and your electric company have little in common, each must have its 'quartermaster corps'."

"In Alabama Power Company, members of the 'quartermaster corps' are known as storekeepers—men who see that there is always an adequate stock of repair and replacement parts available so that when Nature 'declares war' in the form of storm or flood or cyclone, the trouble shooters of my company's 'army' can hasten forth supplied with the necessary materials and equipment with which to repair the damage quickly."

"Don't get the idea, though, that the storekeepers' only part in helping keep your electric service dependable is limited to emergencies. There is natural wear and tear on electrical generating and transmission equipment. Alabama Power Company tries to keep all of its equipment in 'apple-pie' order; therefore the storekeepers always must know where the fourteen thousand different items are on hand, and how many of each are available, and be ready to supply them on short notice from any of the 82 warehouses in Alabama."

"Of course, if my company were content with supplying you with only indifferent service, instead of dependable electric service, it wouldn't have to maintain its system in such good shape, or carry so many parts in so many different places. However, as you perhaps already know, Alabama Power Company wants to supply you with the best electric service at only reasonable cost to you."

EDUCATION ENGINEERING ENFORCEMENT

Nearly 40 million drivers, some good and some bad... Three times as many pedestrians, including the lame, the halt and the blind... More than 28 million automobiles, some in good condition and others nearly ready to fall apart... Three million miles of highways, with a score of physicists hunched in every mile. Add all these together and you have America's traffic lottery, a complex game of life and death in which all of us, willing or not, must participate.

America's shameful automobile accident toll, according to the latest figures issued by The Travelers Insurance Company, reached the staggering total of 36,500 dead and 967,000 injured in 1936.

Why?

Many individuals make the mistake of attributing this awful toll to one or two simple causes. The engineer says: "When we build better highways and cars, the accidents will stop." The law enforcement officer says: "The only way to teach motorists to behave is to crack down on them." Some persons say "Cut down speeds and you'll cut down accidents." Others claim with equal emphasis: "Eliminate drunken driving and you'll eliminate most of the accidents."

Actually, there are many causes of accidents, and a natural remedy for each. Pictured above are a few. Many American cities are enjoying reductions in their accident rates each year in spite of the fact that the totals for the country as a whole are climbing steadily upward. These cities are seeking out all the causes and applying the correct remedy to each. They are carrying on a balanced program of education, engineering and enforcement.

Cane Creek

We are saddened at this writing. Our pastor, Rev. E. A. Norris, died at his home last Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. His funeral was held Monday at Corinth Church near his home. We, the members and friends of Cane Creek Church and friends of many other places will miss him sorely.

Our sympathies are with his family. Sunday School was well attended but not carried out well because our hearts were full because of Bro. Norris' death.

The W. M. S. met last Friday afternoon. We hope more members can be with us next time. We are planning an ice cream supper in the near future. So be watching the papers.

Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorby will preach for us next Sunday, July 10, services beginning at 11:00 o'clock A.M. Everybody come and hear him.

Mrs. Olive Yarbrough Welch Becomes The Bride Of Clarence Fiquette Recently

A wedding of much interest was quietly solemnized on Saturday afternoon, July 2, in the Methodist parsonage at Elmore Station when Mrs. Olive Yarbrough Welch became the bride of Mr. C. C. Fiquette.

The bride was charmingly attired in a fan pleated model of triple sheer in black, with which she used pink accessories. In keeping with the utter simplicity of the occasion the bride carried no bouquet.

The ring ceremony was used, the vows being read by the Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Robinson Springs Methodist church, in the presence of members of the immediate families and intimate friends.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip to points in South Alabama and Florida.

The bride possesses an attractive

Teachers' Exams Are Discontinued Due To Continued Decline

Following is a statement issued from the office of Luther E. Little, superintendent of education:

"From 1900 to 1915 all Alabama Teachers' certificates were required by law to be based upon examinations. In 1915, the Legislature authorized their issuance on both examinations and college credentials. In 1927, it authorized issuance on their examinations or credentials."

"Since 1915 the number of certificates issued upon examinations has decreased year by year. Only thirty-two such certificates, six being in instrumental music and two in public school music, were issued in 1933. Obviously, there is no need for the holding of further examinations for the issuance of certificates in these subjects and public schools are not to be held of the State."

"On July 1 of this year, the State Board of Education has discontinued such examinations has been discontinued. It is necessary to discontinue examinations for the issuance of certificates in instrumental music, and in public school music, in order that the State Board of Education may be able to issue certificates on other method."

have drawn a pistol and fired at Prickett who received a small wound in one heel.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Nivens was on the scene immediately and had arrested Prickett immediately after he fired his last shot. Quick thinking on the part of Officer Nivens possibly averted other persons being struck by bullets as the shooting took place during a busy hour and on a busy street.

Prickett and Williams were both charged with assault to murder. Williams was arrested by Highway Patrolmen J. E. Smith and Morris Jones, who reached the scene shortly after Nivens. Williams was released Tuesday under $750 bond. The shooting was said to have been caused by an old grudge between Smith and Prickett.

Other arrests made by officers include one for assault and battery, one for public drunkenness and one burglary.

ALABAMA'S SENATOR LISTER HILL FILLS THE BILL OF NEED FOR REAL UP-TO-DATE 20TH CENTURY DIPLOMAT

The opinion of Harlan Miller, who conducts a column known as "Over The Coffee" in the Washington Post, about Alabama's own Lister Hill is no more nor less than the people of this State think of Senator Hill. Being an admirer of Senator Hill, the News wishes to advise Mr. Miller that his thought of the Senator from Alabama being presidential timber is not new to us and we state here that we agree with the columnist of The Washington Post relative to his remarks concerning the charming Mrs. Hill.

In his column under date of June 21, Mr. Miller used a picture of Mrs. Hill and made the following comments:

DIXIE SENATOR
A new and modern type of streamlined Senator from Dixie is Lister Hill, of Alabama, successor to Hugo Black and Dixie Graves. His type is apt to be the first twentieth century President from the Southland; perhaps not immediately, but around 1948 or 1952. He is as different from the classic Dixie Senator as the modern crop of Southern novelists is from the older Dixie writers of the magnolia-and-reconstruction era—to him the twentieth century is more important than the nineteenth, polished diplomatic, an able parliamentarian he has occupied Vice Pres. Garner's chair in the Senate often and three legislative machinery bills at top speed in final days. He tamed the Senatorial lions and tigers with the linked talents of a Clyde Beatty and a darsell. By quick work with his gavel he prevented a list fight between two enraged colleagues. His handsome intelligent wife is a valuable asset, a great belle of the braun beauty school.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think
—BILLY SMITH

Dr. Hines Out

The many friends of Dr. J. A. Hines are no doubt congratulating him on his decision not to enter the third and special Democratic primary on July 26th against Karl Harrison in the race for Senator from the Fifteenth Senatorial District. Dr. Hines, being a man of keen intelligence and conservative, saw no need for the counties in his District to go to the added expense of another election. His unselfishness has allowed a younger, yet none too less experienced in law making, to have a clear road ahead for the Senate seat. We salute Dr. Hines for his actions in withdrawing and we for one will remember this spirit of cooperation coming from a man who knows how to carry on a fair and clean political campaign. And, we congratulate Karl Harrison, of Columbiana, on becoming our next State Senator. We believe Karl will be of great service to his district and his open-mindedness and ability to reason will aid in protecting the rights of the people he will represent in the legislature.

The Mayor's Message

We read with keen interest and much more delight the message from our Mayor C. Fern Jones, which appears on the front page of the second section of the News this week. We were pleasantly astounded to learn of the exceptionally low cost to the property owners for the paving in front of their buildings and of the easy manner, quick and sure, in which this can be paid. And, we can easily understand now why the Mayor is so anxious to get this information across to our property owners who wish their streets paved. We can boast, of course, because the street on which our home is situated and where we eat and sleep, is already paved. Yet, if it were not, we believe we could raise the small amount needed to pave it. We recommend to our property owners that they read the Mayor's message this week.

We Must Say Thanks

Our hearts have been touched this week. We feel a kindly warmth toward mankind and especially the business houses of Clanton. In fact, we are overjoyed to the fullest extent. All this due to the hearty response to our plea that the merchants of Clanton put forth their best efforts to give the people something to talk about in honest-to-goodness bargains in everyday necessities. We are happy that the merchants saw to it that our expectations were deeply overshadowed by the realization of a large advertising run this week.

Clanton's Loss

Of course, no honest every man has seldom reached the point in life where he counts everyone his friends and no one his enemy. Luther E. Little is no exception and we believe that almost all of the people of Chilton County will regret the loss of a man who plans to leave the county for no more lucrative position and field than being Superintendent of Education. We not only believe, but we know, that Luther feels something of a despondent sensation when he thinks of leaving the County. Luther feels deeply the kindness, cooperation and friendship that the people of this County have bestowed upon him. We know because Luther told us so the other day. He believes, however, that the people will not be disappointed in him for having accepted a position of promotion in his chosen field, after they have expressed their wishes at the polls for him to be our Superintendent. We believe the people will join in column in wishing Luther success and happiness in his new place, and we are glad he will not leave us until November.

Why Not Refuse It?

To those farmers who have been going the rounds at every opportunity lambasting President Roosevelt and the New Deal, we have a suggestion to make, if they are to receive one of the toll conservation checks. Why don't you fellows just say, "No, I don't want that check. Send it back. I don't like the President, and I don't want any of the government money that they are throwing away"? And you business men might say, "We don't want this money from this administration in this County. We had rather gripe about bad business than to enjoy some measure of prosperity." You had suggestions to you fellows who might benefit from this well-earned money and yet who grab every opportunity to tell how Roosevelt is ruining the country. Personally, we are glad to see the farmers get their money. We don't mind paying for their tariff.

COUNTY READY WITH ITS PART IN PAVING FUND

Commissioners Go to City Tuesday For Final Arrangements

Chilton County is ready with its part of the funds needed for the paving of the five and one-half miles from Clanton on the Lay Dam Road, according to Judge J. Lee Smith, who, with the Commissioners, went to Montgomery Tuesday afternoon to make final arrangements with Federal funds on this project.

Commissioners Oden, Monroe Parish, R. L. Ousley and J. P. Bean, with Judge Smith, have been interested keenly in getting this project carried out. It was stated that the County was ready and that work on the project is awaiting outcome of the plans of the City for the paving of some of its streets, among which is the street leading into the Lay Dam Road, connecting with the pavement at the Court-house.

Hines, Little Withdraw From Two Local Races

Dr. Hines Withdraws From Senatorial Race In Favor Of Harrison; Little Withdraws To Accept Position Of Promotion

Two moves in political circles of Chilton County which were made this week, cast a different light on the matter here and gives one man a clear right-of-way to the office he seeks and gives another man a chance at another office in the November 8th general election.

Little Withdraws

Luther E. Little, county superintendent of education filed papers with W. M. Polk, chairman of the county Democratic Executive Committee, stating he had withdrawn as the Democratic nominee to succeed himself, and at the same time advised the News that he would possibly resign his position as superintendent on or about November 10th.

The reason for Mr. Little's action is the fact that he has been offered and has accepted a position which will be quite a distinct promotion for him in the field of education and which will offer him opportunities for further

DONKEY BASE BALL GAME IS SET ON MONDAY

Trained Animals To Furnish Much Fun In Game To Be Played Here

If the weather permits—and hundreds hope it will—the donkey baseball game will be played in Clanton on Monday night, July 18th.

Donkey baseball is something new here. Yet, it is one of the most interesting and amusing games to be seen. With specially trained donkeys for each player to ride, the game will provoke laughter to the nth degree. Especially when the small animals try some of their tricks on the players who have certain rules to go by in the game.

Ladies of the Clanton Methodist Church are bringing the game to Clanton and the players will all be local men. The game is scheduled to start at eight o'clock in the high school baseball park. There will be a small admission charge—but see this for fun.

43-Year-Old Fodder Brought To News

Our good friend, W. H. Sartor, brought a bundle of fodder into the News office the other day which is said to be forty-three years old. The fodder appears to be well preserved—just waiting for some good horse.

This fodder was grown on the farm of W. J. Bone near Paigt Creek in Coosa County in the year 1895. Mr. Bone moved to Chilton County that year bringing the fodder to his present home near Billingsley.

ALREADY HERE FOR FARMERS

County Agent Advises That Farmers Receiving Checks Will Be Notified

PAYMENT FOR AIDING IN SOIL PROGRAM

Approximately one hundred and ten thousands of dollars will be turned into Chilton County farmers' pockets during the next several days, according to a statement issued Tuesday from J. M. Fant, county agent. Mr. Fant advised that over 1,300 checks, totalling $52,738.76 had already been received this week and farmers who are to receive these government checks have been notified that they are ready for them.

These government checks go to those farmers of Chilton County who have cooperated with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program and will mean much to each farmer as well as the county as a whole.

Following is a statement issued by County Agent Fant this week: "Over 1300 checks that total $52,738.76 were received at the County Agent's office Monday and Tuesday of this week. This represents approximately 45 per cent of the total money earned by Chilton County farmers who cooperated under the 1937 program."

"There were 2215 farmers who signed work sheets under the 1937 program. Most of those who signed work sheets cooperated to the extent that they will receive some payments. Some few farmers signed work sheets then planted all or more than their cotton base acres, and will not receive any payments."

"Checks are expected to arrive frequently until the total of approximately $100,000.00 are received by Chilton County farmers for cooperating with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program."

"Cards have been mailed to each of the 1308 farmers who are to receive these checks, notifying them that the checks are ready for delivery."

"Signed," "J. W. FANT, County Agent."

CLANTON MOTORS TO HAVE EIGHTEENTH BIRTHDAY

LOCAL FORD DEALERS HAVE SOLD MANY UNITS IN CLANTON

Ford Motor Company Extends Congratulations To Growing Concern On Eve Of Its Anniversary On July 19th

The eighteenth milestone of service to Clanton, Chilton County, and surrounding territory, has been reached by Clanton Motors Inc., local Ford Dealer and service men.

Eighteen years ago, on July 19, 1920, this local concern received its authority from the Ford Motor Company, to become an authorized sales and service station for Ford cars and trucks.

At that time the concern was housed in none too large quarters. Their business began to grow until it was necessary to expand and on September 1, 1927, they moved into one of the largest and most modern buildings in the State, erected especially for Clanton Motors and which building they now occupy.

and that this has made up a large portion of the reasons for their success in the automobile business.

The sales force of Clanton Motors is composed of T. J. Littlejohn, J. C. Burnett, J. F. Higgins, Flem Higgins, W. W. Wingard, Walter Fiquette and R. L. Ouzley.

In the service and repair departments these men are ready to serve their customers with pleasure. Luther Culppepper, Manager of Parts Department, O. W. Miller, manager of service department, W. A. Hall, Curtis Hurtt J. C. Davis, Mallard Langston

Win Many Awards

To say that Clanton Motors and the corps of fine salesmen and service men is rated among the most outstanding in the South, is perhaps putting it mildly and is not at all making any undue boasts. This fact is borne out in evidence shown in the many awards they have received from the Ford Motor Company for their sales and service ability. Of course, to have won these many awards, it was necessary that the public be pleased and satisfied with the products sold by Clanton Motors. These awards were brought to Clanton from a large territory that includes many dealers larger than the local concern, or rather from dealers in larger cities.

Excellent Personnel

Looking over the roster of employees, mechanics salesmen and service men, one finds a high type of personnel at Clanton Motors. Energetic salesmen who have something worthwhile to sell have played a large number of Ford cars and trucks over this territory. Conscientious service and repair men of Clanton Motors have always seen that their customers are pleased. That has meant much to Clanton Motors in its progress and growth.

Expresses Thanks

In commenting on their eighteenth anniversary, which is next Monday, T. J. Littlejohn and J. C. (Rip) Burnett, managers of the agency, stated that they fully realize that the people of this section have been good to them

Miss Tanya Korotune, Russian Exile, Tells Interesting Story During Visit Here

Attending the Unity-Chilton Mission Institute, which was held here three days last week—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—was Miss Tanya Korotune, twenty-one-year-old Russian girl, who is a missionary student in this country. Those attending the Institute heard many interesting things from this young lady, whose life has been filled with many interesting events—her escape from Communistic Russia, and finally reaching the United States, where she is about to realize a desire that has been uppermost in her heart for many years of her young life—that of becoming an American citizen.

Tanya was a member of a wealthy Russian family. Her father had visited the United States and while here was converted as a Christian. She had heard her father speak of this country where everybody was free to worship as they pleased and she grew to love the land she had never seen.

When Communists assumed control of the Russian government the wealthy and christian people suffered severely. Many were arrested and thrown into prisons, and many exiled. Tanya with the permission of her parents escaped across the border into Manchuria, living in one mission and another, finally reaching Shanghai where she entered a Missionary School after many hardships.

It was there she made the acquaintance of Dr. Madre and his wife. Dr. Madre is Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board. On telling him of her desire to come to America, he arranged for her transportation and Tanya sailed for America as a Missionary student. But her troubles were not over as, upon entering Canada she was not allowed to enter the States because she was not a citizen of Russia or China. To solve this problem took many days, but Tanya's great desire to live and worship in this country was finally recognized by Washington officials.

She was told she could stay for some time in another country and on returning would be admitted as an immigrant. She went to Mexico, and on her return took out her first papers for naturalization.

Tanya studied at Mars Hill College, Mars Hill, N.C., last year and plans to resume her studies at the Baylor University in Texas next year. She plans to be a missionary in her native country after her education here is completed. Before many months she will be a citizen of the United States—her dream come true.

IS PROHIBITION COMING BACK?

Being the first in a series of excerpts taken from a collection of five feature articles prepared by "Iffy The Dopester," and appearing in Detroit Free Press

Prohibition coming back? That's the question, my hearties, I've been asked to answer.

And they want one of those yes-and-no responses like, "Have you stopped beating your wife; answer me, yes or no?"

Well, I ain't going to be dragged into no silly argument like that. I ain't going to say Prohibition is coming back.

FIRST PNEUMOTHORAX PATIENT RETURNS HOME

Mr. Olen Crompton of Randolph, Route 1, Chilton County's first tuberculous patient to receive the new lung collapse treatment from local physicians, returned from the Montgomery County Sanatorium last week, according to a health department report. A new outfit for administering injections of air has been purchased by the Local Tuberculosis Association and placed at the Central Alabama Hospital to be used by physicians who are interested in the new type of therapy for tuberculosis. Mr. Crompton, the report indicated, will receive injections of air at weekly intervals for the first 3 months after which time the intervals between refills may be lengthened.

The great boon to the county in having available such an outfit and physicians familiar with this method of treatment was pointed out by Dr. S.D. Sturkie, local county health officer. Patients who are recognized early in the course of the disease before adhesions have developed are especially suitable for collapse treatment, he declared. Marked improvement in the general condition of the patient, disappearance of the tuberculosis germ from the sputum, etc., takes place much more rapidly following collapse than with the old or bed-rest method of treatment, according to the Chilton health officer. "Under our present set-up in Alabama," he said, "it is possible for such a patient to spend 4 to 6 weeks in a sanatorium at a cost from $30 to $45 and return to his home, well on the road to recovery and no longer a source of danger to his family."

Announcement was also made by the Anderson of Montgomery; Miss Charlotte Anderson of Sylacauga; Mrs. William B. Hood of Sylacauga; Mrs. Grover Ables of Montreat, N.C.; and Mrs. Malcolm McEachern of Gheeva, Ala.

Dr. Anderson is well known in Clanton and Chilton County having filled the pulpit of the Clanton Presbyterian Church for many services.

T. V. A. Has Contract Kentucky Utilities Co.

A power interchange contract with the Kentucky Utilities Company to provide electric power for construction purposes at Gilbertsville Dam site was announced today by John B. Blandford, Jr., General Manager of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Under the contract, the Kentucky Utilities Company will furnish electric power to the Authority at the dam site and will receive like amounts of power from the Authority over a 44,000 volt transmission which TVA will build from Milan, Tennessee, to the facilities of the Company at Bradford, Tennessee, about 12 miles away. No sales of power are involved in the contract.

The interchange agreement relieves the Authority of the immediate necessity for constructing a 180-mile transmission line from Pickwick Dam to Gilbertsville, at a cost of $2,000,000.

The last Congress appropriated $2,613,000 to the Authority to begin construction of Gilbertsville Dam.

Farm Loan Association Will Meet July 21st

Farmers from all parts of Chilton County are expected to attend the annual shareholders' meeting of the Chilton County National Farm Loan Association, which will be held July 21, at 10:00 A. M., in the Courthouse at Clanton, according to D. W. Waite, Secretary-Treasurer of the association. The principal purpose of this meeting is to make a report to the shareholders of the activities during the past year and to elect five members to the Board of Directors. In addition to the local speakers, a representative of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans has been invited to address the meeting on subjects pertaining to the operation of the Federal Land Bank and the bank's relation with the association.

"We are expecting a much larger attendance at the annual meeting this year than we have experienced at any meetings which have been held in the past," Mr. Waite stated. "Formerly, meetings were held either in January or February, with the result that bad weather frequently interfered with attendance. The directors of the association decided to change the meeting this year to mid-summer in the belief that it will give a larger number of members an opportunity to attend. Perhaps the most important part of the meeting will be the election of five directors. A new law passed by Congress last season provides for three-year terms on the Board of Directors in the future instead of one year terms as in the past. At the meeting this year two of the directors elected will serve for three years, two will serve for two years, and one for one year. As the terms of the Directors who are elected this year will expire, future directors will be elected. This will provide a continuing Board of Directors."

It is so easy to become discouraged and so hard to keep up our courage. Our faith is being tried. Our mettle is being tested. Let's show ourselves to be people of strength of purpose in our Lord's Kingdom by sticking by our church with our thrice-daily prayers.

Let's be at Sunday School next Sunday morning at 9:45 with love in our hearts for the Lord's kingdom and for the success of His work. Let's try to build His Kingdom in our midst. Let's support our Church officials and our pastor. Let's hold them up in our every thought and word and deed. Let's seek God's guidance in every move we make in His work so that the good work will be aided, not hindered.

Can God count on you to be at Sunday School and the other church services next Sunday? Can He count on you to be led by Him? Can He count on you as one of His profitable servants? My prayer is that I may be.

"Freedom Of Press" Is A Reality, But Really Just What Is "The Press"

"Freedom of the press is a reality: peril to that freedom is a myth," Charles Michelson, Director of Publicity of the Democratic National Committee, told the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia Monday evening. "When we were babies our mothers used to tell us that if we sucked our thumbs, the thumbs would come off. The peril of our reaching the condition of the controlled press of the dictatorships is just as veritable."

"What do we mean by 'the press'?" The actual newspapers and magazines on the newstands, the group of men such as Washington correspondents who gather the news, the editor, who naturally exercises discretion and control, or do we mean the owners who tell what the policy is to be? We might go even deeper and speak of the hidden powers that, in turn, are in a position to tell the owner, in some instances, what he should or should not print. Few newspapers or magazines are better morally or ethically than the men who own them. Here and there along the newspaper frontier, are proprietors who do not permit their individual interests to influence their concern for public welfare.

"A newspaper is a business. If it is a big newspaper, it is big business. Not infrequently, it is only one of several important industrial enterprises in which the publisher is interested. Theoretically advertising is politically and economically non-partisan. But the big advertiser is apt to feel pretty strongly the pull of policies which he believes affect his business. And very naturally the newspaper proprietor will give sympathetic consideration to his point of view. Similarly a great many newspapers have obligations relating to their financing through banks and other financial institutions. The influence on the policy of the newspaper certainly is far from unknown."

"There is infringement of the liberty of the press when a newspaper is told that it cannot have certain advertising unless it adopts or abstains from a particular policy. Perhaps, however, publishers who employ the term limit it to government interference. In other words, these newspapers construe as their constitutional guarantee that it is nobody's business but their own whether or not they sell their editorial opinions for advertising, or to satisfy a creditor. An interesting situation results. The vernal newspaper undoubtedly commits an offense against morals when it permits its policies to be bought or sold, but strangely enough it is right even if it is wrong for the slightest attempt of government to put a stop to such practices would mean censorship and censorship is unthinkable in a free country.

"The newspaper code of ethics is perfect. Those members of the press who live up to it are not the ones who make a shambles of the 'freedom of the press.' Unfortunately, either tradition or sentiment or the strength of esprit de corps among the newspapers results in the press as a whole making its own the cause of the offender against the moral code which publishers' associations themselves set up. As long as we live, politically-minded papers will continue to accuse an administration to which they are opposed of everything from treason down. Nothing will be done about it and nothing should be done about it for however infuriating untrue and unjust assaults may be, it is infinitely better than that public expression should have to grovel at the feet of authority."

Millions Of Dollars To Be Available For Rural Families

Montgomery, July 9.—"Almost 18 million dollars will be available for Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, to finance loan requirements of low income rural families who qualify as borrowers in the 1938-39 fiscal year's program undertaken by FSA," Administration.

"$13,500,000 has been allotted this regional director of the Farm Security announced Robert W. Hudgens, Region for loans to rehabilitation borrowers and $4,295,805 made available to finance purchases and improvements in the tenant purchase program author-

If You're Planning To Build

By W. S. Lowndes

Director, Schools of Architecture and Building International Correspondence Schools

NO matter what size house you are planning to build, or how much you intend to spend, the living room for general family use is very important. It should have plenty of sunlight, a good outlook and should be finished so as to produce a comfortable and homelike effect. In obtaining this effect, a fireplace is often desirable, as is a sun parlor or a porch placed adjacent to the living room. In large and pretentious houses other rooms are arranged that perform some of the functions of the living room in more modest structures.

A sun room or sun parlor is a common feature in even the most inexpensive homes. It may consist of a porch enclosed in glass, or it may be a special room having an abundance of windows. When the windows are hung wide open this room in reality becomes a porch. The exposure should be toward the south so as to obtain an abundance of sunlight in the winter months. Sun rooms are usually fitted with special furniture and decorated with plants. Individuality of the building can be cleverly displayed in developing plans for the sun room.

Houses With Garages Attached. The problem of attaching a garage to a house is one that is rather difficult to solve. The large doors of the garage, which are open frequently, are generally too conspicuous and do not harmonize with the rest of the exterior. It is very desirable to locate the garage so that the doors will not be in front of the building, but to the side or rear, &

ized by the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act."

According to Mr. Hudgens the $13,500,000 for rehabilitation loans will enable low-income families to put in crops, improve lands and buildings, finance purchases of livestock, buy equipment for homemaking and farming activities and improve sanitary facilities. Loans to new clients will be made for subsistence and feed items necessary equipment, and stock required to engage in successful farming.

"Group service loans will be made to low income individuals or to rural groups for services or equipment beyond the means of the farmer to acquire individually and where such equipment or service is needed in the community for cooperative use. Loans of this type will provide harvesting machinery, pure bred sires, ensilage cutters, grist mills, cane mills, tractors, curing houses, tobacco sprayers, loading platforms, scales, and other facilities whereby the earnings from use of same appear to be sufficient to provide for retirement of the purchase loans advanced."

"Two hundred and sixteen loans of this type amounting to $234,031.34 were made during the year just ended providing services for 1188 rehabilitation clients and 3400 neighboring families. More group service loans will be made this year and funds for these purposes will be provided as necessary," Mr. Hudgens continued.

"For budgetary purposes the State rehabilitation loan program allocations are as follows: Alabama, $4,000,000; Florida, $2,000,000; Georgia, $4,000,000; and South Carolina, $3,000,000. With these funds, approximately twice the number of families may be aided this year with the guidance and finance included in our rehabilitation program inasmuch as the money made available is almost double the total authorized for the fiscal year program which ended June 30 1938. The 1937-38 fiscal period enabled 38,667 rehabilitation loans to be made in the four States totaling $7,801,570. "The allotment for tenant purchase loans in Alabama, Florida Georgia and South Carolina totaling $4,295,805 will finance farm purchases and necessary improvements to same in accordance with the provisions of Title I of the Bankhead-Jones Tenant Act. Under the terms of this Act eligible low-income rural families may be assisted to acquire family size farms capable of producing an abundant living, and the necessary margin of profit to enable repayment of the advances required."

Kiwanian Have Most Interesting Program

When members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club gathered at the (Thomson) Hotel last Thursday night they had a real treat in store as one of the most interesting programs ever rendered was arranged for their enjoyment. After luncheon President Patterson Hicks turned the program over to Luther E. Little, Chairman of the Program Committee. This was the first meeting held since Mr. Little and his party returned from an interesting tour of the Western States and Old Mexico. Mr. Little rendered a sketch of this interesting tour in poetry form, describing the interesting sights as covered by the party, of their reactions and treatment received by the citizens of the various towns and cities. Following this part of the program Mr. Little introduced Miss Tanya Korotune, exiled Russian girl, who spoke of her experiences, and her efforts to become an American citizen. Miss Korotune was a Missionary student last year at the Mars Hill College in Mars Hill, N. C. She is twenty-one years of age, and her interesting talk was the highlight of the program. Several other guests were present at the meeting.

Farms Union Men In Chilton County

Heads of the F. E. & C. U. of A. have been in Chilton County doing some powerful speaking.

On Friday of last week the President, Mr. Vester Burkett, T. J. Stewart, Sec.-Treas., McKinley Gilbert, Chairman of the State Executive Board and George Campbell, Secretary of the State Board came here and spoke. They made speeches at Free Springs local Friday night. Saturday they attended the County meeting where those present heard some of the most interesting from union speeches that have been delivered in Chilton County. Just here we want to give credit to one of our own Chilton County members, Mr. Howard Roper, who also spoke in the afternoon. There has been many compliments and much praise given to this talk.

On Thursday of this week these men along with W. T. Pate, Vice President, Mr. W. H. Martin and R. W. Haygood, Board members, will be back here to hold an executive session of their Board and Council at Jimison Vocational building on Thursday and Friday, July 14 and 15.

On Monday, July 18, Mr. Ed Rigger will be in this County to speak. Mr. Rigger is a national organizer and will possibly be here to speak for the F. E. & C. U. of A. rally, to be held at Sims Grove (near Clanton) on this date and will speak at the Courthouse in Clanton on Monday night. Remember this date and come for you have a personal invitation.

We feel the effects of these men's visits here already to the organization so you hear the other speakers at Sims Grove Monday and I assure you whether a member of the Farmers' Union or not, you'll hear something of interest—Chilton County Recording Sec.

Nowadays, seems like a feller has to be a prizefighter, before he can open a restaurant, what with Jack Dempsey, Mickey Walker and some of those other fellers. I asked George over the Coffe Pot about it t' other night and he said no, he didn't think so. Claimed the only fights he'd ever had were with his wife, Annie, and she always won.

Assistant County Agent Makes Fine Monthly Report

B. N. IVEY

During the month of June the Assistant County Agent, B. N. Ivey, spent thirteen (13) days in the field and five (5) days in the office. One hundred and twenty-two (122) office calls were made and thirty-four (34) telephone calls were made. Thirty-eight (38) farms were visited by the Agent. Two (2) method demonstrations were conducted for Juniors with thirty-four (34) in attendance. One (1) method demonstration was given for adults with seven (7) in attendance. Eight meetings were held with juniors with one hundred and fifty-seven (157) in attendance. One (1) meeting was held with adults with eighty (80) in attendance. The Assistant Agent traveled one thousand, two hundred and three (1,203) miles on official duty. Four (4) schools were visited, four (4) press articles were written, six talks were made, thirty-six (36) personal letters were written. Five (5) circular letters were written with two thousand, one hundred and twenty-two (2,122) copies being sent out. Forty-three (43) U.S. bulletins and twenty-seven (27) Extension circulars were sent. Fourteen (14) miscellaneous meetings were attended with an attendance of one thousand, two hundred and forty-six (1,246). Eight days annual leave was taken.

The Assistant Agent carried two (2) boys and two (2) girls to the Leadership School at Auburn which lasted four (4) days. The program which was arranged for them was very timely, and it is believed that its affects with be felt throughout the State in better organized county councils which in turn will touch every Club member. The various demonstrations and lectures on self-improvement and leadership will have a lasting effect on those who attended from this county, and it is my hope that these representatives can in turn influence the other club members with whom they will come in contact. The candle lighting ceremony was another phase of the program that I consider very impressive and worthwhile. The several discussions with the agents were also very helpful to me and I think they will result in better and more efficient county councils.

GASOLINE TAXES HIT NEW HIGH IN 1937; COST TO MOTORISTS TRIPLES IN DECADE

Gasoline taxes collected by the states last year hit a new record high of $756,930,000 in 1937, a gain of $69,299,000 over 1936 and an increase of $498,091,000 during the past decade, reports the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee through its secretary, Earl M. Hearne, of Montgomery, Ala.

"New York led the states with $61,841,000 in gasoline tax collections in 1937, a gain of $6,206,000 over 1936. Pennsylvania was second with $55,711,000, followed by California, $46,614,000; Ohio, $46,538,000; Texas $41,671,000; and Illinois, $35,836,000.

"Since 1927 the average annual state gasoline tax burden per motor vehicle in the United States has more than doubled. In 1927, when 23,133,000 motor vehicles were registered in the United States, $258,839,000 was collected in state gasoline taxes. In 1937 the number of motor vehicles had grown to 29,700,000, and increase of approximately 20 percent over 1927, but state gasoline tax costs had increased by $489,091,000 to a total of $756,930,000, or nearly three times the amount collected a decade ago.

"Besides paying state gasoline taxes, the nation's motorists paid an additional $203,025,000 in Federal gasoline taxes in 1937, making the total gasoline tax bill almost a billion dollars for the year."

summing his new position. His announcement will come as a surprise to thousands of persons here who have felt that his services as superintendent have meant a great deal to the county.

Dr. Hines Withdraws
In a letter addressed to the News, Dr. J. A. Hines, of Siluria, stated he had decided to withdraw from the race for state senator from this district in favor of his opponent, Karl C. Harrison, of Columbiana.
Dr. Hines made a splendid race during the first two primary elections and due to the calling of a third and special primary in the three counties, he has declined to continue the race. This gives Harrison a clear way as Democratic nominee for the Senate seat, which is the same thing as election in November.

The statement from Dr. Hines to the News follows:

"Clanton, Alabama
"Dear Sir:

"Please allow me space in your valuable paper to thank my friends in Chilton County for the wonderful support given me in my recent campaign for the Senate.

"I regret that I did not have the time to enter into the third primary and neither do I wish to put the different counties to the expense of holding this primary. However, I want to assure my friends that the last minute propaganda appearing in the last edition of the papers before the election June 14, was absolutely untrue and without foundation and these statements had nothing whatsoever to do with my withdrawal.

"I want to take this opportunity to ask my friends to fully support the Democratic nominees in the November election as I intend to myself to the fullest extent.

"Sincerely yours,
"J. A. HINES, M. D."

In the resignation and withdrawal of Mr. Little, it will be necessary for the Democratic Executive Committee of the county to take steps to determine a nominee for the place to enter the general election in November. W. M. Polk, chairman, stated that he would probably call the committee together next week to determine this matter.

It Pays To Trade In Clanton!

FLYERS ARE ENTERTAINED AT FISH FRY

Interesting Talks Were Heard By Group On Recent River Outing

Members of the Clanton Aero Club and other citizens of the city acted the part of hosts in a splendid manner last Wednesday afternoon and night when they entertained members of the Dawn Patrol of Birmingham and other aviators who flew to Clanton on a goodwill trip.

Several of the guests from the Magic City began to arrive and landed their planes at Gragg Field, Clanton's modern airport, during the early afternoon, while others arrived later. They were carried by automobile to the attractive camp of J. Mel Martin on the Coosa River where a bound fish supper with all the trimmings was spread and served under the supervision of Mrs. Mel Martin and Leroy Martin.

The list of those from Clanton included in the outing were former Judge L. H. Reynolds, Mayor C. Fenn Jones, Dr. V. J. Gragg, Judge J. Lee Smith, County Commissioners R. L. Ousley, H. R. Oden and J. Monroe Parrish, J. T. Rockett, M. A. Gore, W. M. Wyatt of Montevallo, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wyatt, Billy Smith, L. E. Dieffenfer, Samuel Martin, Leo Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade, Morris Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes and others.

Dr. V. J. Gragg, for whom Clanton's airport was named, served as toastmaster at the long table around which were gathered the guests. Dr. Gragg called on several for talks and then introduced Glenn Messer, outstanding flyer and aeronautical man of the South, who introduced visitors from Birmingham.

Among the flyers from Birmingham present at the gathering were Harry Hawkins, R. A. Cain, Jr., Jimmy C. Brown, O. M. (Hungry) Jimmy, John C. Thomas, Pete McQuirk, Carl Burnett, Joe Bohler, Fred Leslie who is local instructor at Gragg Field, Floyd Smith, Ned Ballard of York, Robert Gilley, Les Kilgore, Bill Caruthers, Miss Rudolph, Gene Lander, Robert Whiland, Miss Mildred Wilkinson, Earl Newman and others. All these were young people are taking flying instruction or are now licensed pilots.

The Birmingham parties stayed overnight returning to Birmingham Thursday morning.

the June 14th primary. Everybody knows that all the above rumors are absolutely false and beneath the consideration of everyone.
"Having been confined to my home the past week due to illness, I was unable to formulate a letter as I intended. However, next week I will give you a detailed account, the reason why some of our good citizens saw fit to take the absentee ballot on June 14th, the persons responsible for the polluted condition of that box, and why our officers made no effort to do anything to the parties who took the box.

"I will publish this in both county papers for the benefit of the public and will call a spade a spade. Yours for clean politics and good government.

"Respectfully,

ILLS OF SOUTH ARE MANY BUT FUTURE BRIGHT

Industrial Banks For Loans
One Of Needs, Senator
Hill Declares

Absentee ownership of industry, discriminatory freight rates, the Pittsburgh plus price-fixing policy of steel, dependence on the North for money to finance her crops, her business and her industry, and the protective tariff for industrial products while agricultural products were on the free list, are plagues by Alabama's junior senator, Lister Hill, of Montgomery, for the impoverished condition of the South.

However he sees a brighter day ahead, he told the Civitan Club Friday at its luncheon at the Tutwiler hotel, with the elimination of the Pittsburgh plus price-fixing policy, re-adjusting certain freight rates that were discriminatory against the South, and a noticeable change in the attitude of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the matter of freight rates in the South and between the South and the North and East since the appointment of Marion M. Caskie, of Alabama, as a member of the commission by President Roosevelt.

One of the remedies he suggested for taking Southern business and industry from under the control of other states is the establishment of industrial banks in the South, similar to the land banks for agriculture, to lend money to business and industry at low rates. Not until the South can supply the money for its own business and industry will this section be economically free and be able to go ahead industrially, he said.

See Law By Congress

If the Interstate Commerce Commission does not remove the discriminations against the South then Congress will pass a law putting into effect a provision that no higher rates shall be charged for products going into the North than for the products of that North coming into the South, said the senator. "If we can't get justice before the Interstate Commerce Commission then we will go to Congress. It will be easy to pass a law that the rates on products shipped out of official territory—that section north of the Ohio and Holston Rivers and east of the Mississippi River—shall be no lower than the rates on products shipped into that territory."

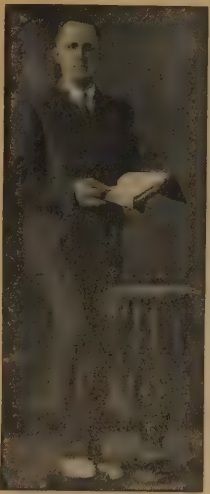

The senator said the economic survey of the South to be made by a committee appointed by the president, of which Gen. John C. Persons, president of the First National Bank of Birmingham, is a member, is the first time in the history of the country that the government has undertaken a survey of any section to determine its economic and social condition, and from its findings he anticipated beneficial results for the South.

He appealed to business men to stand together in support of measures directed toward the betterment of living conditions, the lifting of the heavy and discriminations. "You may not agree with all the administration has done," he said. "I do not. But who is going to strike down the farm legislation? Who is going to strike down the social security legislation? Who is going to strike down the securities exchange law? Who is going to strike down the laws protecting your bank accounts? Be true to economic justice. Join hands with the administration in its efforts to improve social and economic conditions in the South and all sections of the country."

When Alexander Hamilton sent the first tariff bill to Congress, the senator said, he sent along with the bill a statement that with a tariff for industry there must be some kind of protection for agriculture, but the suggestion was not heeded, and all through the years down to the Hawley-Smoot tariff there was protection for industry but none for agriculture; farmers had to sell in competition with farmers of other countries, while manufacturers were protected by a tariff from products of the countries. Trade agreements being arranged by Secretary Hull, he said, are changing this; and such agreement a new market is opened and agriculture is placed on a parity with industry.

TO PROPERTY OWNERS OF CLANTON

July 12, 1938

"Attention Property Owner:

"The most reliable information I can get is to the effect that our street paving will cost about $60.00 for each 75 feet of property abutting the street paved 20 feet in center of street including the drainage. That is the paving and drainage will cost each property owner about eighty cents per lineal foot for property abutting the street paved. Take notice that this is an estimated average cost over the City, but does not mean that each property owner will pay exactly the same per lineal foot on property owned. Conditions of the street varies. Some may require a lot of pipe to carry the water, which cost is distributed over the property affected by putting the water under the ground, while on other streets no pipe will be required at all.

"My letter published in our papers July 7, explained fully the conditions of the City and our plans for the future. All we are asking you to do is to borrow the money you need from the banks, or from an individual, to pay your portion of the paving cost, and not ask the City to consume any of its credit on the streets, but retain it to other very necessary improvements to our water and sewage system, thereby, you assist in continuing the flow of government money into the business channels of our City. Who in Clanton owns a 75-foot lot and cannot raise $60.00 for paving which immediately raises the property value? I answer, no one. Should there be a mortgage on your property, the mortgagee may better lend you the money for the reason, should the City place an assessment on your property, the assessment at once supercedes the mortgage, and the property can be sold by the City to pay the assessment. "I appeal to you, not for my sake, but for your own personal benefit, and for the future development of Clanton, to assist us in completing our plans as outlined in my July 7th letter. Do not be a slacker, a kicker, or knocker at this time when the government is trying to give you 45 percent of every dollar we spend on city improvements.

"Remember this. The government will not release to Clanton the $27,818.00 until we place in the bank our part of the cost of paving, and the government requires a signed statement from the bank that the cash is on deposit subject to be paid out only for paving.

"In a few days a committee from your street will call on you for your portion of the cost. Make check payable to the City of Clanton. The City will return to you any portion not required in the cost of paving in front of your property.

"Respectfully,

"C. FENN JONES, Mayor."

YOUNG TO LEAD BAR ASSOCIAT'N

Retiring President Gerald Urges Profession To Mend Its Fences

Mobile, Ala., July 9.—Anniston's Cecil Young was chosen today to head the Alabama Bar Association after delegates to the annual convention heard Lawrence F. Gerald, retiring president, condemn the Roosevelt administration's defeated Supreme Court reorganization bill and warn that its advocates "still desire a subversive judiciary."

Young was the only officer elected today. Others will be named by the board of commissioners.

Sneaker William B. Bankhead, surprise visit and spoke briefly before leaving with Mrs. Bankhead for a fishing trip on the gulf. The speaker praised the record of the state association and said its members ranked among the highest in the nation.

Gerald brought the defeated Supreme Court measure before the delegates with the statement:

"This proposal was defeated in Congress, but there can be no doubt the forces proposing it still desire a subversive judiciary, and I believe that the bar should be ever alert to prevent this result in our country."

The retiring president urged delegates to aid in eliminating the "unfavorable standing" of the legal profession in some circles.

"We have seen in the recent past the power of the administration of our government arrayed against us," he said, "and severe criticism made of our profession and the result of this has been to bring upon us the disfavor and contempt of many of those who blindly follow the administration."

"Undoubtedly, the fact that we are vulnerable on the question of our general standing has enabled our enemies to make their efforts so effective. The only answer to this is that we should mend our fences and restore the standing of our profession."

Gerald recommended establishment of legal aid agencies "which would furnish advice and counsel to unfortunate people who are unable to obtain such service."

The Clanton attorney also urged appointment of a committee on legislation to study "numerous issues of grave concern" to the legal profession.

He did not name the committee. Judge J. Russell McElroy of Birmingham was chosen president of Circuit Judges Association, held in conjunction with the bar meeting. He succeeded Judge Ernest Lacy of Jasper.

Judge Ben F. Elmore of Demopolis was chosen vice-president and Judge Eugene W. Carter of Montgomery, secretary-treasurer.

Sage Of Emporia Utters A Warning

"The Republicans today looking aghast at the monument of Roosevelt's congressional achievement, think that they will destroy it when they come to power. They are fooling themselves. The lesson of the depression is to be found in this New Deal program. The Democrats as a party would not have adopted it without Roosevelt's leadership and the Republicans as a party will not destroy it after Roosevelt is gone. The lesson has been learned. We may reject the whole New Deal program in the emotional outburst of an election. But afterward the program will still stand."—William Allen White in the Emporia Gazette, (Rep.)

Happiest Birthday

Among the millions of birthdays occurring each year here and there on the earth's face, there is one which is absolutely unique. It is the Fourth of July.

Unlike the proverbial actress, the United States is proud to give its right age. The more than one hundred and fifty years of existence it can boast have all been passed as a democracy, under one type of government and one constitution. Only the government of England can boast a longer existence. France, Germany, Russia, Japan and the rest have changed their political structures so often that they seem like youngsters compared to us.

But the United States has enjoyed the liberty and justice that come only under democracy for over a century and a half now. Every additional birthday becomes a cause for greater rejoicing, for it helps to prove that freedom is the only enduring ideal in a changing world.

It is hard to realize that America has had so many birthdays. Democracy does not show its age. Today, when reactionary systems of all kinds are running wild over half the globe, this country of ours seems by contrast younger than ever for it has the vitality and the strength that goes with youth.

And the Fourth of July—the most important birthday in the world—should be our reminder that democracy is the only way of life that ensures happy birthdays for all of us who live and enjoy our freedom under it.

A Georgia Mob Humiliates The South

Few things have ever been more barbaric than was the action of the mob which Saturday set fire to the body of a dying Georgia negro, and a few officers of law have ever been more negligent than was the sheriff who made no effort to stop the mob from its fiendish labors.

The South and the nation have just finished rejoicing over the news that during the first six months of this year there was not a lynching anywhere in the United States. Now a handful of beasts in our neighboring State bring down humiliation and shame upon the whole land and particularly upon the South.

And the sheriff, charged with upholding the law, announces with apparent satisfaction that so far as he is concerned the case is closed! That statement alone should stir the people of Georgia to action against him. It should stir the governor and the attorney general to move rapidly and quickly for a thorough investigation. And if the people of Georgia are sincere in their opposition to a federal anti-lynching bill they will demand the arrest of the culprits who led the mob in its frightful undertaking.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Those Dry Moonshiners

The Cleveland Enterprise hands this rude jolt to the professional reformers who worked hand in hand with bootleggers to defeat the liquor store bill in the Legislature:

"The 'hill-billies' will continue to make and drink their corn liquor. They voted against legalizing liquor in the State, but yet they'll go back home and tune up on that home-made corn like nobody's business. Maybe they were afraid that the taxpayers in the delta would get a little relief from taxes if liquor was legalized and a million dollars rolled into the treasury from its tax. This 'drinking wet and voting dry business' is getting to be serious.

Nothing new about it. Things have always been that way. Prohibition has made more liars and criminals in Mississippi than any other conceivable cause.—Jackson, Miss., News.

Alabama Satisfied

Alabama is now taking a more moderate view of the Prohibition problem than in many years. As judged by the poor race run by Harvey Riddle for Governor, Alabama no longer regards Repeal as a State-wide issue. It regards it, instead, as an issue for each county to decide according to its special problems, prejudices and point of view.—Mobile Press-Register.

Benjamin N. Cardozo

Here surely was a great man. A man of aristocratic family and tradition, yet a man humble and deeply tolerant. A man of much wealth and high position, yet one whose faith in man and democracy was comparable to Jefferson's. A man of vast learning and understanding, yet one who to the last sought doggedly after truth and always acknowledged his debt to the work of others. A man who long ago was set apart from other men, yet one whose compelling humanitarianism made him a living symbol of that liberal leadership which has made the American tradition unique. Benjamin Nathan Cardozo was great in the literal meaning of the word.

He was born in New York of Portuguese and Spanish lineage at a time when conservatism was entrenched as the national religion. Early in life his mind learned to cut through the barriers of traditionalism in its quest for truth. When still in the university he attracted attention by his scholarship, causing one person to remark that "there goes the man who writes the most powerful English of any Columbia student since Alexander Hamilton." Later as a jurist his judicial expression drew praise from fellow masters of the language. One student of his opinions said that "Cardozo gives to current necessity the verisimilitude of the ancient law."

Before he became a judge in New York State he had received wide distinction as an authority on common law, and often was referred to as a lawyer's lawyer. But he never became blinded by the legalism of the law, always believing passionately in a living law suited to the needs and demands of the hour. At one time he led an unsuccessful fight to restate and simplify the law, and he advocated a permanent agency to function between the courts and the legislatures to assist in framing effective legislation.

It was on the New York Court of Appeals that his reputation was made, and it was so great that in 1926 he was nominated by both the Republican and the Democratic parties as chief justice of the court.

In 1932 when President Hoover was faced with the delicate task of naming a successor to Oliver Wendell Holmes he turned almost immediately to this distinguished New York jurist. Justice Cardozo promptly joined Justice Brandeis and Stone in many notable dissents, just as formerly they had joined Justice Holmes in dissents which stand today as landmarks of the law. To the honor of these four great dissenters The Supreme Court in recent months has in many instances turned to them and made their minority opinions decisions of a living court.

Justice Cardozo, like his liberal colleagues, was not afraid of change, and once he said these words which have become classic:

"We are to beware of the insularity of mind that perceives in every inroad upon habit a catastrophic revolution."

Like Justice Holmes, he could not accept the principle first enunciated by Chief Justice John Marshall in the Fletcher v. Peck decision, in which a statute of Georgia was set aside because it was contrary to the "general principles which are common to our institutions." Justice Cardozo looked to the law of the legislatures and of Congress for guidance and not to that unenacted law above the Constitution which the Court has often superimposed upon body of the people's law.

In the few years that he was a member of the Supreme Court, Justice Cardozo was the junior-member (until the appointment of Justice Black last year). For this reason the opportunity was often his to write opinions in major cases, but he did write the celebrated opinion upholding the Social Security Act. And his dissents were notable, always clear, persuasive and powerful. He was a master craftsman and his tools were his penetrating mind and his lucid English style. He was an ornament to his nation and to civilization, for he was, above all, a civilized human being.—Montgomery Advertiser.

We Observe

TANYA KOROTUNE—

"I cannot express the desire—the desire I have to be an American in this wonderful country where one may worship as one pleases." The foregoing quotation is a part of the most interesting experience we have ever heard related. Coming from the lips of Miss Tanya Korotune, beautiful twenty-one-year-old Russian exile, whose experiences would equal a lifetime of the average person, members of the Kiwanis Club heard of her escape from Russia where little Christianity is known—her hardships in reaching the States where she had dreamed of the freedom we enjoyed, and where she might carry on the work of Christianity. Although her knowledge of the English language, gained in the short time she has been in America, is hardly sufficient to express what she would like, there is no denying her joy at the prospects of becoming a citizen of this country after the required length of time has elapsed. Miss Korotune has been a student in this country and after completing her course she will become a missionary among her own people. She was in Clanton at the recent meeting of the Mission Institute which convened Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

NICE PLACE—

Mildred's Beauty Salon is the latest addition to Clanton's business concerns. This new and neat establishment has new equipment throughout, is operated by Miss Mildred Howton, assisted by Miss Agnes Boswell, and is located next door to the Murray-Bell Hardware Store. Our best wishes to these young ladies.

FISH FRY—

"And a good time was had by all," can truly be said when the big fish fry was pulled down at Martin's Camp last Wednesday night. This occasion was in honor of members of the Dawn Patrol aviators of Birmingham. These fellows came down for a real get-together with Clanton aviators, aviation enthusiasts and business men of the City. We're glad to see more interest being shown in flying around here.

BARGAIN DAYS—

"Come and get 'em" seems to be the slogan of the merchants of Clanton this week. Community Bargain Days, are today Friday and Saturday, and if you don't believe it when we tell you bargains are being offered, just read over the ads in this issue of the News. Right now is the time to offer the buying public more for their money and the merchants are working right down that alley. A Chilton County News will go to every home in the County this week, and the public can't go wrong by taking advantage of the bargains listed, and many more they will find in the local stores that are not listed.

TO SELMA—

At last a real service in transportation to and from Selma is being rendered. Central Alabama Coaches, under the management of G. E. Guthrie, has, since its establishment some time ago, rendered a splendid service. Mr. Guthrie is owner and manager and has splendidly prospered with his line. Connections are made throughout the western part of the State and Mississippi and we predict a bright future for the Central Alabama Coaches.

COMMON SENSE—

We were very much impressed by Mayor C. Fenn Jones' letter to the property owners of Clanton, which was carried in last week's issue of the News. Mayor Jones' insistence that Clanton improve its water supply and sewage disposal system, with its credit, instead of paving the streets, is, in our opinion, just another case where our Mayor is displaying good common business sense, to the end that our health might be preserved, which is essential to progress. If the City lends the property owners their share of the money for street paving, then it would be unable to borrow money for the much-needed improvement mentioned, whereas, if the property owners made arrangements for the money elsewhere, these improvements along with street paving would be possible. That is a business and not a political viewpoint of the situation.

GOING PLACES—BUT WHERE?—

Several of our good friends around town are already leaving on their vacations. Sol Levine says he is leaving Sunday for somewhere—he isn't sure just where but that he will not be in Clanton for a week anyway. Well, we hope he finds out the name of the burr he lands in and drops us a card, we'll be inclined to worry some.

The stork won a race with a police car which was speeding Mrs. Cleo Mueller to a hospital in Columbus, O. A baby boy was born in the machine.

MORALECHOES

D. W. Haslow

We meet with quite a few things that are hard to be understood. The other afternoon I was passing a home and observed that the grass on the lawn was about six inches tall and needed mowing. I happened to know that the owner of that home was at the country club playing golf at that very moment. He said that he played golf for exercise and I wondered why he could not mow his yard for the same purpose and he would have saved the money. I was washing my car and along came a man who begged me to give him the job. He said that his little children were at home hungry at that very moment. While he was talking to me he smoked three cigarettes. I wondered why he did not take the money that he blew out in smoke and buy provisions for his family. A beggar stood at my door and pleaded for funds that he might rush to his dying mother who he said lived about seventy miles to the East. I drove out a road that went West from where I lived and the man was on the roadside trying to thumb a way in the opposite direction to where he had said the day before that his dying mother lived. Blessed is the man who is not deceived by lazy folks, people who waste and people who lie.

Over in the little town of Enterprise in Oregon is a small restaurant called "The Oasis." Many tourists stop at this restaurant and they never fail to see a wooden box sitting on the counter in plain view bearing the inscription, "Swear Box." All the tourists have curiosity enough to make them inquire as to why the box is there. To their inquiry the proprietor replies, "Anyone who swears in this restaurant is fined five cents for each offense and we make him deposit the money in the box. This money is used for charity." One visitor on hearing this cursed and then said that he would like to see anyone collect. Before he had completed his sentence there was a big six-shooter under his ribs and like a little lamb he dropped his money into the box. We need such boxes in public places today in the South. If I mistake not we need such boxes on every street corner. However, five cents is a little damage to collect for a curse word, but we must not forget that it is mighty sorry folks that curse.

How would you like to own an automobile that would run like a top one day and then the next it would cough and sputter and refuse to move ten miles an hour? How would you like to climb into an airplane that was safe one time and maybe the next trip it would fall you while a thousand feet in the air? How would you like to give your mother or your wife to give you breakfast one morning at seven o'clock and the next morning forget all about breakfast? How would you like to have the sun to come up one morning at four A.M. and the next morning it waited until twelve noon before it came from out of the east? You are saying that you do not like things that cannot be depended upon. You are right. We like to have faith in things and folks. Now listen to me—if you like dependable things and folks, it behooves you to be one of all those who cultivate it with great care. When you obligate to meet a person at a certain hour, be there. If you promise to pay a bill at a certain time do not fail the one who trusted you. Some folks are so unreliable that they cannot trust themselves to say nothing of other folks trusting them.

"A Boy Lost, A Girl Lost!" How that statement stirs a nation. In such cases a hundred thousand men would arise as one man and seek for the lost. And yet I say unto you that there is a boy lost, there is a girl lost—not just one, but many. Such a lost one has not been kidnapped and left to starve in a cave. "A Boy Lost!" His father lost him. Being too busy to sit with him at the night hour and talk to him as a father should. Too selfish to answer questions. In that period when Dad was the boy's hero the starve in a cave. "A Girl Lost!" Yes, her mother lost her. She was so engrossed in her teas and parties until she could not give her daughter any of her time and heart. She was left to the maid and left to rove anywhere and be with anyone and her grip slipped on that girl and she was lost. Sad to say but our churches are losing our boys and girls. We make no provision for the boys and girls in our church and we lose them. We should be on our guard against anyone as churches and see to it that our boys and girls are not lost.

Miss Olene Wooten of Glasgow, Ky., had Haiden Bassi arrested for wrecking her car. At the police station Bassi asked the coplain to talk it over with him. In a few minutes Miss Wooten requested permission to withdraw the complaint, explaining that she and Bassi were going to be married.

Miss Loreen McDonald, 18-year-old Canadian telephone operator, will shortly marry Daniel G. Dodge, a famous automobile family. The engagement was announced by the mother of Dodge, who is now twenty, and who is the beneficiary of a trust fund of more than nine million dollars. Miss Mac Donald's pleasing voice proved to be her fortune.

FEAR TAXES WILL COST MORE THAN COMMODITY

Warning that unless there is a definite change in trends, taxes on gasoline will cost more than the commodity itself by 1950 was sounded today by J. McCrory, Executive of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee.

Mr. McCrory explained that if gasoline tax costs increase during the next thirteen years at the same rate as in the past thirteen the average Alabama motorist will pay an annual gasoline tax bill of over $221.

“Our organization has been making a study of gasoline tax costs,” said Mr. McCrory. “We find that in 1924, the first full year of gasoline taxation in Alabama, the average motorist paid a gasoline tax bill of $11.53. In 1937 however, the cost was $49.36 of which $42.43 represented State taxes and $6.92 the duplicating Federal levy, not including the 150 “local” municipal taxes. This growth in motor fuel tax costs represents an increase of approximately 347.5 percent.

“Of course, when the State gasoline tax first was imposed at 2 cents a gallon in 1923, nobody expected it would become so expensive. Yet, unless motorists do something to stop the diversion and mispending of gasoline and other special motor vehicle tax revenues, they will have to face a possible $221 gasoline tax bill in 1950. Diversion of those revenues is largely responsible for the high gasoline tax rate in Alabama and it is hoped that the Constitutional Amendment stopping diversion will be ratified at the Polls next November.”

No Governor of Alabama has died in office since the present constitution was adopted in 1901. In fact only one Alabama Governor has died in office in more than sixty years and not one has resigned during that time. Only one Lieutenant Governor has died during this period. The Governor dying during his term was William J. Samford and the Lieutenant Governor passing out before the end of his term was Thomas E. Knight, Jr.

John Jones a negro brick mason of Charlotte, N. C., didn't mind it a bit when he found seven nice pullets [thief had dropped a pocketbook containing $60.

MORE HOME GROWN FEED IS NEEDED FOR CATTLE

More home raised feed and better pastures are needed for the increased number of cattle in Alabama, says Prof. J. C. Grimes, head, animal husbandry department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute

"It is evident," says Mr. Grimes, "from figures recently released from the office of J. C. Garrett, state statistician, that Alabama farmers are turning to beef production as one means of supplementing their income from cotton. Mr. Garrett's figures show that there were 143,000 more cattle on Alabama farms, January 1, 1938, than on January 1, 1925. This increase was shared by all counties within the State except Jefferson, Autauga, Pike, Clark, Mobile and Washington. These six counties showed a slight decline in cattle population between 1925 and 1938.

"That Alabama cattle are increasing in quality as well as number is indicated by reports from county agents which show that more than 1,200 purebred bulls have been bought by Alabama breeders during the last three years.

"The above information will be gratifying to those who are interested in a more diversified system of farming in Alabama. It might be well to point out, however, that pasture improvement and the growing of winter feed crops must accompany increased cattle numbers if cattle growing is to prove profitable. No county has ever yet become a great livestock section that did not at the same time become a great feed producing section. Fortunately, Alabama can grow both the winter feed and pasture necessary for a great cattle country. Peanut hay is grown in South Alabama, Johnson grass and alfalfa hay in West Alabama and lespedeza hay in North Alabama, while all parts of the State can grow soybean hay, velvet beans and silage. When any or all of these crops are combined with peanut meal or cottonseed meal they furnish an excellent ration for wintering stocker cattle or for fattening steers."

AN ELECTION FORECAST

An interesting forecast of the probable results of the Congressional elections next November, compiled by News Week, was published in the April 25 issue of that magazine. The forecast was a composite of the predictions of 48 leading newspaper men and ten political leaders.

The 48 newspaper men were among the ablest of Washington correspondents and political analysts, while the politicians—five Democrats and five Republicans—included the two national chairmen and others who will have leading parts in directing the forthcoming campaign.

An average of all the predictions indicated that the Republicans would gain 60 seats in the House and 4 in the Senate. It also indicated that the Democrats would lose 61 seats, the odd seat going to someone other than a Republican.

The newspaper men gave the Republicans a gain of 61 seats in the House, but the average of both groups agreed on a gain of four Republican seats in the Senate.

This forecast, even if approximately correct, would hardly indicate the real political significance of the shift as affecting New Deal policies, for in a number of districts pro-Roosevelt Democrats will contend for nomination in the primaries.

Party leaders are naturally making widely forecasts, some Democrats asserting that their party will lose only 40 seats or less in the House, while some Republicans are claiming a gain of a hundred or more. A great deal will depend on whether any material recovery from the depression is made before November.

Morgan Rodeo Success

Two hundred and sixty-nine fish, weighing 249 pounds were caught in 2 days and entered in the first annual Morgan County Fish Rodeo June 22-23 on Lake Wheeler and tributaries. There were 862 people from 41 towns and cities registered at the event sponsored by the Morgan County Conservation Club, and officials were pleased with the success of the club's first rodeo in this field. Plans are being made to hold another fresh water rodeo next year. The prize-winning bass weighed 5 1/2 pounds and was caught by Joe Ray, of Cullman. R. J. Bethany, of Decatur turned in the largest string of bream—25 in all. Prizes were awarded anglers in 17 different classes and a fish fry marked the close of the rodeo.

Quinn Re-Elected

Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of Alabama, was re-elected president of the Southern Association of Conservation Commissioners, recently in Asheville, N. C., where the Southerners met jointly with the American Fisheries Society and the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners. The Southern Association was formed a few months ago at Jacksonville, Fla., and Commissioner Quinn was elected the first president. At Asheville, 46 states, Canada and Mexico were represented in the two bodies. Quinn also retired as president of the American Fisheries Society, in which capacity he had served one term.

Alabama Praised

Explaining why the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries is interested in Alabama as an ideal location for experiments in developing food and game fishes, Commissioner Frank Bell, head of the Bureau said recently at Birmingham, "Alabama has almost limitless fishing waters, most of which are unpolluted and ideal for fishing purposes. Also, Alabama fishermen are awake to the need for protecting young fish until they reach legal size. The U. S. Bureau is getting complete cooperation from your state department, both from standpoint of warden protection and from standpoint of help in distributing young fish from Federal hatcheries."

THIRTY-FOUR KILLED BY LIGHTNING IN ALA. IN 1936

Thirty-four persons died in Alabama in 1936 as a result of being struck by lightning or more than 11 times as many as were killed in airplane accidents, according to a tabulation of accidental death reports prepared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. No figures are yet available for 1937.

"On the basis of the latest available records, more people are killed by lightning in Alabama than in any other state except Georgia," Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, commented in making public these figures. "The area of abnormally high mortality rates from lightning is limited to two groups of contiguous states situated in two different sections of the country. The first is in the southeast and includes North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. The second extends from the Canadian border southward through Montana, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona."

MISS LINNIE FOSHEE

In the early morning of June 29, the death angel visited the home of Mrs. A. W. Lenoir, and carried to rest the spirit of Miss Linnie Foshee, age 36. She had been an invalid for six years. She leaves to mourn her loss four sisters, Mrs. A. W. Lenoir, Maplesville; Mrs. E. J. Lawley, Tuscaloosa; Mrs. L. O. Dyer, Tampa, Fla.; Mrs. T. F. Johnson, Birmingham; and one brother, John W. Foshee, Maplesville.

Her remains were laid to rest in the Mt. Carmel cemetery. She was a member of this church. Rev. Lawrence had charge.

Not only the older persons will find the stock complete. But kiddies and youngsters will find many interesting things there such as wagons, bicycles, tricycles, etc. and Mr. Craig says his prices are among the lowest to be found.

Farmers around Maple Springs are hoping each day that it might rain. It is very dry.

Plan To Increase Farmers Co-op Union

Lynn, Ala., July 12—(Special)—A drive to enlist Alabama farmers into the ranks of the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union will get underway July 18, it was announced today by McKinley Gilbert, state chairman of the farmers' organization and director of the drive. Ed Reger, nationally known Farmers Union leader and a close co-worker of the late John A. Simpson, will be in the state for a week's speaking tour, Mr. Gilbert said.

The itinerary of Mr. Reger and his party will be as follows:
August 18, 7:30 P.M.—Chilton County
August 19, 10 A.M.—Shelby County
August 19, 7:30 P.M.—Bibb County

August 21, 10 A.M.—Jasper Walker County
August 21, 7:30 P.M.—Jefferson County
August 22, 10 A.M.—Double Springs, Winston County
August 22, 7:30 P.M.—Franklin County.

Officers of the county organizations of the Farmers Union are in charge of local arrangements. Vester Burkett, state president, will accompany Mr. Reger. Mr. Reger is state organizer of the Oklahoma section of the Farmers Union and is largely responsible, Mr. Gilbert said, for the splendid growth of the organization in that state. "He is thoroughly familiar with the problems facing the farmer's today," he said.

Speaking of the Farmers Union position, Mr. Gilbert said that the union "stands for unity with labor and the common people in support of the progressive measures of the Roosevelt

FARMERS ADVISED TO PRODUCE OWN PORK

At current prices for ordinary meat, a year's supply will cost the average farmer about $90.00 states F. W. Burns, extension animal husbandman. To buy this meat will require one-fourth of the yearly income of the average farmer. It is quite likely that it will pay the average farmer to produce hogs for home consumption under conditions of prices of feed and hogs that would make it doubtful economy to produce them for market he continues.

Fall pigs should be farrowed in September on late-planted soybeans or good permanent pastures. The sow, whole suckling pigs, should be fed a mixture of 60 pounds corn meal, 32 pounds shorts, and 8 pounds of tankage or corn and skim milk says Mr. Burns. An acre of oats, rye, or crimson clover per sow should be planted early in October to furnish grazing for the pigs during the winter and spring.

The spring litter of pigs should be fed corn and one-half pound daily of protein supplement composed of equal parts of tankage and cottonseed meal or skim milk. As soon as the pigs reach a weight of 180-200 pounds they should be marketed as the price usually drops from September to December. Corn may be "hogged off" if temporary fences are available. The electric fence is excellent to use for this purpose.

Six bushels of corn and 50 pounds of protein supplement will produce 100 pounds of pork or thrifty, well-bred hogs. Hogs furnish one of our best markets for surplus corn and should be used to supplement the cotton income on more Alabama farms.

Endorses J. R. Hardy For Tax Collector

"To the Chilton County News: "Please state this for me. I am for Mr. Hardy for Tax Collector. I hope everyone of my friends in Chilton will agree with me from the fact that Mr. Hardy has been faithful in the performance of his duty at all times. Of course, we all know that a Sheriff makes enemies when he performs his duty which is placed upon him by the better class of people.

"So on the 26th cast your ballot for Mr. Hardy and have an honest, true and efficient Tax Collector. What is the matter with Mr. McKee? Does he want to break up his party or what are his intentions? I think that a majority rules. Come down now, Mr. McKee, and seek a later date. "CHAS. H. ROBER, Thorsby, Ala."

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written by
F. G. Stephens, Publisher of The Southern Democrat, Ontario

The Alabama Insane Hospital

Alabama's hospital for the care and treatment of the insane was established by an Act of the Legislature, approved February 6, 1852. The main hospital for the treatment of white patients is known as the Bryce Hospital, named for Dr. Peter Bryce who was the first Superintendent. He served from 1860 to 1892.

Dr. J. T. Searcy served as superintendent from 1892 to 1919. Since that time Dr. W. D. Partlow has served as superintendent. This hospital is located at Tuscaloosa.

The hospital for negro patients is located at Mt. Vernon and is known as the Searcy Hospital and was named for the second superintendent of Alabama's institution for the care of her insane.

The State also operates an institution for the care of its feeble minded. This is known as the Partlow State School, named for Dr. Partlow the present superintendent. It is located at Tuscaloosa.

At the end of the fiscal year, September 30, 1937 there were 4352 patients in the Bryce Hospital, 1741 in the Searcy Hospital and 639 in the Partlow State School a total of 6732 being cared for by the State. There are 139 of these patients that are known as "paying patients," where relatives are paying the State to take care of them.

The allowance by the State for each patient is $325 per week. Many of the patients are able to work and the State maintains farms at all three of the institutions where many of the requirements are produced. The last annual report shows that the farms last year produced 30,000 bushels of corn; 167 bales of cotton; 7000 bushels of potatoes; 62,354 pounds of pork; hogs sold on foot $7,302.49; 81,907 gallons of milk and a number of other products.

The hospital site and lands at the Bryce Hospital covers 4863 acres and with the buildings is valued at $2,308,713.64. The State owns 2192 acres at the Searcy Hospital which with the buildings is valued at $459,698.35. All three of these institutions are crowded and have been for several years.

The last extra session of the legislature made provision for additional buildings but this will give only temporary relief since the applications pending will more than fill the new buildings if all are accepted. The population of the insane has increased about 50 percent during the past ten years.

THE LYNCHING RECORD FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1938

"I send you the following information concerning lynchings for the first six months of this year. I find according to the records compiled in the Department of Records and Research that there were no lynchings in the first six months of 1938.

"This is the first time since a record of lynchings has been kept that the first six months of the year went by without a lynching.

"There were four lynchings each in the first six months of 1935-36-37.

"Yours very truly,
F. D. Patterson,

If You're Planning To Build

By W. S. Lowndes

WHEN you are planning your house, no matter how inexpensive it may be, keep in mind how you will furnish it. The position of the windows in a bedroom often determines the location of the bed. This is only a detail in house planning but it looms important when the structure is completed. Sites of the various pieces of furniture should be remembered at all times. Large pieces of furniture should never be placed against a window. Another matter that should be considered is the stock sizes of rugs and carpets. It is aggraving to find that a room is a few inches too short to take a suitable stock-size floor covering.

Light in Closet—It always is desirable to have light and plenty of it in a closet. The door should be arranged to open in such a manner as to permit daylight to shine directly into the closet. When cost does not forbid, an electric light should be placed in every closet. This light should be operated by means of a door switch that will turn on the light when the door is opened and turn off when the door is closed.

Dining nooks, alcoves and breakfast nooks are some of the names applied to small spaces just large enough to accommodate a table and two or four seats. A dining nook should be placed in the kitchen or adjacent to the kitchen so that steps will be saved in serving the meal. These spaces should be well lighted and arranged so that they will receive an abundance of sunshine in the morning hours. They should boast a cheerful and inviting atmosphere.

IN MEMORY OF RENALDA HEISLER

On July 6, about 2 P.M., a cloud of darkness seemed to overshadow the village of Cooper and all the community in sadness because God had called and the angels had waited the spirit of a loving friend, Renalda Heisler, to that home beyond the skies. There is consolation in the minds of all who knew her that she is resting in that mansion that God had gone to prepare for her. Renalda was permitted to live here only a short time, but her life was a beautiful one.

Her loving disposition, her friendly attitude, and cheerful smile to her friends for her wherever she went. She was dearly loved by her schoolmates, her instructors and all who knew her. She will be greatly missed in the home and by all who knew her but may her life be an example for us and we can meet her where there will be no sad parting and disappointment and may we realize that our loss is heaven's gain.

Ronalda was fifteen years of age. She leaves to mourn her going, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heisler, two brothers, Aubrey and Maurice Heisler, of Wetumpka; three sisters, Mrs. Dewey Crew, Cooper; Mrs. Winard Farbus, Wetumpka; and Mrs. M.C. Wagoner, Kaiser, Mo.; and a host of friends and relatives in both her home community and in Cooper, where she has frequently visited her sister, Mrs. Dewey Crew.

The funeral was held at St. Luke's Church in Elmore County, Monday, July 8th, at 10:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Harden, Martin & Sons directing.

Ronalda, dear we miss you. Though we know you are at rest. How very much we loved you. But we know God loved you best.

Your place is vacant in the home. A vacancy no one else can fill. While you are in that starry dome. Because you were obedient to God's will.

This world seems so unfriendly. There is many heart aches and pains. But we know since God has called you. That our loss is Heaven's gain.

Ronalda, your life was beautiful. When we think of your loving smile. And how we are going to miss you. But I'll be for just a while.

And now Ronalda is beckoning. Beckoning for us to come. And may we all be ready. When God hath said "Well done."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to sincerely express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the loving kindness shown to us by our many friends during our recent bereavement. We especially thank Mr. Martin, Mr. Hollis and his crew from Mitchell Dam. May the richest blessings of God abide with each of you is our earnest prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heisler. Mr. and Mrs. W. Billingsley Service Store Points Out The Advantages Of Kerosene Oil Burning Refrigerators For Farm Homes

Farmers who are anxious to have as many comforts as possible are now being shown how to enjoy the pleasure and conveniences of refrigerators that give the same service as electric refrigerators although they use kerosene, says the Billingsley Service Store, of Clanton.

This growing electrical appliance store is pushing the Servel Electrolux kerosene burning refrigerators and an advertisement in this issue of the News tells more about these machines.

W. C. Billingsley, owner of the Billingsley Service Store, located near the Exchange Hotel, has many satisfied users of the Servel Electrolux machine. J. R. Tucker, salesman and service man for the Billingsley Store stated he would be glad to give a demonstration to anyone.

In addition to the Servel line, this store carries a complete line of automobile tires, tubes and accessories, featuring the well known Firestone line. A complete line of radios and other electrical appliances will also be found at the Billingsley Service Store in Clanton.

Regarding Employees And The Revenue Act

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Gus T. Helvering, in a statement issued recently, calls attention to Section 800 of the recently enacted Revenue Act of 1938. This section is of particular interest to employers of eight or more employees who failed to make their contributions to the State Unemployment Compensation Funds with respect to the calendar year 1936, prior to April 1, 1937. That date marked the end of the filing period, as extended, with respect to Federal returns covering the calendar year 1936 required of employers under the provisions of Title IX of the Social Security Act.

To be entitled to receive a credit of ninety percent of the Federal Tax on account of contribution made to State unemployment compensation funds with respect to the calendar year, 1936, employers were required to make such contributions prior to April 1, 1937. Due to the newness of the Social Security law and failure on the part of some of the taxpayers to fully understand its provisions, various employers of eight or more were late in making their contributions.

KILLING HOUSEFLIES

The adult housefly may be killed in buildings by spraying with a kerosene pyrethrum mixture, says J. M. Robinson, head of the zoology-entomology department, Auburn. The pyrethrum extract known as 19 to 1 is effective.

A mixture of one part of the pyrethrum extract in nineteen parts of kerosene when sprayed in a room is effective in killing flies. After spraying the room it should be closed for about a half hour in order to get best results. Pyrethrum extract may be obtained through local drug stores or the farmers' exchange.

USED CAR INDUSTRY HAS TWO BILLION DOLLAR TURNOVER

Detroit, July 9.—An indication of the size and scope of the used car industry in America is given by the used car sales of the Chevrolet dealers during the present year and for more than three years consecutively, according to William E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division. "June sales of used cars totaled 123,701," he said, "and it was the 4th consecutive month that Chevrolet dealers exceeded the one hundred thousand mark. It brought the 1938 total to 725,086 and the grand total for forty months to 5,732,819."

It has been estimated that the used car business in the country has an annual dollar turnover of approximately two billion dollars for a normal year. Statistics say that there are more than 11,000,000 motorists who buy regularly in the used car market.

"An interesting picture of this market is obtained by examining the figures of sales that Chevrolet dealers send to the central office," commented Holler as he discussed the phases of the gigantic used car business.

"Nearly 700 used cars per average hour were sold by company dealers since March, 1935, when the present record was started. That means about 13 per minute and 5512 per day, more than 33,000 per week and an average per month of 143,320."

There are 9,400 Chevrolet dealers in the United States and they employ an average of 30,000 salesmen. Since last year, when the used car organization was started in the sales department, used car salesmen have been especially trained—before that new car sellers also sold used cars. The record the Chevrolet dealers and salesmen have made in selling so many used cars is a tribute to their ability in merchandising and one of the great assets of the factories for if used cars are not sold then new cars cannot be handled by dealers and factories close."

A statistical expert figured that the 5,732,819 used cars sold by the Chevrolet dealers during the last forty months would reach 12,000 miles, bumper to bumper or half way around the world at the equator. At $250 average per car, the total dollar value would be $1,250,000,000.

PAVING IDEA IS RECEIVING FINE RESPONSE

Many Property Owners Have Posted Their Share Of Paving Expenses

The News has carried two letters recently from Mayor C. Fenn Jones to the property owners in the City of Clanton in which he explained the position of the City in the paving project for the streets listed for paving in the application for PWA funds submitted in 1935. This application has just recently been approved on the revival of this agency and money is now available for 45 percent of the cost of this paving.

Mayor Jones and his Council have stressed the fact that property owners on these streets should arrange for their part of the money individually and not look to the City for this money as much improvement is needed on the sewage disposal system and increasing of the City's Water supply, and that the City's money should go for these much needed improvements at the present time.

Within the past week many property owners have posted their share of the money and Mr. Jones stated that he is well pleased with the cooperation he is receiving in this matter. Only a limited time is allowed the City to take advantage of the money donated by the Federal Government and to get this share of getting such a large sum of street paving passed would delay this paving for many years.

The present set-up calls for a 20-foot street, but Mr. Jones stated to the News that he is sure a new application through the WPA would bring money for extending the pavement to the curb later, also for more streets to be paved through a city-wide improvement program. One of the sections Mr. Jones points out as being under this new program is the street from the Kinchen Road intersection to the Selma highway.

HEALTH DEPT REPORT SHOWS FINE PROGRESS

County Department Is Doing Good Work In Pushing Better Health Here

A summary of activities of the local health department for the months of April, May and June was issued early this week from the local Health Office. An invitation to the people of the county to review the report was extended by the County Health Officer, Dr. S. D. Sturkie. The work done during the period is on the whole up to the standard expected of the county's activities, according to comment by Dr. Sturkie. The illness and untimely death of Miss Smithman and the fact that her successor, Miss Rumbley, has been temporarily handicapped by not being familiar with the County has brought about a slowing down of the nurse's program. This setback, Dr. Sturkie feels, will be speedily overcome during the current quarter.

Experts To Select Nominee For Superintendent Of Education

A special meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of Clanton County has been called by Hon. W. M. Polk, chairman, for Friday afternoon of this week. The meeting will be held at the courthouse at two-thirty o'clock.

Due to the withdrawal of Luther E. Little, as the Democratic nominee for superintendent of Education, the Executive Committee must take action to fill that vacancy. That is the purpose of the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

It is understood there will be several men seeking to become the nominee. Yesterday it appeared there would be at least five applicants and all are men of the highest type.

Crowd Enjoys Game; Youth Gets Half Of Total Gate Receipts

A youth, about the age of twelve or fourteen years, was fifty dollars richer Tuesday morning, following the donkey baseball game played at the local ball park Monday night.

A large crowd turned out to see some of our local talent try their hand at riding bucking donkeys. This game was sponsored by Circle Number One of the Methodist Church, and a neat sum was taken in by the ticket seller, Prof. Patterson Hicks.

The game was well enjoyed, everybody seemed to be enjoying the entertainment, and Prof. Hicks had just made a neat roll of the currency and laid it aside. Yes, the game was a big success.

But on the outside, some youth, who probably did not have the price of admission, eyed the nice roll speculatively and weighed his chances of a quick get-away. At the appropriate time when Prof. Hicks' attention was elsewhere, the youth made the snatch and only a rear view of the culprit was as he scampered toward the shadows, was attainable.

Night Policemen Willis and Plyler, who were watching the game, were summoned and immediately started investigations. Only the currency, about fifty dollars, was taken. This was approximately half the total receipts from the game.

No trace of the youth or the missing money had been found Tuesday morning, but investigating officers had high hopes of an early apprehension of the youth who had rather take the receipts than ride the donkeys.

Candidates Make Final Appeal To The Voters

J. R. Hardy Asks Voters For Support

To The Voters of Clanton County, Alabama:

"It is with a great deal of confidence in you, and with a clear conscience of my mind and heart that I come to you in this way. It is now only a few days since the voters of the County are to again endeavor to nominate a candidate for the office of Tax Collector of the County.

"Quite a great deal has been said about fraud and irregularities in the past primaries of the county, since the May 3rd Primary, and from the general talk on the streets in Clanton I believe there are people who seem to know a great deal more about this than I do myself, but at any rate let's look forward to a Grand Jury hearing their claims of knowledge of fraud and irregularities.

"I am sure you all have learned by now that an official canvass was made of the returns from all the voting precincts of the county on the June 14th primary and that I was declared to have received a majority of 32 votes over my opponent. Personally I feel that each and every vote cast either for my opponent or myself were legal votes. I also feel that the election officers who served in this election were as honest as any other citizens in this County and I feel definitely sure that they made a true and correct tabulation of all votes cast on June 14th. Much more could be said by me about my confidence in the voters as well as the election officers of the County in the past elections, but I will not take your time just now as we are forced to go through another primary, this one now less than a week away. I am sorry that I have been unable to see each of you personally but I hope you realize that my duty as Sheriff is an obligation I owe to you as the result of your confidence bestowed in me four years ago.

"I am deeply grateful to you who cast Continued to Back Page

T. L. McKee Appeals To Voters

To The Voters of Clanton County:

"Last week I promised you a letter of information on the absent ballot box which was taken on the June 14 primary. The reason that our good citizens took the absentee box on that date can be fully explained to you by the men who took that box and who opened it and examined its contents. The tabulation of that box which can and will be born out by affidavits shows that of the 741 I had only 107 votes in it and that was all I had in it.

"You can verify the above statement by asking the men who took the box. The men who took this box knew the fraud it contained before they took it. They knew that it was full of forged and buying and every type of law violation that could be thought of relative to an absentee vote, consequently they felt justified in taking the law into their hands and setting up to the public a principle that has always been agreeable to mankind and that principle is that if you go too far in fraud we will have to stop you by whatever process it takes and you and I both know that 75 per cent of the average and best citizens of our county very much appreciate men who have the moral foresight and back bone enough to tell a bunch that.

"I hope that everyone who reads this will consider it from the viewpoint of improving our county. For I have certainly written this with the idea of getting you people to think in an open mind and to let every man in this county to check my official record and my record as a candidate for the office as tax collector in the other primary and in the June primary. I told the men who worked for me to be sure to get my record straight and to let all their practices be such that the sun would shine on them, in other words I did not want any fraud votes and as far as I know I did not get any. Now I (Continued to Back Page)

"I wish to express to the people of this District my sincere appreciation and gratitude for the splendid support you gave me, and I promise to represent you at all times to the best of my ability.

Kiwanians Discuss Civic Improvements

Members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club have for the past several meetings held notable speakers on various subjects, but at the regular meeting Thursday night at the Thomason Hotel, the program for the evening consisted of an extensive discussion of the proposed paving project for Clanton.

A committee was appointed to meet and discuss ways and means of assisting in this undertaking to the end that the City may take advantage of the 45 percent of the expense of this Federal Government. The remaining fifty per cent must be ported by the city or the property owners within a certain length of time, or the 45 percent offered by the Government will be withdrawn.

Dr. and Mrs. V. J. Gregg and Mrs. Charles Wade, Jr., will leave Thursday for a week's tour through Florida.

Miss Mary Frances Atkinson left Friday for Lowndsburo to be the guest of Miss Janie Ruth Martin.

The excellent playing of the Clanton boys drew the attention of sport fans throughout the State. Tallahassee will represent Alabama in the National Baseball Tournament in Wichita, Kansas, in August.

ORDINANCE TO BOOST HEALTH WITHIN CITY

City Adopts New Law After Sanitary Survey Made By Health Dept.

Taking a step toward better health conditions in the City of Clanton, the council recently passed an ordinance that is of vital interest to every resident of the city.

The ordinance, which is published elsewhere in this issue, is headed "An Ordinance to Protect The Public Health and To Provide For The Disposal of Human Excreta. The Installation and Maintenance of Private Pit Privies, Water Closets, Septic Tanks, Sewage Treatment Apparatus And To Regulate The Type, Location, Capacity, Construction, Maintenance and Use of Same in The City of Clanton, Alabama, and Its Police Jurisdiction."

This Ordinance goes into detail regarding the above caption and should be well read by those interested in the health of the city.

Following a survey and a report on the sanitary conditions of the city, it was deemed advisable by the Mayor and Council to take some steps toward enforcing a law for the protection of the health of the residents of the city. The Ordinance is the result and upon being published becomes a law in full force and effect.

The sanitary survey of Clanton was made by Fred H. Bucklew, county sanitation officer, at the request of Mayor C. Fenn Jones. The survey and the written report of Mr. Bucklew, turned up many interesting things regarding the sanitary and unsanitary conditions of the city. The News expects to publish the report in full in next week's issue.

"Facilities for taking care of people over night are very limited but there is plenty of room for every one who cares to go and spend the day. Reservations are reserved for twelve farm men and women for Clanton County to spend the week but we would like to have a lot of folks go over for one or two days. The necessary expense for those who stay through the whole course will be approximately $7.50 each.

TUESDAY WILL BRING SPECIAL THIRD PRIMARY

Democratic Primary Will Determine Nominee Tax Collector

Next Tuesday, July 26th, will make history in Clanton County due to the fact that it is the date set for the extra and special Democratic primary election to be held in this County to determine a Democratic nominee for Tax Collector at present.

The election was called by the County Democratic Executive Committee following a recommendation from the State Committee. The latter had also called a special primary in the Fifteenth Senatorial District to determine a nominee for State Senator, all due to the disappearance and kidnapping of the absentee ballot box used in the second primary of June 14.

Sheriff J. R. Hardy and T. L. McKee are vying for Tax Collector. Mr. McKee is finishing one term in this office at present.

The Senatorial race will not be held due the withdrawal of Dr. J. A. Hines, one of the two contenders for the office. Dr. Hines, following the advice of his friends and not being desirous of making the three counties in the District hold another election, withdrew in favor of Karl C. Harrison, young attorney of Columbiana.

The election next Tuesday will be held in the usual manner as prescribed by law, at the various polling places in the County. New managers, clerks, etc., for the election have already been selected.

GAS DEALERS GET CHAIRMAN FOR CAMPAIGN

Diversion Of Gasoline Tax Gets Attention During Meeting Last Week

The Board of Directors of the Alabama Motorists Association at a meeting Thursday voted to champion the cause of the Constitutional Amendment outlawing diversion of gasoline taxes that Alabama voters vote on at the November election.

The directors also named Alex C. Montgomery, vice-president of the Association as general chairman of the campaign which will be conducted under the banners of the Association's Highway Progress Department.

Mr. Montgomery, by accepting the chairmanship said that every organization and person in Alabama who is interested in seeing that every cent of gasoline taxes collected be used in highway and bridge construction and maintenance is urged to cooperate with the motorists association in this campaign.

"Every motorist in the State is vitally interested in the passage of this amendment and we are calling upon them to rally around the motorists association banners to make sure that the amendment polls a large majority in November," Montgomery said.

The Rev. Ethan A. Norris

Saturday night, July 2, brought to a close the earthly work of Ethan A. Norris, who for many years past told the story that never grows old—how Christ died on Calvary for the sake of mankind—to the people of this and surrounding counties.

Rev. Norris was truly a man of God, placed on earth to direct others to the righteous pathway, and the large crowd of friends, including nine fellow ministers bore testimony to the esteem in which this righteous man was held by his fellowman. Rev. Norris was active in the ministry until failing health prevented his Sunday journeys to fill the pulpit of one of his churches. Now he has heeded the call of the One whom he served so faithfully, and in answering that call, leaves saddened hearts of those who loved him, but, hearts that in turn rejoice with the knowledge that the Homegoing of this man of God will be most complete.

More Work Of The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce

The Alabama State Chamber of Commerce is at present very active in matters of vital importance to the State.

Benjamin Russell as President of the State Chamber has taken a lead in opposing recent recommendation of the National Resources Committee to the Federal Government of transporting several million southern people to other sections to benefit the South.

Mr. Russell proposed that the Southeast be given greater opportunities for self help as a way to solve the region's economic difficulties arising from a population too great for industrial and commercial opportunities.

Development of extensive new industries and of new lines of production for home use were proposed by Mr. Russell as alternatives to moving the South's people.

The State Chamber is likewise lending its support in the Southeast's fight for elimination of adverse freight rate differentials. President Russell, who accompanied the Governor to Buffalo for the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing told the Commission that both North and South would benefit by an adjustment of rates.

Mr. Russell explained that with a parity in rates, Alabama industry would get the chance it needs to expand; that it would increase the purchasing power of Alabama consumers of Northern goods and at the same time would enable Northern consumers to buy southern products on a more competitive basis.

If new industries are to be developed in Alabama to furnish additional payrolls, to purchase and process farm products, to level up the income of our citizens and to bring about a well-balanced economic condition in Alabama, it must be made possible for these industries to ship their products into the great consuming centers on a fair basis with their competitors of other sections, according to Mr. Russell.

John M. Ward, State Chamber Secretary, attended a conference in Birmingham, July 15th for a discussion of provisions of the Wage and Hour Bill recently passed by Congress and its application to and effect on Alabama industry. The State Chamber is seeking all information possible on this bill in order that it may intelligently advise its membership.

President Russell, accompanied by Karl Landgrebe and W. A. Steadman, State Chamber officers, will attend a meeting of local business men in Mobile, called by D.R. Dunlap, Vice-President of the State Chamber, July 15th. Mr. Russell and Mr. Landgrebe will speak about the work of the State Chamber and its relation to important problems facing Alabama today.

The Phases Of Accident Prevention

The Fourth of July week end has again focused public attention on America's ghastly highway problem. Over the holiday more than 500 people lost their lives—the maddidity from automobile accidents.

As highway experts point out, there are three definite primary phases that must be considered and covered in any accident campaign that is to produce results. These are: Standardization of traffic laws and devices in the various states; elimination of accident prone roads and intersections; education of the individual driver.

At the present time, driving practices that are legal in one state are illegal across the border. Dozens of types of warning signals, lights and signs are in use, and constitute a constant bewilderment to the motorist who drives any distance away from his home town. Some state motor patrols are known to be strict in enforcing the law; others are lax. The result is a legislative and administrative chaos, that breeds accidents.

Eliminating the accident-prone location is strictly an engineering problem. A wide, smooth-surfaced road is not necessarily a safe road. And a large collection of control signals and signs at a corner does not necessarily make for safety either. Safety engineers have designed highways and intersection which make it possible for cars to cross each others' path, which obviate the chance of head-on collisions by the use of lane separators of one kind or another, and which eliminate other hazards. Practice has proven that this work will cut the accident rate astonishingly. Here is where government, federal, state and local, can do an invaluable work which will benefit all the people.

As for education, the thing to be kept in mind is that sporadic campaigns are useless, and that continuity of effort is all-important. The great responsibility that falls upon anyone when he takes the wheel of a car must be constantly drummed into the public. Engineers, law enforcement authorities, educators and the general public must work together. Only then will the growing toll of highway deaths and injuries be lessened.

NEWS ITEM:— U.S.S.R. FACTORIES ORDERED TO ADOPT AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL METHODS

MORAL ECHOES.

D. W. Haskew

A patient called at a doctor's office and in a most plaintive manner related her troubles to the doctor. The physician listened to her patiently and then gave her an examination. When he had completed he wrote out a prescription and handed it to her saying, "My good woman, you take this to the druggist and he will fill it out. You will have to pay him a dollar for the medicine."

Then she started all over again with her hard luck story and wound up by asking him to loan her the dollar. The doctor asked her for the prescription back and changed it. She wanted to know why he had changed the prescription and I think that this answer was a worthy one, "Madam, I had some medicine in this prescription that was supposed to strengthen your nerves, but I see that they need no such treatment, and I have changed to something else." It is a fact that many people who call on doctors for their service, not only have the nerve to expect that to treat them free, but they expect the doctor to pay for the medicine used.

We see many people who seem to be mostly nerves.

I was in a man's place of business and he showed a check under my nose and said, "Look that over and write a 'Moral Echoes' about folks who will write checks and have no money in the bank." I took the slip of paper and examined it and sure enough it was a check returned from the bank with the statement attached, "No Funds." This business man said, "That would not be so bad if that was the first time that fellow did such a thing as that, but it is a regular occurrence with him." A man must be terribly disgraced in his way of living if he will write checks and have no funds to take care of them. He may not be dishonest at heart, but he reminds me of the dog that goes out to run rabbits, and he gets in front of Little Jimmie was in school and his teacher gave him a problem to work out on the board. His teacher said, "If coal is selling at six dollars a ton, how many pay your dealers $24.00, how many tons of coal will be delivered to your house?" Jimmie replied, "Teacher, I do not have to work that problem out on the board. I already know it." The teacher replied, "That is what I call bright boy, tell me." Without hesitation Jimmie replied, "A little more than three tons, Ma'am." "Why Jimmie, that isn't right," said the teacher. "No, ma'am, we all know that it ain't right, but they all do it." There are honest coal dealers and there are honest merchants and honest workmen, and the number and in toil would mount up to a large figure. It is not right, but many folks are doing it.

IN MEMORY OF J. T. CRANE

The lovely voice of evening,
In silence still rings on.
The dear friend we shall remember,
Is gone—forever gone.

The friend we'll miss
That I so dearly did treasure.
He's gone to dwell in safety
With loved ones on ahead.

Life's evening time is blending
The shadows come and go.
And restless thus life floweth,
We wander to and fro.

When the weary days are over,
And the sun is sinking in the West,
Do not worry, loved ones, mother and sisters,
For we know J. T. is at rest.

Then again at sunny noontime
Comes a word of pure delight
From across Jordan River,
And it seems he's most in sight.

Pray tell me why this life is lonely,
Why do friends once more forsake,
Why do shadows fill our pathways
That golden sunlight ought to break?

PRINCIPLE OF REASONABLE HIGHWAY TOLLS HAS BEEN RECOGNIZED FOR CENTURIES

The tolls for the use of highways should be reasonable and the revenues derived therefrom used only for highway construction and maintenance, is a principle which has been recognized for many centuries. Earl M. Hearne Secretary of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, said in commenting on point one of its program advocating "gasoline taxes for roads only."

"Under the old English common law when many of the principal highways were operated privately by grants of the crown, the principle that highway tolls should be reasonable was definitely established. Later the same principle appears in the various acts of Parliament. The Statute of Westminster inflicts a penalty for the taking of excessive toll," said Mr. Hearne. "Gasoline taxes are essentially tolls charged by the state for the use of its highways and they should be kept at a fair level in accordance with the traditional principle of charging a reasonable fee for the use of roads. A State should determine its gasoline tax rate in accordance with (1) the reasonable needs of highway users of a State and, (2) the ability of the highway users to pay the gasoline taxes. An adequate, but not over-ambitious, long-time program of the highway improvement should be planned by a state, always keeping in mind that most of the motorists have incomes of less than $30 a week and for that reason have no exceptional ability to pay taxes. Reasonable taxation of gasoline is the equitable and sound policy for a state to adopt."

Interesting Story Told Of Reunion Of Verbena People After Many Years

Last week, Verbena was the scene of one of life's strangest, but happiest dramas. The reunion of brothers and sisters after a lapse of more than thirty years.

Recently Felix Rutland, former Verbena boy, now of Jacksonville, Florida, was talking about his long-lost brother, a friend of his who has traveled the United States very greatly. He mentioned W. C. M. Rutland to his friend who seemed to connect the name with Philadelphia, Pa. They found a Philadelphia telephone directory and sure enough found a W. C. M. Rutland listed. Felix called the number listed and after a forty-minute conversation found him to be his brother who had left home in 1906 to join the U. S. Navy. After more than twenty years service in the Navy and World War, "Little Bill" as Verbena had known him, had retired and was now a very prominent business man in Philadelphia.

Felix called his brother, Berry Rutland, of Verbena, who in turn called "Little Bill" in Philadelphia. The arrangements were made for "Little Bill" to drive down to Jacksonville, Fla., and arrive there early Tuesday evening. Wednesday afternoon Brother Berry and sister Tina Calloway, of Verbena, left for Jacksonville to bring Bill back to Verbena. They made the trip down and back, bringing Felix and Bill back, arriving in Verbena around 7:00 P. M. Thursday.

"Little Bill" spent Thursday night with Tina and Friday night with sister, Cora. Friday night the whole family, relatives and friends enjoyed a big fish fry on the River. Saturday at noon only the immediate family of brothers and sisters ate dinner at the old home place with one small note, the only guest. The remainder of "Little Bill" time was taken up with renewing old friends and acquaintances throughout Chilton County.

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 brothers Bill and Felix left for Jacksonville, from whence "Little Bill" was to return to Philadelphia, arriving there late Wednesday afternoon, July 20, promising not to wait so long between visits next time.

So it is a great but small world, after all.

INTERESTING POINTS GIVEN ABOUT GULLY CONTROL

Gullies thrive on water and do not grow during periods of drought. This fact, according to James H. Wood, Superintendent of the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, gives the key to the solution of most gully problems.

One of the best ways to check the growth of a gully is to keep water out of it by construction of diversion ditches or terraces just above the gully head, Mr. Wood said. Such structures catch water from above and divert it around the danger points.

In the local area the general policy is to divert water from the drainage area adjacent to the gully into another watershed where it may be spread through natural vegetation and onto a stabilized area.

After the headwater has been diverted from the gully, it may be necessary in some cases to construct a few low brush or sod dams, behind which locally adapted plants will start immediate growth.

A good demonstration of the effectiveness of water diversion in stabilizing gullies can be seen on the farm of Mr. Henry Cleckler. On this farm terraces and diversion ditches were constructed to divert water from a very deep and active gully. During the planting season Kudzu and Black Locust were planted. The healing process commenced immediately and in a few years little will remain of this ugly and destructive part of Mr. Cleckler's farm.

Visitors Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson have had their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baltzer, an son, Kenneth and Lee, and a son, R. V. Watson, of Akron, Ohio, at home with them for a two weeks' visit. They have entertained them on several occasions. On the Fourth of July a barbecue and picnic was enjoyed in the grove at the back of the home. There they enjoyed pig barbecue, Brunswick stew, and all the good things that go with the Fourth, such as lemonade, ice tea and plenty of ice cream.

The day was enjoyed very much by having the family which has never been broken, all together for the first time in several years. The children, who were with their parents for the day were: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baltzer and sons, Kenneth and Lee; R. V. Watson, of Akron, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carroll and family of Thorby; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hampton and sons, Jack and Bobby, of Maplesville, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cox and family of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Watson and son, Donald of Mitchell Dam, with Miss Frances McCary of Selma; Mrs. Lake Thompson and her daughters, of Jemison, were visitors for the day also. Each one left knowing it would be a day long remembered.

KEEP PUREBRED HEIFERS AND IMPROVE THE HERD

The most practical method of improving the quality of the beef herd is to retain a few heifers which were sired by a good type purebred bull and out of the best "doing" cows in the herd, says R. S. Sugg, extension animal husbandman.

By good "doers", Dr. Sugg explains, he means that the cows that are good mothers, good milkers and those that make the best use of feed and pasture. Too often producers fail to take the quality of the cow into consideration in selecting heifers for foundation stock, he says. The best guide in selecting cows is the actual performance of the cows. It is not always possible to select the best producers from their general appearance and conformation, says Dr. Sugg, adding that in many herds the best looking cows often prove to be the poorest producers.

Both the breeder of purebred cattle and the commercial producer should make a careful study of the cow herd and note the type of calves they produce and how these particular calves grow off and develop. Calves from the best cows should then be marked for identification either by tattooing the ear, horn brand, or neck chain, and a record should be made of the date of birth, and the sire and dam. By following this method it is possible to check up on the value of the bul as a sire.

4-H Club News

B. N. IVEY, Assistant County Agent in Charge of 4-H Club Work

A group of eight 4-H Club boys attended the Short Course in Auburn, July 10-14. An excellent program was planned for them throughout the entire time. The following type of meeting was held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

From 8:30 to 10:00 a general meeting was held at which time general topics of interest were taken up. Later each group had a lesson in one of the following: Poultry, forestry, dairy cattle, hog production, beef cattle, agronomy, or horticulture. From 2:00 to 3:00 another general meeting was held at which time other topics of special interest and value to the entire group were brought to the boys by specialists in the various fields.

From 3:00 to 5:00 was devoted to recreation and at this time the boys enjoyed many forms of wholesome outdoor activities. From 8:00 to 10:00 another general meeting was held each night. One of these meetings was devoted to stunts and other to amateur night while the other meeting of this type consisted of additional talks. One of the outstanding talks during the Short Course was made to the boys by Dr. Hayes, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Auburn on Sunday night.

I sincerely believe that this week will be one long remembered by these boys and that what they received there will be given in some measure to their club members throughout the county as they come in contact with them from time to time. I consider the time most profitably spent.

CATTLE NEED WATER, SALT AND SHADE IN SUMMER

Cattle cannot make good gains while on pasture in the summer unless they are provided with shade, water and salt, advises J. C. Grimes, head of the animal husbandry department of The Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Cattle eat grass in the cool of the evening. After they have had a fill of grass they like to get a good fresh drink of water and lie down in the shade. There they regurgitate, chew a good job of digesting food and laying on flesh or manufacturing milk if they are thirsty or uncomfortable from standing in the hot sun.

The kind of minerals which cattle will need depends to a large extent on the kind of plants growing in the pasture and especially on the type of soil on which these plants grow. As a rule, calcium, phosphorus and salt are the minerals needed most under Alabama conditions. Salt is especially relished by cattle and since it is available on every farm should always be provided in the pasture. Calcium may be supplied in the form of ground limestone, and phosphorus in the form of steam bone meal.

Science Beats the Sun

INDUSTRIAL engineers have now developed the device shown above. Consumer information reports, to test colorfastness of fabrics, as that manufacturers can make sure in advance that their materials won't fade in the sun. Women never used to be sure that their dresses and draperies would retain their original brilliance until they had actually been exposed to sunlight. But through the use of this machine, developed by industrial research experts, it is now possible to tell whether dyed fabrics will hold their color. This is just one more of the many examples of how industry helps the consumer.

GREAT REVIVAL AT REFUGE

The revival which began here last Wednesday is proving out to be the greatest ever held in the history of the church. More than a score have already proclaimed Christ. Fifteen have added to the Church and nine for baptism.

The Church is on fire for God, cooperating, praying in a marvelous way. We need not be surprised of many more coming to Christ as long as our people are as anxious as they are now for lost souls.

Evangelist M. D. Garrett is bringing some of the greatest soul-stirring messages that we have ever had the privilege of sitting under.

He is the most powerful and fearless preacher we have ever had with us. He is not only a great preacher but he is a deep consecrated, humble man.

The following is a few excerpts from a letter that Rev. Garrett has just recently received from the Sheriff of Tupelo, Miss., who was converted under Garrett's preaching.

"... your many friends are praying and pulling for you with their whole hearts. The people are clamoring and praying for your return in September, and in my judgement you will have the biggest crowd to hear you that has ever assembled in this part of Mississippi. The people have faith in you, and believe in you to the limit—that you are a truly God-called evangelist and appreciate that you have the many courage to stand by your convictions. With love and friendship,—O. T. Trapp."

Rev. Garrett will bring a special message Friday night of this week on the subject, "Let The Dead Bury The Dead." He will use a real casket to illustrate this message. Don't miss these services. Prayer services in the morning at 10:00, preaching at 11 am and 7:30 in the evening.—M. Lockhart.

FUN FACTS

THE FUN

Place a clean, dry saucer or platter upon a table. Take a pencil, eraser and down, and hold it against the platter at an angle of about 45 degrees. Push firmly in an endeavor to move the pencil across the platter. You will find that the platter moves and may even push the table covering or table itself.

THE FACTS

On a clean, dry pavement your tires exert a very strong push. It is this push which moves the car forward. When the pavement is wet, your tires have a tendency to repeat the eraser and wet platter performance. This may prove to be dangerous if you try to stop quickly or change your direction suddenly. Other conditions which tend to cause similar results are wet leaves, car tracks, oil, ice and snow. Under such circumstances, whenever you feel impatient, just remember the wet eraser.

Chilton County Farm Agent's News

J. W. FANT, County Agent

Many Chilton County farmers would keep more livestock if their farms were fenced. Fencing is a big problem on most every farm in the county.

During the last few years an electric fence has been developed that will reduce the cost of fence. By the use of this device it is possible to keep cattle and hogs with a fence of one strand of barbed wire charged with electricity. If this one wire is properly installed one ordinary dry cell battery will keep three miles of fence charged for a period of six months. The battery can be recharged every six months and continue in service for many months.

The History Of Strong Drink

The history of strong drink is a history of pain, of tears and blood. It is perhaps the greatest curse ever fell upon this earth. It is one of depravity's worst fruits—a giant demon of destruction. Men talk of earthquakes, storms, famines, pestilence, but the use of strong drink has sent a volume of woe and misery into the stream of the world's history more terrible than any of them.

It is the Amazon and the Mississippi among the rivers of wretchedness. It is an evil which is limited to no age, no sex, no period of life.

It has supplied every jail and penitentiary, almshouse and charity hospital in the world with wrecks of humanity. It has sent forth beggars on the streets and flooded cities with crime. It has done more toward bringing earth and hell together than any other form of vice. Could we but remove this moral ulcer and sweep away forever all of its results we would hardly have need of such places as prisons, asylums, etc.

The children of our race would sit in the halls of plenty, the tears of the window and orphan would cease in large measure. Disease would be robbed of much of its power, and the clouds vanish from thousands of afflicted homes, and peace would breathe its fragrance on the world as if the day of its redemption had come.

I have wondered how many of our good church people voted for the return of old King Alcohol. Excuse me for saying "good" church people.

Good church people do not vote for booze, direct or indirect. Whiskey and Christianity do not mix.

The church is or should be, a soul-saving institution, ever on the alert to keep out of our midst such evils as liquor.

It would be well for those of us who profess to be Christians to examine our lives and pray as we vote and as we pray, "for judgement must first begin at the house of God. Let's pray:

LEVINE BROTHERS AGAIN OFFERING DRY GOODS BARGAINS

Last week Levine Brothers, one of Clanton's leading dry goods stores, opened a sale which, according to J. S. Levine, "went over in a big way." Simply because there "were" bargains that could not be equalled. This sale was patterned after the well-known one-cent sale and offered items for one cent with the purchase of one item at the regular bargain price.

This week Levine Brothers continues their advertisement elsewhere in this issue of the News headed "See For Yourself," and are offering honest-to-goodness, values in dry goods of all kinds.

Thou Mighty God, give us men with grace, grit, and gumption to preach against this damnable evil that is sweeping this county like wild fire.

IN MEMORY OF MISS HUELETTE MILLER

Jesus has taken a beautiful bud
Out of the garden of love,
Borne it away to that City of God,
Home of the angels above.

Bright blooming flowers alone will no do.
Soms must be young and ungrown.
So the frail buds, He is gathering too,
Beautiful gems of this throne.

Lonely and we know we will be Until life's tolls here are o'er.
But far beyond that beautiful sea
We'll meet her on heaven's bright shore.

Father and Mother, weep not for the bud
That Jesus has taken from you.
He gave it and blessed it and now he wants you
To come home and behold its bright hue.

Gathering buds, beautiful buds
Wonderful care shall be given.
Jesus is gathering day after day,
Buds for the palace of Heaven.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Paroles and Pardons

Up until the adoption of our present Constitution in 1901, Alabama had no law authorizing paroles. Under the old Constitution the Governor had power to remit fine and forfeitures, grant reprieves, commute sentences and grant pardons, but he had no authority to grant paroles.

There was no Pardon Board back in those days. The Governor had to make his own investigations. The whole responsibility was his. At the time the present Constitution was adopted there were only 1262 convicts behind Alabama's prison walls. Now there are over six thousand.

The new Constitution created the Board of Pardons but it curtailed none of the power of the Governor. This Board is composed of the Attorney General, the Secretary of State and the State Auditor who serve without additional pay. The Board meets once each month in open session to consider applications that have been filed with the Governor. Each member gives his opinion in writing to the Governor, but the Governor is not bound by his action by the members of the Board. He can either concur in or reject their recommendations except in restoring civil and political rights to persons convicted of a felony.

The present Constitution provides for the granting of paroles as well as pardons. This method of getting convicts out of prison is used more now than the pardon method. Governor Miller during his administration issued paroles to 5228 convicts and granted full pardons to 363. Records have not been compiled on the number of pardons and paroles issued by the present administration. These will be compiled at the end of the term and made public by the Governor in his message to the legislature.

These paroles are released in most, if not all cases without a previous investigation of the case and the circumstances under which the crime was committed having been made. They are usually granted on the recommendation of relatives and friends and the appeal of paid help. The Pardon Board and the Governor usually get only one side of the case except in rare instances. There is no restraint shown about these paroles. There is no supervision provided for them. Few paroles are ever revoked because violations of the conditions of the parole seldom come to the attention of the Governor unless some serious crime is committed.

Governor Graves realizing that our Pardon and Parole laws are antiquated and by executive order, created the present Parole Bureau for the purpose of paving the way for enactment of better laws governing the paroling of convicts. The Bureau, as at present set up, makes investigations on its own initiative and recommends test paroles for the "forgotten convict." These test paroles are under the strict supervision of the Parole Bureau. They must have employment and must report to the Bureau on the first of each month as to where they have been and what they have been doing, and this report must be attested by someone who knows the facts.

With the enlargement of the duties and powers of this Bureau, authorized by law, so that it can grant and revoke paroles, the Governor would be relieved of one of his greatest burdens and society would be better protected.

YOU—

Our Greatest Asset

This from the Lincolnville Tribune is true of every newspaper, as we have told YOU before:

"We wonder if you realize what part you play in the publishing of this newspaper. You are a member of a big family, our 'Reader Family,' yet you play a big part as you read the news and ads of your paper."

"We have put our money, time and experience of some fifteen years into trying to make the paper something you will be proud to call 'our paper.' But without your help, we could not do it. We have to depend on you to read the results of our efforts to make the news columns interesting, after depending on you to supply the most interesting part, local news. We have to depend on you to think the copy of our advertisers is made attractive enough to read and respond to their bid for your business."

"Last, but, by far, not least, we must depend on you to make it financially possible, by your subscription, for us to come to you each week as well as to go to all parts of the United States with news of the happenings of the city and adjoining territory."

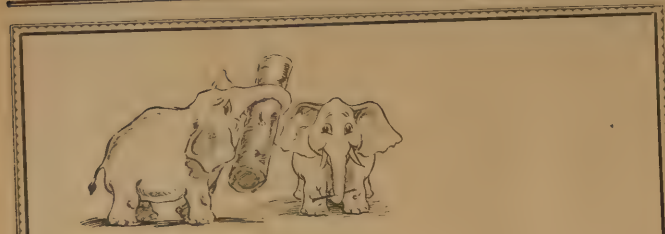

A town is classed according to the paper it publishes. If it is progressive enough and working together sufficiently to produce a creditable paper, to men with capital to invest seeking a business location and to those seeking a progressive town in which to live.

"Though you feel you are only one tooth in a big gear, it is an important part of the gear, and we are depending on YOU."

am leaving this up to the voters of Chilton County. I have been sick for two weeks and have not been able to canvass much and will not be able to see many of you before election day but you all know me and my records as an officer and you all know my opponent and his record as an officer and I am telling you right now that I am not going to buy my way into an office because any man who pays his way into an office is not fit to serve you in that office when he gets there, so you remember that I promise you an honest, courteous and accommodating administration if nominated and elected. I now ask you to cast your vote next Tuesday for what you think is the best interest of the people of our county and I will be satisfied.

"Thanking you in advance for your support and vote, I am,

Respectfully yours,

your vote and influence for me in the past primaries, and I sorrowfully regret that since there was a majority declared in the June 14th primary, the county is forced to the expense of another primary, as well as the voters being asked to leave their work to go to the polls again, but as long as a majority of the qualified voters of the county give me a majority I feel that it is just, honest and patriotic for me to continue soliciting the support of the voting public as long as I conform to the laws and practices of the State and party.

"Frankly, I was taught when I was young that the people were to abide by the majority in elections so I assure you all that your expression of confidence in me in days past and my knowledge of honesty and integrity, in all things causes me to look forward to this July 26th primary with immense pleasure and satisfaction. I am willing for you to call a spade a spade.

"I am sure you all have learned by now that the law enforcement officers of the county have been extensively criticized for not having taken legal action against the parties who removed the Absentee Ballot Box and its contents. This is my reply to the question for the present. Neither me or any of my deputies saw this act committed, so therefore we can't make an affidavit against anyone, but I hope you will have with me on this until the Grand Jury has had a chance to investigate the act, whether or not there is any legal action determined against them I for one feel that perhaps their action will at least have its bearing on the pride of the people enough to cause the abuse of the law to be very rigidly enforced in the future if it is possible that it has been handled slack in the past at any time.

"I earnestly solicit the vote and influence of all the voters of the county on July 26th, and truly hope it shall be my privilege to share the confidence of each and every one who supported me in the past as well as the many who have told me that they were unable to get to the polls on June 14th, but expected to be there on July 26th.

"Thanking you each and every one for all past courtesies and confidence and wishing you continued success in your every efforts, I am respectfully,
"J. R. HARDY."

MODERN SCHOOL OF BEAUTY CULTURE

Since Mrs. W. C. Robinson opened her Modern School of Beauty Culture here three years ago, that school has filled a need to the young ladies of this section. Some thought it would prove detrimental to the beauty shops, but the facts point out differently. The students in the school give permanents and other beauty treatments cheaper than regular shops do, but when they once give a treatment, that subject is then a regular patron for somebody's beauty shop. In this way, the business for all the shops is stimulated.

And, on the other hand, the trade furnishes work for girls who probably would otherwise be unemployed. There are always openings for good operators. Since Mrs. Robinson opened her shop, she has turned out a total of 235 trained operators. Most of them have good jobs and are making good wages.

Mrs. Robinson is this week advertising for more students in her school. Turn to her adv. read it, and if you are interested, get in touch with the Modern School of Beauty Culture.

Hardy Is Winner In 3rd Primary Tuesday

ONLY 124 VOTES IN ABSENTEES LAST TUESDAY

Larger Number Polled This Time Than In The June
14th Demo Primary

J. R. Hardy was winner in the third and special Democratic primary election held in this county Tuesday to determine a nominee for the office of tax collector, according to unofficial returns. Hardy won by a safe margin of 244 votes over T. L. McKee, present tax collector who sought re-election.

Absentee Number Small
There was a considerable difference in the number of absentee ballots cast in Tuesday's primary compared with the number cast in the primary of June 14th. There were only 124 absentee ballots cast Tuesday and it was reported that 741 were voted last month.

Another interesting point in Tuesday's election was the fact that there were many more votes over the county than were cast in the June 14th primary.

Sheriff Hardy was being warmly congratulated Tuesday night over his decisive victory and expressed his appreciation for the splendid vote he received.

Below is the unofficial county, by Beats, showing the number of votes cast in the June 14th primary as well as Tuesday's results.

DR. W. L. PARRISH GIVES MORE VACCINATION DATES

Dr. W. L. Parrish is still asking the cooperation of dog owners of the county in regard to vaccination of the dogs, which is a State law. Dr. Parrish says: "Some owners seem to think that if they refuse to have their dog vaccinated, it will be shot and the matter will end there. This is not the way it works. An owner of a dog is subject to fine if he refuses to submit his dog for treatment. This is a State law and must be enforced. Your cooperation is cordially invited in this matter."

Dr. Parrish gives more dates and places for vaccination as follows:
July 28—Home of Kizer Morgan, 8:30 to 9:30; Shoults, 10:00 to 11:30; Maplesville, 2:00 to 4:00.
July 29—Clanton, 8:00 A. M. to 4:00 P. M., at McCain Stables.
Dr. Parrish states that this is the last week for dog vaccinations without an additional fee.

Chilton County was saddened this week when it was announced that Will H. Sartor had died. Death came Sunday following an illness of only a few days.

Mr. Sartor was 76 and died at his home here. Having lived a life of service to his fellowmen, he endeared himself to his whole county. For a number of years he was one of the leading merchants of Clanton and took an active part in the business, religious and political life of the county until in recent years when his health would not permit it.

Money In Pockets; Youths Spend Money; Youths Get Caught

The old proverbial saying, "money burns the pockets," or something like that, was evidently the case of three youths who are confined in the County Jail here after they were hauled in by City officers and charged with robbery in connection with the snatching of fifty dollars, half of the gate receipts from the Donkey Baseball game, played at the local ball park Monday night, July 18.

City officers here, who investigated were unable to pick up any trace of the culprit, or culprits, after the robbery, but sent the alarm to surrounding towns asking that officers be on the lookout for the money or the persons taking the money.

Sylacauga officers took note of the fact that three youths in their town suddenly came into a neat sum of money from the way they were spending, and knowing of the Clanton incident, notified local officers who arrested three young men and placed them in the local jail. Two of these youths have confessed to the crime, but the other denies any part in the act.

Sales Tax Evaders Are Given Warning

Those merchants in Chilton County who have not lived up to the letter of the law on the state sales tax were advised this week to adhere strictly to the law in the future.

J. H. Linch and J. M. Linch, special representatives of the state and of the Governor, were in Clanton recently to investigate several places of business believed to have been evading collection of taxes on sales and not collecting the tax tokens.

Two representatives from the State Tax Commission have been in the county for several weeks for the purpose of aiding any merchant in making up the tax reports and seeing that the reports are made at the proper time. Mr. Linch warned all merchants that violations of this tax law would cause trouble and that tokens must be collected as prescribed by law.

KERMIT COBURN IS NAMED ON CO. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Kermit Coburn, of Marietta, was named a member of the Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee last Friday to fill a vacancy in Beat 7 caused by the death of Herbert Foshee. Mr. Coburn is well known in the county and has always taken a keen interest in the Democratic party.

Each county in this State was allowed seven farms to be purchased under this program. Due to the prompt and alert manner in which the local office handled the allotments, Chilton County was allowed three more, making the number of farms to be purchased and rehabilitated ten. This was under the 1937 allotments.

Therefore, it is easily seen that by this plan farmers in this County who are fortunate in getting this Federal aid will benefit in many ways. Much credit is due Mr. Durbin for the efficient manner in which his office has handled the local allotments, making Chilton's quota ten instead of seven.

Your Home Paper and The Big Daily

If you are the type of person who is inclined to reflect an indifferent attitude toward your home paper—this newspaper—because it is only a weekly instead of a daily, a little personal and community reflection might do you and your community good. If it does print only once a week, your home newspaper is the only one which has done you and yours the honor of placing you and your activities in first-page headlines, it is the only paper, so far as visible evidence is concerned, that has found out about your existence.

Your home paper laughs with you when you are happy, sympathizes with you when sorrow overtakes you; it is the only newspaper whose editor sacrifices the time to contact you personally for publicity of mutual interest; the great dailies are indispensable, but cold and impersonal without any motive of publicizing your community, your business, yourself or your family.

In pursuance of any and all community undertakings of community interest you may find your editor or a staff member present, and giving his time and paying his money for the privilege of writing and boosting your community.

How many editors or staff members of the big dailies have paid to attend your meetings, or have labored to publicize your community and its activities.

Many columns and headlines are published every week in your home paper—in pursuance of the effort at building and advancing our community. How many lines do you see in the dailies?

If your local weekly paper is insignificant in comparison, it is far more loyal to you and your community than the big daily; the editor keeps his pulse on your community.

For every dime that you spend with your home weekly newspaper it renders untold free publicity and service to your community.

Again, if this paper is insignificant to the big dailies, how does your business compare to Sears, Roebuck & Company? Or how does your town compare to Birmingham and Atlanta in size and population?

These are plain facts—something for the average citizen to think about.—Piedmont Journal.

As To Printing Prices

The Herald guarantees to meet nobody's prices on printing.

Neither do we ever "bid" for business. Any newspaper worthy of its existence gives hundreds of dollars in free publicity to the people of its town and county each year. To be asked on top of this to make cut-throat prices in order to secure a little business strikes us as being unjust to the newspaper man and unworthy the dignity of any right-thinking individual.

In the course of a year your newspaper men are expected to make contributions to every conceivable form of "charity," from relieving the distress of "suffering Armenians" to endowing a home for superannuated tom cats. And the poor ginks usually respond with as much liberality as their financial circumstances permit. To ask or to expect your printers, then, to engage in a throat-cutting price war to a point where they are financially unable to contribute to any charitable or civic activity, however worthy, it strikes us, shows rather poor business judgement.

The Herald is not in business for the purpose of putting any competitor out of business. We would feel much better to know that a competitor had secured a piece of business price than to take ourselves at a loss merely to keep our competitor from getting it at a living price.—De Funiak Herald.

Attention All Dailies--An Editorial

Our big brother, the daily press of the State, has had quite a bit to say about the weeklies within the past year.

He became very alarmed over the deplorable fact that many weeklies had sold out to big-time politicians in exchange for easy jobs for the editors and publishers of these papers. If some of the weeklies in this State did sell out, that is deplorable—if they did.

That accusation has been dropped by big brother daily and the latest lament is somewhat of a different nature. Few weeklies carry local editorials, he says. In one sense of the word he is right. The intentions of big brother are good—we don't doubt that. He feels that it is his duty to look after the interest of little brother, so we won't get mad about that. But there's always two sides to every question, hence this editorial in defense of little brother.

Weekly newspapers have been in existence for many, many years. They have aided greatly in the growth and betterment of their respective communities. They are still going into rural homes throughout the state and they are still aiding and serving their respective communities as much as ever. Daily newspapers are going into the homes of more rural people than ever since the progress in transportation. But try as they may, they will never take the place of the country weekly.

As to the dailies' lament that most weeklies carry few local editorials, we agree that there are weeklies that rarely carry editorials that take a decisive stand upon an issue. One of the State's leading dailies goes so far as to say some weekly newspapers are constitutionally opposed to writing editorials even when they have the time and space. A good many weekly newspaper editors have the job of soliciting advertising, writing news stories, handling circulation, pacifying this person and that person and even in some cases setting their type, and when all this has been attended to the editor thinks all this is his editorial of the week. Dailies have paid editorial writers, whose sole job is to study conditions and write about what they think, however, most weekly editors usually get across what they want to in issues of importance, and we think our big brother need not become unduly alarmed.

How many times has your home town newspaper refused to give publicity to any civic improvement campaign? How many times has it refused to mention any accomplishment of note on your part when informed of same? How many times has it refused to carry a notice concerning your club meeting? How many times has it refused to carry notices about your store, your office being closed on certain days? How many times has it refused to carry notices of changes in personnel in your store—improvements, remodeling, etc.? And now: Does your every order for the printed matter you need go to your home town paper? Do you use the medium offered by your home town paper for advertising? Do you support it in every way you can as you expect—and have a right to expect—it to support your community? If you do you are to be commended. If you don't—why not?

We suppose there was once a more appropriate time for some of you to renew that subscription to the Chilton County News, but right now we can't think just when that was.

If you haven't the price of a subscription to the Chilton County News—can't find a buyer for that old rooster, hen, or basket of tomatoes, peaches or what have you—bring them in, they're still good to eat, and in fact the boys at the News office really like them.

The editor of the Union-Banner, in a recent edition, bemoaned the fact that he will have no place to throw those watermelon rinds when that street out in front of his house becomes smooth pavement, which will mean no more stifling dust, splattered mud and water, unearthly sounds made by Model T and Model A Fords, that almost come to pieces on smooth roads, not mentioning what they do on that washboard stretch.

Oh, well, newspaper editors are funny creatures, anyway. We live on that street now, and it is a good place to throw watermelon rinds, isn't it?

May we recommend to you the editorial clipped from the Piedmont Journal, and carried this week in the opposite column?

We Observe
By BONNIE HAND

W. H. SARTOR—

Our good friend, W. H. Sartor has passed on, leaving a multitude of friends to mourn his going. We were greatly shocked to learn of Mr. Sartor's death, and offer our sympathy to his bereaved family. We counted Mr. Sartor as one of our best friends, and a good friend of the Chilton County News. He had been a resident of Clanton for many years, and we enjoyed hearing him relate many interesting events that took place here when Clanton was young. There are many nice things we could say about Mr. Sartor, but most of the readers of this column know him and of the place he occupied in this community, and so this week we dedicate this column to one of Clanton's most beloved characters. W. H. Sartor.

FARMERS' WEEK—

"Farmers' Week" at Auburn, from next Monday through Friday, will give the farmers of the State a chance to get an inside look into what is being done at the experiment station to benefit conditions for the farmer. County Agent J. W. Farris is very anxious for many farmers as possible to make the trip down at least one day and familiarize themselves with the work at Auburn. It will be beneficial in many ways, and the time spent on the visit will be worthwhile. We'd like to go down and enjoy the program that has been arranged and look around ourselves, and we might do that, too.

NEW SYSTEM—

The new telephone exchange building has been completed, and from what makes a telephone call will be a real pleasure. The system now in use is somewhat antiquated and is no longer considered adequate to meet the demands of fast-growing Clanton. We want to say right now, however, that the service rendered in the past and now being rendered, has been excellent, considering the out-of-date system in use. We sometimes get impatient and are prone to blame the operator when our calls fail to go through as we think they should, but the switchboard at her command will accommodate only a limited number of calls at a time, and many other things that we think could be remedied at the local exchange, cannot be done with the present system. But that will all be taken care of when we enjoy the excellent services that the new pick-up system will bring. The Bell Telephone Company is making no mistake when it invests the large amount necessary to bring Clanton an improved telephone system that is appreciated by every subscriber. A vote of thanks to the Bell Telephone Company. And may we add now that the Clanton Kiwanis Club is due much credit for securing this improved service.

PROGRESSING—

Everything looks rosy in regards to the paving project in Clanton. Property owners are posting their share of the necessary money in a cooperative way. We're glad to see that this project is going right through, especially since the recent rains added more misery to the local motorists who travel around town on the unpaved streets.

RESULTS—

I. S. Levine, down at Levine Brothers, says he's tickled about the nice business he's been doing lately, and Mr. Levine made us feel right good when he said he felt that this nice turnover was due to a large degree to the results of the ads he has been running in the News in which he lists the many bargains offered at their store.

DOESN'T LOOK GOOD—

We wouldn't let the Clanton cemetery be a disgrace to Clanton but it certainly throws a reflection on its pride. Out-of-town guests could make no favorable comment about our cemetery, and here's a suggestion to those having loved ones resting there: pick some day when the weather isn't so terribly hot—grab necessary tools and see that your lot is no longer grown up with weeds, covered with trash, etc. The News carries notices of cemetery cleanings for smaller surrounding churches every week, and it wouldn't be a bad idea to have a real cemetery cleaning at the Clanton Cemetery.

FOUR YEARS—

This week, L. J. Stewart, manager of the local Hill Store, winds up four years as manager of this store. Mr. Stewart has done a good job as the head of the Hill Store, and has taken part in religious and other worthwhile activities in Clanton. A real citizen and we extend congratulations on his fourth anniversary in Clanton.

MEETING HERE—

Persons interested in flying in this County met with representatives of the Glenn Messer Company at the Thompson Hotel last night to discuss the organization of a flying club here. What was accomplished we don't know at this time, but we hope progress was made toward organizing this club, as a good bit of interest has been manifested in flying here for some time.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Children are very fascinating. They are sent into the world for the purpose of keeping up the race, and also for the purpose of keeping parents alive a darter. If you are not getting a lot of fun out of your children you must be stupid. Let's have a glimpse of child life together. They teach us many lessons.

"Willie," admonished the father, "why don't you let your little brother over your sled some of the time?" Why, I do, father, said Willie, "he has it half of the time. I take it going down hill and he has it coming back." That is so much like folks of olden years. We never fail to take things when they make a contribution to our joy, but when a tug comes on we let the other fellow have them.

Little Helen was taken to church for the first time one Sunday. With open eyes she watched everything connected with the service. The offering plate came around and she dropped in her money just as her father did, and then for some time she sat motionless. When she could wait no longer, she nudged her father and inquired, "What do we get for our money?" I rather think some older folks ask that same question sometimes.

On Fourth Avenue one afternoon a well dressed little girl came walking into her home with a half starved kitten in her arms. It was cold and wet on the outside and the sight of the kitten caused the mother to say, "What do you mean, bringing that awful kitten into the house?" Then the child also went into a rage saying, "I guess you do not remember when you were a cold cat on the streets." The shivering kitten was given a place in the home. It would do us all good if we could remember some things.

Herbert, the lad of six, had been pouring questions at his father for some minutes, when his mother said, "Son, you mustn't ask your papa so many questions. They irritate him." Herbert walked over to one side, shaking his head and saying, "O, mother, it is not the questions that make daddy sore, it is because he can't answer them." We all know that a child can ask questions that wise men cannot answer.

Little came to his mother with a distressing look upon his face and inquired, "Mother, I should break that large cut glass vase of yours, that is sitting in the parlor, what would you do?" "I would whip him," responded his mother. After a few moments of waiting Willie replied, "I do not envy your job, Daddy has just broken out to pieces and when I left the room he was as sore as a boil and was growling."

Like a bear and I think that he wants to fight. I am going to the barn." Sometimes we change our opinions when we hear the full of a story.

A mother thought to give her two little daughters an object lesson and prepared two pieces of candy and let them on a plate in the dining room. One piece was quite a bit larger than the other. The children were permitted to go for as much candy as they pleased to come back the mother said, "Easy, dear. I hoped you would be unselfish enough to give your little sister the larger piece. Have you noticed that the old mother hen always gives the best to her little one and rarely ever goes for as much candy as they would want to the back porch and watched the old hen for some time and then came back saying, "Well, mamma, I would have given sister the larger piece if you had put worms on the plate." If there are bad things to be found out we are willing for the other fellow to have the lion's share.

Little Mary's father had denied her a pleasure that she so much wanted and she was grieved and vexed at him. That night her mother carried her up to her room and undressed her for bed and then had her to kneel at her knee and say her prayers. When she had completed her regular prayer, she added, "Dear God, please don't give my daddy any more chil'luns, cause he don't know how to treat them he already has." Maybe our children would like to pray like that many times.

A mother missed her little four-year old son and after searching the place over, she met him at the door. "Where have you been?" inquired the mother. "O, I been playing Postman," replied the boy. "And mudder I had real letters to deliver." "You had real letters to carry around to the neighbors?" inquired the mother, "and where did you get them?" "I found them in that trunk in the attic," replied the boy. "Mudder, you remember that bundle that you had all tied up?" Yes, she remembered and did not wait to rush down the street and into every house. Well, I must say that children are great treasures, and blessed is the home where there are many of them.

CARD OF THANKS

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the people of this community. As we cannot see everyone personally we wish to thank everyone that helped us in every way during the illness of my husband, though he is a long way from well. He can't walk a step yet, but we are glad to see he is still improving. We also thank Mr. Suttive for leaving the house for him and we thank those who wanted to help and was hindered, some cause. Thanking you all again.—Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Hinson.

Unusual Interest In Ton-Litter Contests

Unusual interest is being shown in the "ton-litter" contest which has 613 hogs in 65 litters in 15 counties being fed out this year, "ates F. W. Burns, extension animal husbandman. Owners of the 65 litters will exhibit their hogs at the Union Stockyards, Montgomery, September 15 and 16. The Ton-litter contest is designed to show that surplus corn can be marketed successfully by feeding it to hogs.

A study of the records of the demonstrators at the Montgomery show last year shows that the average age of all hogs was 186 days, average weight, 223 pounds; average feed cost, $6.60 per hundred and they sold for $11.55, or a margin of $9.95 cents per hundred above feed costs.

CHILTON COUNTY'S POPULATION INCREASES 17% IN PAST YEAR

Montgomery—Chilton County's population has been estimated as 26,031, as of July 1, by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. Its population was estimated as of July 1 of last year at 25,855.

The State's estimated population of July 1, 1938, was divided into three general groups, 891,288 urban, 2,010,106 rural, and 9,161 in institutional districts. 14 cities are listed as having population of more than 10,000 each, these being Anniston, Bessemer, Birmingham, Decatur, Dothan, Fairfield, Florence, Gadsden, Huntsville, Mobile, Montgomery, Phenix City, Selma and Tuscaloosa.

There will be a cemetery cleaning at the Maplesville Cemetery on Monday and Tuesday, August 1 and 2. All persons interested please come or send a hand with tools to work.—J. R. Bearden

Cool Toned Shades

By Jane Rogers

ITS summer bungalow time and you're probably in the midst of decorating your cottage whether it be in the country or at the seashore.

We've one suggestion to make—hang the new darker toned shades, larkspur blue or springleaf green, in every room. These two tones have the happy faculty of diffusing light and keeping out the glare of the summer sun.

They're particularly important for bedrooms if you want your family to awaken refreshed and rested and in an amiable mood. Don't forget to hang these muted tone cloth shades in the kitchen—you'll find it a far more comfortable place to work in.

If you intend staying where you are—change to these summer shades and you'll transform your whole summer setting and keep your life on a grand even keel.

sewing and basketry.

In the culinary department there are hundreds of prizes from 25 cents to $1.50 for the best bread, biscuits, rolls, cakes, confections, home canned and preserved fruits and vegetables, jellies, pickles and relishes. There are approximately 100 prizes of 75 cents to $15 in the fine arts department.

Roy Marshall, superintendent of Birmingham Park and Recreational Board is director in charge of plant and flower exhibits, with Edward Bialas as superintendent. For garden clubs there are six prizes from $7.50 to $25 for the best display of potted plants and the same prizes for the best display of cut flowers.

The educational department, with Dr. C. B. Glenn and E. B. Irwin as directors in charge and W. E. Putnam as research director, offers $15 ad $25 for the best exhibits by an agricultural school and the same for the best mechanical school. Like prizes are offered for exhibits by city schools. In addition this department offers about 400 prizes from 75 cents of $15 each for penmanship, mathematics, anguage literature, spelling geography, history and civics, music, school art, physical education, home economics, vocational training and so forth.

The poultry show will be held under the rules and regulations of the American Poultry Association, of which the Alabama state fair is a member, with Raymond Quinn as superintendent and Fred W. Otte, Peckskill, N. Y., as the judge. In a list of over 100 breeds of chickens, cash prizes of $1 to $4 are offered in prizes for singles, old trios and young trios. There are twenty sweepstakes prizes of $5 to $40 each. Prizes of 25cents to $1.50 are offered for all standard breeds of pigeons and there are about 10 prizes of $1 to $3 for caged birds such as canaries, parakeets, lovebirds and finches.

CHILSHELTAUGA DISTRICT ATTENDS STATE CONVENTION

The six F. F. A. Chapters, Clanton, Jemison, Isabella, Marbury, Billingsley and Columbiana attended the State Convention at Auburn July 14-16.

Thirty-one boys and four advisers made the trip from Clanton. It was a most successful convention and everyone enjoyed themselves very much. Some of the highlights were the election of the future farmers to the State Farmers Degree, a two Abbridge degree, Senator Lester Ribbs' speech, Thursday night, the softball tournament, the election of officers and the picture show revealing the disastrous insect, threatening the South now, the White-Fringed Beetle. It showed how the insect preyed on the various plant life and the destruction it did. It was shown through the courtesy of the Georgia Experiment Station.

We visited the experimental farms which was very interesting. We arrived in Auburn Thursday morning and left at 10:30 A. M. Saturday, and on our return we went through the State Capitol and passed by the Tuskegee Institute buildings.

The bus arrived in Clanton at 2:00 o'clock P. M. Saturday afternoon and all the boys wished they could return next year.—Reporter.

Motion Pictures Of Baptist Seminary Here Friday Night

Pastor Oscar Adams Davis of the Clanton Baptist Church announces a special motion picture program at his church on Friday evening of this week, at 8:00 o'clock, featuring the life and work of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Kentucky. Pictures are accompanied by musical undertone throughout.

The Radio Worship chorus is featured in the pictures.

Rev. Harold G. Sanders, a graduate student and representative of the seminary will speak and project the film depicting the human interest side of the school: faculty students, families, charming children, distinguished visitors, buildings, homes, parties, athletes and students in action in the street, institutions and churches. "The Beeches" is one of the most beautiful campuses in America.

Pastor Davis is a graduate of this historic school for ministers and missionaries, the first and largest of its kind among Southern Baptists. During the last 79 years, nearly 8,000 trained Christian workers have gone from its halls to the ends of the earth with the Christian message.

Dr. John Richard Sampey, President, and teacher for fifty-three years, is the retiring president of the Southern Baptist Convention. He has the unique distinction of having probably taught more ministers than any other Christian message.

The public is cordially invited.

Protection Of Rural Water Supplies Urged

With five new cases of typhoid fever reported during the months of June and July, bringing the total incidence in the county for the year of 1938 up to seven cases, officials of the local Health Department today stressed again the need for more protected wells and sanitary privies in rural homes all over the County. Particular emphasis was laid at this time on the need for a better understanding of "what is meant by a protected water supply" by the public at large. Widespread misconception of "when a bacteriological examination of water is necessary and of value in determining sanitary quality" was pointed out by the local health department.

"Time after time," remarked Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county Health Officer, "We receive requests for examination of samples of water from unprotected wells. In many instances, the specimen is brought to the Health Office in a fruit jar which being unsterile renders the sample unfit for examination. The person submitting the sample is usually dissatisfied with his water but rarely understands the type of service which the Health Department can render him in this matter. The Health Department laboratory will examine the water and attempt to find how many germs can be grown or cultured from the sample submitted. No attempt is made to identify the type of germ present, except that fermentation tests are made to determine if any of a group of germs known as the coliform-fermenting organisms are present. These inhabit the intestinal tract of men and animals and their presence is taken to indicate that

B. N. IVEY, Assistant County Agent in Charge of 4-H Club Work

The Chilton County Calf Club held joint meeting with the Shelby County Calf Club on Saturday, July 23, on Baker's and Alabama College's dairy farms.

Students, boys and girls, and two of their fathers made this meeting with the County Agent and Assistant County Agent from Chilton County.

The group arrived at Mr. Baker's farm at ten o'clock. After Mr. Baker was introduced to the group he carried the entire party through his large dairy barn which has a capacity of 120 cows. He then told how he started in the dairy business, the difficulty he had in building a pasture, the kind of grass he thought was best, and the kind of forage crops he was growing, the latter including alfalfa. The group then observed how he prepared the cows before milking and demonstrated the operation of the electric milker. A cow was selected which was giving 70 pounds per day and Mr. Baker then explained what he liked to see in a dairy cow. Afterwards, Mr. Fant and Lauderdale went over the animal explaining to the boys what they should look for when judging. The group was then carried through the barn where the calves from a day old to one year old were raised and here Mr. Baker explained how he fed and managed the three groups according to age.

At this time the group was getting hungry so we adjourned to the College dairy at Montevallo where we ate our lunch together. Mr. Baker, before we left his dairy, gave us plenty of milk to drink with our lunch, which was appreciated very much.

After lunch Mr. Bailey hurriedly showed the group through the dairy and fecal pollution of the water is taking place. It is practically impossible to isolate typhoid germs from water.

"This is exactly what one would expect," he continued, "that is, the presence of germs in any open shallow well. So, therefore, the bacteriological examination of such water is usually a wasted effort and reveals no information of value. If the owner of the well plans to protect his well with a pump, a concrete cover and a water tight casing, a bacteriological examination preliminary to the installation of the pump might be of value. An examination also might be made to check on the effectiveness of the protective measures employed."

Liquor Greed

If there is one part of hell hotter than another, it seems to us it must be reserved for those who are not satisfied to make their living from the weakness of old, but in their thirst for profits, are willing to debase youth. In a certain city, six youths (minors) were arrested for a series of burglaries and holdups, and three of them for the crime of rape. Upon examination, they told of a saloon or tavern in which they met and bought their liquor, and in the same city, a saloon entertained a party of high school girls and boys when the whole party ended up in a drunken fight, one youngster was a murderer, and another his victim.

Where are the people who assured us that moral condition would be improved with the repeal of prohibition? The liquor business is always lawful if it cannot be suppressed under prohibition, it cannot be controlled under license.

Some of the crowd talk moderation and "temperance," but they do everything they can to break it down. Their profits depend upon the amount of liquor sold, therefore, there are two evil things they must do. They must get a new crop of drinkers out of the young people, and they must serve in such a way as to produce an increasing appetite for liquor. The baker wants to sell more bread. The coal man wants to sell more coal. And don't let anyone tell you otherwise, the liquor dealer wants to sell more liquor, even if he must destroy your son to do it.

Some horrible deaths have occurred in the community of the writer, and no one will dare to dispute that liquor was to blame.

My door neighbor's son suffered a broken neck in the midst of a horrible auto wreck, right here almost in our yard.

Another young man lay dead or dying right here in this community all night following a duel between the victim and his neighbor. His body was in a horrible condition when found. Think of it.

Two fine stalwart young men, in the very prime of life, having to leave this world, one with a broken neck and the other's body riddled with shot.

The writer was called upon to officiate at these funerals. Why shouldn't we voice against this awful evil? God help us to stand, even though some are pleased to criticize.

ALL-DAY SINGING AT CHESTNUT CREEK WAS SUCCESSFUL

The directors for the morning session were as follows: Jack Jones, Edward Jones, Mr. Garrett, Audie Brown, Arthur Beard, Bricken Ridge, Lee Grant, Archie Devaughn, Mr. Kendrick, Lawrence Lee, Dewey Hughes and Mr. Briggs.

The Stamps Southernaire rendered several numbers during the morning program, which was enjoyed very much by everyone present. The Alabama Four and the Shaw Sisters were also there and sang two songs each. A good dinner was served to the public about 12:30.

The afternoon session began at 1:30. The first song was sung by the chairman and then prayer by D. S. Robinson. Directors for the afternoon were: Jesse Jones, O. L. Devaughn, P. B. Shaw, Billie Briggs, I. D. Huett, Tom Ezekiel, W. J. Jones, W. J. Jones, Herman DuBose, Ruth Shaw, J. C. Walker, Arthur Beard and Tom Steel.

A bass solo was rendered by Mr. Culherson, which was very much enjoyed.

The Burkhalter Quartet, The Alabama Four, the Cooper Quartet and the Shaw Sisters all rendered several numbers each.

We were fortunate to have the Southernaire to put on a concert at Cooper School Saturday night, at which everyone present reported, having a most enjoyable time, also they were the outstanding quartet for the day following.

We have a large crowd present and they seemed to enjoy the day fine, even though it rained most of the day. The singing was a grand success.

Plans for the next year are: Lee Grant, Vera Mae Nelson, Mrs. Stamps, Tommie Briatow, Bricken Ridge and Edward Jones.

Closing prayer by Rev. J. D. Hughes. --Mrs. Dewey Hughes, Sec.

the College of Education at Auburn and graduated from there in 1932 with a permanent certificate to teach in Alabama high schools. For the past two summers I have been enrolled in the graduate school at Auburn, taking courses given for superintendents and supervisors. I hold a permanent certificate in administration, authorizing me to serve as principal or superintendent in any public school system in the State.

"I have taught for the past five years in public schools. Three of those years were spent here in Chilton County. During the past two years, I have been employed in Butler County. My experience ranges from a one-teacher school through modern consolidated units. I have served as principal of every system I have been in.

"If I am successful in my campaign, I shall enter office with my every act and effort under obligation to the children of Chilton County. I shall at all times strive to meet that obligation squarely and effectively, regardless of difficulties that arise. My one and only promise is that my very best efforts will be used to give this County a progressive, honest, impartial school system, second to none in every respect.

"Our public school system is closer to the general welfare of the public than any other governmental agency. Accordingly, I am fully aware of the responsibilities involved in acting as administrative head of a county school system. The people of our county and state have set up-and now support our public schools to serve the best interest of everybody concerned. I shall be held responsible by the Board of Education and the citizens of this County to see that that interest is best served by my school system.

My campaign will be based completely on merit and honesty. I hope to see each of you personally, but if that should not be within my power, I hope each of you will consider this statement a direct and personal address. May I state to everyone that I invite investigation of my personal and professional qualifications for this office I now seek."

paved, and that the reason for mailing these notices was to make a project legal and to take care of some properties that are entailed, some where owners are unknown and school and church property. He further stated that these notices do not mean or indicate in the least that the City Officials have changed or would change their plan of getting the streets paved.

In other words, the City Officials are expecting the property owners on each street that is to be paved, to pay cash for their part of the cost if they want the streets paved. The Mayor wants it distinctly understood that the council or himself has no purpose or wish to force the paving upon anyone; that they want the people to cooperate with them in their efforts to improve the City.

Sportsmen Of Several Counties Gather

At New Dixie Camp On Coosa For Outing

A most enjoyable occasion of recent events was a barbecue and fox hunt, sponsored by F. J. (Buddy) Ellison and a group of Clanton Sportsmen, which took place at the New Dixie Camp, located on the backwater of Mitchell Dam on the Coosa River, Wednesday night, July 20. This event was probably the first of its kind ever held in this section, and was termed a huge success. Many out-of-town guests were present to partake of the fun and delicious barbecue chicken and camp stew which was provided for all present.

Guests, bringing along their fox dogs, began to arrive about five o'clock in the afternoon. About eighty-five men and boys and fifty-three well trained fox hounds composed the party.

First on program was the dog show at which time the dogs were brought before the crowd for general inspection and comments. Following this came the horn-blowing contest, in which many took part. Mr. Ellison awarded a handsome blowing horn to the winner of this contest, Dr. Adams of Calera, Mr. Trice of Prattville, and Mr. Norman Cost of Calera, were selected as judges. The final blowing was between Mr. Gaylor of Montgomery and Mr. Ellison of Clanton. Mr. Gaylor was adjudged the winner by a very close margin and was awarded the horn.

After the contest owners of the fox hounds lined them up for the big hunt. Within a few minutes after they were freed, they were giving some red fox a merry chase, which continued up into the day Thursday.

Sportsmen from Birmingham, Montgomery, Calera, Jemison, Mt. Creek, Cooper, Prattville and Clanton were on hand for the occasion. Much credit was due to Mr. Ellison for his untiring efforts in arranging the outing. It was unanimously decided to make this an annual affair, but more will be carried later regarding this.

Mr. Sartor was one of the most untiring and active church workers of the county with his membership in the Clanton Baptist Church, and was a familiar figure wherever he thought he could be of aid to anyone.

Funeral services were held at the home last Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Services were conducted by the Rev. Oscar Davis assisted by the Rev. J. M. Truett. Interment followed in the city cemetery with Martin & Sons directing.

Palbearers were all Knights Templar, H. T. Pipes, M. L. White, G. C. Harris, G. F. Harris, J. Watts Moore and B. J. Sessions.

He is survived by his widow, Mary Bell Sartor; two daughters, Mrs. Barney Roberts and Mrs. L. C. Ross, both of Clanton; and one son, Adolph.

"Mattress-conscious" a State-wide mattress campaign will begin August 1 and continue throughout the remainder of the year. In preparation for the campaign, training schools for Home Demonstration agents have been held throughout the State. More than 50 mattresses have been made in these schools. Home Demonstration Agents are now organizing their counties in an effort to push to completion a program which will bring the construction of 10,000 mattresses by January 1.

A comfortable mattress can be made of home-grown cotton with a cash outlay of about two dollars.

Nearly everyone realizes the importance of adequate and proper sleep but few people ever stop to think that the one-third of their lives spent in bed determines largely how much they will get out of the other two-thirds.

Farm families should check on the condition of their beds, decide on the number of mattresses needed and get in touch with their Home Demonstration Agent for details concerning the county Mattress Campaign.

Miss Kathryn Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bell, returned to her home here after a visit with her grandparents in Atlanta.

RURAL BOXES

paing: "Unserviceable and unsightly rural mail boxes mar the beauty of the landscape and detract from natural scenic beauty of the highway. Particularly to be deplored are the non-regulation, old type, top-opening boxes, as well as makeshift receptacles which expose the mail to the elements.

"It is the desire of the Department not only to correct the above mentioned unsatisfactory situation but to encourage all rural mail patrons generally to possess pipe in their boxes, both in the manner of erection, neat-stenciling and tidy appearance.

To help accomplish these desirable objectives the Department is designating the week of August 1 as "Clean Up Rural Box Week."

Rural boxholders whose boxes are in need of repair or whose boxes are out of date and no longer serviceable, are cordially asked by the rural carriers to make necessary improvements during this time, thereby aiding in the success of this campaign.

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think

—BILLY SMITH

Commendable

To the churches of Clanton goes the admiration of this newspaper for their splendid cooperation in the street paving program now underway in the city. We were present at the city hall the other day when a member of the Church of Christ placed a check on the desk for an amount covering its share of paying around the church. Then we learned that the Methodists had already posted their part and the Baptists will put up their share before the week is out. To those property owners of the city who have come forth with their part will go the thanks of everyone who will enjoy the hard surfaced streets in place of mud and dust. Clanton goes forward.

Just For A Dollar

A group of merchants of Clanton have "taken the bull by the horns" so to speak and are making history this week by inaugurating Dollar Days for the people of this section. The attractive thing about the first Dollar Day, which is Saturday, is that the items offered for only one dollar cost the merchant that much or more. Yet, they apparently mean business and a full page advertisement in the News this week proves it.

A Boy And His Dog

We are having the pleasure (and some trouble) of seeing a little boy and his dog at play each day, and recall those days when we would have whipped any man about our dog. That was when we were knee breeches, and that feeling hasn't changed much yet about dogs. Anyway, the little boy we now enjoy seeing play with his dog is the eldest off-spring of the writer. The dog is "Trixie" a toy terrier presented to the Smith youngster by another lover of dogs, our good friend, Mr. Howell of the State Tax Commission who has been making his headquarters in Clanton for sometime. We hope Mr. Howell doesn't become so attached to the dog that he will want to take it with him when he leaves our city, because we, too, like dogs.

That Mail Box

Have you people who live on rural routes taken a good look at your mail-box lately? If not, then get out right now and look it over carefully. Is it rusty, broken and otherwise unsightly? Are the weeds grown up around it and can the mail carrier reach it easily? Those are some questions you should answer and give your cooperation in National Rural Mail Box Week, to say the postmasters of this County and all over the nation. A little paint and a little little grease off this week and give the old reliable mail box a treat. We notice also, that new boxes can be purchased at most reasonable prices. Attend to this and make your mail carrier proud of the patrons on his route.

Worth The Work

For a long time now, members of this county's Commissioners Court, with Judge J. Lee Smith, have been working steadily with the State Highway Department in securing right-of-way for the widening of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway through this county. We are now beginning to see the fruits of their labors. The highway department has already begun work in the northern end of the county on the widening and resurfacing of this all important highway. This work is most essential to the protection of motorists and we are glad that our county is not found lacking.

Fine Recommendation

In the News this week we read a letter of recommendation for Delos P. Culp, Democratic nominee for superintendent of Education of this county. We have read many letters of recommendation but seldom have we seen such a record for a young man. We say young man, yet Delos has all the experience and ability of a man much older and has shown that he is capable of handling responsibilities such as may be attached to the office of superintendent of education.

The following squibs from the columns of The Publishers' Auxiliary were taken from a copy of a paper published in the 80s and 90s and are typical of the press of that day:

If you have frequent headaches, dizziness, fainting spells, lame back, accompanied by chills, cramps, bunions, jaundice, chilblains, epileptic fits, it's a sign you are not well and are liable to die at any minute. Hasten to this office and pay your subscription in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice.

An exchange says there is a man in Kansas who has never taken a paper. He has not had a bath in 12 years. He calls at the drug store annually and pays a quarter for an almanac. The butcher charges him 30 cents a pound for liver, and when he comes to town he always walks in the middle of the street for someone told him once they charge toll for walking on the sidewalks.

Stationery printed at this office continues to give the best satisfaction. Last week we printed a thousand statements for a man who has since collected a small fortune from a dead aunt. Two months ago we sold a man some paper to use in writing to his sweetheart. A month later we printed a wedding announcement for them. Last week we printed sale bills for the bride's father and this week we printed postal cards for the sheriff, who is looking for the whole bunch. Another young man stole some of our paper for cigarette papers and he is dead. By using our stationery and printing you can collect old accounts, tell fortunes, make rain, change the color of your hair, be successful in business and triumph over your enemies.

If you toot your little tooter and then lay aside your horn, there's not a soul in ten short days will know that you are born. The man who gathers pumpkins is the man who dresses all day, and the man who keeps it burning is the man who makes it pay. The man who advertises with short and sudden bursts is the man that blames the editor, because it will not work. The man who gets the business takes a long and steady pull, and keeps his local paper from year to year quite full. He plans his advertising in a careful, thoughtful way, and keeps forever at it until he makes it pay. He has faith in the future, can withstand a sudden shock, for like the man in Scripture, built his business on a rock.

One step won't take you very far—you have got to keep on walking; one word won't tell the folks who you are—you've got to keep on talking. One inch won't make you very all—you've got to keep on growing; one little ad won't do it all—you've got to keep on going.

The man who went out to milk and sat on the stool in the cowshed and waited for the cow to back up to him was like the man who kept a store and did not advertise because he believed the purchasing public would back up to his place when they wanted something.

There is one issue to be voted upon in the November General election that we think should bring every qualified voter to the polls, if it was the sole question to be voted upon at that time. This is the Amendment to the gas and road tax diversion, and will be Amendment No. 1 on November 8. It is only fair that taxes collected by this department should go solely to the upkeep of the public roads of Alabama, and the building of more roads.

The "Flying Bug" has been active around Clanton within the past few weeks, and as a result many of our citizens have become aid-minded. The hum of a plane flying over Clanton has become a familiar sound these days. Clantonians can no longer look up at the sound of a plane and say, "There goes Dr. Gragg or Leo Thompson," for there's getting to be quite a few more flyers around here, which is all mighty fine.

On Your Fingernail

The principal causes of the railroad crisis can be written on your fingernail: higher taxes and wages, accompanied by abnormally reduced rates.

In 1937, according to the Association of American Railroads, the hourly earnings of railroad employees were 250 percent greater than in 1916. The burden of taxes was 175 percent greater. Yet the revenue received for hauling a ton-mile of freight was but 33 percent more, and the average revenue for hauling a passenger one mile was actually 12 percent less.

The rate of return to investors was 61.5 percent less in 1936 than in 1916. Out of this interest and other fixed charges had to be met before anything was available for dividends and reserves. In many instances, there was nothing at all left. In many other cases there were deficits which mean more receiverships in the industry.

Furthermore, last year was substantially better for the railroads, and all other industry, than this year. Railroad carloadings and revenues are now running well under 1937 levels. Even the most prosperous and best situated lines are earning next to nothing in the way of profit.

Here is more evidence of the vital national need for overhauling our out-of-date transportation policy. If the industry is to survive—and its collapse would cause a financial and industrial crisis throughout the land—revenues must be brought in line with wages and other costs. Regulation and laws must be relaxed sufficiently to permit the railroads to operate on an equitable basis with their competitors. And rate bases that are in accord with operating costs must be established.

The railroads are still our greatest single industry. They buy more than a billion dollars worth of products annually from American business. They are responsible for millions of jobs, directly and indirectly. Their salvation is essential to the welfare of the United States as a whole.

Henry Ford says the Machine Age hasn't even started yet. Just marking time, we suppose.

Democratic Primary number three has just been held in Chilton. One or two more and we might find out what became of that absentee ballot box.

Statistics show that there were eleven times as many people killed by lightning in Chilton during the year 1937, as there were killed by falling airplanes. And still some people don't mind riding in an automobile doing 60 miles per hour, in which there is much greater danger, but look upon an airplane as a dangerous means of transportation.

It's canning time in Chilton County and every grower of fruits and vegetables should be busy at this task. There's a bountiful yield of these products this year, and there's no reason why anybody in Chilton County should go hungry this winter.

There are approximately 400 ex-service men in this County, with only about twenty-five or thirty members in the local American Legion Post. Chilton County should have an active Post with a membership of at least one hundred.

We note in the report of the State Health Department, Montgomery, that Chilton's population has increased from 25,855 to 26,031 during the past year. Now, if we can secure a few more industries to employ this added 176, everything will be fine.

Hitler is offering to form a pact with England to limit the amount of war planes of both nations. Dictators are certainly jittery, especially when some other nation draws ahead in such maneuvers.

No one can tell you exactly when dog days begin and end but they cover the hot season of July and August so that you are safe in saying nowadays that we are going through them. Anciently dog days began when the sun and dog star Sirius rose simultaneously, but that is not the same date in different latitudes and it changes appreciably even in the same latitudes.—Alabama Journal.

We Observe

By BONNIE HAND

A GREAT LOSS—

Again this week we note with heavy heart the untimely passing of one of Clanton's most conservative business men, Mr. George C. Polk, of the Polk Brothers Motor Company, one of the leading automobile firms of the city. Mr. Polk occupied a position in the business and religious life of Clanton that will be hard to replace. It was always a pleasure to contact Mr. Polk in our rounds each week, for every time we found him carrying out his policy of strict and honest business, mingled with a friendly spirit that made us proud of the friendship of this man. So we offer our deepest sympathy to his bereaved family and observe that his going will mean a great loss for Clanton, and a vacancy in the firm of Polk Brothers Motor Company that can never be filled.

MARVIN DURBIN—

As head of the Farm Security Administration in this County, Marvin Durbin is certainly on the job, and his alert business manner is meaning much to the farmers of this section. Marvin is a young man, but was selected to head this important organization for his interest in the welfare of farmers of this section. He is always on the job aiding in the securing of loans for our farmers under the provisions of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, which, in our estimation, is an agency of the Federal Government that is beyond a doubt a great service and aid to the farmer.

THE HOGANSVILLE PROGRESS—

There came to our desk this week a copy of the Hogansville Progress, published in Hogansville, Georgia. This is a small weekly paper, but is neat appearing, and what impressed us most was the fact that our friend, Morris Pyron, a former employee of the Chilton County News, is listed as business manager. Congratulations, Morris, and how about putting us on your exchange list, and we'll do the same for you.

MORE BASEBALL—

The Clamps, local baseball club, although failing to win first place in the recent Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament held at Crampton Bowl, undoubtedly derived inspiration, experience or something from the way they romped on Irontide last Sunday at the Lay Dam Park. Their star pitcher, Buddy Teague, pitched a no-hit game and that is pitching ball, if you ask me—and you didn't. The playing of the rest of the boys has been good too.

THAT'S FUNNY—

Called to our attention this week was the fact that the State Highway placed a sign at the intersection of the Mitchell Dam Road and the Montgomery-Birmingham Highway, pointing toward Montgomery as the way to Selma. We can't understand what motive was behind the idea of steering tourists from the eastern part of the State by Montgomery, which is a number of miles out of the way. And too, the road from Clanton to Selma is paved all the way now, and we want tourists to see and trade in Clanton, too. We are in hopes something will be done to correct this injustice to Clanton and we have reason to think that something will be done.

SEVENTY MILLION TREES FOR SOUTHERN LANDOWNERS

Farmers and landowners in the South will shortly have available approximately 70 million seedlings for planting on eroded or non-productive farm land, according to Regional Forester Joseph C. Kircher of the U. S. Forest Service. These seedlings range from slash pine to black locust and are being produced by the various State Forest Services in state-owned nurseries and will be distributed to the public at cost of production.

Increased public interest in reforestation accounts for the large step up in nursery stock production and although this year's growth of seedlings is greatly increased over that of past years, it is felt that the demand will be far greater than the supply. With this in view, Forest Service officials urge interested landowners to make arrangements with their State Foresters as early as possible in order that prorated amounts may be decided well in advance of planting time.

In order to assist landowners with technical phases of their planting program a pamphlet, "Planting Southern Pines," recommending and explaining the most successful methods of planting, has been prepared by the Forest Service and may be secured free by addressing a card to the State Forester or to the Regional Forester, U. S. Forest Service, Atlanta, Georgia, requesting the Department of Agriculture Leaflet No. 159.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haslow

Speaking of charity that reminds me of the millionaire who was dying. As he looked back over his past life he was not proud of many things left on the record. While his pastor sat by his bedside, the rich man said to him, "Pastor, do you think that if I leave a hundred thousand dollars to your church that my salvation will be assured?" The preacher was a diplomat and answered cautiously, "I would not like to be over positive about that, brother, but really I think that it is worth trying." Money will not right a wrong, but when a fellow gets right, he gives freely.

The story is going the rounds that a man was given a job of shooting the muskrats that were annoying a government dam by digging holes and endangering the dam. Si sat on the grassy bank of the dam with a gun in his hand. "What are you doing here, Si?" asked a friend who saw him sitting in the sunshine. "I am out to shoot the muskrats, Sk," he replied. "There goes one now, shoot man," said this friend. Old Si puffed his pipe and drawled out, "Do you think that I want to lose my job?" I have just heard of a fellow of men who has completed a certain government contract and they lack several hundred dollars of having taken up the appropriation. These men lotte about that building until the amount was consumed. O Honesty—Thou art a gem.

Did you ever notice that when two men are walking down a road together an dog is following them, that you cannot tell to which one of these men the dog belongs? Just wait until the dog forks an then you can tell for the dog will follow his master. There are times when you cannot tell who is who is church loyalty, but just wait a little. When the roads fork and it is either be at church, or go to a picture show, to church or a Sunay night, to the club or to a resort on the Sabbath, just watch, the dog will follow his master.

A traveling man came to a river ferry where he had been crossing for years and found a new man in charge of the ferry boat. He inquired of the new man, "Where's the man who used to keep this ferry?" "He is dead, sir," replied the man, "Dead, guess he has joined the majority who have crossed over the last river," said the traveler in a tone of sadness. "Well," said the ferry keeper cautiously, "I would not like to say that about him, sir. Ole Abner was a mighty good man as far as I knew." Where do you think that the majority of people who die go?

A witty little professor with a watery eye and a ragged moustache was conducting a party of pupils through a zoo. They stood before the lion's cage when he addressed thus, "Now, my pupils, this is the paragon of all feline animals and should this beast be the outcome of its kind, what steps should we take to protect ourselves against him?" A bright-eyed little fellow replied with a flash, "Long ones, sir, and many of them." Temptation is the most awful beast that ever assails human life and what steps should we take to make ourselves safe in the hour when we are tempted? "Long ones, sir, and many of them." When you are tempted run from it like you would a raging lion.

One day Pussy, our old black cat, climbed the front gate post and perched herself on top of it in a deep study. While sitting there about a dozen swallows, knowing the cat to be the enemy, set up a barrage that became highly humorous. One would fly close to her ear and scream and flutter way. The cat would make and unsuccessfully strike with her paw as if to seize the rude fellow and he would be gone. One bird after another would follow this attack and seemed to relish this joke immensely. The whole number following one another at a distance of a few feet formed a regular circle in the air. This wheel went round and round and literally wore the patience of the cat into a frazzle. She indignantly declared that she was defeated and descended from the gate post. Where there is unity and courage we can defeat most any cat that might perch to molest us. When the enemies of life perch themselves near you, have courage and determination and you can drive them away in disgust.

A young lady told me this amusing story. She said that she had only one friend who lisped and one day he called her up over the phone. When she had answered she heard him say at the other end, "Ith thath you, Ruth?" Well guess who thith ith." Of course she knew who he was for he had a lisp that identified him anywhere. Did it ever occur to you that there is some peculiarity about you that will never fail to let people know who you are. It may be the wink of the eye, the tone of voice, a movement of the body. It is you who will betray yourself.

WATCH FOR IT !!

Shown above is a much enlarged photo of the white fringed beetle which has been attacking plants in South Alabama and against which the Department of Agriculture is waging an intensive fight. Farmers are urged to watch for this pest and report immediately any indication that it may be present in this county. This photo is much enlarged over the actual size of the beetle.

4-H Club Girl Who Represented Chilton At Short Course Tells Interesting Story Of Trip

By Alice Gilmore

It was a great pleasure for the four 4-H Club girls, Mary Pearl Griffin, Rolene Kelley, Bonnie Gue and Alice Gilmore, who represented Chilton County at the Short Course held in Auburn July 5-9. Miss Mattie Joe Barber, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent, accompanied us.

Tuesday morning, July 5, we left Clanton filled with enthusiasm over the interesting things we expected to hear and see. We stopped in Montgomery to eat lunch. We went through Tuskegee and took a good view of the Institute. It was by then getting near two o'clock, the time that we were to be at the Leadership Hall in Auburn. On arriving in Auburn, we had a few minutes left; we rode around town to look at the college and other interesting places. When two o'clock came, we were at the Leadership Hall enjoying a hearty welcome to Auburn by Miss Elizabeth L. DeLooney, State Girls 4-H Club Agent.

We registered at which time we were given the program for the Short Course. The theme of the program was "Self Development Through Community Opportunity." Our 4-H motto is "To Make The Best Better." We then had from the time we registered until four-thirty to go to the cabin that was assigned to us, and to meet the girls that represented other counties from the eastern part of the State.

At four-thirty everyone went on a campus tour and later the Lee County girls surprised us with a tea.

Mrs. J. E. S. Rudd, Clay County Home Demonstration Agent, and Chairman of all vespers services, introduced all counties that spoke to us at that time.

As the time passed on to seven-thirty, Mr. L. A. Sims, commonly known as Dad Sims, State 4-H Club Leader, presided at the assembly in the Leadership Hall. We sang several songs and music was sponsored by Miss Mary Jim Enloe, St. Clair County Home Demonstration Agent and Chairman of Music Committee. The pledge was given by everyone and then we received greetings by Mr. E. O. Davis, Director Alabama Extension Service.

Dr. L. N. Duncan, President Alabama Polytechnic Institute, gave a welcome address. Following two songs Miss Helen Johnston, State Home Demonstration Agent, gave a talk on "What To Get Out Of A Camp." Miss Johnston says: A person gets exactly what he puts in it.

Announcements were made next and Dad Sims asked for introductions of all guests and delegates. Following a social hour presented by two of the counties, everyone went to the cabin, and the lights were out at ten-thirty.

Wednesday morning everybody had to arise at six o'clock, and some of us had to be waked, so our agents sat with us during morning wake. Held at the Amphitheatre at six-forty-five, to shake us if she caught us nodding.

At seven-fifteen we had breakfast and at eight-thirty Randolph County presided at general assembly in the Leadership Hall. During this time R. B. Hay spoke to us on "Good Sportsmanship."

All the girls that were in the judgements went to Duncan Hall at nine o'clock and those in the Health Contest went to Brown Hall. The Chairman of the Health Committee was Miss Benie Golia Slagter, Bullock County Home Demonstration Agent. The others stayed at the Leadership Hall and listened to a very interesting talk on "4-H Club Honors," given by Mr. T. W. Lumpkin, State Boys 4-H Club Leader.

We all like to listen to Dad Sims talk, so at ten o'clock he gave us important points on Joint 4-H Poultry Products and Mr. John E. Ivey, Extension Poultryman talked to us about 4-H Poultry Work. Mr. Ivey says, it would take one hundred bushels of corn to feed one hundred chickens per year. He also showed us how a person could make a great profit by raising chickens.

Everyone was beginning to feel like resting about this time, so we went to our cabins to return at seven o'clock when Shelby County presided and Randolph County gave a play, "4-H Club Work." We ate dinner at twelve o'clock.

The programs for the days following were outlined practically the same as the morning and afternoon before, excepting different contests presiding, and different people speaking to us on various subjects.

At two o'clock Mrs. Pearl B. Crawford spoke on the subject of "Parliamentary Law." After Mrs. Crawford's talk the Dress Review was at Duncan Hall.

Mr. Donald L. Robertson, Extension Agricultural Editor, gave us a few important notes on "News Writing."

Mrs. Annie Snoddy, Calhoun County Home Demonstration Agent and Chairman of stunt night, showed every girl how to cooperate and how to play new games.

Thursday morning Miss Dorothy Dean talked to us, Miss Dean is Extension Specialist in Clothing and Handicraft. Today we were to work on the Camp Crafts. It was divided into five different groups. Each girl was placed in one of these groups by her agent. This was done in order that each girl could tell her project to the other, and they could bring new ideas back home to their clubs. Later during the day Miss Velma Owen, Health Nurse Supervisor, brought to us some interesting points on "Self Improvement."

Miss Anne Watson, Shelby County Home Demonstration Agent and Chairman of Recreation Committee, rendered her service to the girls and Dad Sims made it possible for us to see the Agricultural Extension picture which was made in Washington.

The Costume Party that Mrs. Vergie W. Gunn, Home Demonstration Agent, gave her assistants was highly enjoyed.

Friday afternoon Miss Nell Pickett, Extension Economist, spoke on the subject of "Home Management."

Leadership Recognition was held on the lawn of Dr. Duncan, the president's home. Miss Irby Barrett, Home Demonstration Agent was the Chairman of this event. It was a beautiful scene, the College boys were shooting sky rockets through the air over the president's home.

We left Auburn Saturday morning, July 9th, at eight o'clock, and bade our friends good-bye. On our way home we came back through Tuskegee, and went out through the Veterans Hospital. Leaving there, we came on to Montgomery and Warden Boswell gave us permission to go through Kilby Prison. We also went out to Oak Park, and to Huntington College.

We brought home with us three ribbons which were won by Mary Pearl Griffin. Two were awarded for health and one for the costume that she wore to the costume party. The unique costume was made of newspaper.

I wish everyone could have had the privilege of being at the 4-H Short Course. I wish four outstanding values for the short course:

FIRST—A greater knowledge of 4-H Club Work.

SECOND—Association and Cooperation with other workers.

THIRD—More interest developed in other parts of our State.

FOURTH—How to make the best better.

Misses Edith, Ruth and Pearl Hand, and Margis Robinson, of Birmingham, returned last Friday from a vacation in Georgia and Florida.

Working For Adoption Of Tax Amendment

Montgomery, Ala.—Committees of motorists and other highway users will be organized in every county of the State to work for the adoption of the square deal road funds amendment at the November election, Alex C. Montgomery of Birmingham, vice-president of the Alabama Motorists Association and campaign director, announced recently. Campaign headquarters have been set up at 21 Adams Avenue, Montgomery. The county committees will seek to coordinate activities of various groups of citizens and also interested in insuring that taxation of highway transportation will be placed upon a fair and equitable basis.

"Millions of dollars which the motorists, farmers and other highway users have paid in the form of special road taxes have been diverted to purposes other than highway financing," said Mr. Montgomery. "The result of such unfair use of road monies for purposes other than highway financing is that the roads in some sections of the State are being seriously neglected. The motorists failed to get the roads for which they paid. Diversion of road funds also has subjected motorists needlessly to road hazards which would have been eliminated if the automotive taxes had been spent on road improvement."

"We plan to form County Highway Progress Committees throughout the State to acquaint the public of the importance of voting 'yes' for the square deal road funds amendment, which will be listed as 'Amendment No. 1' on the ballot at the General Election in November. We hope that not only the motor vehicle owners in the State will vote for the Amendment, but that it will be supported generally by all voters. The general welfare and progress of the State depends largely upon the improvement of the highways, and it is important to everyone that the road taxes be safeguarded so that they will be devoted exclusively for road improvement."

Things We Think

Things Others Think and What We Think of Things Others Think

—BILLY SMITH

James A. Farley

Both major political parties of the nation are casting glances around for personalities they believe suitable to offer the people of the United States as candidates for President in 1940. The able editor of The Wetumpka Herald recently very timely proposed Governor Bibb Graves as candidate for vice-president in 1940 and covered only a small portion of the many reasons this outstanding man is capable of holding such a position. Now, the writer wishes to go on record as doing some more, placing all his own, although we do not intend to claim all the credit for the idea.

To even make an attempt at giving the reasons why the man we have in mind be submitted to the people as a candidate for President in 1940, would necessitate the publishing of a large book. That we would do, gladly, if it were necessary. But, such an idea would only be surplus reading matter since every citizen of these United States knows the man and has admired him since his youth, or rather placed himself, in the spotlight and favor of the public.

The man is none other than the Honorable James A. Farley, postmaster general of the United States, man of the hour, statesman, financier, humanitarian, philosopher and philanthropist. We propose the name of this gentleman and scholar as a candidate for President of the United States on the Democratic ticket in 1940. There may be better men, there may be men with more money than Mr. Farley. We have yet to read or learn of another man whose efforts toward building up a broken down nation have succeeded unless it is President Roosevelt. The more intimate friends of Mr. Farley are fully aware of the great part he has played in the program that brought the United States from a rut of depression into the light. His vast knowledge of the needs of people in every walk of life is not to be equalled. Yet, one hears little of his great and far-reaching work to aid a people whom he loves dearly. He is progressive, yet conservative. He adheres to justice, yet there is always evident that warm feeling of human kindness that flows through his veins.

The executive ability of Mr. Farley is equal that of President Roosevelt who has relied upon the advice and suggestions of the postmaster general to steer him in many instances of which little is known. He is a true sportsman and who has known a lover of sports who is not fair in all dealing with his fellowman? We do not have the elaborate vocabulary as that of the editor of The Wetumpka Herald which prevents our bringing from our heart and mind those things we would place as praise upon the head of the Hon. James A. Farley, the most logical man for President of the United States.

We are following with keen interest the articles appearing in The American Magazine and written by this man who is admired and loved only in his own country but the world over.

DIXON SEEKS TO HELP FARMERS

Ends Inspection Of Farm Marketing Facilities In Georgia

Moultrie, Ga.—Indications abound recently that Frank Dixon will submit a plan to the next Legislature to increase the income of Alabama's farmers.

An inspection of farm marketing facilities in Georgia was concluded by Mr. Dixon, who will be Alabama's next Governor; Haygood Patterson, Democratic nominee for Alabama Commissioner of Agriculture; Luther Fuller, farms products agent of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co.; W. Will Hosh, Georgia farms products agent of the Tennessee Co.; and a number of other Alabama citizens interested in promoting the welfare of the farmer. Mr. Patterson and Mr. Dixon have conferred frequently in recent weeks in an effort to formulate a program to aid agriculturists. They are working on a plan that will improve present means of marketing by establishing a sectional or regional market. They visited the Thomasville regional market in Georgia.

NEGRO QUACK DOCTOR FEELS TEETH OF LAW

Health Department Puts End To Activities Of Herb Doctor In County

H. C. Chappelle, negro "herb" doctor residing near Jewison was arrested Saturday morning on warrants obtained by the County Health Officer, Dr. S. D. Sturkie, a health department bulletin disclosed early this week. Charges were made that the negro had violated the State Medical Practice Act by diagnosing and treating human beings without possessing the qualifications of a doctor of medicine.

Numerous complaints have been received from health officials of neighboring counties to the effect that persons are leaving the care of legitimate practitioners to seek treatment from the Jewison quack, Dr. Sturkie declared. This resulted disastrously for one diabetic patient who died later in a Selma hospital, according to a statement made by a Bibb County health official.

"Upon visiting Chappelle's place," said the local health officer, "I found his premises thronged with a huge crowd attracted by tales of fancied miracle cures. This I was told, has been a common occurrence for the past several months. Such flagrant violation of a law in a matter affecting human life is certainly undeserving of public sympathy. As the county health officer I feel it my duty to work toward the eradication of such harmful malpractice."

He also has a brood sow from which he sold six hogs last year.

TWO GALLONS BRANDY FOUND IN COURTHOUSE

It all happened rather quickly and quietly. Deputy sheriff Ira Crowe, operating under instructions from Sheriff J. R. CLANTON BOYS ARE CHAMPIONS OF THE DISTRICT

Baseball Team Recognized For Outstanding Plays And Sportsmanship

Central Alabama High "Champions and winners of the district Trophy" is the rating of the Clanton boys in baseball circles for the spring of 1938.

Captain Bill Armstrong and his colleagues went through the season of High School competition without a loss in their league circuit. According to their coach, J. B. Varnell, the boys of Chilton County High showed eagerness and willingness to work together for the joy of play and efforts to excel in the national pastime.

The outstanding play of the team as a whole was the secret of their success. The lively hitting of Bucky Armstrong, James Roper, Alternate Captain Durwood Williamson, Guy McKee and Ted Reynolds kept the Chilton County boys out in front throughout the season.

The team's efforts were well rewarded by the masterful pitching of Captain Armstrong and Cecil Baggett, a newcomer and first year man, neither of these boys losing any of their starts. The season was a success and a tribute to the passing of one of Chilton's great teams.

A good number of the boys received their diplomas and will pass on giving room for newcomers for another season. At no time did the Chilton County High School boys weaken in their efforts to lead the league in individual play and as a team. The supporters and their coach should always look to the season of 1938 as a real success from many angles and the season record should be a mark for other team to equal as time marches on.

Farm Program Is Discussed By Fant

The procedure of administration of the new farm program in this County was discussed by J. W. Fant at the day night meeting of the Kiwanis Club last Thursday night.

Mr. Fant explained the program to some extent and brought attention to bear on the fact that he, alone, is not behind the administration of the program in Chilton County, as some have come to believe, but that committees of each rural community have the responsibility to a large degree of the correct adjustment of each farm's problem, in regard to the program.

Following the discussion Mr. Fant made a brief report of the trip made by a large number of farmers and business men to Auburn Wednesday of last week, to hear part of the program for Farmers and Homemakers Week, observed there last week.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our dear friends for their kindness and help shown during the illness and death of our darling little baby girl, Gladys Delene. She was three years old. The death angels visited our dear home and took her away, but we cannot call her back to us but we want to go to her in heaven. She is at rest. We want to thank Dr. Pickerm and Dr. Gragg and we also want to thank Mr. J. M. Martin & Sons for their kindness and help, and also the pallbearers. May we all live to meet her in that bright and happy home.—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hayes and children.

IN MEMORY OF LITTLE GLADYS DELENE HAYES

The death angels visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hayes and took away their little baby girl, Gladys Delene. We miss her. We miss you dear loved one. We all loved you so well. Your wonderful lips are closed now And your sweet voice is still.

The Pearly Gates swing open. And a gentle voice said "come" And with farewell unspoken, You calmly entered home.

We miss you dear loved one. Your sweet face of little Gladys Delene from us has gone. But may we all live to meet her In that bright and happy home.

We loved her, we miss her, But we cannot call her back. For the train that goes to Heaven Has no returning track.

She leaves a father, mother, three brothers, Samuel, Leon and Herman; and one little sister, Jessie Mae to mourn her loss.

We thank our friends for their kindness and for the help rendered during the illness and death. She was called from us August 1, 1938. She will be missed by many loved ones, but may we all live and hope to meet her in Heaven.

CHILTON COUNTY HEALTH DEPT. NEWS

Grade A Dairy In Clanton

Grade A Milk according to Health Department standards is at last available to Clanton milk consumers, officials of the local health department announced this week. Within a few days grade A caps will appear on the bottles of milk produced and sold by the Miller Dairy. Having installed a steam sterilizer and made other necessary improvements, this local dairy has finally brought its equipment up to Health Department Standards and qualifies as the only producer of Grade A Milk in Clanton.

"While the health department," said a local health official, "does not want to assume the position of sponsoring the sale of the milk of a particular dairy, we must give our recommendation to Mr. Miller's milk as we believe our supervision with his cooperation, will make his a safer product to consume from a health standpoint. We hope that this will stimulate other local milk producers to bring their dairies up to the Grade A standard. Clanton needs at least one more such dairy."

The Miller Dairy will receive henceforth routine inspections and should the sanitary quality of the milk itself or the conditions in the barn or milk room fall below the standard required, the milk will be promptly degraded.

Clanton Methodist Church

We shall be happy next Sunday to have a one hundred percent increase over last Sunday in members present at our Sunday School and at each preaching service and at the Young People's service. There was a goodly number in attendance at the evening preaching service and each one present heard a wonderful sermon and good singing.

Do you think it is good to attend Sunday School and preaching services? Do you think it is good to get others to attend each of our church services, whether it be the Sunday School, the preaching services, or the Young People's organization?

"Therefore to him that knoweth good and doeth it not, to him it is sin." That's Bible.

B. N. IVEY, Assistant County Agent in Charge of 4-H Club Work

Last week the Assistant Agent attended the Annual State Farmers' and Homemakers' Camp in Auburn. Approximately 1,500 farmers and homemakers from over the State attended this camp which was declared one of the most successful of all the meetings of this kind ever held in this State.

W. B. Crow, one of the outstanding members of the Chilton County 4-H Club, attended this camp to participate in the discussion, "Livestock on Alabama Farms," led by Mr. F. W. Burns, Extension Animal Husbandman.

PIGGY WIGGLY TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET AUG. 14-17

Manager Of Local Store Will Attend Convention At Edgewater Park, Miss.

Marking its twenty years of leadership in the self-service grocery field, Piggy Wiggly will this year hold its annual convention in the delightful atmosphere of the exclusive Edgewater Park Hotel at Edgewater Park, Mississippi. The broad acres of lawn, dotted with beautiful shrubbery and spreading oak trees, surrounding the Hotel at this popular all-year 'round resort will be peopled with hundreds of independent Piggy Wiggly merchants from August 14th to 17th, the dates set for the Twentieth Anniversary Convention. When President D. D. Williams of the National Piggy Wiggly Operators Association, announced that Edgewater Park, Miss., had been chosen as the site of the 1938 Piggy Wiggly Convention, manufacturers all over the nation were quick to offer their cooperation to make the Piggy Wiggly Convention this year one of the finest ever held.

Piggy Wiggly was the first self-service system, coming into the field in 1918, and it is significant that the grocery chains today, some twenty years later, are turning frantically to self-service as the best way to serve their customers. And still, Piggy Wiggly leads the field... with "Scientific Handling." Piggy Wiggly, being the first in the self-service field, has, over the years, constantly studied itself for every improvement that might be made—and in these days has the finest self-service stores in the world, self-independent, home-owned stores in all states.

When in Clanton, Mr. O. D. Deloach the Owner and Operator of the Piggy Wiggly franchise. He has for many years been a leading merchant of groceries and his home-owned, independent "Piggy Wiggly" has been a real leader in the grocery field.

Being a member of the great Piggy Wiggly organization, "All Over The World," Mr. Deloach has had all of the advantages of a chain store, and none of its disadvantages. Piggy Wiggly has for twenty years had the wholehearted support of manufacturers and jobbers—and so it is with Piggy Wiggly here in Clanton. This cooperation from manufacturers and jobbers, and the ability of Piggy Wiggly, buying in large quantities, to lower prices has enabled him to become one of our very outstanding merchants.

When Mr. Paul Locklear, as manager of this Clanton Store, meets with all the other Piggy Wiggly Operators from all parts of the world at Edgewater Park in August, these merchants will discuss and analyze the business problems that confront grocery stores all over the world. These discussions and the consequent enlightenment will make each one of the members of Piggy Wiggly a better, smarter, broader merchant who can meet the own problems with the sureness of thought and action which might otherwise not be possible. The benefits of this nation-wide organization naturally come home to Clanton.

neighbors plan to enter any hogs contact B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent, at an early date, so we can arrange for a group transportation of these hogs to Birmingham. Look in this week's paper for prize list.

The following is quoted from F. W. Burns, Collaborator Extension Animal Husbandman, Auburn, Alabama:

"Following a conference in Birmingham, Thursday, July 21st, of the Fair officials and packer representatives, it was decided to sell all market hogs brought to the State Fair at auction. The packers agreed to start these hogs at Nashville prices and to pay a premium above this price for hogs that showed quality and finish."

I hope you will take advantage of this sale and sell your grade hogs and purchase a pure bred gilt this fall from some of the other 4-H Club members. I will be glad to help any of you in getting a pure bred Duroc Jersey or a Poland-China.

1. Hogs entered in this division must be owned and fed by exhibitor for a minimum of 60 days.

2. A placard showing name of exhibitor, date of birth, weight and ration fed must be placed over the pen by each exhibitor to be eligible for premium money.

The Electric Range

--Helping make fried chicken more famous.

WHETHER it's crusty, crunchy, fried chicken or golden brown roast hen, (with plenty of good hot biscuit—yum, yum!) and fresh garden vegetables, with a luscious dessert to top it off—or just an ordinary meal of cheap meat and potatoes—the electric range does a quick cooking job—and doesn't heat the kitchen so much that even robust women droop on summer days. Electric cookery means a cooler kitchen. And the cost is low—Alabama Power Company rates are 32% less than the national average! IN MEMORY

In the passing away of our dear cousin, J. T. Crane, on June 8th, we feel justifiable in placing, in your kind paper, a memorandum to the benefit of his kindred and many friends.

He leaves to mourn his departure, A precious mother, whose only son from her was taken, two sisters, a dear wife, Mrs. Elsie Mae Crane, and a host of friends and relatives.

Over yonder in the graveyard,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies one we loved so dearly,
In his cold and silent grave.

As his loved one, broken hearted,
Stood aside to weep,
Safely in the arms of Jesus,
Dear J. T. fell gently asleep.

He's gone, but not forgotten,
Never will his memory fade,
Loving thoughts forever linger,
Round the grave where he is laid.

A precious one from us is gone,
A soul who's loved is stilled,
A place vacant in his home,
A vacancy that can never be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled
A loving friend and companion,
Although his memory lingers here,
His spirit rests in Heaven.

May the friends of the deceased be comforted by the thought that "Where our departed ones are, right, here, let us take our stand, Though sorrow, pain and death makes Earth,
For us a lonesome land."

—His loving cousins,
Luverne and Eva Crane.

USE DERRIS TO CONTROL FLEAS

Are you bothered by fleas that have been brought into your home by the favorite cat or dog? Most everyone is and wants to find some way to kill these pests that bother both pets and humans.

W. A. Ruffin, entomologist of the Alabama Extension Service, says that derris dust that is used to kill insects in the garden is equally as effective in ridding the canine or the feline of those pesky fleas that make life during the summer most unpleasant.

For treating cats and small dogs a tablespoon of derris is sufficient. Rub the powder into the fur around the head and ears first, then along the back and under side of the animal. An application every ten days or two weeks will keep the fleas away. Large dogs will require two or three tablespoons. The druggist has derris for sale.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE LOOKS OVER BUSY YEAR

HAS BEEN ONE OF MOST ACTIVE OF PARTY IN THIS COUNTY

Many Problems Are Solved In Manner For The Party Interest

The present membership of the Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee can look back over a period of unusual activity for a Democratic Committee in this county.

While former Committee members in the past year allowed nothing to go unattended for those things they believed were to the best interests of the Party, the present Executive Committee has faced several more unusual and new problems and has handled each with the greatest of care, consideration and satisfaction.

Foundations were laid for a solid Democratic Party in this county by those who composed the Executive Committee during the years preceding 1932 and those thereafter. These foundations and policies have been of great assistance to the present Committee in guiding it through recent campaigns.

Only a few of the members of former Committees in this county remain on the present membership list. Most of those now serving were elected and many of them of a younger school, yet have shown they know how to keep pace with changing political conditions and situations.

The present Democratic Executive Committee of this county has received the commendation of many state Democratic leaders and local Democrats for the open-minded and fair manner in which they have handled local circumstances arising from conditions not heretofore faced by other Committee members.

(The present membership of the local Democratic Executive Committee is composed of the following:

Beat 1—H. F. McClure, Crit Jones.
Beat 2—Will R. Clements, Howard Roper, E. L. Lenoir.
Beat 3—W. T. White, E. S. Jones.

HOGS SHOULD GO ON PEANUTS EARLY IN AUGUST, ADVICE

The fattening hogs should be removed from Otothan soybeans to Spanish peanuts in August, advises F. W. Burns, animal husbandman, Alabama Extension Service. Hogs that weigh over 180 pounds should be marketed as early as possible in order to take advantage of the high price prevailing in September.

As soon as the Spanish peanut, cleaned out, the remainder of the fattening hogs should be moved to runner peanuts and finished there. It will pay to use temporary fences so the hogs may be kept on fresh peanuts every two weeks. This eliminates what farmers call "standing still" of hogs.

In general, there should be from 800 of 1200 pounds of hogs per acre of solid runner peanuts. It will also pay to graze the peanuts nearest water in September, October and November and then haul water to the hogs in December and January while grazing peanuts that are over one-fourth a mile from water. A mineral mixture of equal parts of charcoal, slaked lime and salt should be kept before the fattening hogs at all times, according to Mr. Burns.

One acre of oats should be planted for each sow in October and sows and fall pigs should be turned on these oats in November. This green feed, together with the peanuts which remain green in the field after the fattening hogs have been moved, will usually provide sufficient feed for the sows and fall pigs.

Local Young Farmer And Business Man Sees Great Things For County In Coming Fair

Clifford Manning writes concerning the County Fair:

"In last week's paper you noticed the piece about the Fair by Dr. Gragg. The Committee has been working on plans concerning your County Fair. It is time to begin collecting articles for exhibition at this Fair. A fair is to show the progress and build of the County, so you should start selecting the articles and produce.

"It has been stated that it is for the upbuild of Clanton alone. I beg to differ with you on this statement, because it is for the entire County, so therefore, the people of the County as a whole should help to make it a success.

"The Committee has been working on plans and arrangements for the fair. It will be held at Gragg's Field. There will be arrangements for parking all cars. Lights and telephones will be installed on the fair grounds. There will be one day dedicated to aviation, one farmers' day, and one school day. The catalog is being published and will be in circulation as soon as can be. It will be good for each of you, if possible, to see one of these catalogs. There will be plenty of amusements and rides under the supervision of the Littlejohn Expedition. If there is any information you would like to know concerning the fair, see some member of the Committee or contact J. Moll Martin.

"As I have stated before, the Committee cannot put on the Fair by themselves and we are asking for the help of all clubs, organizations and all the people as a whole.

"Watch your paper for further announcements.

"Yours for a better and permanent County Fair, I am,

"C. M. MANNING."

Catholics Have A Mission This Week

An announcement was received in Clanton this morning from the Rev. A. W. Terminiello, pastor of the Central Alabama Missions, through his assistant, the Rev. Joseph McArdle, that a Mission is scheduled for the Catholics of Clanton, Thorsby and surrounding communities beginning Wednesday night, August 10, at 7:30; at the home of Mrs. Hugh Jones. The sermons will be delivered by a priest connected with the Vincentian Missions of California, the Rev. R. R. Wevin, C. M.

The Mission will close after the 6:30 mass on Friday morning. The sermon at this time will be on "Prayer." It is very rare that one on the Missions has the opportunity to profit by the graces connected to a Mission and all Catholics are urged to attend. Others are invited.

Chilton County Dry

The "wet" and "dry" question is no doubt to be discussed quietly and in whispers in Chilton County unless one is a devout "dry", or professes to be a prohibitionist to the nth degree. Yet, it is interesting to note from the report of the sheriff's office this week that the largest number of arrests last week were on charges of public drunkenness. But, we are forced to say that Chilton County is dry, even in the face of such reports. Our law enforcement officers are not to be blamed for this condition which has existed in this and all other counties for ages. These men in dry counties are doing their best in the face of the admitted failure of prohibition. Alabama counties that are now privileged to exercise rights under state controlled sale of whiskey are showing fewer arrests for drunkenness than those counties classed in the dry columns, according to police records. We are of the same opinion of many others. If whiskey could be abolished completely we would be the first to lend a hand. Since it cannot and will not be completely abolished, then we are inclined toward a better control of an admitted evil and had rather our drinking citizens use such beverages made under sanitary conditions than whiskey that was distilled in oil drums that have been used for dipping hogs.
